"HOW OLD ARE YOU?"

Is Generally Li Hung Chang's First Greeting.

HE VISITS TORONTO EXHIBITION

And Sees a Great Many Things to Ask Questions About—The Oriental Ballet, the Performing Elephants and Horse Races Pleased Him Greatly.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Yesterday was Citizens' Day at the big Fair here, and the attendance was the largest, without exception, of any day since the Exhibition was started. The day was marked by the presence of Li Hung Chang, the distinguished Chinaman, about whom all the continent is talking just now. The Oriental Prince and his retinue were shown every attention and evinced a good deal of interest in what they saw.

Li Hung Chang's impressions of Canada were secured by an interviewer, and will be read with interest.

A few minutes after three the party reached the Exhibition grounds station, being met by Mayor Fleming, Col. Denison, President Withrow and Manager Hill of the Exhibition Association, and other prominent gentlemen.

President Withrow formally welcomed the Earl and Li responded that he was glad to be able to visit the Fair and get an idea of the resources of Canada.

His Excellency then took a seat in his chair, and, borne by four stalwart policemen, entered the grounds and was forthwith almost lost to sight amidst the thousands upon thousands of sightseers, who crowded to see the Celestial visitor.

Li likes to look at machinery and so, at his own request, was first borne to Machinery Hall, where he examined the exhibits. Thence he was conveyed to the Main Building, and when he emerged, thence, to escape the throng, he entered the Lieut.-Governor's carriage, which had been sent to meet him, all bedecorated with ribbons of yellow, Li's favorite color. The carriage, guarded by a strong cordon of police, proceeded at once to the horse ring.

While the lady trio were performing their clever acrobatic and tumbling feats, Manager Hill came running up, signalling them to stop, and at the same time the firing of the usual salute gave notice that the great Chinese Envoy was approaching. Instantly there was a general movement in the stand and on the lawn, and every eye was turned toward the entrance gate at the west end of the stand, where the carriage, with coachmen and footmen in livery, gorgeously decorated in yellow, was seen. "Here he comes!" was the cry, and a cheer went up as the carriage approached the stage.

Following closely behind the carriage were the four stalwart policemen, carrying Li's sedan chair.

As the carriage drew up His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor advanced and extended a cordial welcome to the honored guest, who descended from the carriage and was carried to the stage. As His Excellency advanced toward the chairs placed for his convenience he was supported by two of his staff; but, catching sight of several of the ladies of the ballet, attired in costume for the "Oriental ballet," who were peeping around the scenery, to get a view of him, he insisted on going around to the rear of the scenery in order that he might get a better view of them. He was evidently delighted at their appearance, and laughed and pointed at them, chattering vivaciously to his suite, and evidently expressing a very favorable opinion of this part of the entertainment. Having satisfied himself with this inspection he consented to take his seat in front of the scenery, and the ladies of the ballet insisted upon sitting in the famous chair in which Li travels, and expressed their sympathy with the stalwart and perspiring policemen who had carried it.

As soon as Li's attention could be brought back to the business in hand, the Lieutenant-Governor in a few words welcomed the Viceroy and regretted that his visit was to be so short.

Li Hung Chang replied, through his interpreter, as follows: "I deeply appreciate the very kind references to myself and am very much pleased with what I have seen. Great Britain is a great power, and is the greatest colonizing power in the world and Canada is a great colony. My visit in Canada is a very brief one, but I have been very much favored by the coincidence of this great Exhibition, a National Exhibition being held in Toronto. So I have gone myself the honor and pleasure of paying you a visit. In this Exhibition you have collected all the agricultural, industrial and commercial products together in such a small space, which enables me to gain a very great deal of information in the very short time at my disposal."

In conclusion, His Excellency expressed his thanks to the officials for the honor shown him and the pleasure he had enjoyed.

Li Hung and His Honor were then seated at the front of the platform to view a string of prize cattle led past. Li observed: "It must take a lot of pains and trouble to feed and keep them so fat."

Here, in full view of 50,000 people, Li quitly enjoyed one of his series of five-puff smokes.

Sir Henri Joly told Li that he wished now to show His Excellency the "most beautiful thing on the ground—the lady of our Lieutenant-Governor."

Having presented Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Sir Henri asked if he had deceived him, whereupon Li shook his head. Strange to say, he did not ask Mrs. Kirkpatrick's age.

Li wanted to know what we did with our cattle and the Lieutenant-Governor told him we shipped them to England.

Next came a march past of horses, and a tiny pony being brought onto the platform, Li asked, "How old is he?" and then "Is he a racer?"

Sir Mackenzie Bowell was presented by Sir Henri Joly. After sizing him up, the Viceroy put the usual question: "How old are you?" to which Sir Mackenzie bowed and replied "I am seventy-three years of age." "Seventy-three," was Li's rejoinder, "then you must be a Conservative." "Certainly! to the backbone," was Sir Mackenzie's remark, as he bowed and retired. Li was evidently struck with the vehemence of the ex-Premier's final declaration and nodded his approval.

When Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., was introduced as the leader of the Conservative party, Li observed, "You belong to a different party from Gladstone."

Sir Charles asked if he liked Canada, and Li replied in the affirmative.

The Viceroy laughed when Sir Frank Smith was at his own request presented as "a wild Irishman."

Li enquired, "How old are you?" and when Sir Frank said that he was 74, remarked, "You and I were born the same year."

Sir Henri next brought up Hon. G. E. Foster as ex-Minister of Finance, and Li asked:

"What is the revenue and expenditure of the Canadian Government?"

Next he enquired: "Has Canada any national loans?"

Mr. Foster: "We have made up deficiencies by securing English loans."

Li: "How much has Canada borrowed, so far?"

Mr. Foster: "About $170,000,000."

Li: "You are expected to pay only the interest, not the capital?"

Mr. Foster: "Yes."

Li: "How long were you Finance Minister?"

Mr. Foster: "Eight years."

Li: "You have, then, had great experience in finance matters."

Sir C. H. Tupper, Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. Dr. Montague, Hon. Mr. Fisher, Hon. John Dryden and Mayor Fleming were presented in turn.

The Mandarin was now carried to the horse ring, thence to view a performance on the stage for his benefit. His Excellency leaned eagerly forward in his carriage while the ballet dancing and Amazon marches were going on, and almost clapped his hands with glee when the water acrobat took a plunge from a height of 80 feet.

The Viceroy seemed fairly tickled to death at the performing elephants, and, sending for Lockhardt, their trainer, told him his animals had more brains than many men.

His Lordship was tremendously interested in the steeplechase which followed, and manifested a desire to know when the horse came around with an empty saddle if its rider had been killed.

The Viceroy then, amidst much cheering, was driven off to his train. On the railway platform, Rev. Dr. Dewart being presented, Li asked: "How old are you?" and, getting an answer, observed, "You are a bright looking man."

Just before the train pulled out, Sir Henri Joly received letters from Lord and Lady Aberdeen, expressing regret that they could not be there to meet him. Sir Henri told Li of this, and His Excellency sent a telegram in reply.

The train left at 5.40 for Vancouver, via Allandale and North Bay.

THEY FORGOT SOMETHING.

Four Yankees Fished in Canada and Omitted to Take Out a License—One of Them Arrested.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—(Special.)—Four American gentlemen have been fishing up in the northern part of the County of Terrebonne for some 10 days, but they forgot to get the regulation license which the law requires strangers to have when fishing and hunting in this province. This morning they boarded the train at St. Faustin on their way to New York. At Dalhousie square, one of their number, Capt. Hugh R. Garden of New York, was arrested by the warden of the Fish and Game Protection Club. The three other gentlemen managed to get through. Capt. Gordon communicated with Mr. R. D. McGibbon, Q.C., who went security for him, so that the American was enabled to leave by the 10 o'clock train for his home.

A new cathedral church to replace the old one is to be erected at Nicolet, and it is expected to be ready for worship by May 1, 1898. It is to be of the Renaissance style of architecture, and will be built of Beauchambault stone. The dome of the steeple and the cross are to be of aluminum. The edifice is to be 102 feet long, 57 feet high, and the steeple 185 feet. At the rear a two-story sacristy is to be erected.

THE RELEASED FENIANS.

Home Secretary Ridley Says They Were Freed on Medical Reports.

London, Sept. 7.—The adverse comments by leading Unionists, including the Marquis of Londonderry, on the action of the Government in releasing Daly, Gallagher and other Irishmen who were sentenced to life imprisonment for treason-felony have called forth a letter from Sir Matthew White Ridley, the Home Secretary, in which he declares that the release of the prisoners was due solely to the medical reports submitted to him regarding their condition.

FRED HIGGINBOTHAM KILLED.

A Well-Known Popular Athlete Meets a Sudden Death—Sifton's Successor.

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—(Special.)—Fred Higginbotham, undoubtedly Winnipeg's most prominent and popular athlete, was killed this morning by falling from a horse. He played in Toronto with Winnipeg's champion hockey team.

It is announced that Finlay Young, Speaker of the Legislature, is to succeed Attorney-General Sifton in the Greenway Cabinet.

THE KHALIFA IS DEAD,

And This May Make a Good Deal of Difference in the Soudan.

Rome, Sept. 7.—The Tribuna publishes a despatch from Massala, the town on the edge of the Soudan held by the Italians, announcing the death of the Khalifa, the successor of the Mahdi and the leader of the dervishes, apparently from the Anglo-Egyptian expedition now operating. Beyond stating that the Khalifa died at Bega, the despatch gives no details.

HIS HAPPY SPEECH.

Mr. Laurier to the Working Men of the Capital.

SOME GOOD ADVICE TENDERED.

The Late Alexander Mackenzie Held Up as a Model For Every Young Man to Copy—Review of His Career From Stonemason to Premier.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—Labor Day was everybody's outing in Ottawa to-day. Business was generally suspended. Even the few belated legislators who neglected the attractions of the Toronto Fair, had a bit of a holiday-making at the Capital. There was the usual trades' procession in the forenoon, not quite such a large turn-out as last year, but better equipped with bands and more plentifully interspersed with allegorical cars. Chief of these were the cars from the Experimental Farm. One carried a working dairy in full operation, cow and all. The other bore two large revolving discs, composed of grains and grasses, fruits, vegetables and flowers, all of prodigious growth.

There was a picnic at Lansdowne Park in the afternoon. The Premier, who was billed as "Canada's gifted orator," drew a great crowd to the platform. Mr. Laurier said:

"Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen: It is my duty in the first place to extend my thanks, my very sincere thanks to the organizers of this celebration for the great privilege afforded me of being present here to-day and sharing in the enjoyment which you have provided. The bright sun, which we are favored with, the balmy atmosphere, the gay throng before me, are a happy diversion from the routine of the House of Commons. This day has been devoted by Parliament to the celebration of the sanctity of labor. It is to me a happy thought that this day should have been made a legal holiday, a day when people would be free from the cares and toil of labor. And if there is one thought that, above all others, impresses me more than another at this moment, it is the privilege that Canada gives to the workingmen, and how he ought to be especially proud to belong to it. We have no privileged classes, no titles, no caste, freedom and equality are our boon, and there is no position in the land which is beyond the reach of any man among you. When I entered politics more than 20 years ago, it was my privilege for several years to serve under a man who was then the Prime Minister of Canada—(applause)—who you know commenced life as a stone mason. Mr. Mackenzie had not been brought up in the arms of a duchess of luxury, but, as you know, he was born amongst the peasant classes in Scotland and received such education as he obtained in a grammar school, and in the Scottish Grammar School one can be given a very good education. He worked on the Beauharnois Canal, when he came out to Canada, earning a dollar a day, as many among you are at present, but he had a brave heart and a noble mind, not only working with his arm but with his head. He became a master mechanic, afterwards a simple contractor, and then an architect, and at last he entered the Dominion Parliament, which at that time had been but a short while in existence. He took his place in the ranks, which included Sir John Macdonald and George Brown, and I need not tell you that a man who started out as a mechanic to hold his own in such company must have been a noble man indeed. I do not say this to encourage you into politics, but I say again that there is no position in Canada but the humblest can aspire to if he be brave and honest and frugal. Therefore it was that when I opened these remarks I wished to point out that there is not a country under the sun in which a workingman can find more scope than in this our native land, this Canada, our home. (Cheers.) You are brave, you are young, and I ask you to be true to yourselves, as Mr. Mackenzie was, and being true to himself was true to his country. I want to impress upon you that whatever you are, be always frugal, active, temperate and honest, and you will reap the gifts which the country holds at its disposal, one day. I will not interfere any further with the enjoyment you are having. I have been interested in the games here, and I have only once more to tender my thanks for the privilege given me, of being present and taking my share in the enjoyment, which is certainly great, as I can see depicted upon the faces of all of you." (Cheers.)

Joseph Baibeau, who had a contract for some public work under the North West Territory Government last year, was arrested at the instance of the Dominion police at St. Genevieve, Champlain County, to-day, and is now on his way to Regina in charge of one of Chief Sherwood's officers. It appears that Baribeau obtained some $700 from the Northwest Government without performing the work, payment having been made in November last on false certificates. After securing the money he cleared out and since that time the Dominion police have been trying to run him to the ground.

President Fitzgerald of the Imperial Oil Company was here to-day in conference with the provincial managers from the east. To-night they left for Toronto. It is said there is a deal on for the acquisition of the company's entire interests in Canada by an English syndicate and that the negotiations will be concluded in Toronto.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1896.

MR. G. A. COX A SENATOR.

It is amongst the political possibilities, if not probabilities, that Mr. George A. Cox, a former prominent resident of Peterborough, and president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, will be called to the Senate to fill the vacancy created by the death of Sir David Macpherson. For many reasons his appointment would be justified. If a seat in the Senate can be regarded as a recognition of eminent services in the cause of good government, Mr. Cox deserves well of a Liberal administration. His career has been conspicuous for hard and successful effort on behalf of good government, as represented by the platform and practice of the Liberal party. Besides, he will greatly strengthen the Senate, which stands much in need of the infusion of new blood and new energy, to be supplied by the well known and universally acknowledged great business ability that would be gained by the addition of Mr. Cox to its membership. To some it may seem a pity that a comparatively young and vigourous man like Mr. Cox should be buried alive in the Senate, but such will not be his fate. We have Sir Oliver Mowat's assurance that the "tea party" character of the Senate will not be allowed to continue, but that there is hope that its character will be so improved as to make it a reliably effective complement of a complete system of legislation, a sort of practical balance wheel to the House of Commons, instead of a brake upon the wheels of political progress. Under such conditions Mr. Cox's presence will not be equivalent to political interment, but will represent a decided acquisition to a Chamber made, by the process suggested, useful instead of dully and ponderously ornamental, and a sepulchral synonym for grave and reverend mediocrity and political valetudinarianism.

THIS IS CANADA'S YEAR.

Canada is decidedly "in it" this year. Everything we reach after seems to come our way. THE EXAMINER has before recounted, with pride, the triumphs won by Canadian pluck and Canadian skill during this year of grace, and with equal pride desires to gloat over a couple of new victories. Yesterday Gaudaur, the Orillia oarsman, won the single scull championship of the world in a canter, and the same day Canada "clean bowled" Brother Jonathan in the international cricket match at Philadelphia. An additional cause for congratulation in the matter of Gaudaur's victory is the fact, that in a large measure, it was due to Peterborough capital that he was able to compete for the championship. Such victories as those mentioned may not be in themselves of great practical importance, but they derive importance from the circumstance of demonstrating the fact that Canadian climate and conditions develop a race of hardy, clear-headed and well-muscled citizens. Canada is this year being greatly "talked about," but not in the five o'clock tea sense. The world is forced to say any amount of things to her credit, and she well deserves all the credit she has won. Her victories, in almost every event, were won against keen competition—she snatched triumph from foemen worthy of her steel.

LABOUR DAY.

Yesterday was Labour Day and was observed in Peterborough by an almost total cessation of work, though there were a few whom necessity or choice or a feeling that labour was the most fitting form of observation, that continued their daily occupations. But the fact of its observance is not the most important feature of the holiday, but the fact that the government of the country has recognized the dignity of labour by setting apart a certain fixed day. By statute of the Dominion Parliament, passed in the session of 1894, the first Monday in September of each year was added to the list of public holidays. Such a recognition of the claims of labour whose products, in their multifarious forms, are the only real creation of wealth, is an eminently fitting one and it gives an opportunity at a pleasant season of the year for organized labour to declare itself in some organized form. In Montreal this year the labour demonstration was on a grand scale, but, although the day was was not observed in Peterborough in a similar manner, yet the claims of labour to the kindly sympathy of the community were emphasized at a time when the need of sympathy, and in some cases of a practical character, were especially impressed. There are at present, owing to exceptional circumstances, a large number of men out of employment, a most serious affair, when the hardships and demands of a rigorous winter are so close at hand. Unless an improvement takes place it is probable that that number will be considerably added to before the winter itself sets in. Those more fortunately situated, should not forget to think upon the conditions that arise when the bread winner is forced into idleness. Honest labour does not ask charity—only a chance to work. And where it would be a mistaken kindness to offer charity, relief might be afforded by those, who are able, creating employment by anticipating the date of contemplated expenditures involving the employment of labour. One of the saddest things is suffering and want in the household, from lack of employment. We are all brethren; and one of the highest expressions of a true Christian spirit is the bearing of our brother's burden.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

MR. FOSTER courts a count of noses. It is quite consistent in a party that hung its chances of an election a on nose that resembled that of a leader, who was a leader. Hugh John's nose and Sir Charles' club were a poor pair to make so big a bluff upon.

APROPOS of Labour Day it may be interesting to note what holidays we have in Canada during the course of the year. According to the Canadian Interpretation act the word "holiday" embraces Sundays, of course, New Year's Day, the Epiphany, the Annunciation, Good Friday, the Ascension, Corpus Christi, St. Peter and St. Paul's Day, All Saints' Day, Conception Day, Easter Monday, Ash Wednesday, Christmas Day, the birthday of the reigning sovereign, Dominion Day, Thanksgiving Day and Labour Day.

HON. MR. FOSTER now doubtless wishes he hadn't, when the vote comes to be taken upon his motion of went of confidence in the Laurier government in respect of Governor-General's warrant to procure money to pay the members of the civil service. It is altogether probable that the government majority will be abnormally large. The government is so plainly in the right and Mr. Foster so plainly in the wrong that many members of the Opposition of which Mr. Foster aspires to be leader, will vote against his ill advised motion of censure. The government must be strongly entrenched in the right position when the would be leader of the Opposition directs so weak an attack. If he had any other ground, however poor, upon which to base a hostile criticism, he would select it rather than one that will recoil on himself and party. Mr. Foster has not had enough practice with the boomerang to dodge it successfully.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must see the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

THE POWERS AGAINST ENGLAND.

A Russian Paper of Well-Known Anti British Tendencies Speaks Out.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—The Novoe Vremya makes an important statement by saying that the Czar's tour shows that Berlin and Vienna, as well as Paris and St. Petersburg, are conscious of the necessity of the common action of the powers to defeat the political designs of Great Britain, which, it is added, are clearly displayed in the recent events in Turkey.

Railway Smash in Indiana.

English, Ind., Sept. 7.—An excursion train from St. Louis, Mo., en route to the Merengo Cave, in this county, was wrecked at Taswell yesterday morning. Of 10 coaches, three and a baggage car were thrown from the track. Two passenger coaches were completely overturned. Six persons were badly injured and 50 or more slightly injured. William Kane and John Gibson, both of St. Louis, will die. One man is missing.

The Montcagle Was Scuttled.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 7.—In the heavy storm yesterday it was thought necessary to scuttle the steamer Montcagle, ashore on the Charity Shoals. It is expected that half of her cargo of 50,000 bushels of wheat will be damaged.

Cod-liver oil suggests consumption, which is almost unfortunate.

Its best use is before you fear consumption; when you begin to get thin, weak, run n; then is the prudent to begin to take care, and the best way to take care is to supply the system with needed fat and strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, will bring back plumpness to those who have lost it, and make strength where raw cod-liver oil would be a burden.

GAUDAUR DEFEATED STANBURY,

And Once Again the Sculling Championship of the World Comes to This Country—Our Cricketers Defeated Uncle Sam's Best Team in Handsome Style.

London, Sept. 7.—The sculling match today for $1250 a side and the championship of the world, over the famous Thames course, from Putney Aqueduct to the ship at Mortlake, a distance of 4¾ miles, without turn, was won by Gaudaur by 10 lengths. Time, 23 min. 1 sec. Stanbury's time was 23 min. 40 sec.

The race was witnessed by large crowds of people, who lined the river banks. The start was made at 1.45 p.m. Gaudaur was first to catch the water, and soon had a good lead, which he gradually increased, until, passing Hammersmith Bridge, he was nearly 10 lengths ahead, and quite that distance in the lead at the finish.

The weather was cloudy and dull, but this state had no effect in reducing the crowds which flocked to the river banks at an early hour, and by the time the start was made every available space along the waterfront, from which a good view of the course could be had, was packed. The water was smooth and the tide strong. The betting was 6 to 4 against Gaudaur.

Stanbury won the toss for position, and took the Surrey side of the river. There were a number of false starts before the boats got away, Gaudaur being the chief offender in preventing a good send-off.

Gaudaur was the first to get away finally, but 50 yards from the start Stanbury, who was pulling steadily, crept up and gradually passed Gaudaur, leading the Canadian by a quarter of a length at Casper's boat yard. When Stanbury passed Gaudaur the crowds along the river bank became greatly excited, and cheered themselves hoarse. Gaudaur rowed desperately and stuck to his opponent closely. Both men at this stage of the race were pulling gamely.

Stanbury rowed 19 strokes in the first half-minute and 37 strokes in the first minute, while Gaudaur pulled 18 strokes in the first half-minute and 34 strokes in the minute. Though Gaudaur got rather the better start, Stanbury quietly crept up and caught him, leading by a quarter of a length at the club house of the London Rowing Club, and half a length at the Thames Rowing Club's boathouse. At this point Gaudaur put in some very effective work, gradually catching up with the Australian, with whom he was on even terms at the top of the Middlesex embankment.

Gaudaur was now going on well, and at the Beverley Brook he had pulled away from his opponent, whom he led by a quarter of a length, and was the same distance in the lead at the Craven Steps. Both men had by this time dropped their stroke to 30 to the minute. Gaudaur was rowing with more power in his strokes and was a clear length in advance at Crab Tree.

Continuing to row very fast, the Canadian increased his lead and got away from the Australian so rapidly that at Harrod's Wharf he led by a length and a half. At this point Gaudaur took Stanbury's water, whereupon the Australian spurted vigorously, obviously trying for a foul. This move caused Gaudaur to go back to his own position, losing somewhat thereby, for when he reached his own water he was leading by rather less than a length. When they shot Hammersmith Bridge, which they reached in eight minutes and 50 seconds, Gaudaur again went over toward Stanbury's water and the Australian repeated his attempt to foul his opponent, this time with more success than before. Stanbury put on a furious spurt and managed to touch the Canadian's boat just off the lead mills, but after this he was never in the race. Seeming to be satisfied that he was beaten, he held up from the moment he found his opponent and did not appear at any time thereafter to exert himself much. Gaudaur kept on with his powerful strokes, going away from Stanbury easily, and increased his lead every moment. Indeed, from the lead mills to the finish it was a procession, Gaudaur reaching the winning post about 300 yards ahead of the Australian champion.

Upon crossing the finish line, Stanbury protested against Gaudaur being awarded the race, alleging that the latter had fouled him. His claim, however, was not allowed.

OUR CRICKETERS WON.

Defeated the Best Team in the United States by Forty Runs.

The international cricket match between Canada and the United States, which began on Friday and was stopped by rain Saturday, was concluded this afternoon, and resulted in a victory for Canada by 40 runs. The defeat of the local men was a sad disappointment to the local cricket admirers, who now feel that the local men will make a poor showing against the Australians, who are booked for three matches here, beginning next week. The Canadians well earned their victory by good all-round cricket.

The great feature of their game, however, was the remarkable bowling of Laing. His extremely fast balls, with a very deceptive break at the wicket, completely baffled the local bats. His performance of Friday, when, in the first innings, he took six of the local wickets for 17 runs, was repeated to-day, he taking eight wickets for 35 runs.

When play was resumed at 11.30 o'clock to-day, the visitors' score stood at 47 for the first innings and 117 for the second, with one wicket remaining. This wicket was quickly disposed of. Dean was bowled for nothing on the last ball of King's first over.

The crease was rolled, and Patterson and King, two of the best local batters, were sent in to open the Philadelphia second innings. The wicket had dried, and the local men felt confident that they would be able to score the required 153 runs to win the match. The bowling of Laing and McGiverin, however, was straight on the wickets, and runs came very slowly, the batters being obliged to carefully cover their wickets. When the two men had scored 17, King raised one off Laing to Lyon at mid-off, and retired. Wood joined Patterson, and the latter was almost immediately clean bowled by Laing, the score not having been increased. So it continued throughout the innings, Laing's deadly delivery resulting most disastrously.

The only free hitters were Biddle and Clark, the former running up a score of 23 and the latter carrying out his bat for 18. Biddle had two lives given him, McGiverin missing a fine drive and McIntosh losing a tip at the wicket. Both were difficult chances, and the misses were excused. These were the only misplays of the visitors, their fielding being clean and their throwing true. Muir defended his wicket for 70 minutes, but in that time gathered together only 10 runs.

Laing bowled almost the entire innings. Lyon relieved him at the Club House end, but a few minutes later Laing went on in McGiverin's place at the other end. Laing was more effective from the club house end, and he soon returned to that place and finished the game there. Little and Ackland, in order to catch an early train for Ottawa, left the field after the eighth wicket had fallen, their places being taken by Noble of the local team and Hawley, a Germantown Club professional. The two substitutes had very little to do.

Play was resumed at 11.30 o'clock, with Rykert and Dean, the not-outs of Saturday, protecting the wickets; Rykert's not-out score was 12 and Dean's 1. Dean was clean bowled by King on a fast ball, the fifth ball of the first over, closing the Canadians' innings for 117 runs. Rykert, not out, 12.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Visitors to the above who are musically inclined should carefully inspect The MASON & RISCH PIANO exhibit. Our stand is the first one on the left as you enter the Musical Pavilion. Our exhibit is not a large one, as we believe that the beautiful tones of instruments can be more fully appreciated in the quiet of our warerooms than amidst the bustle and confusion of an exhibition. We shall therefore make our principal exhibit at our warerooms, 32 King St. W., to which all visitors are cordially invited.

One of the most valuable paintings at the Art Gallery in the exhibition building will be the famous portrait of the Great Pianist Franz Lizst which was painted at his command by Baron Joukovsky, the Great Russian Artist, and presented to Messrs Mason & Risch as a tribute to the wonderful tone qualities of their Pianos. Every lover of Art should make it a point to see this painting. It is valued by experts at $5000.00.

WE HAVE NOT CHANGED OUR DECISION

To retire from business as quickly as circumstances will permit. But, as the Fall trade approaches we find ourselves with a large and varied stock of high-class Staple Dry Goods, which cannot be moved out without being well assorted with New Fall lines of the latest, leading Novelties of 1896.

We shall continue, therefore, during the Fall and early Winter months to keep a regular assortment of the leading Novelties for fashionable

Fall Wear.

The buying has been done with extreme care, but the stocks are comprehensive enough to satisfy every need, ranging from the newest things in SILK AND WOOL DRESS GOODS, for the super-fashionable, to the simplest effects in the quietest materials for people to whom a dollar is a dollar, or sometimes more.

It must not be forgotten, however that our chief object is still to get entirely out of business. This will have its full effect on prices, and the new goods will have to share in the same general reduction necessary to accomplish a prompt clearance of the entire stock.

Red River Expedition.

Mr. Wm. Anthony, who is one of those who took part in the Red River expedition under Lord Wolseley, in 1870, has been extended an invitation to a re-union and dinner in Toronto, on Thursday next, to celebrate the occupation of Fort Garry. Mr. Anthony would be glad to know if there are any others in Peterborough who were engaged in the expedition; if so he would be glad to make their acquaintance. Names may be left at the EXAMINER Office.

Child Missing.

Mr. Wm. Sarby's little son, aged three years, wandered away from his home, No. 360 Downie street, this morning between ten and eleven o'clock. Diligent search was made in the vicinity but without finding the little wanderer. The child wore a straw hat and blue cotton dress. It is not probable that any harm has come to the little fellow, who has probably lost his bearings, and not being able to tell where he lived, was perhaps hospitably entertained pending developments. LATER—A telephone message states that the youngster has been found.

THE RECEPTION TO LORD AND LADY ABERDEEN.

Further Arrangements Completed by the Committee on Saturday Evening.

A meeting of the committee to arrange for the reception of Lord and Lady Aberdeen on their visit to Peterborough, on Tuesday, September 22nd, was held in the town clerk's office on Saturday evening. The names of Mr. Jas. Kendry, M.P., and Mr. J. H. Stratton, M.P.P., were added to the committee. It was decided that the members of parliament and the chairman and secretary of the committee should meet the distinguished visitors on their arrival and escort them to the Oriental hotel, where they would partake of breakfast. Afterwards they would be driven about the town and shown the places of interest, returning to the Oriental in time for the luncheon, which should be ready at 12 o'clock. After luncheon short toasts would be proposed, probably three or four, bringing this part to a close at 1.30. During the luncheon the band will play choice selections and afterwards accompany the guests to the show grounds, where an address will be presented on behalf of the town and county and Agricultural Society, after which short addresses will be delivered and a reception held on the grounds. The Royal Canadian Dragoons who will be one of the grandest attractions ever given at an exhibition, will be quartered at the Huffman House.

THE BAND CONCERT TO-NIGHT.

At the promenade band concert to-night, in the Drill Shed, the following excellent programme will be presented:—

March.....“Loyal Legion”.....Sousa
Valse.....“Incognita”.....Ivanovici
Carlonette Solo...“Eighth Air Varie”...Brepsant

MR. A. FISHER.

Selection.....“Scotch Airs”.....Round
Overture.....“Eclipse”.....Williams
Valse.....“Nachtschwarmer”.....Fels
Euphonium Solo.....

MR. L. MAXSON.

Selection.....“Maritana”.....Wallace
“Vive La Canadienne,” “God Save the Queen.”

It is to be hoped that the concert will be liberally patronized, both for the enjoyment it will afford as well as for the object of practically recognizing the claim of of this excellent organization upon the popular gratitude. The band has been paid the compliment of being invited as one of a few first class bands to play at the Toronto Exhibition, and the amount to be received will fall far short of paying the expense of the journey. It is, therefore, necessary that for the good name of the town, the band which has been extremely generous in its contribution to the public enjoyment, should not be at actual loss in doing as they will be sure to do, credit to the musical ability of Peterborough at the Exhibition, where representatives of every part of the province will be among the visitors. Give the boys a bumper house to-night.

MRS. W. S. BURLEY'S DEATH.

After Month's of Suffering She Passed Away on Sunday.

The death of Mrs. W. S. Burley took place Sunday, after months of suffering at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. George Tighe, No. 13 Waterford street.

Mrs. Burley has been in failing health for years and during the last few months she was a great sufferer. She was a widow at the time of her death and was born at White Lake, Ont., but has been a resident of Peterborough with her family for the last ten years. Four sons and one daughter survive her, viz: Robert and John, of town; William, of Rat Portage, and Mrs. Albert Cook, of Washago, Ont.

The funeral took place this afternoon at three o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery. The deceased was a consistent member of the Methodist church, but by the wish of her sister the burial service was conducted by the Salvation Army.

OBITUARY.

The Late Miss Emily L. Clarke.

Dr. and Miss Clarke were apprised on Sunday of the sudden death of their sister, Miss Emily L. Clarke, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough. Miss Clarke was suffering from an attack of malaria, but no danger was apprehended until the sad news was received on Sunday. The deceased contracted the fever, it is thought, through labouring amongst the poor of Toronto, she having evinced a most earnest desire to benefit the condition of the lower classes. Beloved by all she fell a victim to her zeal in a good cause. Doctor and Miss Clarke left yesterday to attend the funeral.

SONS OF ENGLAND BAND.

Its First Annual Excursion Held Yesterday Down the River.

The steamer City of Peterborough was beautifully decorated yesterday with flags and bunting as it pulled out of the wharf with the patrons of the S. O. E. Band excursion on board. The full band was present and a number of most pleasing selections were played at intervals. A palace scow was attached for dancing purposes and was taken all the way to Jubilee. The attendance was large and enthusiastic praise was given the committee for its effort to make the day an enjoyable one. At the Point a list of sports were run off, of which a full report will be given to-morrow.

Norwood Won.

The North Star took a big crowd down the river yesterday to see the championship match for Commodore Calcutt's cup played off between the Gore's Landing and Norwood teams. The Norwood team had it all their own way and won by four goals to none.

A Wall Paper Item.

Are you meditating over the subject of papering your house this fall? Are you dreading putting in another winter with the same old designs on the walls? Are you counting the cost and afraid of the bills? We invite you to call at the Peterborough Bookstore and spend 10 minutes with us on the wallpaper subject. If our new designs and our low prices don't decide you nothing else will. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

People's Coal Company.

Why are so many people leaving their order with the People's Coal Co., Ltd.? Because it is the cheapest and purest hard coal in town, being free from iron, sulphur and slate. We will deliver in bags and weigh on market scales. Contrary to reports we have no connection with any other town company and our coal can only be bought through us. Do not be carried away by talk from interested parties, but try a bag for yourself. No charge unless satisfactory. We also handle Butte Cannel, a very superior coal for grates. Office, 220 Charlotte street; Tel. 306; 1st door east of Aylmer street.

WEDDING BELLS.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Belle Mercer and Mr. Thos. Whyte, of Chicago.

An event occurred of more than ordinary interest in Peterborough's social circles this afternoon when the marriage took place of Miss Belle Mercer, youngest daughter of the late Wm. Mercer, to Mr. Thomas P. Whyte, of Chicago.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. S. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, and the ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. Andrew Mercer, No. 209 Hunter street.

The bride looked most charming in a gown of cream satin, with garnitures of lace. She wore a veil and a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white bride roses. The two bridesmaids were Miss Marion Whyte, of Chicago, sister of the groom, and Miss Nellie Laidlaw, of Montreal. Both looked most attractive in gowns of organdie muslin and pale blue silk. They each carried bouquets of pink roses.

Little Miss Jean Neill also assisted, looking very cute in white silk and carrying a basket of flowers.

The groomsmen were Mr. James Connal, of Peterborough, and Mr. O. V. R. Brown, of Chicago.

Miss Bessie Connal presided at the piano and gave a most brilliant rendering of the Lohengrin wedding march.

The bride wore an exquisite marquise ring of turquoise and diamonds, which was the gift of the groom, who also presented the bridesmaids with handsome pearl and diamond pins and Miss Jean Neill with a pearl ring. The groomsmen received gifts of pins of the four-leaved clover design.

The presents received by the newly married couple are understood to have been very handsome and numerous.

The interior of the house was most beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers and potted plants, the chandeliers being hung with branches of holly.

Only the relatives and most intimate friends of the bride and groom were in attendance and at the conclusion of the ceremony these were invited to partake of a most inviting repast. The tables were most artistically arranged with smilax and flowers. The pervading colour of the latter was of pink, and the table doylies, lamp shades, etc., were of the same shade, thus lending a most charming effect to the tout ensemble.

The bride, as a travelling dress, wore a chic gown of tan broadcloth with brown trimmings and a hat to match. A large number of her young friends were at the station to see her off on the 4:48 p. m. C. P. R. express. A tour will be taken to the Thousand Islands and Quebec, after which Mr. and Mrs. Whyte will return to town for a few days before leaving for their future home in Chicago.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheel Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

LACROSSE.

As surmised Port Hope did not send a team to Campbellford to play off the tie with Peterborough and have thus again earned the ridicule which inevitably falls to the fainthearted. Without a doubt Port Hope should be excluded from again entering the Canadian Lacrosse Association, as it is too much to expect Peterborough to be sending teams out of town time and again, to meet these Ontarios, only to find that their hearts have failed them and they have backed down. A fair field and no favour awaited the two teams in Campbellford as no less than forty-five special police had been sworn in for the occasion. It is stated that as soon as the Port Hopers heard of this it so dampened their courage that they decided not to play under any consideration.

Peterborough is now in the semi-finals and if it wins from the victors of the Orillia-Bradford game, will play off for the championship with St. Catharines. The team lined up as follows at Campbellford:—Dobbin, goal; Brown, point; Mein, cover point; Glover, 1st defense; Lynch, 2nd defense; Borland, 3rd defense; Phelan, centre; Lipsett, 3rd home; Rubidge, 2nd home; Galley 1st home; McCabe, outside home; Hickey, inside home; Mr. Rufus Stevenson, referee.

Nature's Voices.

To the discerning ear, nature has many voices. She has a message in the sweet tones of the brook as it rushes down the hillside in ocean's moody voices, now rippling with gentlest cadence upon the golden sands, anon in deep boisterous voice as she lashes the beach with foam. Then the voice of trees which the laughing winds bear to our ears, of sunshine and shade, of hill and valley, of birds and flowers. But she comes in pain too, the voice of the stinging, aching corn speaks impressively, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the worst corn in twenty-four hours, painlessly and without leaving sore spots.

A C. P. R. CONDUCTOR.

After Two Years' Misery was Cured by Ten Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Prescott, (Special) Aug. 24.—For a long time much sympathy had been felt and expressed for Mr. Wm. Freeman, a very popular conductor of the C.P.R., who had been rendered unfit for duty the past few years by a peculiar and distressing form of kidney disease. It now transpires, much to the delight of his friends, that he has been enabled to resume his regular trips. He claims, as the results of using only ten boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, that he has entirely recovered, and that he never felt better in his life, and believes that these Pills have cured him to stay cured.

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE.

Death of the Father of Mr. Alexander Corbett,

Lindsay Warder.

Robert Corbett, who died at Fenelon Falls on Saturday, August 29th, was born in the county of Cavan, Ireland, in the year 1816, having attained to the ripe age of 80 years and 3 months at the time of his death. He came to Canada in 1843, settling first in the township of Hope, where he resided for a number of years, moving afterwards to Ops, near Omemee, thence to Mariposa, where he occupied a farm near Valentia for a few years, from which he moved again to Opps where, on account of old age creeping on, he retired from farming, when after a year or two spent in Lindsay, he with his aged partner removed to Fenelon Falls, where he resided until death claimed him. Mr. Corbett married a Miss Smith previous to his coming to Canada, nine children being born to them, eight of whom are living, one daughter, Mrs. Irwin, died in Grand Rapids, Mich., about two years ago. The eight children left with the widow to mourn the loss of an effectionate husband and kind parent, are Mrs. C. Cornell, Ops; Mrs. Chambers, Fenelon Falls; Mrs. E. English, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. C. H. Jones, Lindsay. The four sons are Alex., who lives in Peterborough, Richard in Mariposa; Robert in Montana, and Samuel in Fenelon Falls. He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church, an Orangeman, although of late years had not taken as active a part in the work of the association as he had done in early life, in politics a Conservative. The funeral on Monday to the cemetery, Fenelon Falls, was largely attended. Rev. Mr. McKinnon, pastor of the Presbyterian church, conducted the religious services, assisted by Rev. Mr. Steele of the Methodist church. The EXAMINER extends its sympathy to the widow and children on their loss.

BE SURE YOU REFUSE THEM.

For Dyeing Cottons Diamond Dyes Give the Only Reliable Colours.

For the dyeing of cotton goods be sure you refuse all substitutes, and use only the special Diamond Dyes prepared expressly for Cotton goods.

Diamond Dyes should be used by all carpet, rug and mat makers, for the good reason that they give the strongest, fastest and brightest colours.

All the Diamond Dyes for cotton are the result of very recent scientific discoveries, and are remarkable for fastness against exposure to strong light, and for standing any amount of washing with soap-suds.

Do not allow your merchant to foist his common dyes on you with the remark that they are just as good as the Diamond Dyes. He knows better, but is anxious to sell you worthless dyes on which his profits are large.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

As the tourist season is about over the special trains running to Muskoka and Parry Sound will be cancelled after to-morrow.

Grain is arriving in large quantities at Midland elevator, vesselmen having contracts being anxious to fill them in good time for fear of the early closing of navigation. As a result of the large deliveries trainmen are busy, and it is likely that additional specials will be put on next week.

The conductor of a special freight awaiting a load of grain at Midland last week witnessed a bit of sharp practice on the part of a Chicago vessel captain that almost took his breath away. A heavily loaded steam barge rolled into the harbour about noon, and slowly approached the elevator dock. When within 100 yards her bow touched a shoal, and as there was a stiff breeze blowing off shore her stern swung around. While the crew were manoeuvring to get her free a large schooner under a big press of sail appeared in the offing and headed down the bay until abreast of the steam barge, when she backed, forged in towards the wharf, and half-a-minute later had a line passed, thus gaining the privilege of being first unloaded, and saving the captain probably $250 in detention expenses. The captain of the steam barge swore loud and long, as he could have sent a line ashore in a small boat and defeated his wideawake competitor.

NOTHING TO SHOOT.

How Pot-Hunters are Exterminating the Duck—Legitimate Sportsmen Have a Real Grievance.

The Montreal Witness has the following. What is true of the eastern part of the country is also true of the western. Those sportsmen who have been out with a hope of a good time have returned empty-handed:—

Sportsmen who went down the river on Sept. 1, to enjoy duck shooting, are all returning to town. The reason of this is that there are no duck, snipe or woodcock to be found. Chenal du Moine and the Lake St. Peter district has always been a great resort for wild fowl until this year. Mr. Joseph Riendeau is among the crowd of disgusted sportsmen. He went down to Chenal du Moine on the eve of the first, expecting to get some good shooting. He has returned because there is nothing to shoot. He describes this state of affairs to the non-observance of the game laws and also to the practice in the spring and summer of people going out and shooting heron, plover and other birds. This constant firing frightens the snipe, duck and woodcock from their nests, with the result that they do not return and the eggs are spoiled. There are not a few so-called sportsmen who shoot the birds almost on their nests, in defiance of the game laws of the Province and of the Dominion. This means that the best shooting ground in whole St. Lawrence has been destroyed for the season. The birds have gone somewhere else, probably across the line, where the laws relating to game are more faithfully observed and enforced.

The same systematic destruction of fish also has recommenced in the Lake St. Peter district. While at Chenal du Moine on Tuesday, Mr. Riendeau and his man, Charles Paul, counted no less than two hundred small mesh nets, that is nets with meshes from three-quarters of an inch to an inch, when the law demands a mesh of an inch and a quarter to an inch and three-quarters. These nets were reeking with coal tar and full of dead fish. Then, in the smaller nets used for catching minnows for bait, no distinction is made between the minnows, young dore, perch or pike. The three latter, are all edible fish used on the night lines with the minnow. Wholesale slaughter of fish is the rule of the Lake St. Peter district, for lack of a determined effort being made to make the law observed. Fish and fowl are alike doomed to destruction.

[Local duck hunters returning from Rice Lake and also from the northern shooting grounds all complain that, owing to being disturbed, the ducks have not been breeding in their usual haunts this year. Where there were thousands last year there are not more than a few small flocks this season. It is hoped that the birds will soon come down from their more remote haunts.

THE AGED POOR.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—There is a petition circulating in town asking the Council to unite with the County Council to provide a more suitable home for the aged poor than the gaol—the home of criminals. Mr. Stratton, M.P.P., informs the writer that the Provincial Government gives four thousand dollars towards erecting a home for the homeless. The latter anxious to know how other cities treated their homeless poor, enquired about our sister city, Belleville, and was somewhat happily surprised to hear that no poor or homeless persons were sent to gaol, but were sent to the hospital, a part of said building being reserved for them. When taken there they were first introduced to the bathroom for a good, clean bath and their clothing was washed and they were finally made comfortable, and in case of much sickness in said hospital and the rooms wanted, were billeted out among the neighbouring families until their rooms were vacated. Now sir, I look upon such kind treatment of the aged, homeless poor, as exhibiting practical Christianity on the part of the corporation of Belleville. Yes, sir. Now, sir, why cannot Peterborough be as practical? Why, sir, is not Peterborough a practical Christian community? Surely we profess to be. Now then let this stigma be blotted out at once by placing our homeless in the hospital or Protestant Home. If there is no room let us add to either building at once and make room. Now, sir, I really hope that the pastors of the various churches of the town and the people also will take this matter up and not give it up until this inhuman treatment is removed from our midst.

Respectfully yours,
SYMPATHY.

Stunning Posters—Do You Collect?

The fad for collecting posters may be only a passing whim, but it is certainly a very active craze just now and advertisers seem vieing with each other to see who can get out the most artistic and yet striking productions to call attention to their wares. And there is unquestionably a great deal of art displayed in many of the sheets which emliven the bill boards nowadays, making it easy to understand that a good collection would have much interest to the owner. A really good poster, to be a success either in the eyes of the advertiser or the collector, must have individuality enough to attract the attention of every passerby, the colours must be pleasingly harmonious and the poses graceful, and (though this matters not to the collector) there must be some appropriateness and connection with the goods or events advertised. Among the best sheets pasted up recently is the "Fibre Chamois Girls." It is unique and attractive with its light, blending colours and graceful figures, catching the eye at once and holding it by its artistic claim. If what we hear is true about its being followed shortly by another equally fine design, prepared in New York for the Fibre Chamois Co., the "poster fiend" may well rejoice at adding two such splendid sheets to his collection.

OUR RIFLEMEN AT THE RANGES.

THE SCORES WHICH WERE MADE YESTERDAY.

Annual Matches of the 57th Battalion—The Turnout of Men not as Large as Usual but Great Interest was Manifested.

The annual rifle matches of the 57th Battalion took place yesterday at the ranges. The wind was steady and as the day was bright some good scoring was done. About seventy-five men turned out in uniform, being twenty-five less than last year, and only about half as many as were out the year previous. Lt. Col. Bell was range officer and Major Edwards statistical officer. The matches began at 8 a.m. sharp, the ranges being 100, 200, 300, and 400 yards—five shots at each, the highest possible score being 20 points at each.

Prizes were awarded to the highest scorers at each range as follows: 1st, $2, 2nd $1.50, 3rd $1.50, 4th $1, 5th $1, 6th $1, 7th 75c, 8th 75c, 9th 75c, 10th 75c, 11 20th, inclusive 50c:

Pres. Rifle Com.

A skirmishing match also took place, but as protests were lodged against every competing team, with the exception of No. 2 Company, the awarding of the trophy has been left over for further consideration.

ENDED AT LAST.

After Two Years of Misery Endured Backache Succumbs to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Madoc, (Special) Aug. 31.—In a place like this, people suffer and sympathize, hope and mourn with each other. But her many friends here, as elsewhere, who have long been aware of the precarious health and long suffering of Mrs. J. Fergusson will be pleased to learn that her painful sufferings have ended at last, and that instead of being unable, as she says, "to turn herself in bed" she is herself once more as the result of using a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She further says that from the third day after commencing to use these pills, she was free from all pain; and, that now she feels as well as ever before in her life.

Fruit Jar Famine.

Owing to the large crop of fruit, the stocks of fruit jars have been completely exhausted and prices wholesale have gone up $6.00 per gross. In consequence of the above we are compelled to advance the retail price, and will sell till further notice as follows: Pints, 80c.; quarts, $1: ½ gal., $1.20 per dozen. Buy quickly, as a further advance is certain.—CHINA HALL.

"If Eric is in robust health, and has slept well, and is at the top of his condition at his departure from Greenland, his ships will reach Newfoundland. But, take out Eric and put in a stronger man — Biorn or Thorfin and the ships with just as much ease will reach Labrador and New England."

Emerson was right. The stronger a man is the fuller his chest is, the sounder his heart and brain and lungs are, the further he will sail on the ocean, the higher he will sail in his balloon, and the deeper he will dive into the intricacies of his business or profession. A man's glory is his strength. The world has small use for weaklings, and, it must be said, sickly people have little use for the world. But, sickness is generally an unnecessary evil. It is almost a crime against nature to be ill. If you are ill and feel repentant, anxious to undo the mischief, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Don't be despondent because your grandfather died of consumption or bronchitis, or some other equally frightful throat or lung trouble. There is no need of hereditary consumption. Purify your blood with "Golden Medical Discovery," then take more of it to thoroughly strengthen and build up your whole body through the purity and strength of your blood.

There is nothing miraculous about the "Discovery." It is a compound of curatives skillfully blended. It will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if it is honestly used.

Would you know yourself? Send 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only, and get Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. In the reading of this book of 1008 pages is a medical education. It is a complete family doctor book, written in plain language that everybody can understand, and profusely illustrated. ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentally will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. O. Box 388, London, Ont.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A Boon to Humanity.

Wherever there are sickly people with weak hearts and deranged nerves, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will be found an effectual medicine. They restore enfeebled, enervated, exhausted, devitalized or overworked men and women to perfect constitutional power. Weak and pale girls and women soon regain vigorous health.

WHAT MR. GREENWAY SAYS.

Another Conference With the Federal Government Will Be Necessary Before a Settlement.

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—(Special.)—This afternoon Premier Greenway and all his Ministers were present at a Cabinet council in respect to Mr. Laurier's proposition for the settlement of the school question. They were in conference three hours. When they adjourned your correspondent waited on Mr. Greenway and asked him for information on the result.

"What the proposition for settlement is," he said, "I cannot tell you, though I have no desire to withhold any information. You may say that when the question is settled, if it is settled, as we earnestly hope, it will be on a basis satisfactory to those of our friends who have opposed coercion and stood manfully for the principle of a national school system. They need feel no anxiety in that respect. I may tell you further that we came to the conclusion that another conference with the Federal Ministry is necessary before we can take action on the proposition."

Subsequently it was learned that Attorney-General Sifton and perhaps Provincial Secretary Cameron will leave for Ottawa to consult with Mr. Laurier in a few days.

Hon. Mr. Prendergast, who resigned from the Greenway Cabinet when Separate schools were abolished, and whom rumor has connected with the vacant Interior portfolio, is about to leave for Ottawa, where he will have an interview with Mr. Laurier.

Mr. Sifton's friends vigorously resent the insinuations that Mr. Sifton has knifed Mr. Martin for the vacant portfolio. They declare that Mr. Sifton does not want it, but is being urged by Mr. Laurier.

There is nothing to prevent anyone concocting a mixture and calling it "sarsaparilla," and there is nothing to prevent anyone spening good money testing the stuff; but prudent people who wish to be sure of their remedy, take only Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and so get cured.

For cholera morbus, cholera infantum, cramps, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, and summer complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for nearly 500 years.

Wood's Phosphodine.—The Great English Remedy.

Is the result of over 33 years treating thousands of cases with all known drugs, until at last we have discovered the true remedy and treatment—a combination that will effect a prompt and permanent cure in all stages of Sexual Debility, Abuse or Excesses, Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Mental Worry, Excessive Use of Opium, Tobacco, or Alcoholic Stimulants, all of which soon lead to Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Wood's Phosphodine has been used successfully by hundreds of cases that seemed almost hopeless—cases that had been treated by the most talented physicians—cases that were on the verge of despair and insanity—cases that were tottering over the grave—but with the continued and persevering use of Wood's Phosphodine, these cases that had been given up to die, were restored to manly vigor and health—Reader you need not despair—no matter who has given you up as incurable—the remedy is now within your reach, by its use you can be restored to a life of usefulness and happiness.

Price, one package, $1; six packages, $5; by mail free of postage.
One will please, six guaranteed to cure. Pamphlet free to any address.

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. WETTSTEIN, Byron, Ill.

THE TRAINING OF CHILDREN.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher Gives Advice to Young Mothers.

"How can we train our little ones?" is a question that greatly disturbs young and conscientious mothers.

Can an infant be taught to understand and obey signs before it can understand its mother's words? Earnestly desiring to train their little ones in the most approved manner, young mothers seek counsel from friends, from books and from careful observation—but they are not quite satisfied with any.

It is not strange that they should hesitate. I cannot understand how any one can feel competent to answer the question. Upon no friend, however dear, could one wholly depend. No uninspired book could be one's guide in such circumstances.

No one but the parents themselves—and especially the mothers—dare feel any degree of confidence. The mother who so well recognizes all her children's peculiarities, and who sees how dissimilar in many respects they are, one from the other, knows that she cannot be governed by any common rule for each child.

Each child, from the very earliest period, will soon teach her that she will be obliged to follow a different regime in its management. She will learn, week by week, that she will be obliged to deal with widely different traits in her children, and therefore she cannot manage them all alike. There is no greater diversity among the different families that make up a town or village than every mother must be prepared to find among her children.

In speaking on this subject a young mother remarked: "I should think twins must be more easily managed than other children, as they must be so similar in character.

That is a great mistake. In person they may be so alike that even the mother finds it difficult to distinguish one from the other. Yet in a few weeks, or even days, of life, she will be astonished to see how dissimilar many of their traits are, as different as if they were not of the same family. I have known many, but have yet to see a pair of twins alike in character. One is, perhaps, mischievous, full of frolic, in some ways hard to manage; the other quiet, gentle and loving.

I know two little boys who in appearance were exactly alike, but in every characteristic trait no two persons could be more dissimilar. One was quiet, dignified in every movement, most affectionate, with the traits and bearing of a perfect gentleman. Even in his baby manifestation of love he was graceful, sweet-tempered and so winning. He seemed so delicate that the mother's hart ached for him.

His twin, on the contrary, was the very personification of frolic, vim and mischief. Whenever he turned his merry laugh rang out, and some specimen of his roguery was sure to follow. He was too strong and full of life, and health, it seemed, for any apprehension, but God took both the same day home to Him together.

Had they been spared what would the harvest have been? Would there have been strength given to that strong fraternal love that held them so closely. Would it have guided them gently yet firmly, or would they have been spoiled by over indulgence which might cause their shipwreck in their later years? God knew what was best and He holds them safely.

The responsibility which all parents must fill is very great—often painfully so. But I am confident that neither from books nor from advice from friends can one learn the lesson which comes from experience alone in the practical management of children. The mother's watchful eye, or the mother's heart, if she realizes how precious is the gift that has been committed to her care, is that safest guide. And if she seeks help by daily prayer she will not go far astray.

MRS. HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Lady Harcourt.

Lady Harcourt, the wife of the leader of the Oppositon in the House of Commons, is not so well known as her distinguished husband. She has, however, a distinct claim to notice in that she is the daughter of John Lothrop Motley, the famous historian and author of the Standard History of the Dutch republic. Lady Harcourt was Elizabeth Motley, and was Mrs. J. P. Ives, when she married the English statesman in 1876. Sir William was married first in 1859, to Lady Theresa Lewis, the widow of Sir George Cornewall Lewis, Bart. He met his present wife during the time her father was the American minister to London, Lady Harcourt takes a keen interest in English politics and follows the campaigns with no little concern. She is something of a student of English methods of legislation, and her figure is a familiar one in the ladies' gallery of the House of Commons.

A Talanted Lady.

Miss Barbara Bradby, who has just obtained a first-class in the typical Oxford examination of the School of Literate Humaniores, is a daughter of the late head master of Haileybury, and is the first Oxford woman student who has gained first-class honors in two university examinations, both being, in her case, classical.

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or women can have. An affliction not only to themselves, but to those with whom they come in contact. A foul breath is a great discourager of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realised just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptoms are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently by the use of Dr. Pierce's pleasant Pellets. They give to nature just the little help that she needs. There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heartburn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "pellets" will not cure.

Herring Red Kid Gloves.

Herring red kid gloves have been found to make the hand look smaller than tan ones, and they are worn by the elite whenever they can possibly be made to harmonize with a gown. A red belt or tie or lapel or hatband is considered excuse enough, and so the red glove is at this moment more in evidence, bicycling, yachting, driving and walking, than any other.

Azalea.

A most popular shade of pink at the present moment is known as the azalea. It is clear—it might almost be described as transparent, and has a depth of red in it. Azalea-colored lawn over black silk is a combination of the most striking and artistic sort.

Your druggist is honest if when you ask him for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion he gives you just what you ask for. He knows this is the best form in which to take Cod Liver Oil.

Hidden Foes.

Among the many foes to human health and happiness dyspepsia and constipation are twin enemies greatly to be feared. With B.B.B. to drive them out of the system, however, no danger need be anticipated, as every dose brings the sufferer a long step further on the road to perfect health and strength, and a permanent cure always results.

HOW THE SUN LIFE FULFILS ITS PROMISES.

A Matured 10 Year Endowment.

Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.

The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the undersigned this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled

BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1895.

W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—

DEAR SIR.—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,871 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.

I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when at Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the "SUN."

I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1906 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain, Yours Sincerely, (Signed) F. R. C.

The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

LEADING HATTERS.

A DISTINGUISHED GATH ERING.

Statesmen Express Opinions Respecting the Great Show and Other Matters.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—At the usual luncheon of the Exhibition directors yesterday, speeches were made by Ho n. Mr. Fisher, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and other prominent gentlemen, bearing on topics of general interest.

The first speaker was Hon. Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, who expressed his appreciation of the compliment extended to him on this occasion as a representative of the farmers and others connected with the agricultural interests of the Dominion. He had for many years been engaged in the business of farming, and was glad of the opportunity to come to Toronto as Minister of Agriculture, and meet farmers from all over the Dominion of Canada and shake them by the hand. The Toronto Exhibition had not the name of a Dominion Exhibition, but in the extent of its exhibits it was Dominion, if not continental in its nature. The farming and industrial interests are closely allied and those engaged in them met together on common grounds at the Exhibition. Speaking personally as a farmer of 23 years' experience, he had come to the conclusion that the dairy interest and stock farming, which he was engaged in, was the best and highest branch of agriculture and best suited to the farmers of Canada.

He believed that it was the most advanced form of agriculture that enabled our farmers to turn out the most valuable manufactured product of the farms and at the same time retained upon the farm the greatest possible portion of that which was essential to its continued fertility. The farmers were the largest manufacturers of the country to-day, because they sent out more manufactured articles than did any other branch of industry. Coming from Quebec, he was anxious to meet the farmers of Ontario and learn their wants. He did not come here to teach and tell them what to do, but in his position as Minister of Agriculture, he was extremely desirous to find out from them what he could do to advance the agricultural interests of the province.

Hon. William Mulock, Postmaster-General, said the members of Parliament present were not there as such, but as members of the greatest union in Canada. On the occasion of Labor Day, they were all, in one sense, laboring men, toiling for the benefit of Canada as a whole. The Exhibition had for years back exercised a marked influence in developing the great industries of Canada. It had not in the past received that recognition which it ought to receive, and he trusted that when it came again to ask that recognition it would find that it had friends on both sides of the House. Although the success of that day was very great, he trusted that future gatherings would be still greater successes.

Sir Charles Tupper met with a very enthusiastic reception. He said that he had very great pleasure in offering a few observations on this happy occasion of his visit to this great Exhibition. He had visited many exhibitions and had no hesitation in saying that this Exhibition was not surpassed by the Royal Agricultural Show of England, nor by any of the other great exhibitions of Europe.

He agreed with the remarks of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture, with reference to the possibilities of a market in Great Britain for Canadian butter. He paid a tribute to Prof. Robertson of the Dominion Experimental Farms for his valuable services in the development of the agricultural resources of the country. The Minister of Agriculture had said that he did not think there was quite so great a market for Canadian beef and mutton in Great Britain as for butter and cheese. He would like to call attention to the fact that, up to the time when the British Government scheduled Canadian cattle, and he thought unjustly so, the shipping of cattle to England was a most profitable industry.

But if they could not get their cattle into Great Britain upon the hoof, Canada is quite equal to the occasion, and was turning her attention to the dead meat trade. This trade, when developed, will soon prove most beneficial to Canadian farmers, who, instead of shipping their "stockers," will feed them on their farms and derive greater profit from their live stock than under the old method of shipping alive.

He had read with profound satisfaction the declaration of the Premier, that he was willing to do everything in his power to carry out the policy of preferential trade. It only requires a few years of able management in order to give to the great agricultural industries of Canada that position in the British market that, as members of the same family, and as British subjects, Canadians were entitled to receive.

Last winter while he occupied the position of leader of the House of Commons, he had received a deputation from Toronto, and all parts of the province, who impressed upon the Government the necessity of making a grant in aid of the proposed Dominion Exhibition, to be held here next year, where the products of all the provinces of the Dominion might be exhibited to the hundreds of thousands of people who would be attracted from all parts of the Dominion. The Government, of which he was a member, received that proposition with great favor and [illegible] prepared to give that support which [illegible] necessary to ensure its success. He only trusted that the present Government would take the opportunity of giving that assistance when it was asked, and he could pledge the support of the Opposition if they did so. (Loud cheers.)

Sir Mackenzie Bowell had on a recent occasion enjoyed the honor and privilege of expressing his opinion upon the Exhibition. He was fully in accord with every word that had been uttered by Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Frank Smith was pleased to hear what the Minister of Agriculture said with regard to butter making in this country, and he believed that, to a great extent, his views are right.

Hon. G. E. Foster remarked that his honorable friends who represented the Government were, in his opinion, too indefinite to please the President, in their references to the proposed grant for a Dominion Exhibition. They should have come out with the amount they intended to give in cold cash towards this National Exhibition—"Say $50,000," said Mr. Foster, amid laughter, "and the Opposition will give them their hearty support."

Mr. Mulock: "Would you give them a Governor-General's warrant for it?"

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper said he had, on a previous occasion, expressed the opinion that the association was yearly making greater progress and doing a grand work in developing the national spirit in Canada by means of the great Exhibitions which it held, and which tended to strengthen the bond of union with their friends and fellow-countrymen down by the sea. It was a gratification to him to know that nearly all the "salt water" members of the House of Commons had hastened, when the opportunity offered, to attend the Exhibition.

Struck by a Train.

Chatham, Sept. 7.—While John Blair, a farmer and thresher, living near Chatham, was crossing the C.P.R. tracks at Centre-street this afternoon, his rig was struck by the express and hurled about 40 feet. When picked out of the wrecked wagon Blair was found to be terribly bruised and cut on the head, nose broken, arm dislocated, and some ribs fractured.

MADE STRONG AGAIN.

For the Sake of Others a Grateful Woman Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Napanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

M. L. HENRY & CO.

A Letter That Speaks Volumes.

It Comes From a Well-known Montreal Business Man.

Strong Statements That Could Not Be Obtained from Such a High Source for Any Other Medicine in the World.

Mr. B. Hutchins, of the firm of B. Hutchins & Co., Real Estate, Financial and Rental Agents, Montreal, writes about Paine's Celery Compound as follows:—

"About five years ago I wrote you a letter acknowledging the wonderful effect your Paine's Celery Compound had upon me after I had given it a fair trial; that it had cured me entirely of neuralgia in the head, from which I had suffered most fearfully periodically for over fifty years, and also that it had cured me of rheumatism in my limbs, and braced me up generally. In fact, it had removed every pain in my body, and made me feel 25 years younger. Hence my desire that all of my numerous friends and the public generally should know that there really was a cure for the painful and distressing diseases of rheumatism and neuralgia.

"Accordingly, I sent you, of my own accord, the only certificate I ever gave for a medicine, hoping many other sufferers might be induced to benefit by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

"I have not had a return of my old complaint, and therefore have to confirm all the statements I have ever made respecting your Compound; and, moreover, I wish to say it possesses a merit which I think you have never claimed for it. Most ordinary headaches proceed from a disordered stomach, and in such cases a good dose of the Compound will relive the sufferer in a few moments, as it acts promptly on the stomach."

In order to secure the grand results referred to by Mr. Hutchins, the sick and suffering should make sure that they get from their dealers and druggists "Paine's," the kind that cures. There are many celery preparations that are worthless imitations, and that cannot possibly give the desired results.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There was a fair market to-day, with all good stuff picked up early. The offerings of inferior cattle, however, are too large, and there is little demand for them. Total receipts at Western yards, 63 carloads, including 1500 sheep and lambs and 1900 hogs. Prices generally ruled steady. The best shipping cattle sold at 4c to 4¼c per lb., and ordinary at 3½c to 3¾c. Bulls for export, 3c to 3½c. Butchers' cattle unchanged; the best sold at 3c to 3¼c per lb., mediums at 2¼c to 2¾c, and inferior at 1¾c to 2c. Milch cows unchanged at $18 to $30 each, and calves at $2.50 to $3.50 per head.

Sheep and lambs are steady. Export sheep, 3c to 3¼c per lb., and butchers' 2¼c to 2¾c. Lambs sold at 3½c to 3¾c per lb.

Hogs in moderate demand and steady. The best sell at 4c to 4¼c per lb., weighed off cars, thick fats at 3¼c, stores not wanted, sows at 3c and stags at 2c per lb.

TOUGH CLOTHES FOR THE BOYS.

Young Canada Begins Another Six Months' Schooling.

Tough clothes for boys to wear to school this Fall and Winter. That's the burden of our song. Strong clothes to stand the wear and tear of play, rough but healthy. Strong clothes to stand the work of out of doors fun in cold weather. We have just such things for the youngsters and, besides being full of wear, they are neat and shapely.

Did the last suit of clothes you bought for your boy from us, wear as well as it ought to hav worn, considering the price paid? If it did you should go to the same store for the next suit. You ge your money's worth. We deserve your patronage. We'll do better by you and by the boy than any other clothier.

5 CASES OF BOYS' NEW SUITS

These are only the advance guard of our Fall stock, for the boys. These are TWO and THREE piece Suits, and will fit boys all the way from 3 to 16 years. We sell the best of everything to keep in the heat, and keep out the cold for boys. We were boys ourselves, once,—it seems an awful long time ago.

We've all good qualities of Boys' Clothing. We've—probably—more Boys' Clothing in our store than in all the other stores put together. We've a weakness for supplying the boys. Ask yours if this isn't so?

Some idea we may give you of the value and inducement we purpose giving to buyers, when we say will buy a beautiful, heavy, all wool, neatly made, well trimmed, and built of Auburn Mills Tweed Suit.

Of course we've cheaper Suits, and as low as 95c per suit. Better Suits up to $3.00 and $4.00, but

OUR $2.00 SUIT IS A CORKER.

Just the thing for a boy's school Suit, and as good as ever sold for $3.50.

Mothers should see these Suits. You know value. You know your boy's clothes-wrecking propensities.

Come to us. We're full of economical suggestions. No matter what your money is, we'll help you to make it go as far as it can. Come! The verdict is nearly always in our favour. It isn't often that the careful buyer decides against us.

"TOUGH CLOTHES FOR THE BOYS" That's our Motto.

THE MAJORITY IS 34

For the Best Government Since Confederation.

MR. FOSTER'S MOTION OF CENSURE

Was Voted Down by 103 to 69—No Less Than Thirty-Two of the Members Were Paired—All the Independents Voted With the Government.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—The long-deferred division upon the question as to whether the Government was censurable in having availed itself of the Governor-General's warrants to pay salaries and discharge other current obligations was taken to-night and the relative strength of the parties in the House was measured. The Government was sustained in its action by a majority of 34, the vote being: For Foster's amendment, 69; against, 103. All the independent members, including Mr. John Ross Robertson, voted with the Government. In addition to the majority recorded for the Government the vote of Mr. Speaker Edgar must be reckoned with, for in the improbable event of a tie it would be available. There are two seats vacant. Brandon and Saskatchewan, which will almost certainly return supporters of the Government. The division to-night shows the Ontario vote to be as follows: Government 48, Opposition 43, giving the Government a majority in that province of five.

The following were paired:

Burnett and Montague; Cameron and Tisdale; Beith and Cargill; Ero and Bennett; Joly and Ganong; McCarthy and Seagram; Fisher and Roddick; Gibson and Corby; Campbell and Kendrie; Wood (Hamilton) and Bergin; Hutchison and Boyd; Cowan and MacLaren; Pouliot and Costigan; McInnes and Ferguson; Davies and Tupper (Sir C. H.); Guay and Dugas.

THE DIVISION LIST.

Yeas—Beattie, Bell (Addington), Bell (Pictou), Bergeron, Bethune, Blanchard, Boisvert, Borden (Halifax), Broder, Caron (Sir Adolphe), Carscallen, Casgrain, Chauvin, Clancy, Clarke, Cochrane, Craig, Davin, Dimock, Dupont, Earle, Foster, Gillies, Gilmour, Guillet, Hackett, Haggart, Hale, Henderson, Henry Hodgins, Hughes, Ingram, Ives Kaulbach, Klock, Kloepfer, LaRiviere-Macdonald (King's), Macdonald (Winnipeg), Maclean, McAllister, McCleary, McCormick, McDougall, McInerney, McLennan (Glengarry), McNeill, Marcotte, Martin, Mills, Monk, Moore, Morin, Osler, Poupore, Powell, Prior, Quinn, Reid, Roche, Rosamond, Sproule, Taylor, Tupper, (Sir Charles), Tyrwhitt, Wallace, Wilson, Wood (Brockville). Total 69.

Nays—Balu, Bazinet, Beausoleil, Belcourt, Bernier, Blair, Borden (Kings), Bostock, Bourassa, Bourbonnais, Britton, Brodeur, Brown, Bruneau, Calvert, Carroll, Cartwright (Sir Richard), Casey, Charlton, Choquette, Christie, Copp, Dechene, Desmarais, Devlin, Dobell, Domville, Douglas, Dupre, Dyment, Edwards, Ellis, Fauvel, Featherston, Fielding, Fitzpatrick, Flint, Fortin, Fraser (Guysboro), Fraser (Lambton), Frost, Gauthier, Geoffrion, Godbout, Haley, Harwood, Hurley, Landerkin, Lang, Langelier, Laurier, Lavergne, Legris, Lemieux, Lewis, Lister, Livingston, Logan, Lount, Macdonald (Huron), Macdonald (Selkirk), Mackie, MacPherson, McGregor, McGuigan, McHugh, McIsaac, McLennan (Inverness), McMillan, McMullen, Madore, Maxwell, Meigs, Migneault, Monet, Morrison, Mulock, Oliver, Parmalee, Paterson, Penny, Pettit, Prefontaine, Proulx, Rutz, Richardson, Rinfret, Robertson, Rogers, Russell, Savard, Scriver, Semple, Somerville, Stenson, Stubbs, Sutherland, Talbot, Tarte, Tolmie, Tucker, Turcot, Yeo. Total 103.

ON THURSDAY NEXT

The Interior Portfolio Will Have a Holder —Mr. Laurier Has Promised to That Effect.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—An important statement was made by Mr. Laurier in the House this afternoon in reply to a question of Sir Charles Tupper. The Opposition leader asked when an announcement would be made respecting the filling of the portfolio of the Interior Department. The vacancy had existed so long, he said, that the House was entitled to know if it was proposed to make an appointment soon.

Mr. Laurier replied: "I shall be able to give an answer to the hon. gentleman on this question on Thursday."

Among the private bills introduced to-day was one by Mr. Lount to incorporate the Mather Bridge and Power Company.

Mr. Davin introduced a bill to amend the Mounted Police Act so as to improve the position of the force.

Mr. McDougall introduced a bill to improve the Pilotage Act, so as to take from some ports the power to abolish pilotage dues.

The debate on the abuse of power to issue Governor-General's warrants by the present Government, was resumed by Mr. Haggart, who pointed out that time and again had it been laid down that the House of Commons should have control over expenditure of the people's money.

The debate was continued by Messrs. McMullen, Henderson, Charlton, Caron, McNeill and Monk.

Mr. Osler (West Toronto) would have preferred to give his first vote on a ma[illegible] of greater importance (Liberal cheers)—though he confessed that in his opinion the question [illegible] as important as the discussion proceeded (Conservative cheers.) He would have more faith in the Liberal party if they did not protest their own virtues so energetically. The fact was that they had got into power not on account of any merits of their own, but on account of the weakness and failings of the Conservative party. (Cheers and counter cheers.) If the Liberals would drop the various fads and fallacies they had advocated for the last twenty years, protect native industries and make the good of Canada their aim, Mr. Osler promised them his support, but from their previous record he thought they would need watching carefully. In his opinion this debate had been unduly prolonged and he promised the Government all the assistance he could give them in bringing the business of the session to a speedy conclusion.

The House then divided on Mr. Foster's amendment, which was negatived by 103 to 69. Government majority 34.

The House then went into committee of supply and passed some items.

Mr. Foster will ask if the Government intends to send a commissioner to to Washington to negotiate a treaty of reciprocity between the United States and Canada.

The House adjourned at 1 a.m.

HAMILTON MATTERS.

Sewers Committee Accept Tenders—High Price for a Strip of Land—The Y. W. C. A.

Hamilton, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Sewers Committee to-night it was decided to accept the tender of J. J. Armstrong for constructing a sewer on Florence-street at 23 cents a foot, and E. C. Murton was awarded the contract to construct a sewer in Poulette-street at 50 cents a foot.

The Board of Works to-night recommended the City Council to purchase the strip of land required for the extension of O'Reilly-street, paying the owner, Ald. O'Reilly, $4000 for it.

The second biennial conference of the Young Women's Christian Association of Canada will open in Central Presbyterian Church to-morrow. As a preliminary a public meeting was held to-night, at which addresses were delivered by Miss Annie Reynolds, London, Eng., World's Y.W.C.A. secretary, and Miss Ruth K. Price of Chicago, international secretary.

THE CROPS IN BRITAIN.

Wheat Goes Several Points Above the Best Conditions—Barley and Oats Fair.

London, Sept. 8.—The Times will to-morrow publish its third report on the condition of the British crops. It shows scarcely any change since the last report, issued on Aug. 7. When the first report was issued on July 10, it said that the position of the crop was below the normal at the beginning of that month, but was nevertheless above the position at the corresponding time in 1895. Taking 100 to represent a perfect condition, wheat, worsted out at 104, barley at 89, and oats at 85, as against 79, 83 and 76 respectively in 1895. The second report placed the wheat at nearly 106, barley at a fraction lower than in the first report, and oats at 84. The last report places wheat at 106 2-5 and barley at 98.

WAR AGAIN THREATENED.

General Baldissera, Commander of the Italian Forces, Ordered to Return to Massowah.

Rome, Sept. 8.—Gen. Baldissera, commanding the Italian forces in Africa, has been ordered to return to Massowah at once in consequence of the activity of King Menelek, who, with a large army of Abyssinians, is resuming warlike operations.

WITH LI HUNG CHANG

Sir Henry Joly Had a Pleasant Two Days.

LI PROVED A GREAT QUESTIONER

Wanted to Know All About Everything, With a Special Regard for Railroads and Rails—Pleased With Toronto Fair—General News From Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—Sir Henry Joly, Controller of Inland Revenue, and W. G. Parmalee, Controller of Chinese Immigration, returned this afternoon from North Bay, where they had said good-bye to the great Chinese Viceroy, Li Hung Chang. Sir Henry is delighted with the pleasant two days he spent in the great Li's company, and will treasure the recollection thereof for the remainder of his days. During the hours that he spent with the Viceroy, Sir Henry was subjected to a perpetual run of questions on every imaginable topic. Canadian politics were the greatest attraction to Li Hung Chang, but he diversified this with questions about Canadian railroads, price of rails, weight of rail to the lineal yard, and so on. The Toronto visit without doubt will be long remembered by Li Hung. He seemed to think that the Toronto Industrial had been specially arranged for his benefit, and was deeply gratified at the attention he had received there.

A quick run was made to Barrie, and here an interesting incident took place. Mrs. Bird, a Chinese lady, the widow of an English officer, was given an audience with Li Hung Chang. Not for twenty years had she conversed in her native tongue, and she was evidently much affected at meeting her distinguished countryman.

Before bidding good-bye to Sir Henry the Viceroy incidentally brought up the question of the per capita tax on Chinese. He had no objection to the present tax, but said he had heard there was a disposition on the part of the Canadian Government to increase the tax to $500 per man. His people had always got justice under the British flag, and he would hardly believe the report was true. Sir Henry replied that the matter had never been considered by the Government, and he for his part could never agree to anything of the kind. Li Hung seemed greatly pleased at this intimation.

An order-in-council has been passed approving of the purchase for the sum of $5000 of the patent rights of Surgeon-General Oliver's infantry equipments.

Communications laid on the table to-day give the returns of the orders-in-council passed between the period of the defeat of the Mackenzie Government and their resignation and for the similar period of late Ministry. Along with these orders-in-council passed by the Tupper Ministry was one regarding the claim of Messrs. Murray and Cleveland regarding Toronto harbor works and proposing to refer the case to the Exchequer Court, and in the case of Mr. Charlebois' claim of the Langevin block to three arbitrators. Both orders-in-council have been cancelled.

A despatch has been received from the Colonial Office stating that an Armenian, Mr. Baghdasarin, desires to emigrate to Canada. As he belongs to the Baptist faith, a copy of the despatch has been forwarded to the authorities of McMaster University, Toronto, who may interest themselves in the case.

As is well known, investigations are going on both on the Pribylov Islands and in Behring Sea regarding seal life with a view to ascertaining whether there is any necessity, as the United States contends, for revising the regulations governing sealing under the Paris award. A despatch has been sent to the Colonial Office pointing out that by assenting to the investigation Canada does not admit of the necessity of a revision of the regulations.

A circular is being issued to-day from the Trade and Commerce Department addressed to prominent business men throughout the country for the purpose of ascertaining from each the details of the business that the firm is carrying on in exports and imports with foreign countries by years. The information is sought to add to what is already within the knowledge of the department through its agencies.

The Railway Committee of the Privy Council is composed of the following Ministers: Hon. A. G. Blair (chairman), Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Hon. William Mulock and Hon. R. D. Dobell.

The fifth annual convention of the Canadian Bankers' Association opens in this city to-morrow. Meetings will be held in the tower room of the House of Commons, and delegates will be in session for three days. The delegates represent all the great financial institutions of the country and meet yearly to talk over the leading monetary questions of the day. At the opening proceedings an address of welcome will be read by Mr. George Burn, general manager of the Bank of Ottawa, who is president of this district of the Bankers' Association, Mr. D. M. Finnie, of the Ottawa Bank, is secretary. W. W. L. Chipman, hon. secretary of the association, arrived, in the city yesterday, while Thomas Fyshe, cashier of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who is president, arrived to-day.

POINTON'S SORE TROUBLES.

A Toronto Man's Petition for Divorce Places Lillian Doyle in a Very Bad Light.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—A sad case of domestic infelicity is recorded in a petition for divorce presented to the Commons to-day on behalf of C. R. U. Pointon, a Toronto painter. Mr. Pointon was married to Lillian Doyle by Rev. John Pearson in August, 1882. The couple lived together for a few years, when Mrs. Pointon left her husband to live with a man named Charles Gallow. Since then, the petition alleges, the woman has led a very bad life, has served two terms of imprisonment, has consorted with thieves and prostitutes and kept a house of assignation.

Nervous

People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken Hood's Pills with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and they have done me much good. I will not be without them. I have taken 13 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and through the blessing of God, it has cured me. I worked as hard as ever the past summer, and I am thankful to say I am well. Hood's Pills when taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla help very much." MRS. M. M. MESSENGER, Freehold, Penn.

Cured

PROHIBITION.

The Liberal Government is prepared to carry out its platform in respect of a plebiscite in regard to Prohibition. A committee of the Alliance waited upon Hon. Mr. Laurier and Sir Oliver Mowat, and received an assurance that a plebiscite would be submitted to the people after the January session, and, "if the popular verdict" pronounced in favour of prohibition, that a bill prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors would be introduced and passed. The taking of a plebiscite to elicit popular sentiment on the subject of prohibition seems to be a very necessary precaution. It is recognised as practically impossible to enforce a law of a sumptuary character unless it has popular sentiment strongly behind it, and it is undeniable that, in the interests of the temperance movement, it would be better to have no prohibitory law at all than to have one that would be discredited by imperfect enforcement. Under these circumstances it is imperative that the forthcoming plebiscite should bring out a full and complete expression of public feeling on the subject. It is to be hoped that every possible vote will be polled both for and against, so that a definitely positive or negative declaration of sentiment in regard to the question may form the basis of legislation or otherwise. If such a declaration in favour of prohibition is elicited, it may be certainly assumed that the Liberal Government will fulfill the promise contained in the declared and deliberate platform of the party, as fully in respect of prohibitory legislation as it will do in reference to the plebiscite. The people have lately shown their confidence in the Liberal Government and that Government is showing and will continue to show that it is worthy of the trust. Popular Government obtains in Canada and it is quite fitting that in the matter of special legislation, dealing with a habit of long existence, the will of the people directly affected by it, should be consulted. It is in their hands to decide whether or not they will co-operate with the government. If the people declare in favour of prohibition, the government, so far as legislation to that end can secure the result, will put a stop to the universally acknowledged great evils of the drink traffic.

Mr. Monk of Jacques Cartier and Mr. Fortin of Laval Confirmed in Their Seats.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—The preliminary objection to the petitions against the election of Mr. F. D. Monk, Q.C., Conservative M.P. for Jacques Cartier, and Mr. T. Fortin, Liberal M.P. for Laval, were heard this afternoon by Mr. Justice Loranger, who rendered judgment maintaining the objections in each case and dismissing the petitions. Thus Messrs. Monk and Fortin are confirmed in their seats.

OTHER MONTREAL NEWS.

Rev. F. J. Steen, M.A., of Berlin, Ont., has been appointed a professor in the Montreal Diocesan Theological College by His Lordship the Bishop of Montreal. The reverend gentleman was educated at Toronto University, where he obtained honors in two different subjects upon the completion of his graduate course.

SPAIN'S TROUBLES.

The Rebellion in the Philippine Islands said to be Assuming Serious Proportions.

Madrid, Sept. 8.—Official advices from Manila say that the rebellion in the Philippine Islands is confined to the Province of Cavile. The rebels have barricaded themselves in a church at Cavile, which is so far from the shore that the Spanish gunboats are unable to reach it with their guns.

MATTERS ARE SERIOUS.

Madrid, Sept. 8.—A special despatch from Hong Kong to The Imparcial says that the commander of the British gun-boat Redpole has a telegraph from Manila that the gravity of the situation at the capital of the Philippine Islands is such as to oblige him to remain there with his ship. This message indicates that the position at Manila is very serious, though no details are obtainable owing to the rigor of the censorship. Business telegrams have been received at Hong Kong from mercantile correspondents at Manila advising against the shipments of further consignments of goods to the Philippines and stating that business there is at a complete standstill.

SPAIN BUYING WAR VESSELS.

Madrid, Sept. 8.—Admiral Beranger, the Minister of Marine, has decided to purchase in Scotland, an ironclad of 10,500 tons and a cruiser of 6500 tons, costing respectively £750,000 and £315,000, and two torpedo catchers. He has also decided to place an order in England for a cruiser of 1500 tons.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be effected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

ENDED AT LAST.

After Two Years of Misery Endured Backache Succumbs to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Madoc, (Special) Aug. 31.—In a place like this, people suffer and sympathize, hope and mourn with each other. But her many friends here, as elsewhere, who have long been aware of the precarious health and long suffering of Mrs. J. Fergusson will be pleased to learn that her painful sufferings have ended at last, and that instead of being unable, as she says, "to turn herself in bed" she is herself once more as the result of using a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She further says that from the third day after commencing to use these pills, she was free from all pain; and, that now she feels as well as ever before in her life.

AT THE TORONTO FAIR

A Most Important Meeting of Farmers.

THE MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE

Delivers a Speech in Reply to the Addresses of a Number of the Most Prominent Agriculturists and Stock Raisers of the Do-

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Over 200 representative farmers and leading stock breeders assembled in the tent of Mr. F. W. Hodson, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, and secretary of the Dominion Sheep, Swine and Cattle Breeders' Association, at the Industrial Fair, to meet the Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion of Canada, yesterday and lay before him matters relating to the present quarantine regulations, railroad rates and questions relating to Canadian live stock records. Hon. Mr. Dryden, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, was also present. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mr. John I. Hobson, who, in a lucid way, explained the object of the meeting.

Mr. David McRae of Guelph, Mr. Arthur Johnston of Greenwood, Mr. James Russell of Richmond Hill, Mr. J. C. Snell of Snellgrove, Mr. Gregg, secretary of the Breeders' Association in Manitoba, Dr. Smith of Toronto, Dr. Mills of the O.A.C., Guelph, and Hon. Mr. Dryden made short speeches, explaining the needs of the country, as per their ideas.

Hon. Mr. Fisher replied in part as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen,—I need not tell you how great a pleasure it gives me to come here at this time to meet the men who are engaged in our own business—in farming. If our present Government has anything on which it can claim the support of the whole people, it is because it is a business Government. You have said some flattering things regarding myself, and the fact of being a farmer will cause more to be expected of me in the position I hold than of one who was not so closely identified with the work of this department. I have not the advantages of living in your province. I am engaged in farming in the sister Province of Quebec. You have alluded to me as a practical farmer. I appreciate that as the highest compliment I could receive at your hands.

Now, gentlemen, I have taken notes of what has been laid before me. I have come here to-day, not to give you information, but to get information. I might easily have permitted my duties to have detained me in the House of Commons, but I felt that I could not forego such an opportunity to be with you. I am not prepared to give you any definite reply regarding these questions. While I am pleased to identify myself with the interests of the farmers and breeders, there are other interests and other sides of the question to be examined, for I must not forget that I am a member of a Government that deals with the whole people of Canada, and I do not think that the farmers would wish that I should do anything that is not for the good of the whole country.

The question of quarantine in the United States is one of the utmost importance to stockmen and the country. It seems to have two important bearings. One with regard to the interchange of thoroughbred stock. The free interchange of thoroughbred stock would be a great advantage to both countries. Then our stock raisers wish to send their beef cattle into the United States and want to ship their cattle through the United States to Great Britain when more advantageous than through our own ports. We must consult with the other interests that are concerned, and, though I, as the especial guardian of the farmers' rights, must press the interests of the farmer, still I must, as a member of the Government, speak to you regarding this matter in the light of an international question.

You speak of the exclusive railroad rates on cattle. I can sympathize with you, sirs. Within the last few months I have had to miss the sale of several animals, because the freight rates would have eaten up the profits. The railroad corporations are powerful in the country. Their interest at first sight may be in contradiction to our interests. I trust I, as a member of the Cabinet, shall be able to show the railway companies that it is in their interest to reduce their rates on live stock. (Applause.)

The last question is that of tuberculosis. I have studied this question somewhat. I have seen animals slaughtered as being affected with tuberculosis. We should take due precaution against the disease and suffer the loss of the animals; but I do say that the scare was unfounded and unnecessary. I say this, not to put the farmers off their guard against thoroughly stamping out the disease and disinfecting the herds where it occurs, so that we may confine the disease to certain individuals only.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I was very glad to hear the words of Mr. Dryden, when he stated that we were not playing at politics here. There is no politics entering into these questions. They affect all alike. We have naturally our own political convictions, and when we are in an election, can air them; but let us drop all party differences when we come to deal with questions that are going to advance the interests of our farmers as a class. (Loud applause.)

The meeting then closed.

LORD ABERDEEN

Was Present at the Directors' Lunch and Made a Speech.

There was a marked change in the personnel of the guests at the directors' luncheon yesterday as compared with the previous day. On Monday the statesmen and politicians were present in force and the proceedings partook somewhat of a semi-political aspect, the Industrial Exhibition and its success being the central theme around which the political athletes fenced, and made "thrust" and "parry" with the sharp-pointed rapiers of political debate. Yesterday the acumen of the political gladiators was not in evidence, and those politicians who were present, as if in apology for the tone of the previous day's speeches, laid special stress upon the desirability of encouraging a brotherly feeling between the people of the various provinces and held aloft the banner of "unity." The chief guest was His Excellency the Governor-General, who was warmly received.

The President made his usual after-luncheon address and gave the toast of the "Queen," which was received with enthusiasm. "His Excellency the Governor-General," the next toast, was received heartily, the President briefly remarking that since assuming the duties of his office His Excellency had endeared himself to all Canadians.

The Governor-General, on rising, was received with cheers. He expressed his thanks for the kind manner in which his health had been proposed and received, when he took as a recognition of the high office he had the honor to occupy, and also for the personal allusion to himself as an individual. He hoped to be present again to-morrow with the farmers and to learn something which shall be of profit to him. He was glad to know that the assembly was representative of the pre-eminently important enterprise of farming and paid a kindly recognition to the judges, whose position should be looked upon with respect and consideration. He had recently picked up a book, the title of which was, "Canada First," and expressed the thought that the importance of this maxim should not be forgotten, especially when they heard of Canada as first in the rifle shooting at Bisley, high in the artillery competition at Shoeburyness, first in the yachting races, in the cricket match at Philadelphia, and first in the rowing on the Thames. (Loud applause.)

GOOD WISHES FOR THE FAIR.

In reply to the toast of the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments, Hon. Sidney Fisher said that he appeared, not as a politician, but as the guardian of the great agricultural industries of the Dominion. He was especially pleased to appear in that capacity in the presence of His Excellency, who, as well as Her Majesty, whom he represented, had both done much for the cause of agriculture and had taken many blue ribbons at the various agricultural exhibitions in the older land. He trusted that ere long they would have the pleasure of seeing His Excellency coming with the products of his British Columbia farm to compete at this Exhibition. He again congratulated the association upon the fact that the Exhibition had attained a continental, if not a world-wide reputation.

Hon. John Dryden was glad that the Minister of Agriculture of the Dominion was present in order that he might go back to his own province and tell the people there about the splendid exhibits he had seen and could only see at this Exhibition. He was heartily in accord with the proposal to hold a Dominion Exhibition next year, which, he thought, would be of the greatest value in bringing together the people from the various provinces of the Dominion and making them feel more and more that they are all brothers. The farming industry was what he might call the bottom industry of the country. But they could not get along very well if the manufacturers of the country had not given to them the machinery which enabled the farmers to derive greater returns from their labor. Everybody had come to the point of admitting that this was Canada's greatest Fair, and with its special equipment and its advantage of location and successful experience of the past —— all should join together to make it the representative Fair of the Dominion.

Andrew Pattullo, member-elect for North Oxford, said that the Industrial Fair was a great object lesson for the stranger, as illustrating the prosperity, growth and character of the Canadian people. He referred in graceful terms to his predecessor in the representation of North Oxford, and expressed the hope that the example of that gentleman would have the effect of keeping him in a humble frame of mind. As President of the Good Roads Association, he put in a good word for that institution, explained its aims and invited those present to visit the Exhibition and take a practical lesson.

S. Nordheimer, German Consul, appreciated the honor done the Fatherland by the association. He could only say on behalf of his countrymen who are in Canada that they are sober, industrious, and while they are here they in every respect make most desirable, loyal and patriotic citizens. They were aware that there is no place where they could enjoy greater prosperity and had greater opportunities than they had in this Canada of ours.

Prof. Mills of the Ontario Agricultural Farm expressed the hope that what had been said would have a great influence upon the Dominion Minister of Agriculture and induce him to use his influence with his colleagues to grant the necessary aid for a Dominion Exhibition. Also that the Minister of Agriculture of Ontario would see his way clear to make a grant at the next session of the Legislature for the purpose of providing a suitable building for the purposes of the province.

As representing the judges in horticulture, Mr. Scott of Buffalo made a brief speech, in which he paid a high tribute to Toronto's Fair as the best on the continent.

His Excellency proposed the health of Mr. Withrow, with whose name he coupled that of ex-President Capt. William McMaster.

President Withrow responded in suitable terms on behalf of himself, Captain McMaster and his other colleagues on the board.

MADE STRONG AGAIN.

For the Sake of Others a Grateful Woman Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Napanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

MUNYON

Sweeping Everything Before Him.

The Munyon Cures the One Topic of Conversation in Toronto—Druggists and Doctors Everywhere Calling for the Munyon Remedies.

Mrs. A. Taylor, proprietress of the "Little Brown Jug" novelty store, opposite Mutual street, Toronto, says: "Last March I was seriously injured by falling down stairs, and had one of my limbs broken in two places. At the hospital, where I was for a couple of months, the doctors warned me that rheumatism would likely set in. The warning came true, and I suffered terrible pains from that dread disease for some time. My limbs were swollen, and at times I was unable to rise from the chair without excruciating pains. I was compelled to use a cane and crutch to move around. After using two bottles of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure the swelling has gone down, pains have been less severe. I have thrown both the crutch and cane away, and can now walk without the use of either." 10

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure seldom fails to relieve in one to three hours, and cures in a few days. Price, 25c.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Visitors to the above who are musically inclined should carefully inspect The MASON & RISCH PIANO exhibit. Our stand is the first one on the left as you enter the Musical Pavilion. Our exhibit is not a large one, as we believe that the beautiful tones of instruments can be more fully appreciated in the quiet of our warerooms than amidst the bustle and confusion of an exhibition. We shall therefore make our principal exhibit at our warerooms, 32 King St. W., to which all visitors are cordially invited.

One of the most valuable paintings at the Art Gallery in the exhibition building will be the famous portrait of the Great Pianist Franz Lizst which was painted at his command by Baron Joukovsky, the Great Russian Artist, and presented to Messrs Mason & Risch as a tribute to the wonderful tone qualities of their Pianos. Every lover of Art should make it a point to see this painting. It is valued by experts at $5000.00.

WE HAVE NOT CHANGED OUR DECISION

To retire from business as quickly as circumstances will permit. But, as the Fall trade approaches we find ourselves with a large and varied stock of high-class Staple Dry Goods, which cannot be moved out without being well assorted with New Fall lines of the latest, leading Novelties of 1896.

We shall continue, therefore, during the Fall and early Winter months to keep a regular assortment of the leading Novelties for fashionable

Fall Wear.

The buying has been done with extreme care, but the stocks are comprehensive enough to satisfy every need, ranging from the newest things in SILK AND WOOL DRESS GOODS, for the super-fashionable, to the simplest effects in the quietest materials for people to whom a dollar is a dollar, or sometimes more.

It must not be forgotten, however that our chief object is still to get entirely out of business. This will have its full effect on prices, and the new goods will have to share in the same general reduction necessary to accomplish a prompt clearance of the entire stock.

Canadians Ahead.

Canada may well feel proud of the achievements of her athletes, as the events of the last few days proves them quite capable of holding their own with the rest of the world and judging from the orders Pete Simons is daily receiving from our cousins across the border they know how to appreciate good honest work. Drawing Well.

The Wilson Company still continues to draw big houses and each succeeding evening sees a better pleased crowd witnessing the performance. The addition of Miss Minnie Barrie to the company has greatly strengthened it, as this charming little soubrette quite captivates the audience with her clever acting. Neva Carlotta's graceful dancing is a revelation and this young lady has, without doubt, a future before her. Tiny little Florida wins the applause of the evening in her cute dances and songs.

A Case of Non-Support.

Mr. and Mrs. James Billington were before the magistrate this morning on the complaint of the children's Aid Society, for the non-support of their child. The crown has taken up the case and Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the prosecution. It appears that the family applied to the Children's Aid Society to relieve them of the child, as they are quite able to support it, the crown has assumed charge of the matter. The man and his wife have been committed. The child is a little girl of three years of age.

Mr. McComb's New Stock.

As will have been observed by public announcement on our first page, Mr. James McComb has made additions to his glove store, No. 128 Hunter street, for the purpose of adding dress goods and other staple dry goods to his other regular lines. While Mr. McComb still makes a specialty of gloves, yarns, underwear and ladies' and gents' furnishing, the store has been extended and fitted up for such of these new lines as he finds go hand-in-hand together. Mr. Joseph Armstrong, who is well known as an experienced dry goods man, is in charge of this department of the stock and bargain lovers who have enjoyed the benefit of many a good snap from him, are not likely to forget their old friends.

The Wilson Comedy Company.

In spite of strong counter attractions—the band concert and the free show on the market square, in the rear of the Opera House—last night the Wilson Comedy Company attracted a good house, which was highly delighted with the excellent entertainment provided by an excellent presentation of "The Noble Outcast." Messrs. Barry Harvie, Jas. Durkin, J. T. Shunk and Alex. Furness are deserving of special mention, as well as Miss Helen Minkley in the role of Nana Lee, which she enacted with especial credit. Miss Neva Carlota, in her skirt dancing and other specialties, as Miss Baby Florida, in her coon and catchy songs and dainty dancing, were very greatly appreciated. A splendid bill to-night, at popular prices. Don't make a show of yourself by failing to see the show. You'll never get as much clever acting and solid enjoyment for prices of admission—10 and 15 cents.

A WEDDING AT ST. PETER'S.

Nuptials of Miss Minnie Hurley and Mr. E. J. McCarthy.

A most interesting ceremony took place at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning at seven o'clock, when Miss Minnie Hurley, second daughter of Mr. Timothy Hurley, Hunter street, was united in marriage to Mr. E. J. McCarthy, contractor of public works, Montreal.

The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Casey in the presence of a large number of the young friends of Miss Hurley. Miss McCabe presided at the organ, and as the newly married couple descended the aisle the Mendelssohn wedding march was played. The full choir, of which Miss Hurley was a member, was in attendance and during the ceremony Mrs. George Hall sang the solo, "Ave Maria."

The bride was most becomingly costumed in blue-grey covert cloth, with passementerie trimming and wore a large picture hat. The bridesmaid was Miss Anna Hurley, cousin of the bride and daughter of Mr. J. M. Hurley, M. P., Belleville. She was prettily gowned in a dark blue figured cloth with iridescent trimming.

The groom was supported by Mr. J. Hayes, of the Montreal post office.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the invited guests repaired to to the residence of the bride's father, where the wedding breakfast was served, Mr. H. Long being the caterer. Amongst those present were Dr. Coughlin, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Coughlin, of Hastings; Mr. A. E. Hurley, also a brother of the bride, of St. Michael's College, Toronto; and Mr. W. McCarthy, brother of the groom, Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy left on the noon Express for the East and will visit Quebec and Newport before taking up their residence in Sherbrooke.

LAST NIGHT'S BAND CONCERT.

A Splendid Programme Presented to a Fairly Good Audience.

Last night a fairly good attendance of the public assembled at the drill shed to listen to a concert by the Fire Brigade Band, and the actual attendance did not represent the extent of the patronage, for a good many tickets were sold that were not represented in the audience.

Never before has our deservedly popular band given a better programme in a better manner. Special mention should be made of the selection from Maritana, which received a most finished and well rounded interpretation, showing the results of capable coaching and intelligent practice. Specially pleasing features of the programme were the finely performed clarionette solo of Mr. Fisher and the euphonium solo of Mr. Maxson. The first few measures of the latter revealed an exquisitely rich, round and mellow tone and fine expression, though the triple tonguing in the variations might have been given a clearer staccatto, without impairing the generally excellent rendering of the selection. Mr. Maxson was very warmly encored, and obligingly responded. The band furnished excellent accompaniments to both solos. The incidental solos of Mr. Miller, leader, and Mr. Richard Shelton, contralto, were worthy of great praise. The delightful entertainment was brought to a close with "Vive La Canadienne" and "God Save the Queen."

The members of the band leave tomorrow morning to fill their engagement at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, and we all feel sure that they will give a good account of themselves, in quasi competition with the leading bands of the province. Last night's programme showed what they could do, and they have reason to be proud of the way in which they acquitted themselves.

FIRE AT FENELON FALLS.

The Howry Bros'. Saw Mill Wiped Out by Fire.

A telephone message received this morning from Fenelon Falls states that about 4.30 o'clock fire broke out in the saw mills of Howry Bros. and the structure and its contained machinery were totally destroyed. The office building, which is separated from the mills, as well as the lumber yards, escaped.

The Howrys cannot, they say, place an estimate on their loss, which, however, will be considerable, the mills being practically new, the machinery, especially, which was mainly supplied by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, and was of the highest quality.

People's Coal Co.

A coal dealer who claims to have some of our coal left over from last year is advertising it at $5.50 per ton and is offering to take orders at that price. As his stock is very limited and he cannot buy any more we would advise you to order this coal from him at once, but be sure you get our coal, as there is no other coal in town that burns to a white ash free from clinkers. Our coal is weighed on the market scales (2,000 lbs. to a ton). Do not be influenced by talk from interested parties, but try it for yourself. Talk is cheap but sometimes costs money, as Mr. Fitzgerald found out to his sorrow in the police court last Saturday. Call and see the medal and diploma the Company took at the World's Fair for having the purest hard coal mined in the world. Coal to-day is $1.25 a ton dearer wholesale than it was last year. Why did not the retail price in Peterborough advance $1.25? The People's Coal Company are to blame for keeping the price down. We are saving the people of Peterborough 75c to $1.00 a ton even if they do not buy from us. Compare the prices of coal in Peterborough with prices in other towns. In Toronto, Belleville, Kingston and nearly all the lake ports, coal is $5.75 and $6.00 and it costs 75c to $1 more a town to get it to Peterborough. It will pay you to call at once and get prices at PEOPLE'S COAL CO'Y OFFICE, 280 Charlotte street. Tel. 260.

OTONABEE CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM.

Drowning of Mr. Alexander Wherry, P. S. I.

PARTICULARS OF THE SAD ACCIDENT.

HE WAS AN EXPERT SWIMMER.

The Canoe Strikes a Rock Near Shore and, Overturning, Precipitates its two Occupants Into the Water—Mr. Bruce Chowan, who Never Swam a Stroke in his Life, Reaches the Shore in Safety, Whilst his Companion Drowns, Although an Expert in the Water.

The Otonabee has claimed another victim.

Last evening, as the result of the upsetting of a canoe, Mr. Alexander Wherry, Public School Inspector, was sucked under to his death by the treacherous current.

Mr. Wherry was passionately fond of being upon the water, and has been down the river a great deal during the holidays. He and Mrs. Wherry, accompanied by one of the children, spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday camping down the shore, and only came up Monday evening. He proposed, last evening, to Mr. Bruce Chowan to and they passed out of the harbour at about twenty minutes past eight. Arriving at the locks they portaged the canoe over it, as usual, and paddled for about half a mile down the west shore, so Mr. Chowan informs an EXAMINER reporter when they crossed over and came back on the east side. The locks were again passed on the return trip and just as the canoe was passing under the Grand Trunk bridge Mr. Wherry, who was sitting in the stern, asked his companion to put away his paddle and give him a tune on the mouth organ. Mr. Chowan got out the instrument as requested, but as the first bar of the "Suawnee River" floated out on the still night air, the nose of the canoe, with a is said to have ran foul of a rock and in a second both occupants were in the water struggling for their lives. Just as they went in Mr. Chowan distinctly heard Mr. Wherry shout to him to "strike out for the shore," so he paid no further attention to him, knowing he was an expert swimmer. Not being able to swim a stroke himself Mr. Chowan had considerable difficulty in getting to land, but being close to shore managed to reach bottom and walk in. When there he could just see through the darkness the Inspector's hand above the water. He waded out as far as he dare and called again and again to Mr. Wherry to come to him but received no answer. He then made his way back to the shore again and fell in a swoon on the bank.

THE ACCIDENT

is supposed to have happened at about nine o'clock and Mr. Chowan did not regain consciousness, he says, until eleven, when his shouts and cries were heard all the way up to the Howden place. He went to the bridge keeper's house and roused up the inmates and a diligent search was at once instituted but no trace of Mr. Wherry could be obtained. Mr. Chowan took those assembled to the scene of the accident just opposite the cemetery, being about ten feet from the shore, and about 200 yards above the Grand Trunk bridge, but the did not result in a single trace being found, Although the canoe was discovered upside down by Mr. Roland Tivey, just near the bridge.

This morning the search was resumed for the body and Mr. Chowan recovered the unfortunate man's hat floating inshore below the bridge, his paddle being a little above. The other paddle was found down at the lock. A whole squad of canoes were on the scene by ten o'clock, and by slowly descending the river in a body and carefully feeling their way along the bottom it was hoped that the body would be recovered before many hours, as on account of the it could not possibly pass over the dam at the locks.

Mr. Wherry, who resided at No. 783 Water street leaves a widow and six children, the eldest of whom, a young lady of 19, is in attendance at the Norwood Model School. The deceased came to Peterborough just a year ago from Windsor, being appointed to the vacant position of Inspector of the Peterborough Public Schools. Since coming to town Mr. Wherry prominently identified himself with the Fortnightly Club and other organizations formed for the mutual edification and advancement of members. He was chiefly instrumental in the formation of the local Natural History Association and was deeply interested in Entomology and kindred subjects.

In Mr. Wherry the town loses a valuable servant and the educational world a brilliant intellect.

The body was recovered by Messrs. LaPlante and Guerin shortly before eleven o'clock, within about two canoe lengths of the spot where Mr. Chowan says the upset occurred. The water is about ten feet deep at the point, as the banks of the river slope very abruptly just here.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

To Miss Bessie Stevens, Who is Leaving Town.

Last evening the members of the Young Ladies' Class in the George street Sunday school assembled at the residence of Mr. Thomas Pascoe, Water street, for the purpose of making a presentation to their teacher, Miss Bessie Stevens, who is about leaving for British Columbia. The address, which was accompanied by the presentation of a lady's companion, was read as follows by Miss Lillie Pascoe:

To Miss Bessie Stevens:

DEAR TEACHER,—It is with deep regret that we have learned that you are soon to leave Peterborough and consequently that we will lose you as the teacher of our class. The distance that you are going makes our regret the keener, for we cannot cherish the hope of seeing you frequently. We do not feel that we can adequately express our sorrow on account of your departure, but we do desire to, although feebly, give expression to our feelings and to give you some token of our gratitude and goodwill to take with you.

We feel that we owe you a debt of gratitude for the faithful manner in which you have taught us during the years that you have been teacher of our class. We have recognized that your aim and desire was to make us familiar with God's word and thus to draw us to Him and build us up in the holy religion of our Master, and although we may not have at all times responded to your teaching as we should, we can assure you that your faithful work on our behalf has not been in vain, for lessons that you have presented to us will be long remembered, and the reward of those whose work is well done will be yours.

We regret your departure also on account of the very pleasant relations that have existed between us, and we feel that we are not only losing a teacher but also a friend. We cherish the hope, however, that distance will not sever the ties of friendship, and

"We will still be joined in heart
And hope to meet again."

We ask you to accept from us the accompanying present as a token of our gratitude, friendship and good wishes, and we hope and will pray that you will be always successful and that your work for the Master, which we know you will continue, will be abundantly blessed.

There are about twenty-five members of the class and a very pleasant evening was spent in social intercourse, after Miss Stevens had made an appropriate reply to the address.

Dr. Clarke returned from Toronto to day, where he has been attending the funeral of his sister, the late Miss Emily Clarke.

Mr. James Laing, of town, left yesterday morning for Toronto, where he will take a full course at the College of Pharmacy.

Mrs. Wm. McFadden, of Buffalo, formerly of Peterborough, returned to her home in Buffalo yesterday after a few days' visit in town.

Mr. James Gillespie, formerly of town, now living in Montreal, is looking up old friends again. Mr. Gillespie was with Mr. J. D. Tully for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers left Southwood on Saturday, going to Peterborough to visit Mr. Roger's relatives there before returning to Calgary.—Orillia Packet.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum has been elected second Vice-President of the Dominion Miller's Association at its annual meeting which has just been concluded in Toronto.

Miss Lizzie O'Brien, of Marcellus, N. Y., who has been visiting her parents here, has returned home accompanied by her friend, Miss Katherine Flynn, of Syracuse, N. Y.

Dr. Bingham has returned to town—greatly benefitted by his two months' holiday. His familiar presence on the street is a welcome one to his numerous friends.

Mr. Thomas Miller, son of Mr. Finch Miller, has left home to join the Imperial service. He sailed yesterday from Halifax on the steamer Loango for Bristol. He intends to enter one of the bands in the regular army.

Mr. G. A. Chase, says the Orillia Packet, has returned after a delightful trip in the North Peterborough country. Mr. Chase was revisiting the the scenes of his youth, after an absence of thirty-three years, and his only disappointment was in failing to find a face that he knew.

Mr. Frank James and family, of Hardy, Humboldt, Iowa, are visiting Mr. Will W. Speer, 605 Rubidge street. Mrs. James is a sister of Mrs. Speer and has not visited Peterborough for 12 years, and of course sees decided improvements in our town. Mr. James is an American but is so well pleased with our town that he contemplates settling here in the near future.

Dr. Charles McKee, of Peterborough, son of Mr. John McKee, druggist, has purchased the practice and residence of Dr. Gray, Bailliebord, South Monaghan, and took possession on Monday last. Dr. Gray has had a most successful practice in that locality for the past seventeen years, succeeding Dr. King, who had been there for about thirteen years previously. Dr. Gray removes to Toronto, and his friends will regret greatly his departure. Dr. McKee, who succeeds him, is a young man just entering upon his professional career, and has been with Dr. Gray for the past several weeks. He stood in the front rank in his examinations at the University, and there is no doubt that as successful a career awaits him as his predecessors at Bailliebord.

STREET LIGHTING MATTER REOPENED.

A COMMITTEE TO MEET THE P. L. AND P. CO.

The Company Wishes to State Its Objections to the Contract for which They Were Asked to Tender—The Hydrant Question—How About the Hose?

At the regular meeting of the Town Council last evening, with Mayor Yelland presiding, the following councillors were in attendance: Messrs. Best, W. H. White, Hughes, Mills, Denne, Phelan, Moore, Langford, Graham and John White.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and disposed of as appended:

From the Street and Bridge Inspector, giving a detailed statement of the expenditure of $1,180 on the streets during the month of August.—Received.

From the Peterborough Light and Power Company, asking for an appointment with a committee to discuss certain provisions in the contract to which objection is taken.—Received.

From Joseph Lundy, asking that the earth taken from a cellar which he is excavating be spread on Gilmour street.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

From the town treasurer stating that the market clerk was witholding $10 of the quarterly dues stating that a like amount was owing him by the corporation—Referred to the Market Committee with instructions to seek the advice of the town solicitor, if necessary.

From the Town Treasurer showing the receipts of the month to be $1,786.14, and the payments $8,324.11. The town account was overdrawn $8,958.04 on August 31st—Received.

From W. J. Hall, offering two cords of soft mixed wood for every one of old planks given him by the town—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

From Joseph Morris, asking for a refund of $20 on his peddlar's license, being a resident of the town—Granted on motion of Councillors Denne and Mills.

From the Board of Health enclosing the resolution recently passed regarding the requesting the citizens to connect their premises with the sewer—Received.

From the Fire Underwriters' Association, requesting the attention of the Council to the following deficiencies:—

1. The magnetic fire alarm is a cheap system such as cannot be recommended for this place. It should, in my opinion, be taken out and a Gamewell or other equally effective system instituted, the boxes to be either key-less or with keys under glass alongside to strike 15 inch engine room gongs in fire hall and pump house, 6-inch gongs in the dwellings of such of the firemen as do not sleep in the fire station, and to operate the general alarm bell. The present magnetic boxes strike three-inch call bells only.
2. 300 feet more hose required to make the total 3,000 feet.
3. Steamer should be supplied with Siamese and two specially strong lengths of 3-inch suction hose, to connect to both branches on hydrants, the latter not having the usual large steamer branch.
4. Two controlling nozzles and one cellar revolving nozzle required.
5. The chief of the Fire Brigade should be on duty in the fire hall. I would suggest that the four policemen be enrolled as members of the brigade to assist at fires.
6. Horses should be used for fire purposes only.
7. Water circuit ought to be considerably improved by a considerable reduction in the number of dead ends.
8. The six single-branch hydrants should be replaced by double ones.

In conclusion I again draw attention to the fire hall, which, in my opinion, is not so roomy or convenient as it ought to be.

Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From the Department of Railways and Canals asking if the town was prepared to deposit an amount sufficient to cover the cost of erecting a highway bridge in connection with the new railway bridge at Auburn.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From Charles Guy asking for a refund of $15 on his pedlar's license.—Granted.

From J. B. Oke asking for a refund on his ped'ar's license.—Granted.

From W. E. McColl, blacksmith, George street, asking compensation for damage done his business by the blocking of entrance to his premises by the sewer operations.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From J. J. Turner, applying for the work of decorating the town on the occasion of the visit of the Governor General.—Received.

THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE

through its chairman, Councillor Phelan, reported that as authorized, they had asked for tenders for 40 tons of coal and awarded the contract to Tobias Fitzgerald, who was the lowest tenderer, for 40 tons of Scranton coal at $5.69½ per ton—Adopted.

The Mayor stated that complaints were made by the Rathbun Company and by the Stevenson Company, that the coal which which was being put in by T. Fitzgerald was not "egg" coal, as called for in the contract, but "grate" coal, which is 25c per ton cheaper. The two companies, he stated, would have put in lower tenders for the grate coal.

A long discussion ensued as to the respective sizes of the two different kinds of coal and the matter was finally referred to the mayor with instructions to see that the contract was being properly filled.

THE FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE, through its chairman, Councillor Mills, recommended:—

1. That 300 feet of Maple Leaf fire hose be purchased from the Canadian Rubber Company at 86 cents per foot.
2. That the Peterborough Water Company be instructed to place a hydrant on Park street, near the Electric Works, and a hydrant at the intersection of Lock and Romaine streets, provided that they are both put in, and that the Chairman have power to deal with the company in reference to these hydrants.
3. Your Committee has sold one team of horses that were in the fire hall for $175 and have made a provisional arrangement until another team is purchased to replace them.

Councillors W. H. White and Hughes moved that the hydrant be not placed on Park street, but on Albert street, where the residents were comparatively unprotected.

Councillor Mills explained that there was sufficient hose to reach from the proposed point on Park street to any point on Albert street. The Canadian General Electric Company, he stated, were anxious to have more protection for the building which is being erected, after having been recently burned.

Councillor Moore strongly supported the report.

Councillor Langford mentioned that the Matthews Pork Packing Company were entitled to more fire protection, and also referred to a number of hydrants which were needed in the north end. He moved, seconded by Councillor John White, that the whole clause referring to hydrants be referred back for further discussion, when the entire question of increasing the town's fire protection could be taken up. This motion was lost.

The amendment of Councillors W. H. White and Hughes was also lost.

Councillor Moore objected to the Council purchasing the "Maple Leaf" hose, which would be an experiment. He thought that the old brand of hose, which was perfectly satisfactory, should be ordered. He stated that the Maple Leaf people sold their hose to Toronto and Montreal at 75 cents, yet asked 86 cents from Peterborough.

Councillor Mills—"Will you bet $500 that they did this?"

Councillor Moore—"Have you got $500?"

Councillor Mills—"No, but I'll get it; will you bet?"

Councillor Moore, "I have been informed on what I considered good authority that this is the case."

Councillor Moore then moved that the Baker Fabric be used.

Councillor Mills stated that the hose which was sold to Toronto by the Maple-leaf people was taken without couplings which would make the difference in the price.

Chief Rutherford favoured the style of hose which had been used by the brigade all along. He would not recommend the jacket hose under which class the "Maple-leaf" comes. The jacket hose was too heavy to handle easily and was worn out by being dragged instead of carried at a fire. The Baker Fabric had given every satisfaction so far.

Captain Craig endorsed the chief's remarks. The experience of the brigade with the Jacket hose was not satisfactory. It was very heavy for the men to carry up ladders, etc.

Councillors Moore and John White moved that the clause referring to the purchase of hose be so altered as to give the contract for the 300 feet of hose to the Baker Fabric people at 90 cents.—Lost.

Councillors Moore and Best then moved that this clause be referred back to the committee, to further look into the matter before a decision be reached.—Carried.

The clause referring to the hydrants was then carried.

Councillors Langford and John White moved that a hydrant be also placed 500 feet west of Park on Albert street.—Carried.

THE SEWERAGE COMMITTEE,

through its chairman, Councillor Best, recommended:

1. That street gulleys be put in on Water and George streets at the intersection of Murray, Brock, Hunter, Charlotte and Simcoe streets.

Adopted.

On motion of Councillor Mills and W. H. White the taxes on Mrs. Larmour's property were remitted. The taxes were also remitted on Mr. James Wood's property.

STREET LIGHTING.

The communication of the Light and Power Company was then taken up.

Councillors Denne and Jno. White moved that the council go into a committee of the whole and discuss the matter with the representatives of the company.

Councillors Langford and W. H. White asked for the discussion to take place next Monday evening. It was resolved that this be the date for the meeting.

On this date the committee appointed to look into the matter of the purchase of a plant by the town will also report.

THE WHEEL.

Mr. J. S. Knapman, manager of the Telephone Company for Peterborough, on Saturday made the wheel run to Lindsay in two hours. He left Peterborough at 4.35 p.m. and arrived in Lindsay at 6.35.

FOOTBALL.

The football tournament at Young's Point proved a grand success Monday. In the morning Selwyn and the 16th line of Smith teams played twenty minutes over time but neither side could score a goal. In the afternoon the Warsaw and Point teams played off, the Young's Pointers winning by three goals to none. The 16th Line players and Selwyn then tried it again and after some remarkably fine play the 16th line won by one goal to none. Without being able to take a rest the winners had to go directly on the field again, as it was getting late, to play off with Young's Point. The latter team won the game by the score of one goal to none. The fine work of the 16th Line goalkeeper is especially deserving of mention. Mr. Brooks of the Point refereed the games in a satisfactory manner.

The tournament and the trophy was won by the Young's Point team, it having defeated both the Warsaw and 16th Line teams.

Nature's Voices.

To the discerning ear, nature has many voices. She has a message in the sweet tones of the brook as it rushes down the hillside in ocean's moody voices, now rippling with gentlest cadence upon the golden sands, anon in deep boisterous voice as she lashes the beach with foam. Then the voice of trees which the laughing winds bear to our ears, of sunshine and shade, of hill and valley, of birds and flowers. But she comes in pain too, the voice of the stinging, aching corn speaks impressively, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the worst corn in twenty-four hours, painlessly and without leaving sore spots.

WORTHY OF PRAISE.

The Toronto Globe speaks as follows of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company's exhibit at the Toronto Industrial Fair:

For forty-eight years this well known Peterborough implement firm has pursued the even tenor of its way, with a motto of "quality not quantity," but a display of nearly thirty implements proves how operations have widened, and the success attained has a solid foundation of merit. A mere list of the beautiful farm implements shown would convey little information, for each possesses features of peculiar merit, which can only be fully appreciated by those who use them. For instance, seeders are on view which can be changed from drilling to broadcast in an instant, and other transformations can be made by the simple "turn of the wrist."

The Hamilton Company's "Leader Pressure Hoe, Drill and Broadcast Grain Sower," is new for 1897, and is a marvel of strength, simplicity and utility. Its frame of steel, adjustments on the rods, levers for operating the hoes, and other points of excellence are sure to attract the attention of all progressive farmers. The best course to pursue in visiting Agricultural Implement Hall is to make a point to see Mr. Hamilton, right at the western entrance, and he and his staff will be pleased to explain details, which cannot be given in any mere written description.

A paragraph from the company's fine illustrated catalogue may appropriately be given:

"Expense does not stand in the way of our adopting any new device or improvement that inventive genius, confirmed by practical test, shows can add a feature that will contribute to making our respective machinery and implements the best that can be made."

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy, happy child. She never reaches the full degree of womanly development until she has felt the pleasing responsibilities of maternity. All this happiness may be marred or may be turned into misery if the child is not a healthy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Heredity is strong, and it is every woman's duty to give her children the best possible chance in life. Nothing that she could possibly give them can be as valuable as health. Wealth cannot be enjoyed without health. Nothing can be enjoyed without health. Health is life. People who are not healthy are only half alive. The child who starts out with a robust body and vigorous, virile health, has everything to be thankful for and nothing to be afraid of. You cannot expect such a child to spring from a weak and sickly mother. Most all of woman's weakness and particularly the weakness that most strongly influences the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. All such trouble is as unnecessary as it is terribly distressing. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure all troubles of this nature. There is no guess-work about this statement, and there is no qualification. The "Favorite Prescription" should be used promptly and persistently until the symptoms entirely disappear. In every case, it restores perfect health and strength and assists in the healthful and regular performances of all the natural functions. The "Favorite Prescription" should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains and danger of childbirth and insures the health of both mother and child.

If you care to know all about the "Favorite Prescription," and to read the testimony of hundreds of grateful women, send 31 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only, and receive free a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser — 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. EMBROIDERY

The Latest Fads of Fashion in This Delicate Handiwork.

Bachelor buttons are attaining to a favorite place on tea and tray cloths. They are embroidered in the natural shades, in Kensington stitch with seed centers. The true way of working them is to study the natural blossoms and match their hues with the silks. Those embroidered on a tea cloth recently seen were white at the outer edges of the petals, with a star-shaped center of lavender, blue, yellow and red, and seeds of a contrasting color. These flowers combined with leaves and scrolls make a pretty decoration and are a departure from the variety of flowers that we have grown accustomed to seeing in embroidery.

Jewel embroidery is liked for doilies as well as the more pretentious pieces, and the bright dashes of color thus lent the work enliven an otherwise commonplace patten wonderfully.

Bright little Dresden flowers are very "taking" on small bits of work. A delicate spray in dull green, with a few of these quaintly gay blossoms, makes a charming decoration.

Doilies have almost universally had the button-hole edge made with white. But now there comes an innovation. Alternate colors are used in the scallops. One shows yellow, old blue and old red in succession, while others are in opalescent effects.

The Persian embroideries vie with the jeweled in their richness of color. In selecting silks of these, do not lose sight of the fact that the harmony of the colors must be maintained while a richness and variety of color are being sought after.

A beautiful centerpiece recently seen had a border of butterflies, wing touching wing. It was all in white. The four wings of each butterfly were of a lace braid, the medallion braid, appliqued with buttonhole stitch in white filo, and the goods cut away beneath the lace. The body and head of the butterfly were worked solid in white filo, and the result was exceedingly good.—J.D. Cowles, in Chicago Record.

New Table Appointments.

Grape scissors are made much in the fashion of lampwick clippers, except that they are gorgeous with silver clustered grape and large leaf designs.

No ice-cream set is complete without pronged silver spoons. They are a good substitute for forks, being a compromise between them and the regulation spoon.

The changes in napery are not very marked. Pure white still holds its own against any colored damask or tinted satin. The designs most in favor are the floral patterns.

Two-pointed spears, the handles shaped like corn shears, lying at the side of one's plate indicates corn as a course. If properly served the corn is broken into halves or smaller bits and so easily speared and held.

The small bonbon dish is to be replaced by huge Holland spoons designed for the same purpose. These are made with long handles in dull silver or copperish gold, in imitation of the ancient ones that used to be attached by chains to the old Dutch hearthstones.

The new berry spoons are all repousse with berry designs, and generally perforated, the pointed orange spoon remains in high favor, while for sliced cucumbers there are pronged and perforated spoons, and for pie, forks with one broad, sharp-edged prong and two narrow ones.

THE QUESTIONED.

Alike for those who for to-day prepare
And those that after some to-morrow stare,
A muzzin from the tower of darkness cries.
"Fools, your reward is neither Here nor There."

Why, all the saints and sages who discussed
Of the two worlds so learnedly are thrust
Like foolish prophets forth; their words to scorn
Are scattered, and their mouths are stopt with dust.

Myself, when young, did eagerly frequent
Doctor and saint; and heard great argument
About it and about, but evermore
Came out by the same door wherein I went.

With them the seed o' wisdom did I sow,
And with my own hand wrought to make it grow;
And this was all the harvest that I reaped—
"I came like water, and like wind I go."

Into this universe, and why not knowing,
Nor whence, like water willy-nilly flowing;
And out of it, as wind along the waste,
I know not whither, willy-nilly blowing.

What, without asking, hither hurried whence?
And without asking, whither hurried hence!
Oh, many a cup of this forbidden wine
Must down the memory of that insolence!

Up from earth's center through the seventh gate,
I rose, and on the throne of Satan's state,
And many a knot unraveled by the road;
But not the master-knot of human fate.

There was the door to which I found no key;
There was the veil through which I could not see,
Some little talk a while of Me and Thee
There was—and then no more of Thee and me.

Earth could not answer; nor the seas that mourn,
In flowing purple of their Lord forlorn;
Nor rolling heaven, with all his signs revealed,
And hidden by the sleeve of night and morn.

Then of the Thee and Me who works behind
The veil, I lifted up my hands to find
A lamp amid the darkness, and I heard,
As from without—"The Me within Thee blind."

—From the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam.

SUCCESSION OF TREE GROWTHS.

How the Different Kinds Make Way for Another.

Almost universally the notion prevails that when the pines are gones they are gone forever, and that the soil where they grew is worn out, unfit to reproduce good timber qualities. This notion, so damaging to forest preservation, also discourages improved forestry on the prairie, where temporary trees are often planted only for the present convenience of the proprietor, according to Hardwood.

Alternations of trees are as varied as the species within the territory where they occur. In the Southern States especially, and sometimes in the Northern, oaks take the place of the departing pines, and so reverse. But the succeeding oaks stand no show compared with the poplars, aspens, especially and the canoe birches. The latter grow on moist or dry places and fires cannot eradicate them. Both waft on wings of down their millions upon millions of almost infinitesimal seeds that alight everywhere. Burned districts or any cleared land are their paradise. Hence, all along the northern tier of lumber states and the Canadas even to the Arctic circles, these trees take possession of the denuded lands. Fortunately they are short-lived and often pave the way for the return of the pine.

Oaks get a foothold, too, interspersed with other hardwoods, for their seeds and roots, long buried under the leaves and soil, get sunlight enough to sprout. These facts demonstrate that with proper management we can have the most valuable trees if we only plant and preserve them, and keep out fires and browsing stock.

So far from the forests having a wornout soil, it is the best in the world. The decay of the fallen leaves and limbs, the carbon dioxide thus evolved for plant growth again, the nitrifying agencies of the network of roots form the rich humus of the future farms. Neutralize this fertilizing art of nature by injudicious cutting or burning the leaf mold, and not only is the soil thus improverished and droughts provoked, but sorrowful alternations of trees inevitably ensue.

H. B. Ayres, a forest expert of Minnesota and close observer, avers that burned land could not be put in condition as promising as an adjoining unburned tract for less than $20 an acre. On an unburned acre, cut the same winter—three years before his investigations—he counted 1267 little white pine seedlings, two years old, growing under the shade of immature pine saplings, poplar, maple and hazel brush. Every woodman has noticed like results wherever fires in the pine regions are excluded.

The English oaks grow to-day in places where William the Conqueror found them when he invaded Britain. For centuries the pines of Maine have repeated themselves on their native heath. Given the conditions, and the fittest remain while human generations come and go.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. O. Box 388, London, Ont.

ENGLAND'S TAX ON SPORTS.

A Large Revenue is Derived From Sporting Licenses in the Old Land.

New York, Sept. 7.—A London correspondent says: A Parliamentary return shows how valuable to the national treasury is the universal devotion to sport in England. Licenses for guns are taken out by an average of 180,000 persons a year, amounting to £85,000, half a sovereign being the charge for a license. There are also other taxes covering sporting dogs, etc., and there are the taxes paid by gunmakers and the like. The fact is quoted as an argument against the abolition of the game laws so abhorred by the Liberal party.

There is nothing to prevent anyone concocting a mixture and calling it "sarsaparilla," and there is nothing to prevent anyone spending good money testing the stuff; but prudent people who wish to be sure of their remedy, take only Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and so get cured.

For cholera morbus, cholera infantum, cramps, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, and summer complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for nearly 500 years.

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. WETTSTEIN, Byron, Ill.

PHOTOGRAPHY IS PROGRESSIVE.

Recent Advancement in the Art Has Been Rapid and Satisfactory.

Science has taken a big leap forward, but one, after all, which is less surprising than many have found it. The new light which Professor Roentgen has discovered is only in the order of photographic progress. We hear much of the "photography of the invisible." But as there is nothing new under the sun, so there is in this only a development. Photography has been engaged for years past in enabling us to obtain a glimpse of the unseeable.

By bringing to the knowledge of those who study the heavens thousands of stars whose existence would not otherwise have ever been suspected, it has extended illimitably the field of astronomic inquiry. New worlds have been discovered and charts of the heavens have been taken which the human eye, with the aid of the most powerful telescope, would have sought in vain to compass. As Dr. Huggins explained some five years ago in a most learned address before the British Association, what the eye cannot detect at first, the strenuous gazing will not subsequently reveal. The gelatin dry plate, on the other hand, not only secures the feeblest light which falls upon it, but stores it up end every hour accummulates 3,600 times the light energy which it received during the first second. In this way the plate may, as Dr. Huggins thinks, be said to increase almost without limit the means at the disposal of the astronomer. Dr. Huggins indicates two principal directions in which photography is of great service to the astronomer. In the first place "it enables him within the comparatively short time of a single exposure to secure permanently with great exactness the relative positions of hundreds, of even thousands of stars, or the minute features of nebulae or other objects, or the phenomena of a passing eclipse, a task which by means of the eye and hand could only be accomplished at all after a very great expenditure of time and labor."

Photography puts it in the power of the astronomer to accomplish in the short span of his own life and so enter into their fruition great works which otherwise must have been passed on by him as a heritage of labor to succeeding generations. In the second place, the plate records light waves which but for such artificial help would have remained forever hidden from even the most expert eye. Nor are the stars the only heavenly bodies to which the telescopic camera is directed. The sun is photographed daily, and Old Sol has probably beaten the record in the matter of photographs taken of himself. No spot can pass across the sun's face. No new star can make its debut in what we may call our heavens, no phenomena of interest to the scientist can appear without being duly noted. The spectroscope has at once enlarged our knowledge of what exists and indicated by what has already been discovered how very few pages of the vast volume of nature man has yet been permitted to peruse. Its revelations in the past are conceivably a mild foretaste of the wonders it has in store for the future. —London Standard.

The Value of Water.

It is possible to prevent many diseases and cure others by drinking large quantities of water. An eminent French physician says typhoid fever can be washed out of the system by water. He gives his patients what would amount to eight or ten ounces an hour of sterilized water. Experiments have been made with diseases caused by bacteria which demonstrate the curative value of water. In cases of cholera, where the system secretes a large amount of fluid, enormous quantities of hot water are of great benefit and will cure many cases without other medicines. One doctor says that perfectly sweet fresh cider, taken in large quantities, has been known to cure cases of bowel complaint. The acid kills the bacteria, which are speedily thrown out of the system. Hot water, in fevers, is of great use, and an ordinary tumberful of water as hot as can be taken once an hour is one of the very best remedies. The important thing is to get into the system and out of it a sufficient amount of water to prevent the accummulation of ptomaines and toxins within the body.—San Francisco Call.

Treatment of Wounds.

It is a good plan to have always in the house some absorbent cotton and some old clean linen, which should be in strips from two to four inches wide, and half a yard in length. After a wound has been made perfectly clean, dip a suitably-sized piece of cotton wool into clean, carbolized water, press out any excess of liquid, then apply over the wound and wrap up with the linen strips. Cat scratches should be treated in this way, as the claws of a cat are often unclean, and dirt particles, however small, may give rise to trouble.

When a wound refuses to cease bleeding after being bound up, sponging with clean, cold water will sometimes aid in stopping the flow of blood. Salt or turpentine should never be applied to a fresh wound, as they not only cause a great deal of unnecessary pain, but often prolong the time of healing.—Boston Traveler.

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or women can have. An affliction not only to themselves, but to those with whom they come in contact. A foul breath is a great discourager of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptoms are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently by the use of Dr. Pierce's pleasant Pellets. They give to nature just the little help that she needs. There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heartburn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "pellets" will not cure.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser" illustrated.

Caring for Baby.

Almost more important than the food itself is the regularity with which it is given. A child should be fed and put to bed at exactly the same time every day. Indeed the wise mother who wishes to carry her baby through a summer in a city will have her routine for each day, to which she will adhere as strictly as the soldier to military rule.

Heat rash should never be neglected, as it may develop into eczema and even ulcers

If hives appear, as they so often do in hot weather, a solution of cooking soda in water is one of the very best remedies. If it, however, prove inadequate, diluted vinegar will often allay the irritation.

The judicious mother will also look well to it that the little system is never allowed to become clogged even for a few hours. A small dose of ipecac or castor oil, or what the physician strongly emphasized as being too little resorted to by mothers, an enema of lukewarm water may often prevent a serious illness. Mothers should at all times upon the slightest indisposition examine the throat to see that nothing is wrong there.

A case of sudden attack of croup may usually be relieved by placing a sponge wrung out of hot water on the throat, and giving a small dose (five drops) of ipecac. This dose should be repeated until the child vomits, which brings instant relief.—Chicago Record.

A Regimen for Growing Girls.

In San Francisco a new crusade has been started. The luncheon of the average school child is the object of reform, and Dr. Charlotte B. Brown is the crusader. Dr. Brown has devoted time and energy to the investigation of the luncheon problem. She discovered that the deadly pickle and the fatal cake were the favorite noonday regimen for growing girls somewhat along these lines:

"1. Rising early enough to fill one's lungs with pure air after a suitable toilet, a cheerful, generous breakfast of material chosen on which to do four good hours' work before noon—that is, some home duty, a brisk walk to school, with three hours of study. 2. A warm lunch, even if but a cup of cocoa or hot milk or a bowl of soup warmed up, with the lunch-basket meal. 3. The great need of exercise, and besides the morning duties an hour at least after school should be given to out-of-door sports. 4. No study allowed after 9 p.m., and every girl of 15 years should be asleep at 9.30 p.m., a later hour being permitted on Friday and Saturday nights only."

How Die of Old Age.

Only 906 persons in 1,000,000, according to medical authority, die from old age, while 1200 succumb to gout, 18,400 to measles, 2700 to apoplexy, 7000 erysipelas, 7500 to consumption, 48,000 [illegible] to whooping cough, 30,000 to typhoid and typhus, [illegible] to [illegible]. The averages vary according to locality, but these are considered pretty accurate as regards the population of the globe as a whole.

Hidden Foes.

Among the many foes to human health and happiness dyspepsia and constipation are twin enemies greatly to be feared. With B.B.B. to drive them out of the system, however, no danger need be anticipated, as every dose brings the sufferer a long step further on the road to perfect health and strength, and a permanent cure always results.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Secres of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

A COMPLIMENT TO THE CHAMPIONS.

The Wilson Comedy Company "Stands Treat"—The Boys Entertained at the Play Monday Night.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club wish to thank Mr. Wilson, of the Wilson Comedy Company, for a much appreciated invitation to the play Monday night, when "A Wife's Peril" was splendidly presented by this excellent company. The boys returned home Monday night champions of the Central Lacrosse District, and in recognition of their triumph, Mr. Wilson honoured the team with an invitation to his entertainment. The team greatly appreciated the kindness of Mr. Wilson, who, during his visit here, has afforded the public capital enjoyment and won such marked success that he has doubled the time of his proposed visit.

The bidding was started by Mr. Wrighton who opened at 8½c for selections. Mr. Noble raised to 8 5-8c and Mr. Whitton to 8 3-4c. Mr. Hodgson offered 9 cents and Mr. Cook raised to 9 1-16c, Mr. Wrighton to 9 1-8c, Mr. Cook to 9 3-16c, Mr. Hodgson to 9 1-4c, Mr. Cook to 9 5-16c, Mr. Wrighton to 9 3-8c. At this price Mr. Wrighton bought Keene, Shearer, Warminster, Central Smith, Warsaw, Lakefield, Lang, Fraserville, Lakeview and Trewern.

Mr. Hodgson re-opened at 9 3-8c, Mr. Cooke raises to 9 7-16c, Mr. Brenton to 9½c. Mr. Brenton chose Ormonde, Westwood, Norwood and Melrose Abbey.

Mr. Cook offered 8⅞ for further selections, Mr. Hodgson bid 9 7/16, and Mr. Cook raised to 9½ and took North Smith, Missing Link, Pine Grove, Peterborough, Maple Leaf, Otonabee Union, Bensfort, Cavanville, Mt. Pleasant, Daisy D and Cherry Grove.

Mr. Hodgson offered 9½ for further selections and called Cedardale, Stony Lake, North Dummer, Crown, Young's Point, Perrytown and Myrtle. All refused. Stony Lake, Cedardale, North Dummer, Crown, Perrytown, Myrtle and Young's Point all accepted 9 5/16 from the same buyer.

On the first sale Mr. Wrighton was successful in getting almost a thousand boxes at 9⅜ cents. He had his pick of the board at an eighth of a cent less than the other buyers gave.

AN ENJOYABLE TRIP.

The C. L. A. Excursion to Sturgeon Point on Monday.

The excursion of the Catholic Literary Association to Sturgeon Point on Labour Day was a most enjoyable affair and was well attended. The excursionists arrived in Lindsay shortly after 9 o'clock, where the steamer Alice Ethel and barge was boarded for the trip to the Point. A large number of Lindsayites accompanied the excursionists.

Upon arriving at the Point it was found that the St. Vincent de Paul Society, of Lindsay, and their friends were also picnicing at this resort, and both crowds mingled together in such a manner as to add increased pleasure to the outing.

One of the most amusing features of the list of sports was the game of baseball between the C.L.A. nine and the Diamond nine of Ashburnham, which resulted in a victory for the C.L.A. by the score of 16 to 14. Owing to the late hour the full list of sports could not be carried out, but the events run off afforded considerable fun.

The excursionists arrived in Lindsay from the Point at 6 o'clock in the evening. Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, an ardent worker in the Catholic Literary Association, added much to the enjoyment of the outing by his presence.

The C.L.A. orchestra furnished music for the young people on the scow for dancing, Mr. M. Costello being master of ceremonies.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS COMING.

Two Eloquent Divines to be in Peterborough.

A two days convention will begin tomorrow afternoon in Bethany, Mission Hall, corner of Water and Simcoe streets, and will last two days. The first session will commence at three o'clock to be followed by one in the evening at eight. On Friday sessions will be held at 10 a.m., 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. The meetings will be addressed by Dr. Wilson, of New York, Rev. Lelacheur, of China, and other returned missionaries. In speaking of the convention just closed at Old Orchard, the Christian Alliance Weekly says:

"With humble and devout gratitude to God, we desire to acknowledge His great goodness in connection with the summer convention at Old Orchard Beach. From year to year the power and influence of this great gathering of God's children has steadily increased and despite many hindering causes in the nature of things, the goodness of God has made this the best year we have ever known. The meetings cover so long a period that many of our friends were unable to stay throughout the whole season and large numbers left the grounds before the closing and crowning day. The financial distress of the people has been unusually great during the current year and it seemed unlikely that any considerable sum would be pledged at this time. But God is superior to all circumstances and conditions, and His people's faith lifted them to a higher plane of sacrifice and liberality than has ever yet been known with our foreign missionary work. The spirit of the offering was more spontaneous than we have ever known. The gifts of the people literally poured in faster than the workers had time to receive and record them, and for two hours in the morning, and one hour in the afternoon there was a repetition in some little measure of the story of old when Israel's sons and daughters poured their willing gifts into the treasury of the Lord for the erection of the Tabernacle. The moral effect of this offering is worth much more than even its material value, and we believe God is using these great popular demonstrations of missionary enthusiasm to arouse the attention of His people in various religious denominations to the great work of evangelizing the world, by sacrifice and gifts, bearing some sort of comparison to the importance of the work, and the liberality with which men are supporting their political platforms, and their great commercial enterprises."

In speaking of Rev. Mr. Lelacheur the same paper says:—

"Dr. Simpson's sermon, on Sunday morning, was more brief than usual, and in closing he asked Rev. D. W. Lelacheur to occupy fifteen minutes. Mr. Lelacheur made a truly wonderful address in his brief time, of which no abstract can do justice. He made an impassioned appeal for the support of missions, ringing with an eloquence and spirit seldom heard, even on that stand. As a short speech for the purpose it was ideal. His application of Scriptural examples of giving and trusting in God were put so strongly and in so original a manner that the great congregation was carried by storm. His flood of impassioned eloquence swept everything, and his closing appeal was dramatic in its intensity and inspired in its earnestness."

The offertory taken up at the close of the address amounted to over $100,000.00.

METHODIST FINANCES.

The Financial District Meeting Held at Bethany.

The Financial District meeting of the Peterborough district was held in the Methodist church, Bethany, yesterday, at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. R. Young, B. A., chairman of the district, presided. There were present, besides: Rev. J. J. Rae, Financial Secretary, Rev. W. C. Beer, Ashburnham; Rev. Leonard Phelps, Millbrook; Rev. Jos. Kilgour, Cavan South; Rev. T. S. McKee, Fraserville; Rev. G. R. Clare, Bridgenorth; Rev. R. Allan, Bethany; Rev. W. V. Sexsmith, Pontypool; Rev. Geo. Potts, Lakefield; and Rev. H. S. Spencer, B.A., Apsley, and Messrs. Henry Argue, Millbrook, and Geo. Elliott, Bridgenorth, laymen.

The question of the financial condition of the missions was considered and recommendation in each case was made to the Conference Missionary Committee. The condition of the Harvey mission has been seriously affected by two "lean" years in succession and by this year's bushfires, the two causes crippling the settlers financially in a serious manner. The statement of assessments upon circuits and ministers in the matter of the superannuation fund was received from the general treasurer and accepted.

Arrangements for the annual missionary meetings were made. The following circuits decided to make local arrangements, Peterborough, George street; Peterborough, Charlotte street; Millbrook, Lakefield, Cavan, South, Monaghan and Warsaw. The following deputations were arranged:—Mark street, Ashburnham, Rev. R. Allen, January; Cavan South, Rev. T. S. McKee; Bridgenorth, Rev. W. R. Young, T. J. Edmison, October; Bethany, Rev. W. C. Beer, Dec. 13th, Rev. W. V. Sexsmith, Dec. 20th; Pontypool, Rev. R. Allen and D. C. Day, Dec. 20th; Harvey, Rev. S. Phelps; Apsley, Rev. J. J. Rae.

On motion each pastor was asked to make his own arrangements for educational services.

It was decided to hold the annual district meeting in the George street Methodist church in May.

The meeting then adjourned with thanks to the Bethany people for their hospitable entertainment.

FOUND A JEWEL.

An Important Find by a Brockville Jeweller.

Mr. Joseph Lane, the well-known jeweller of Brockville, says: "For some years I have suffered with severe pains in my back and sides and flashes of heat between my shoulders. I had a tired, wornout feeling.

"The numerous medicines that I took gave me very little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try a box, and got one at Curry's drugstore.

"After the first two or three doses I felt much relieved, and the longer I took them the greater the change for the better in my condition. I am much better in every respect and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from kidney trouble as the best remedy I know of."

HOUSE OF COMMONS

Some Irregularities of the Late Government.

GENERAL CAMERON'S RETIREMENT

A Tremendous Lot of Information Given in Reply to Questions of the Members—Sir Henri Joly on the Chinese—The Alien Labor Bill.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The suppressed supplementary report of the Board of Visitors for the Royal Military College was laid on the table of the House last night at adjournment. It is dated November 18th, 1895, and was suppressed from Parliament last session, when what purported to be a full return was laid on the table in response to an order of the House. It is addressed to the Hon. A. R. Dickey and reads as follows: "According to the evidence produced to the board it is necessary for the wellbeing of the college and in the interests of the country that several of the staff should be replaced by better men. The first of these is the Commandant. This officer, it is clear, does not take that interest in his work and does not exercise that supervision over those under him which he should do. To this more than to anything else appears to be due that lack of confidence in the college which seems to have spread throughout the country. At all events that is the feeling among the staff and cadets, and the board is satisfied that no real improvement can take place in the college until a change has been made in the Commandant." The other members of the staff alluded to are mentioned as follows: Instructor, Captain Wurtel; Dr. Duval, professor of French, and Prof. Harris, engineering. Favorable mention is made of Capt. Cochrane, instructor.

Sir Charles Tupper brought the matter up in the House to-night and contended that the papers and communications in the matter should be laid before the members.

Mr. Laurier said the matter rested wholly in the hands of Gen. Gascoigne, the Government having no control over it.

Among other bills introduced was one by Mr. Maclean respecting the Georgian Bay Ship Canal and Power Aqueduct Company.

There were over forty questions on the order paper, none of any great importance, but an hour was taken up in disposing of them.

Mr. Joly informed Mr. Douglass that it was not considered advisable to make any change in the grain standard for Manitoba and the Territories.

Mr. Tarte told Mr. Henry that the Government had under consideration the question of building a granolithic walk round Brantford drill hall.

Mr. Henry was also informed by Mr. Mulock that the Government had under consideration the advisability of establishing a free postal delivery in Brantford.

Mr. Blair told Mr. Langelier that the lowest tenderers for the Soulanges Canal bridges at the first request was R. Wedell, his price being $33,000. When tenders were called for a second time the Dominion Bridge Company was the lowest, their price being $33,700.

Mr. Dobell informed Mr. Oliver that the Government had under consideration the matter of how far they could go in compelling railway companies to selecct the remaining portions of their land grant.

Mr Fielding told Mr. Foster that the amounts received on tax account of consolidated fund for the year 1895-96, as ascertained up to Aug. 7, was $36,909,712, and the expenditure $36,713,549.

Mr. Dyment was informed by Mr. Blair that Superintendent Boyd of the Soo Canal had leave of absence for one month previous to the late election. His salary went on during his absence.

Mr. Borden, answering Mr. Clarke (West Toronto), said that $1000 had been paid by the Government in 1895 to aid in liquidating the debt on the monument in Queen's Park to the memory of the volunteers who fell in the Northwest Rebellion.

Sir Richard Cartwright told Mr. McCleary that some manufacturers had been asked for information regarding their products.

Mr. Choquette was informed by Mr. Laurier that if any responsible persons or company proposed to construct a bridge over the St. Lawrence at Quebec, the Government was prepared favorably to consider the project with a view to determining what financial aid should be rendered. (Opposition laughter.)

Mr. Tarte informed Mr. Featherstone that the harbor of Port Credit had not been transferred to the Government.

Mr. Beatty was informed by Mr. Tarte that the Government had under consideration the improvement of Port Stanley harbor.

Mr. Reid was informed by Mr. Blair that no contracts had been let for the enlargement of the Galops Canal.

Mr. Clarke was informed by Mr. Laurier that there was no intention to depart from existing rules regarding private bill legislation next session.

Mr. Dobell told Mr. Oliver that exemption from taxation on the Canadian Pacific lands in the Territories would expire 20 years from date of contract.

A large portion of the session was taken up discussing the Chinese question, introduced by Mr. Maxwell of British Columbia, who moved for copies of all petitions or memorials presented to the Government on the subject of Chinese immigration. He blamed the late Government and Mr. Onderdonk for the introduction of this pest on the Pacific slope, and made a speech intended for his constituents rather than for the House.

Mr. Fraser of Guysboro took the ground that we were all children of one common father, and that it was against the genius of the British constitution to exclude any man because of race or color from Canadian soil. He was opposed to protection in any form, even to the protection of our workmen against Chinese cheap labor.

Sir Henri Joly de Lotbinlere, immediately after recess, rose and said: "I desire to ask a great favor from the House—I may even say a personal favor—but I will not occupy the time of the honorable members for more than two or three minutes. I had the honor of being chosen by the Government of Canada to go as its representative and meet Li Hung Chang, the Viceroy of China. I have spent some time with him in friendly intercourse, and I have heard him express the gratitude which he entertains and which he acknowledges for the urbanity shown him in Canada. Let me tell the House that almost the last words he said to me before I took leave of him were these: 'Do not abandon us; do not abandon us.' I told him I would not abandon him. He is about to sail from Canada, the cheers with which he was received everywhere still ringing in his ears. To-morrow he will see the attack brought against his country to-day. Mr. Speaker, I do not in any way desire to comment, or to say whether that attack was just or unjust; but I appeal to all the members of this House, as Canadians, to give me the chance of showing that a Canadian can keep his word. I want him to know before he sails that when I said I would not abandon him, I meant to keep my word, and when I am allowed to open my mouth on this subject I shall seek to dispel that dark cloud which is hanging now over the reputation of the countrymen of the Viceroy, who was welcomed so heartily in this country. I merely ask the House for permission to make this statement in order to let him know before he leaves this country that when the time comes for me to speak, when the rules of the House allow me to speak, I shall endeavor to clear, as far as lies within my power, the reputation of his countrymen. Then it will be my duty to do it and I will do it. I thank the honorable members with all my heart for the attention they have given to my remarks." (Applause.)

After Mr. Joly's remarks private bills took precedence on the order paper, and several bills were advanced a stage.

Mr. McLennan of Glengarry moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Dairy Produce Act, so as to provide for the registration and branding of all Canadian cheese for export, with its date and place of production. He supported the measure in quite a lengthy address.

Mr. McMillan of Huron endorsed the measure as necessary to the success of Canada's cheese trade in British markets.

After remarks by Messrs. Sproule and Davin, the bill was given its second reading.

Mr. Maclean of East York moved the second reading of his bill for the better protection of the employes of railway companies and others. He explained what it provided: That after A.D. 1900, all railways shall be equipped with automatic couplers and air brakes. He contended that the saving in property and life would more than reimburse the companies for the additional cost of equipment. The bill was within the jurisdiction of Parliament. It had been carefully drawn and he hoped that a new Parliament would treat it more seriously than it had been treated by the last House for several sessions.

Mr. Davin held that this was a matter entirely in the hands of the Government.

Mr. Laurier said, as far as the Government was concerned, it did not feel disposed to make it a Government measure, but he agreed with the mover, that the best course would be to refer the bill to the Committee on Railways.

Col. Tisdale opposed and Dr. Sproule supported the measure.

Mr. Lister defended the Railway Committee from the charge of being influenced by corporations.

The debate was continued by Mr. Oliver, after which the motion passed and the bill was referred.

Mr. Taylor moved the second reading of his Alien Contract Labor Bill, and wanted it referred to a select committee. Its object was to protect the Canadian laborer.

Mr. Laurier acknowledged the importance of the bill, but regarded the principle as somewhat objectionable. He admitted the great discontent created in Canadian border towns by the American labor law, which was of the same tenor as Mr. Taylor's bill. If their bill was a blot on their legislation it would be a blot on our statute book to retaliate to protect our own laborer. We may be compelled to do the same, but he asked the honorable gentleman not to proceed further at the present. Correspondence had taken place between the two Governments on this question, and he would like time to look into it. He moved the adjournment of the debate.

Sir Charles Tupper agreed with Mr. Laurier as to the great importance of this measure, and emphasized the hardship wrought by the United States denying to Canadians the privileges freely conceded to Americans in our labor market. He did not, however, agree that it would be a blot on our statute book to pass retaliatory legislation, but all retaliatory measures were to be avoided if possible, and under these circumstances he endorsed the position taken by the First Minister. He trusted the mover would therefore withdraw his bill. (Government applause.)

Clarke Wallace held that it would not please the people of Canada to wait any longer, as past experience had shown that the longer we waited the more harshly we were treated by the United States. Negotiations would be more effective, he thought, if we had an alien labor law on our statute books.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Davin, Tisdale, Wood, McCleary, S. J. Macdonald, Prior, Dyment, Ganong, Prior, Clancy, McGregor, Bennett and Henderson, and then Mr. Laurier spoke again. He said if, by correspondence which had taken place, the Government came to the conclusion that nothing more was to be expected from the American authorities, and they persisted in maintaining on their statute book this unfriendly law, then there would be nothing left but for Canada to adopt a similar course. The sentiment of the House appeared to be very strong. The only thing now to be done was to learn whether the American law was to be maintained. If it became necessary to pass such a law in Canada its terms should be word for word with that of the United States. There could be no complaint in that event. Retaliation was to be deplored, but there were occasions when retaliation became a necessity on the part of a nation, which respected its own dignity. (Hear, hear.)

Major Hughes supported the bill and, after Sir Charles Tupper had expressed his satisfaction at the Premier's remarks, the debate was adjourned.

The House adjourned at 11.30 p.m.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN.

Second Biennial Conference of the Young Women's Christian Association in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The second biennial conference of the Young Women's Christian Association of Canada was formally opened in Central Presbyterian Church this morning. The delegates were cordially welcomed to the city by Mrs. J. M. Gibson, and Mrs. Stevenson of Montreal replied on behalf of the delegates. The officers present were: Mrs. Hoodless, president; Miss Scott, Toronto, recording secretary; Miss Botterell, Montreal, corresponding secretary; Miss Reynolds, London, England, world secretary, and Miss Price, Chicago, of the International Committee, were fraternal delegates.

The following delegates, a number of whom had not votes, were present: Mrs. Gilmour, Miss Bennett, Miss Aikens, Mrs. Thom, Miss McDonald, Mrs. Brett, Toronto; Miss Cawthrope, Toronto University; Mrs. Stevenson, Miss Tenny, Montreal; Miss Ross, McGill University; Miss Jarvis, Miss Dempsey, Miss Peel, London; Miss Gordon, Mrs. O'Dell, Miss Ross, Ottawa; Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Otts, Mrs. Shutt, Brantford; Mrs. Charlton, Mrs. Bellhouse, Mrs. Lazier, Hamilton; Miss Battisby, Port Dover; Miss McCalla, Miss Wood, St. Catharines; Mrs. Carlyle, Miss Carlyle, Miss White, Miss McKenna, Woodstock.

The treasurer's report showed the receipts to have been $446.98 and the expenditures $418. The treasurer, Mrs. J. K. Macdonald of Toronto, was unavoidably absent.

The rest of the morning session was taken up with reports of affiliated associations.

Mrs. Hoodless announced that she would not reaccept the office of president.

At this afternoon's session Miss Botterell, Montreal, spoke on the spiritual work of the association, Miss Price on the physical work and Mrs. Gilmour, Toronto, read an interesting paper giving a brief history of the Toronto Y. W. C. A. Miss Minnie Treblecock of London presented a paper on social work.

This evening Mrs. Stevenson, Montreal, read a paper on educational questions. Mrs. Hoodless spoke on finances and schools of domestic science, and Mrs. Howard, Tallahassee, Florida, a graduate of the Hamilton Domestic Science School, delivered an address on domestic science.

It is expected that Lady Aberdeen will be present at the conference to-morrow evening.

Thomas Beaton and George Beatty, two boys who, it is believed, hail from Toronto, although they gave their address as Oakville, were arrested on suspicion this afternoon. It is said that they pawned a ring set with diamonds for $20, and as the ring is worth at least $100 more than this amount, it is supposed to be stolen property.

A difficulty that was not looked for has arisen to delay the proposed transfer to the H., G. & B. Railway Company of its bonds, now in possession of the City Treasurer. Each of the bonds had printed on it a statement that it is payable only to the order of the corporation of the city of Hamilton, signed by the Mayor and Treasurer, and no provision has been made for obtaining these signatures. It is understood the company has found a purchaser for the bonds, and it is likely the matter will be arranged without objection.

A Thessalon Murder.

Joseph Bezoine, charged with killing John Megwais on the Indian Reserve, near Thessalon, Ont., has so far eluded arrest. The story is that Bezoine struck Megwais with a boat oar, killing him. The coroner's jury also implicated F. K. Bezoine, Antoine Magnadwon and Peter Bezoine. A Provincial detective will look into the case.

Six Coachers Killed.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 9.—A coaching party of 15 persons met with a frightful accident this afternoon. The horses shied and the coach overturned on a hillside, rolling over the occupants. Six were killed and four badly injured. All were residents of this city.

Coal and Wood.

Best Lehigh, Scranton and Plymouth coal, all sizes at $6 per ton till further notice. People's Coal Company's coal $5.50 per ton. Best quality of charcoal now in stock. Brier Hill coal for grates is the best. Also all kinds of hard and soft wood.—T. FITZGERALD.

Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1896.

THE GOVERNMENT MAJORITY.

The government majority elicited by Hon. Mr Foster's ill-advised motion of want of confidence shows a total of 34. The vote by provinces was as below:

Province.	Oppo'n.	Minis'l.
Ontario	33	36
Quebec	13	42
Nova Scotia	9	10
New Brunswick	6	5
British Columbia	2	3
Manitoba	2	2
P. E. I.	3	1
N. W. Territories	1	2
Total	69	103

This gives a government majority for Ontario of 5; for Quebec, 29; for Nova Scotia, 1; for British Columbia, 1; for Manitoba, counting two at present vacant Liberal seats, 2—Brandon and Saskatchewan, 2; Northwest Territories. The only provinces that give opposition majorities are New Brunswick 1, and Prince Edward Island 1. The Government majority at the first division was larger than the first division after the general election of 1891. It is probable that the majority will be increased by the results of the trial of election petitions, and other causes, to at least fifty, possibly by the next session. If the Conservatives lose all the contested seats 43 will be added to the government majority, to be decreased by 13 if the Liberals lose all the contested seats. But such results are highly improbable. In any event the Liberals stand to gain largely through contested seats. There are 55 seats contested in the Dominion, 42 Conservative and 13 Liberal. In Ontario there are 11 Conservative returns petitioned against and no Liberals, in Quebec there are 8 Conservative and 5 Liberal seats attacked, or deducting one each for two petitions dismissed on appeal, 7 and 4 respectively; in Nova Scotia, Conservative 9, Liberal 1; in New Brunswick, Conservative 7, Liberal 4; in Manitoba and Northwest Territories, Conservatives 4, Liberals 2; in Prince Edward Island, Conservatives 3, Liberals 1.

From the tendency of bye-elections to favour the government of the day it is extremely probable that the numerous bye-elections that will in all probability result from the trial of the petitions will very largely increase the government majority, which is now sufficiently strong to enable the government to carry out the great schemes of reform included in its programme. It is evident that the country is overwhelming with the government, and popular confidence is sure to increase as the benefits of honest and economical government increase as the days go by.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

WHAT will be the next wild-cat want of confidence vote to be submitted by the Opposition?

SINCE Sir Oliver Mowat snuffed out a large list of legal lights — budding Q. C's—there has been a heavy cancelling for orders for silk gowns and red bags.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT was justified in un-making Sir Charles Tupper's big batch of Q. C's. This title has been made too cheap in Canada. In England with six times the population there are only 217 Queen's Counsels, while we have in Canada more than twice that number.

THE hearty support given by sturdy independent Conservatives like Mr. McCarthy, Mr. Osler and Mr. John Ross Robertson indicates that the Laurier Government is pursuing a straight, honest course that commends it to the confidence of all but hide-bound partisans.

THE Buffalo Express describes Gaudaur, champion oarsman of the world, as an "American." If he had lost he would have been a "Canadian," and a poor one at that. Perhaps our Yankee neighbours are not so much to blame—they can't win the essence, and it would be too bad to deny them the name. How thin do they want to hammer out the absurd Munro doctrine, anyway?

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. Geo. Warren, wife and family left here on Tuesday for a trip to Bowmanville, where they visit friends.

Mr. McCormac, of Winnipeg, is the guest of his nephew, Rev. A. C. Reeves.

Mrs. Geo. Tanner, of Pembroke, who has been visiting Mrs. Tanner for the past week, returned home on Tuesday.

Mr. George McWilliams, who has been on a trip to Europe, returned home on Saturday and is spending a few days under the parental roof before returning to his home at Winnipeg.

For the exhibition at Toronto this week: Mr. T. H. Benson, Mr. J. H. McWilliams, Mr. W. F. Trude, Mr. E. A. Tanner, Mr. H. C. Garbett and Mr. Wm. Bate.

Mrs. J. H. McWilliams is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Albert Doidge, of Toronto, is home spending his holidays with his father.

The many friends of Rev. N. Clarke, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church here, will learn with regret of his sudden death on Sunday last, at Toronto. Mr. D. Smith left on Monday evening for Toronto to attend the funeral.

Mr. Hawkins, of Pembroke, has been visiting Mrs. Tanner.

Miss Dickson, of Colobogie, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Reeves.

Mr. Martin, of Peterborough, secretary of the County Union of C. E., will deliver an address on the Washington C. E. Convention of '96, at the Baptist church, on Friday evening. It is expected that all the C. E. members will be present and hear his address.

Rev. A. C. Reeves preached a memorial sermon last Sunday morning on the death of Mrs. John S. Fitzgerald, of Smith. There was a very large attendance. He took for his text "It is appointed once for man so die."

The editor of the News is taking a holiday, no paper being issued either last week or this week. He expects to issue again on the 18th.

R. Graham and Son are showing in dress goods the newest and nobbiest goods to be found in Lakefield, mostly all in single dress lengths; no two alike and which is attracting considerable attention among the ladies. Have you seen them yet? Better do so before they are all picked over. They will be pleased to show them to you.

The earth cutting in the canal is now nearly completed and it is expected that blasting will soon commence, and the village will re-echo with loud explosions of the dynamite.

Mr. D. Smith's shop has been turned around facing Bridge street. A new sidewalk has been laid across the bed of the canal on Caroline street, which was badly needed during the wet and muddy weather. The work of cutting Bridge street commenced on Wednesday morning.

Miss Gordon and her staff of assistants are now at work making preparations for fall millinery opening at R. Graham & Son's. They will show an elegant line of novelties in pattern hats, feathers, tips, etc.; also the latest jackets and capes. Handsome goods at moderate prices.

Labour Day was very quietly observed here. A number went to McCracken's Landing on the Golden City on the Young Canadians' picnic. Others went to Young's Point to the football tournament.

Munro Camp 150, S. O. S., will meet in the Orange Hall, on Thursday evening of this week. A full attendance is requested.

Court Lakefield, No. 43, C. O. F., will meet on Thursday evening of next week in the Forester's Hall.

The fall fair will be held on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, when we expect to see a very large turnout of farmers and others, as this is the first fall fair in this neighbourhood this season and it is expected will be the best ever held in Lakefield. The entries are rapidly coming into the secretary, Mr. D. Sherin, who expects a greater number than last year. The Lakefield band, which has been organized under the leadership of Mr. Taylor McBrien, will furnish the music at the exhibition.

NORTH HARVEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Since the season for duck shooting opened the lovers of sport in this vicinity have been popping away with but indifferent success. Ducks do not seem to be as plentiful as usual here. Quite a number of tourists have been up to the back lakes but there are not many more there and those remaining are getting so wild that it is hard to get a shot at them.

Paring bees are getting to be all the go here now. There were two or three last week and this week is expected to be as good. In fact it is who will get there first. It is wonderful the amount of talking there is done at one of them. Still it don't seem to hinder the work—then after the work is over yum-yum.

It has rained about every other day here for the past week and now people are wishing it would stop. It seems that we either have a feast or a famine.

Threshing has commenced here. Mr. J. Oliver started on Monday at the Tye place with the old company mill. It is expected that the rest of the company will thresh at once.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ventress and Miss Etta Ventress have gone to the Toronto Exhibition.

Stephen McIlmoyl has built a new stable which adds considerably to the appearance of his place.

There was a good many disappointed Sunday night as Mr. Jameson did not put in an appearance. However, Mr. D. Lavery conducted a short service very acceptably.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

The Anglican Synod at Winnipeg Considers it an Essential.

Winnipeg, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—At the General Synod of the Church of England to-day the Committeee on Education referred to the school question and reported as follows on religious instruction in the schools:

"That it is essential, both for the community and the children, that there should be religious instruction in the primary schools.

"That a half-hour each school day, and, if possible, the first half-hour, should be given to such religious instructions.

"That reasonable arrangements should be made for such religious instructions being given by the clergy or their deputies to the children of their own communion, or by the teacher in the case of communions agreeable to this.

"That when the above cannot be carried out, we shall rejoice at the introduction into the school "course of studies" of religious instruction as shall include the teaching of selections from the Old and New Testaments, inclusive of the Lord's Prayer, and the Ten Commandments, and if practicable, the Apostles' creed."

Li Hung Chang and party spent about two hours in Winnipeg to-day en route to the Pacific coast. During the brief stop of the special train here. Hon. J. D. Cameron, Provincial Secretary, United States Consul Duffie, German Consul Hespeler and others paid their respects to His Excellency, who chatted pleasantly on various subjects. During his stay here Li Hung Chang received a wire from Lord Aberdeen to the effect that he had been instructed to inform him that Queen Victoria had made Li Hung Chang a Grand Commander of the Victorian Order, a new order established this year. His sons and the Ambassador accompanying him are made Knights commander of the Victorian Order.

ENDED AT LAST.

After Two Years of Misery Endured Backache Succumbs to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Madoc, (Special) Aug. 31.—In a place like this, people suffer and sympathize, hope and mourn with each other. But her many friends here, as elsewhere, who have long been aware of the precarious health and long suffering of Mrs. J. Fergusson will be pleased to learn that her painful sufferings have ended at last, and that instead of being unable, as she says, "to turn herself in bed" she is herself once more as the result of using a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She further says that from the third day after commencing to use these pills, she was free from all pain; and, that now she feels as well as ever before in her life.

That hacking cough can be quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. Price 25c.

THE FARMERS' DAY

At the Industrial Exhibition in Toronto.

THEY TURNED OUT IN THOUSANDS

Fine Weather Was With Them and They Had a Good Time—American Railway Magnates Were There and Were Astonished at What They Saw.

Toronto, Sept. 10.

Yesterday was Farmers' Day, and a glorious day it was. Wind and weather were favorable and the thousands of people from far and near who passed through the turnstiles came for a pleasant day's enjoyment, and they had it to their hearts' content. The buildings were crowded and every nook and corner of the grounds were explored. Bands were stationed at every convenient spot and the music filled the air. All the machinery was in full operation, and the ponderous jaws of the stone crusher, which form the principal attraction of the "Good Roads Exhibit," wagged incessantly, crushing between their serrated rows of ponderous grinders the huge blocks with which they were constantly fed. The model bridge was carefully inspected and the system of bracing noted for future use. It was only necessary to take a stroll through the buildings devoted to the live stock to learn that it was indeed Farmers' Day. Even the very stock seemed to appreciate the fact and did honor to the occasion

IT WAS A FARMERS' LUNCHEON.

But Railway Magnates Appeared on the Scene and Expressed Surprise.

The atmosphere of the farm and rustic life pervaded the directors' luncheon yesterday. Around the tables were seated the yeomanry of Ontario, whose weather-beaten countenances and vigorous, sturdy appearance was indicative of that independent and manly self-reliance which has converted the dense forests of Ontario into waving fields of golden grain and the log cabin of the early settler into the substantial and comfortable farmhouse which dots the face of Ontario's soil. Had it not been for the unexpected arrival of the representatives of the American railways the entire topics of discussion would have been the farm and farm life. The speakers in their brief addresses, however, dealt fully with the interesting topic.

The usual loyal toasts were given and received with the enthusiasm and loyalty which is characteristic of the class of the community who are engaged in the cultivation of the soil and its kindred enterprises.

The Minister of Agriculture of Ontario spoke as a farmer, and asserted with confidence that every district of the Province of Ontario sent delegations to this Exhibition.

A party of railway officials from the other side of the line having entered the room and been introduced to the President, the toast to the railway interests was drunk.

Colonel Wilbur, General Superintendent Lehigh Valley Railway, in responding, said that his party owed the pleasure of their visit to the kindness of Mr. E. Fitzhugh of the Grand Trunk. Personally he had for many years past heard of the Toronto Exhibition in connection with excursions which his road had handled. It was with great pleasure, therefore, that he found himself present, and expressed the surprise he experienced at the magnitude of the Exhibition and the excellence of the exhibits. After returning thanks for the very kind reception which they had met at the hands of the officials of the association, he intimated that he hoped it would not be the last occasion upon which he would have the pleasure of visiting the Exhibition.

Mr. Fitzhugh of the Grand Trunk Railway also briefly responded.

Mr. Donnelly of the Lehigh Valley Railway, being called upon, dwelt upon the fact that upon the occasion of this his first visit to Canada he had crossed the border with some misgivings. He was glad, however, that he had found himself immediately among friends and was hospitably entertained, and found things were but little different from what they were on the other side of the line. He was very much pleased with the Exhibition, which reflected great credit on the Dominion.

Mr. Withrow expressed the gratification it afforded the directors to welcome among them the officials of railway companies which had done so much toward making the Exhibition a success by bringing the people to its gates.

The party having withdrawn, the discussion of agricultural topics was resumed.

A DISTINGUISHED PARTY.

Visit of the General Superintendent of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and His Staff.

A large number of leading railroad men from the United States were on the grounds yesterday. A party of 14 were Lehigh Valley officials, with their wives and daughters, who came direct by special train from Buffalo, where they had been attending the 26th annual convention of the American Society of Railroad Superintendents. This party was composed of the following:

Col. Rollin H. Wilbur, Gen. Superintendent Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Mr. James Donnelly, Superintendent Lehigh Division; Mrs. Donnelly and the two Misses Donnelly.

Mr. H. D. Titus, Superintendent Southern Central Division, and Mrs. Titus.

Mr. A. P. Blakesley, Superintendent Hazelton branches.

Mr. O. O. Esser, Superintendent Susquehanna Division; Mrs. Esser and Miss Esser.

Mr. L. H. Van Allen, Superintendent Buffalo Division.

Mr. Murray Auger, Buffalo trainmaster.

Mr. E. B. Byington of Buffalo, general western passenger agent.

Mr. George Matthews, and two Misses Dickson.

Mr. H. W. Steinhoff, district passenger agent, Chicago, Ill., Wisconsin Central Lines.

Mr. Walter C. Tousey, traveling passenger agent, Flint and Pere Marquette Railroad, Saginaw, Mich.

Mr. J. Halderman, traveling passenger agent, Wabash, Chicago.

Manager Hill showed them over the grounds and Mr. M. C. Dickson, district passenger agent of the Grand Trunk, took them for a ride on the Belt Line. They expressed themselves as delighted with everything they saw and thought the Fair and the crowd simply wonderful.

The visit of this party marked a new era in the railway history of Canada. For the first time on record the entire train, including the engine, baggage coach and private car, crossed the bridge and entered Canada with its own crew. It has been the custom for the engine and crew to be changed before crossing the bridge, the railway companies from various motives preferring to have trains operated by their own employes. The Lehigh Valley officials received the compliment of being allowed to run their own train, the Grand Trunk Railway furnishing a pilot.

In the evening the entire party again visited the grounds and occupied seats in the directors' box of the Grand Stand, to view the performance.

Col. Wilbur is a comparatively young man, but has made a reputation for himself in railway circles. In conversation with a reporter the Colonel intimated that he made it a practice every year to invite his assistants and their families to make a tour over the road, not for business, but as a social excursion. He had found that these annual trips tended to promote harmony, and afforded an excellent opportunity for them all to become better acquainted. The party attended the opening of the annual meeting of the Railway Superintendents at Buffalo yesterday and then left at once for Toronto to take in the sights.

In reply to a question, Col. Wilbur expressed the delight of every one of the party at what they saw here. His road had carried many passengers who were en route to the Exhibition every year, but his only surprise, after seeing it himself, was that they had not carried more. There was no exposition along the line of his railway that could compare favorably with it in the extent and variety of exhibits and the large list of attractions.

"What portion of the Exhibition did you enjoy most?" he was asked.

"I enjoyed the whole of it very much," was the reply, "but you know I am very fond of shooting and, therefore, have a liking for dogs. When I visited the Dog Show this afternoon, I was very pleased to find such a number of really fine dogs on exhibition."

In further conversation, Col. Wilbur expressed the wonder he felt at finding that Toronto could maintain an Exhibition of such magnitude.

The party left by special train, after the evening performance, delighted with their visit and entertaining a much higher opinion of Canadian enterprise and resources than they had before coming.

THE EVENING PERFORMANCE.

Nearly Twenty Thousand People in the Grand Stand and Enclosure.

Long before the afternoon performance was concluded the crowds began to gather around the entrances to the Grand Stand. As soon as the gates were opened there was a grand rush for seats and when the performance commenced, shortly after 7 o'clock, the stand was packed in both storeys. Thousands were compelled to be content with standing room on the lawn, the crowd extending back from the fence to the steps leading up to the stand itself. The returns were not made up at a late hour, but it was estimated that nearly twenty thousand people had passed into the stand and enclosure for the evening performance.

MADE STRONG AGAIN.

For the Sake of Others a Grateful Woman Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Napanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

SUING A PRIEST.

Mlle Josephine Proulx, a School Teacher, Alleges That She and Her Scholars Were Ordered Out of Church.

Montreal, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Mademoiselle Josephine Proulx, school teacher, has entered an action against the Rev. F. X. M. Ecrement, parish priest of St. Cunegonde, for $5000 damages. The action has arisen from the following circumstances. The religious parish of St. Cunegonde extends inside the limits of the city of Montreal. The Rev. Father Ecrement, it is stated, desired to have the schools in that portion of the city which belongs to St. Cunegonde for religious purposes placed under the direction of the School Commissioners of St. Cunegonde. His desires were not acceded to, and subsequently the School Commissioners of Montreal made a grant to a Catholic school in the disputed territory conducted by Miss Proulx of four dollars per annum per pupil. This encouragement of Miss Proulx's establishment, it is alleged, displeased the cure, and one day, it is further alleged, when she was in the church with her pupils, he turned them all out, threatening that if they did not go when he made the signal he would have a policeman turn them out. The reports of this action spread quickly through the parish, and, Miss Proulx alleges, several parents took their children away from the school. The cure, she states, accompanied the act of turning her out with several remarks, speaking of "School of strangers," "Opposition school," etc. Father Ecrement, seen with reference to the above allegations which are made by Miss Proulx, declined to make any counter statement at present.

Rumored Changes in the Niagara Falls Park and River Railway—Reward for a Lost Body.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—It is reported from headquarters in Toronto that an extensive change will soon be made in the management of the Niagara Falls Park & River Railway Company. It is possible that the railway will be shut down during the winter months.

A special solid Lehigh Valley train, carrying the chief officers and directors of the road, passed through here this afternoon en route to Toronto Exhibition. E. H. Fitzhugh, Superintendent of the Grand Trunk, met the party here.

A reward of $50 has been offered for the recovery of the body of J. F. Fathing, late of Buffalo, who was drowned at the head of Grand Island on Sunday by the yacht Tom Carter capsizing. The body is supposed to have gone over the Falls, and if recovered at all will probably be picked up in the whirlpool.

The cantilever bridge is receiving the annual coat of paint.

Messrs. Hewson & Co., dry goods merchants here, made an assignment this morning.

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or women can have. An affliction not only to themselves, but to those with whom they come in contact. A foul breath is a great discourager of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptoms are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently by the use of Dr. Pierce's pleasant Pellets. They give to nature just the little help that she needs. There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heartburn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "pellets" will not cure.

Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser" illustrated.

A Crying Evil.

Every crying evil should be promptly removed. Sick headache is a crying evil affecting thousands of Canadians, which can easily be removed by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, the best known stomach, liver and bowel regulator and cure for sick headache from whatever cause arising.

Our exhibit is not a large one, as we believe that the beautiful tones of instruments can be more fully appreciated in the quiet of our warerooms than amidst the bustle and confusion of an exhibition. We shall therefore make our principal exhibit at our warerooms, 32 King St. W., to which all visitors are cordially invited.

One of the most valuable paintings at the Art Gallery in the exhibition building will be the famous portrait of the Great Pianist Franz Liszt which was painted at his command by Baron Joukovsky, the Great Russian Artist, and presented to Messrs Mason & Risch as a tribute to the wonderful tone qualities of their Pianos. Every lover of Art should make it a point to see this painting. It is valued by experts at $5000.00.

WE HAVE NOT CHANGED OUR DECISION

To retire from business as quickly as circumstances will permit. But, as the Fall trade approaches we find ourselves with a large and varied stock of high-class Staple Dry Goods, which cannot be moved out without being well assorted with New Fall lines of the latest, leading Novelties of 1896.

We shall continue, therefore, during the Fall and early Winter months to keep a regular assortment of the leading Novelties for fashionable

Fall Wear.

The buying has been done with extreme care, but the stocks are comprehensive enough to satisfy every need, ranging from the newest things in SILK AND WOOL DRESS GOODS, for the super-fashionable, to the simplest effects in the quietest materials for people to whom a dollar is a dollar, or sometimes more.

It must not be forgotten, however that our chief object is still to get entirely out of business. This will have its full effect on prices, and the new goods will have to share in the same general reduction necessary to accomplish a prompt clearance of the entire stock.

Partridge Shooting.

A number of hunters are anticipating the opening of the partridge season by a few days, and several men have been sworn in by the game warden to assist in their detection. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Dredging the Lake.

The steamer City of Peterborough is helping dredge the river at the mouth of the T. V. C., where it enters the Little Lake. The banks of sawdust and slabs on the line of the canal are being heaved up in great shape.

Swearing on the Streets.

A man was fined $5 and costs in Huntsville last week for swearing on the streets. If some people of this town, who are given to profanity on the streets, received the same treatment, it would have a salutary effect, and the ears of the passersby would not be so often pained by language which seems to be only too common among a certain class of young men of the present day.

A Great Crop.

Scores of apple trees have lost their limbs through breakage from the weight of fruit they are bearing. A larger crop cannot be recalled in a dozen years, and as to quality, apple dealers are agreed that it will readily meet the requirements of foreign markets. In speaking of the immense fruit crop this year, a Grand Trunk official stated a few days ago that he had no doubt that thousands of barrels of apples will not be shipped at all, because there will not be market for them.

Still Drawing.

A delighted audience witnessed the second presentation of "The Little Irish Colleen" at the Bradburn Opera House last night by the Wilson Dramatic Company. "The girls and fellows what was in it" all acquitted themselves exceptionally well and the specialities received more than ordinary applause. Little Baby Florida is making herself a prime favourite with her cute dances and songs. An entirely new play entitled "Is Marriage a Failure" will be put on to-night. During the evening the manager expressed the sympathy of the company, with the family of the late Mr. Wherry in their great affliction.

Prof. Dorenwend.

Ladies and gentlemen who require hair goods should not forget that Prof. Dorenwend, the great hair goods artist, will be Peterborough, at Huffman House, on Tuesday, Sept. 22nd, with new samples of the very latest and most becoming styles in Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, wavy and curly Trouts, Switches in every length and shade. His skill is well known as is practically demonstrated by the thousands who wear his goods. As this is to be his last trip this fall, those in need of his art should call on him. This summer he has visited all the large and leading American cities, where he picked up suggestions to assist his ideas of new styles which he shows on this visit. His stay is limited, so be there on time.

INSPECTOR WHERRY'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late Inspector Wherry took place this afternoon, at three o'clock, under the auspices of the Board of Education, the members of which attended in a body as chief mourners. The pall bearers were Messrs. Smith, Smith, Yenney, Sovereign, McCreary and Walkey, being the principals of the schools.

Amongst the many floral tributes received was a most beautiful wreath from the principals.

The public schools were all dismissed at noon as a mark of respect to the deceased, and a large number of the children attended the funeral.

Interment took place in the Little Lake Cemetery, the service being taken by Rev. Dr. Torrance.

The deceased gentlemen had taken the initiatory degree in the Independent Order of Oddfellows, and up to a few weeks ago carried a large policy in the North American Life Insurance Company, but unfortunately allowed it to lapse last month.

REV. S. J. SHOREY INVITED.

He is Asked to Become the Pastor of the George Street Methodist Church.

A meeting of the Quarterly Board of the George street Methodist church was held last evening to decide on the selection of a pastor for the next term, Rev. W. R. Young, the present incumbent, having received and accepted an invitation to fill the pulpit of the Port Hope church.

On motion of Dr. Fife and Mr. Wm. Eyres, the following resolution was unanimously passed: "That this board tenders an invitation to Rev. Mr. Shorey, of Lindsay, to become our pastor for the next pastoral term."

Mr. A. E. Dixon is to-day writing to Mr. Shorey and communicating the decision of the board.

Rev. S. J. Shorey is an ex-president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, and as a speaker, thinker and Christian worker ranks high amongst his ecclesiastical brethren. During the term of 1888-91 Mr. Shorey was the pastor of the Charlotte street church and during his residence in town so greatly endeared himself to the Methodist portion of the population as to result in the aforementioned invitation being extended. Mr. Shorey, it will be remembered, preached the dedicatory sermon here on the occasion of the opening of Grace church.

A TRIP TO THE COAST.

Mr. George Morrow Returns After a Month's Holiday.

Mr. George Morrow returned yesterday from his trans-continental trip to the Pacific Coast and speaks most enthusiastically of the great natural beauty of the British Columbia scenery.

He states that the population of the mining towns is increasing at an incredibly rapid rate. Rossland commands particular attention in this respect. Four years ago there were only two houses on the site of the now flourishing town of 6,000 inhabitants.

Whilst in this Province Mr. Morrow had the pleasure of calling upon Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Kent and also saw a number of other former residents of Peterborough. His return trip was made via steamer to San Francisco and home by Chicago and the American cities.

Fruit Jar Famine.

Owing to the large crop of fruit, the stocks of fruit jars have been completely exhausted and prices wholesale have gone up $6.00 per gross. In consequence of the above we are compelled to advance the retail price, and will sell till further notice as follows: Pints, 80c.; quarts, $1; ½ gal., $1.20 per dozen. Buy quickly, as a further advance is certain.—CHINA HALL.

Love in a Waiting Room.

The funny man who makes the jokes about the newly married couple would have found food for a column had he been at the G.T.R. depot last evening, says the Belleville Sun. A verdant looking pair came to the city from Peterborough, and, in the public seclusion of the general waiting room, could be seen industrously engaged in hugging and kissing each other. A large number of passengers witnessed the antics of the couple and were greatly amused, but the twain were sweetly oblivious to all their surroundings.

Must Give Bonds.

The man and women committed by the magistrate yesterday on a charge preferred by the Children's Aid Society for the non-support of a child, will be released on furnishing bonds to insure the proper care of the child. The Children's Aid Society has not so much a desire to punish as to prevent in respect of offences involving the neglect or ill treatment of children, but it is to be plainly understood that abuse or neglect of children will not be tolerated and those disposed to offend will save themselves certain trouble by regulating the treatment of children according to the dictates of humanity.

People's Coal Co.

A coal dealer who claims to have some of our coal left over from last year is advertising it at $5.50 per ton and is offering to take orders at that price. As his stock is very limited and he cannot buy any more we would advise you to order this coal from him at once, but be sure you get our coal, as there is no other coal in town that burns to a white ash free from clinkers. Our coal is weighed on the market scales (2,000 lbs. to a ton). Do not be influenced by talk from interested parties, but try it for yourself. Talk is cheap but sometimes costs money, as Mr. Fitzgerald found out to his sorrow in the police court last Saturday. Call and see the medal and diploma the Company took at the World's Fair for having the purest hard coal mined in the world. Coal to-day is $1.25 a ton dearer wholesale than it was last year. Why did not the retail price in Peterborough advance $1.25? The People's Coal Company are to blame for keeping the price down. We are saving the people of Peterborough 75c to $1.00 a ton even if they do not buy from us. Compare the prices of coal in Peterborough with prices in other towns. In Toronto, Belleville, Kingston and nearly all the lake ports, coal is $6.75 and $6.00 and it costs 75c to $1 more a town to get it to Peterborough. It will pay you to call at once and get prices at PEOPLE'S COAL CO'Y OFFICE, 220 Charlotte street. Tel. 209.

A RICE LAKE PRE-HISTORIC PRINCESS.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT FIND ON MARGARET'S ISLAND.

A Skeleton and Accompanying Relics of Universal Interest Unearthed—The Burial Place of an Evidently Important Personage.

Mr. W. G. Long, of Toronto, who has been co-operating with Mr. David Boyle, Curator of the Ontario Archaeological Museum of Ontario, and making researches on the Rice Lake islands, unearthed a most important discovery on Margaret's Island, in the eastern part of Rice Lake. This island derives its appellation from the fact of the body of a young woman, named Margaret, who, with her father, was drowned through the ice, having been washed up on the shores of the island that now bears her name, while that of the father was found near the site of the accident.

Therefore, Margaret's Island has a double romance—a modern one and a prehistoric one.

Mr. Long, while conducting explorations in a mound on this island, made a find which he thought justified him in who went down to the lake yesterday and proved the correctness of Mr. Long's conclusion as to the unusual importance and archaeological interest of his discovery.

In the mound in question there was found a skeleton, assumed to be that of a woman, judging from the nature of the bones and the ornaments, etc., which had evidently been placed upon and with the body at the time of interment. The ornaments consisted of no less than five necklaces. The first consisted of copper beads about the size of an ordinary pea, roughly shaped into a spherical form; the second of small conoidal shells, and the third, fourth and fifth of wampum, altogether 2,000 beads; and at a point corresponding with the position of the right breast was found a gorget or tablet, having the appearance of marble. Its shape is a rectilinear parallelogram, except the sides and ends, are slightly concave. This is perforated with two holes, one on each side of the transvese middle line. This article gives ground for the assumption that the remains in this grave belong to a period antedating the authentically recorded

DISCOVERY OF THIS CONTINENT.

In the same grave were also found a stone axe and, what is most important and interesting, a copper gouge of the extraordinary length of eleven inches and weight of 3¼ pounds, the longest implement of this kind and material that has yet been discovered.

The skeleton, being evidently female, with the comparative extent and magnificence, according to primitive standards of her adornments, leads to the conclusion that the body interred in this mound was that of some important personage of the prehistoric upper ten, or a princess of the blood in the days of the dim past.

The Rice Lake region, in the light of recent developments, with more, perhaps, to follow (for the excavations at what may be not inaptly called the Princess mound are not completed), may be regarded as holy ground to the archaeologist, for almost every fall of the foot rests on soil enclosing the remains of vanished races.

PERSONAL.

Dr. Shaw, of Keene, was in town to-day.

Mr. Hetherington was down in Port Hope yesterday.

Rev. A. R. MacDonald, of Lakefield, is visiting friends in town.

Rev. C. J. Phelan, of North Bay, is in town for a few days.

Mrs. Jos. Hunter, of Portland, Oregon, is visiting friends in this vicinity.

Mrs. J. A. Raymond and daughter, of Water street, have left for Clifton Springs, New York.

Mr. D. Ullyott returned home last night, after a tour of about two months in Great Britain and on the Continent.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Reid, of Kingston, are spending a few days in town with Mrs. D. Little, sister of Mrs. Reid.

Mrs. J. J. G. Terrill, of Belleville, who has been visiting in town for the past week, left yesterday for Kingston.

Mr. Octave Trombley, one of our oldest residents, who has entered his 83rd year, is lying seriously ill at his residence, 388 Sherbrooke street.

The Campbellford Herald says:—Mr. W. H. Lowery, late of Peterborough, has moved to Campbellford and taken up his residence on Rear street.

Mr. John Hull, of Lakefield passed through town yesterday on his way home from Toronto, where he has been attending a meeting of the Board of Superannuation of the Methodist Church.

Miss Jessie Glover, who has been in Rochester for the last month as a member of the probation class of the City Hospital, has passed her examination and been accepted to take a course in the Training School for Nurses in connection with the Hospital.

Miss Alice H. Roger has returned from Havergal Ladies' College, and being also a graduate in the Teachers' Normal course of the Toronto College of Music, she intends taking pupils in piano, harmony, counter point and other branches of the theory and practice of music. Her card will be found in another column.

Dr. and Mrs. Burnham, Mrs. and the Misses Perry, Miss Barbe and Mr. Hampden Burnham, of town, were amongst the invited guests to the wedding of Miss Agnes Henrietta Burnham, of Dunbarton Hall, Port Hope, and Mr. Percy F. Hodgson, of Glyndhurst, Brondesbury, London, Eng., yesterday, in Port Hope.

The Cobourg World says:—"Rev. R. E. Spence, a former student of "Old Victoria," '90 and '91, terminated a two months' pulpit supply, Division street Methodist church, on Sunday last. In the morning the popular young clergyman preached to a large congregation on "The Inheritance of the Christian," basing his remarks on I Corinthians, iii, 21 23. During his stay in Cobourg Mr. Spence has made many friends, and his genial disposition, marked energy and untiring efforts in all good works, should soon place him in the ranks of the clever exponents of Canadian Methodism. He will leave his home in Peterborough, Oct. 1st, for Toronto, to resume his studies at Victoria University." Rev. R. E. Spence is an old Ashburnham boy and his mother still lives in the village. Mrs. Robert Ritchie and Mrs. Herbert Fitz, also of Ashburnham, are his sisters.

A Wall Paper Item.

Are you meditating over the subject of papering your house this fall? Are you dreading putting in another winter with the same old designs on the walls? Are you counting the cost and afraid of the bills? We invite you to call at the Peterborough Bookstore and spend 10 minutes with us on the wallpaper subject. If our new designs and our low prices don't decide you nothing else will. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

A Grand Programme is Contemplated.

The Central Exhibition for 1896 promises in many ways to be far ahead of all other years.

A notable event will be the opening of the Exhibition on September 22nd by His Excellency Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, who will be accompanied by Lady Aberdeen and his staff, and will be accorded a grand and imposing reception under the joint auspices of the society and of the town and county councils.

Among the many other special events will be the visit of a troop of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, the crack corps of Canada's little standing army. These splendid soldiers, mounted on their magnificent horses, are not surpassed by any similar organization. Their brilliant feats of horsemanship are the wonders of all who have seen them and include the greatest daring and most expert skill.

There will also be a splendid list of other special attractions.

CHEAP FRUIT.

How the Poor May Take Advantage of the Occasion.

Fruit is exceedingly cheap this year. Even on the Montreal market the fruit is sold next to nothing, if the purchaser is willing to pay for the basket. Here is a chance for the poor to make the most of the little means at their command by laying in a store of fruit for winter use while it is cheap. No form of diet is so wholesome as fruit, and where a double purpose is served by buying during the present low prices, the exercise of a little provident foresight, and a little self-denial in the mild season of summer, would prevent no inconsiderable amount of enforced self-denial and privation in the religious days of the coming winter. The price of a picnic with its fleeting and fatiguing enjoyments, invested in plums, pears or other cheap fruit would come in convenient in the winter when life to the poor with a bare larder and low wood-pile is no picnic.

"Mikado" Still in the Market.

We take pleasure in informing the public that we have completed arrangements by which we can supply our old brands of flour manufactured with every care to suit the requirements of our trade. STOCKING NORTHERN LAKES WITH FISH.

A Proposal of Practical Value and of Great Importance—Something New in Pisiculture and Propagation—Worthy of Careful Consideration.

In view of the fact that over-fishing, and especially fishing out of season, have to a very great extent, depleted our lakes, the following extract from a letter of Mr. Peyton W. C. Shewen, of Apsley, will be read with interest by all concerned in sport and the preservation of legitimate sport; and by none with more interest than by the settlers in the northern country, whose hard lot would be greatly mitigated by the means suggested by Mr. Shewen:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Ever since Mr. Stratton has represented West Peterborough he has taken the greatest pains to keep his constituents informed of what was going on, personally, outside of the news which they received from his paper, and as I know that he has always before him the advancement, not only of the people of West Peterborough, but the whole Province of Ontario and the Dominion, I venture to lay before him and your readers a matter which I consider is of vital importance, not only to this section of the country, but to the country at large. I assume that he is aware that the northern portion of the county is studded with large and small lakes which are totally devoid of fish, that is, fish that are suitable for human food. We have lakes here, with settlers on the banks, which are literally no earthly good to them, but with a very small outlay could be made productive and be a future inheritance to our offspring. I have written several letters in the past few years to our genial representative, Mr. Bennard, and he assured me that the Hon. A. S. Hardy thought so well of the matter that it would be immediately taken up. However, up to this time, nothing has been done; therefore I appeal to the representatives of West Peterborough with perfect confidence that it will not be misplaced. Hitherto small fry have been sent into this locality (from Newcastle I think) in cans, but when they arrived here the most of them were dead, and those that were living were, I believe, devoured by perch, chub and other small fish before they had a chance to grow. My scheme, as represented to Mr. Bennard, was to take the grown fish from two lakes here (Jack's and Eagle) and deposit them in those other waters which have none at the present time. I have studied the matter for the past twenty-three years and find out now by experience that it would be a success to do as I suggest. Six years ago I took black bass from Long Lake to a small lake above the mill. The result to-day is that one can catch bass not only in the lake where there was none before, but in the creek below (Eels' creek). That shows, that, at least it is a feasible idea. These lakes which now contain nothing but food for fishes ought to be supplied with the real article. There is an abundance of feed for bass, salmon, mountain trout or maskinonge. Why not place them in these places? The way that I should advocate that the thing be done, is to make a tank to be either carried on a waggon or a sleigh according to the season and to transport the large fish that could take care of themselves from the lakes I have mentioned into all these small lakes that now have nothing but bait. A small grant from the government for this purpose would be well spent. This is not a speculation for the individual, but a feasible enterprise for the poor people of this back country. I have the confidence of the people of this section of the country in most matters and this one in particular and I have not the least doubt but that I can get 500 signatures to a petition to carry into effect this object.

Yours very sincerely,
P. W. C. SHEWEN.

CANADA WINS EVERYTHING.

Canada scored heavily in sports yesterday.

Gaudaur, on the Thames, became champion oarsman of the world.

The Canadians, at Philadelphia, won the International cricket match.

This year's record is truly magnificent for the Dominion, in all departments of sport.

Glencairn won the half-rater trophy at New York.

Archibald, of Toronto, won the International canoe race at Clayton.

The Canada won the International cup at Toledo.

The Winnipeg oarsman won the American four-oar championship at Saratoga.

The Bisley team won the Kolapore cup.

The artillery team at Shoeburyness, won the Queen's prize.

R. H. Dickson won the International golf trophy at Niagara.

Gaudaur won the championship of the world.

Canadians won in International cricket.

We shall try the Derby yet.—Mail and Empire.

—It is not an uncommon thing for a newspaper to be asked to withhold this or that piece of public news, as it would "look bad for the town" to have it go abroad. Don't blame the newspaper for what happens in the community. If there is anything in the life of the place that you do not wish to go abroad, blame yourself if it exists—not the paper for saying something about it. It is the editor's duty to make a typographical photograph of the town each day, and if you take a homely picture don't blame the instrument.

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Business in town is picking up and things have been more lively this week than for the past two months.

Mrs. J. Carmichael, of Markham, was the guest of Mrs. J. B. Pearce for a few days last week.

Miss Roxburgh was home for Labour Day.

Mr. F. W. Ashe spent Labour Day in Toronto.

Mr. Alex. Robertson, of Toronto, was in town for a few days this week.

Mr. A. Brethen was in Toronto last week.

Mr. W. E. Roxburgh was in Kingston for Labour Day.

Mr. F. G. Code spent Labour Day at his home in Ottawa.

On Labour Day the Norwood Football Team scored another victory. They went to Jubilee Point and met a team from Gore's Landing, which they succeeded in defeating to the tune of five to nothing, each of Norwood's forwards scoring a goal. The team were:—Goal, M. Kennealy; backs, A. Finlay, T. Graham; half backs, Pearce, Wilson and Wasson; forwards, Fraser, Eaton, Stephenson, Hendren and Rutherford.

The Norwood II football club began practicing Wednesday night. The club is open for challenges from teams. Matches to date after the 19th Sept., secretary, W. P. Cameron.

The High and Model Schools have decided to amalgamate this fall and put a strong eleven on the football field. They met on Tuesday evening and organized appointing the following officers:—

Hon. President—J. Davidson, M.A., L.L.B.
President—H. Breckenridge.
Vice-President—E. McIlmoyle.
Sec.-Treas.—B. Graham.
Committee—H. Stephenson, K. Lancaster, T. Walsh.
Curator—F. Rutherford.

Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh and Jno. E. went to Toronto Wednesday to attend the exhibition.

W. A. Eaton has moved into the store lately vacated by E. Gear.

The schools are in full swing again. The Model class this year will be as large as usual, forty-two being in attendance this week.

Miss Hall, of Tweed, spent Labour Day at home.

Quite a number took trips to Toronto to take in the exhibition this week.

Mrs. F. E. Perney has returned from visiting her parents.

The directors of the public library intend giving a promenade concert in Mr. Buck's concert hall on the evening of the 18th.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church met last Sunday, as did the Epworth League of the Methodist church, after having given up their meetings for the past two months.

Sacrament services were held in the Presbyterian church here last Sabbath morning. The preparatory services on Thursday evening were conducted by Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Hastings.

Miss M. Eaton returned Monday night from Toronto where she has been attending the millinary openings.

PENELON FALLS' GREAT LOSS.

The Howry Company Mills Burned Yesterday Morning—Two Hundred Men Thrown Out of Employment—Loss Estimated at $42,000.

The Lindsay Post gives the following particulars concerning the big Howry fire:

When the telegraph office opened this morning at eight o'clock the first message received by Mr. Wilder, the obliging agent, conveyed the startling information that the Howry mills at Fenelon Falls had been burned to the ground at 4 30 a.m. Our reporter at once set off in quest of someone who could supply the necessary information and luckily met Mr. Sadler, of the steamer Greyhound, which had just reached port from the Falls, who furnished some of the particulars, while Mr. Swan, the company's manager, contributed some information by telephone.

HISTORY OF THE MILLS.

About four years ago the Howry Co., of Saginaw, one of the two or three big lumbering firms operating in Michigan, acquired extensive limits in our north country, and after inspecting various sites for their mills, decided to purchase the old R. S. Smith property at Fenelon Falls, the water power being one of the best on the Trenton system. The old sawmill was torn down and a new and much larger structure was erected, which was fitted with bands and all the latest machinery and labor-saving devices known to the progressive lumbermen of to-day. The manufacture of lumber was proceeded with while extensions were being built for shingle and lath making, box making, planing, etc., and soon the premises became a veritable hive of industry, employing from 200 to 250 hands. Since then the firm have had from 800 to 1,100 men in their limits every winter, cutting timber to keep their mills running night and day during the summer, and the large sums of money paid out for wages and supplies have transformed Fenelon Falls into an enterprising village.

Our readers will no doubt remember the loss the firm sustained on Friday night, June 19th last, when fire broke out in the lumber yard and destroyed over 12 000,000 feet of lumber, entailing a loss of $250,000. Had aid not been summoned from Peterborough, Lindsay and Bobcaygeon on that occasion the loss would undoubtedly have been much greater, and in all probability the mills would have been swept away with the rest.

THIS MORNING'S DISASTER.

About 11 o'clock last evening an accident happened to some portion of the machinery and caused a temporary shut down of the mill. When cutting started again some time after 12 o'clock there were about 70 men employed in and about the mill. All went well till about 4 o'clock, when a cry of "Fire" startled everybody, and it was seen that the south end of the mill was ablaze. The men manned the hose in short order, but a steady breeze fanned the flames and the water thrown had no effect. In less than five minutes the building was enveloped, and the mill wright, who was working in the basement, had barely time to ascend to the top floor and make his escape uninjured. When the men and villagers saw that the mill was doomed they turned their attention to the other buildings, and succeeded in saving the box and shingle factory, as well as a large quantity of stock piled in the vicinity.

Manager Swan estimates the company's direct loss at $42 000, on which there is an insurance of $22,000. The indirect loss to the firm will be a heavy one, as a contract had lately been closed with American dealers for thirty million feet, of which the company hoped to deliver about six millions this month.

At present nothing is known as to the prospects for rebuilding. Some persons think that the firm will lease the Boyd mill at Bobcaygeon, but that mill is also very old and is not fitted with the latest machinery.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheel Talk and Items of Local and General Interest to Sportsmen.

The 11th annual brewery picnic is the picnic of the season to Jubilee Point, Rice Lake. This year's picnic will excel all previous ones. The date is (the last of the season) Sept. 16th. Amongst the sports will be football, baseball and other ball games, besides a list of athletic sports, quoit matches, running and sprinting races, etc. The steamers plying the waters of Trent, Otonabee and Rice Lake will run excursions from Hastings, Port Hope, Cobourg and Harwood and all points on navigable waters on that that date. Commodore Calcutt is sparing no pains to make this outing a pleasant one to all, old and young, and at the same time is presenting valuable prizes in each and all events, such as silver cups, gold cash prizes and other trophies. Harry Neill has in hand the programme, which will be published to-morrow. Everybody takes in this picnic—fun galore—pleasant sail—and the picnic of the season.

BASEBALL.

Mr. Fred Billings, an old Peterboroughtanian, but now of Hespeler, left this morning after spending several days in renewing old acquaintances in town. While here he was the guest of Mr. M. A. Jamieson of the Windsor. Fred at one time was catcher for the old Peterboroughs. He is now a professional in the ball line.

LACROSSE.

The C. L. A. lacrosse season has been unusually extended this year owing to so many tie games having to be played before the various districts could demonstrate which particular club was entitled to the district championship, but matters are so shaping that inside of a fortnight the question as to which club shall fly the intermediate championship banner will be settled. So far the following clubs hold district championships:

Niagara, Alerts, of St. Catharines; Central, Etnas, of Georgetown; Northern, Garnets of Wiarton; Northeastern, Orillias of Orillia; Eastern, Peterboroughs of Peterborough; Quinte, Madocs of Madoc; Southern, Dufferins of Ingersoll.

The following districts have yet to settle the question of district championships:—York District—Richmond Hill, Toronto Junction and Bolton, tied. The Richmond Hill protest (pending) may affect the result. Midland District—Stouffville and Markham to play off a tie. Northwestern District—Grand Valley or Mount Forest will win. Huron District—Seaforth and Mitchell tied. Charges pending against Mitchell may affect result. Bruce and Western Districts—No competition recorded.

The Tecumsehs and Capitals have already this season engaged in two hotly contested struggles and the final match at the Island next Saturday promises to be the bitterest and most hardly fought of the series. The Tecumsehs have two defeats to avenge and will have the strongest team they can get together on the field.

OUR CHAMPIONSHIPS.

On Monday Jacob Gaudaur, a Canadian whose home is in Orillia, won the sculling championship of the world from James Stanbury, of Australia, on the Thames, at London, England.

The following championships are also held by Canada:—

Fifteen-foot yachts.
Forty-five-foot cutter yachts.
Canoe sailing.
Four-oared sculling, amateurs.
Lacrosse.
Military rifle shooting (Kolapore cup).
Cricket (as against the United States).
Curling.
Quoiting.
Lawn bowling.
Lawn tennis.
Figure skating.
Artillery competition.

This is not bad for a nation of 5,000,000 people, but even this grand showing is not complete, as there are other sports in which Canada can beat the world.

THE pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. Frequently he doesn't ever know whether the thing he eats is going to agree with him or not. The things that please his palate most are often the worst for him to eat. Even the simplest food is likely to cause him misery and sleeplessness. His first trouble was very slight—very simple—very easy to cure. He ate something indigestible and it stuck some place in his digestive system. He ate more things and they stuck. Part of his digestion stopped altogether—that is constipation.

Constipation is so common that more than half the people in America are troubled with it. It is so serious that nine tenths of the sickness of the world is traceable directly to this common cause. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Constipation stops digestion. Anybody can see that. The commonest kind of common sense will tell you that. When digestion stops, nutrition stops, and the whole body is thrown out of order.

The way to start digestion is to remove the obstruction. The way to do that is to take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, billousness and "heartburn." They are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping, nor discomfort of any kind.

You can get a free sample of from 4 to 7 doses, by addressing World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

If a druggist tries to sell you something "just as good," transfer your trade to another store. He is sacrificing your interests to his own pecuniary advantage.

WEIGHT OF ASSOCIATION.

Proof That Physiognomists Are Right in Saying Association Produces Likeness.

Husband and wife frequently grow to look alike. This statement has often been made, and physiognomists say it is proved by the facts, and that close, continued and intimate association does produce a likeness in features, says the New York Herald.

This claim has been made for many noted men and their wives all through history, and among the last we have seen exhibited in proof of the doctrine are the faces of Major and Mrs. McKinley.

But more strange than the fact laid down is the one that human faces grow to look like the faces of animals, inanimates faces and even like inanimate objects. All can remember particularly in their boyhood days, companions who looked like their dogs, their sleds and even the houses they lived in.

When you visit the menagerie, notice the men who have been longest in charge of the animals, including those in the monkey houses, and draw your own conclusions. Then, if you want to see a remarkable instance of this likeness through association, walk in the streets about Madison Square, and you will see a man who is selling soft rubber doll's heads, that can be squeezed into all sorts of disgusting shapes, besides be made to take on expressions more or less pleasing. Look at the man and look at the little rubber countenance between his thumb and finger. Observe closely, compare the two, and see how very, very frequently the expressions will be strikingly alike.

TWEED TOPICS.

Mrs. James Davenport Makes a Statement for the Benefit of Others.

Mrs. Davenport is well-known in Tweed, and this is how she spoke to our representative concerning Doan's Kidney Pills. Said Mrs. Davenport:—

"I have suffered for some years from dizziness, puffing under the eyes, pains in the side and back, sleeplessness, poor appetite, and, in fact, was in a bad state generally.

"I took two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at P. K. Newton's drugstore, and experienced immediate relief from their use.

"I am now very much better indeed; appetite improved, pain almost disappeared and I feel stronger and healthier in every particular.

"I can heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble."

The Demands of Society.

Society demands that you should look well. Not that you should be a beauty, but that you should, on occasion, put on your best bib and tucker and help make up the picture that, all in all, constitutes society. You speak of the social world as selfish; so it is, for it demands from all its votaries absolute unselfishness. You must learn to have no ill-feeling toward anybody. If a chatterbox tells you that Madame Malice has made you the subject of her ridicule you must make yourself smile; go forward and meet Madame Malice with a pleasant word, a courteous bow, and you must entirely forget that she has ever said anything but that which was pleasant. Society ceases to be good when malicious sayings are recognized.—Ruth Ashmore, in Ladies' Home Journal.

A Grateful Innovation.

Stockings made to represent a strapped boot front will at last permit the wearing of slippers in the street, a grateful innovation in the hot weather months, when every inch of extra foot gear is to be avoided. These straps are woven in the stockings and made to match the color of the shoe—tan, white or black. They are so well made that they would deceive the most practised eye.

There is nothing to prevent anyone concocting a mixture and calling it "sarsaparilla," and there is nothing to prevent anyone sprang good money testing the stuff; but prudent people who wish to be sure of their remedy, take only Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and so get cured.

Hidden Foes.

Among the many foes to human health and happiness dyspepsia and constipation are twin enemies greatly to be feared. With B.B.B. to drive them out of the system, however, no danger need be anticipated, as every dose brings the sufferer a long step further on the road to perfect health and strength, and a permanent cure always results.

CONFIDENCE IN CANADA.

Sir William Rose Says British Investors Are Turning Their Attention to This Country.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—Sir William Rose, a son of the late Sir John Rose, erstwhile Finance Minister of Canada, and a great friend of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, is paying a visit to Montreal, the first in 21 years, and he naturally expresses surprise at the wonderful changes which have taken place in the city. His mission to Canada is in connection with mining in British Columbia, which is now attracting great attention in Britain. He states that there is plenty of money in London awaiting investment in these mines if investigation shows them to be sound. Any wild-catting schemes would have a most harmful effect there. The reason why English money is seeking investment in Canada, he says, is that there is in England a growing want of confidence in American securities, owing to the unsettled political status of that country, and investors are looking to Canada, in which they have the greatest confidence. Sir William left for Quebec this evening.

MILITARY CAMP AT LONDON.

Lee-Enfield Rifles Expected—Liquor Sale May be Shut Off.

London, Ont., Sept. 8.—The annual camp of instruction for the militia of No. 1 district was inaugurated on Carling's Heights to-day and over 1000 red and black coats will be prepared to go in for ten days of military life. Over 400 Lee-Enfield rifles of the very latest design have arrived from Ottawa, and will be distributed when the soldiers get under canvas. The attached officers at the barracks will be distributed among the visiting battalions for the camp. There are about a dozen of them, and they are well advanced in their drill. There is a possibility that the canteens in the barracks will be closed during camp and that no liquors will be sold on the grounds. An order to that effect is expected from Ottawa.

A SWELL TRAMP.

He Gave the Name of Richard Arnold Fitzroy Berkeley, and Said He Belonged to Berkeley Hall, England.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Richard Arnold Fitzroy Berkley is the name given by a tramp who was yesterday sent to Bridewell, though sentenced under the name of William Brown. The man claims to be the second son of Sir Fitzroy Berkley of Berkley Hall, Hants, England, and has in his possession medals which he claims were given him for participation in battles of the Soudan. He claims to have afterward served in India, where he became involved in trouble with a high caste Indian woman and was disinherited by his father. After numerous adventures he reached America and made his debut in Chicago as a full-fledged tramp. He was arrested while sleeping in a wagon and yesterday morning said he wished to be sent to the Bridewell. He was accommodated.

ARMENIANS SET FREE.

French Authorities Will Not Hold the Refugees From the Land of the Despicable Turk.

London, Sept. 8.—A despatch to The Chronicle from Marseilles says that M. Bonnaud, Chief of Police, has stated that the Armenians under detention there will be liberated and will go to New York. M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has also ordered that other Armenians who arrived to-day shall be given full liberty. They arrived on board the Sidon. They refused to speak about the massacre in Constantinople for fear of exciting the anger of the Turks against their compatriots, but they bitterly denounced England's conduct in promising protection and then abandoning the Armenians to Turkish fury.

SIFTON COMING EAST.

He Will Further Consult With the Government at Ottawa Regarding Terms of Settlement of the School Question.

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—Attorney-General Sifton expects to leave here on Friday next for Ottawa in order to consult further with the Laurier Government regarding the terms of settlement of the school question. It is stated that he will be accompanied by a leading French Catholic.

Chief Makoni Shot.

London, Sept. 8.—The Daily Telegraph has a despatch from Buluwayo, which says that Chief Makoni's caves have been dynamited and Makoni was court martialled and shot. The chief died bravely. Wagon-loads of loot were found in the caves.

The Jameson Raiders.

London, Sept. 8.—The Government has decided that those of Dr. Jameson's officers who were acquitted on their trial for participation in the raid shall return to their regiments, while those who were sentenced must retire with the ordinary privileges.

HON. E. J. DAVIS ELECTED

The New Provincial Secretary Has a Walk-Over for His Seat in the Provincial Cabinet.

Newmarket, Ont., Sept. 8.—Nomination took place at the Town Hall to-day at 1 o'clock. Mr. J. J. Pearson, Registrar for North York, acted as returning officer. The only nomination made was Hon. E. J. Davis, accordingly the returning officer declared the Provincial Secretary elected by acclamation. Afterwards there was a public meeting, with Mr. William Cane as chairman. Addresses were presented to Mr. Davis by Mayor Robertson on behalf of the town of Newmarket and by Dr. Coulter, Vice-President of the Reform Association of North York, on behalf of the association, to both of which Mr. Davis made suitable replies. The meeting was then addressed by Dr. Coulter, Mayor Robertson, Erastus Jackson, the Provincial Secretary and others.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM
C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $300 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only thirty-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

WHY NANSEN FAILED.

THE POLE NOT REACHED BECAUSE DOGS WERE SCARCE.

The Explorer's Own Account of His Valuable Discoveries—The Highest Point North Reached by Man—Fortunate Meeting With Jackson.

The story in detail by the explorer himself of Dr. Fridtjof Nansen's Arctic expedition, and the adventures of his party, together with the scientific results obtained, first of which is his success in penetrating to the highest latitude hitherto trod by the foot of man, namely, 86 degrees 14 minutes north, are given to the world by the London Chronicle. In this account Dr. Nansen says:

"The Fram left Jugor strait August 4, 1893. We had to force our way through much ice along the Siberian coast. We discovered an island in the Kara sea and a great number of islands along the coast to Cape Chelyuskin. In several places we found evidences of a glacial epoch, during which northern Siberia must have been covered by inland ice to a great extent. On September 15 we were off the mouth of the Olenek River, but we thought it was too late to go in there to fetch our dogs, as we would not risk losing a year. We passed the New Siberian islands September 22. We made fast to a floe in latitude 78 degrees 50 minutes north and in longitude 133 degrees 37 minutes east. We then allowed the ship to be closed in by the ice. As anticipated, we were gradually drifted north and northwestward during the autumn and winter from the constantly exposed and violent ice pressures, but she (the Fram) surpassed our expectations, being superior to any strain. The temperature fell rapidly, and was constantly low, with little variation for the whole winter. During weeks the mercury was frozen. The lowest temperature was 62 degrees below zero. Every man on board was in perfect health during the whole voyage. The electric light, generated by a windmill, fulfilled our expectations. The most friendly feeling existed, and time passed pleasantly. Everyone made pleasure his duty, and a better lot of men could hardly be found.

"The sea was up ninety fathoms deep south of 79 degrees north, where the depth suddenly increased, and from 1600 to 1900 fathoms north of that latitude. This will necessarily upset all previous theories based on a shallow polar basin. The sea bottom was remarkably devoid of organic matter. During the whole drift I had good opportunities to take a series of scientific observations, meteorological, magnetic, astronomical and biological, soundings, deep sea temperatures, examinations for the salinity of the sea water, etc. Under the stratum of cold ice water covering the surface of the polar basin, I soon discovered warmer and more saline water, due to the gulf stream with temperatures from 31 degrees to 33 degrees.

"We saw no land and no open water, except narrow cracks in any direction. Ase anticipated, our drift northwestward was most rapid during the winter and spring, while the northerly winds stopped or drifted us backward during the summer. On June 18, 1894, we were on 81 degrees 52 minutes north, but we drifted then southward only. On October 21 we passed 82 degrees north. On Christmas eve, 1894, latitude 83 degrees north was reached, and a few days later 83 degrees 24 minutes, the furthest north latitude previously reached by man.

"On January 4 and 5 the Fram was exposed to the most violent ice pressures we experienced. She was then firmly frozen in ice of more than thirty feet of measured thickness. This floe was overridden by great ice masses, which were pressed against the port side with irresistible force and threatened to bury, if not to crush her. The necessary provisions with the canvas kayaks and other equipments had been placed in safety upon the ice. Every man was ready to leave the ship if necessary and was prepared to continue with the drift, living on the floe. But the Fram proved even stronger than our trust in her.

"As I now with certainty anticipated that the Fram would soon reach her highest latitude north of the Franz Josef Land, and that she would not easily fail to carry out the program of the expedition, viz.: to cross the unknown polar basin, I decided to leave the ship in order to explore the sea north of her route. Lieutenant Johansen volunteered to join me, and I could not easily have found a better companion in every respect. The leadership of the expedition on board the Fram I left to Captain Sverdrup. With my trust in his qualifications as a leader and his ability to overcome difficulties, I have no fear but that he will bring all the men safely back, even if the worst should happen and the Fram be lost, which I consider improbable.

"On March 3 we reached 84 degrees 4 minutes north. Johansen and I left the Fram March 14, 1895, at 83 degrees 59 minutes north and 102 degrees 27 minutes east. Our purpose was to explore the sea to the north and reach the highest latitude possible, and then to go to Spitzbergen, via Franz Josef Land, where we felt certain to find a ship. We had twenty-eight dogs, two sledges and two kayaks for open water. The dog food was calculated for thirty days and our provisions for one hundred days. We found the ice in the beginning tolerably good traveling, and so made good distances, and the ice did not appear drifting much. On March 22 we were at 85 degrees 10 minutes north. Although the dogs were less enduring than we hoped, still they were tolerably good. The ice now became rougher and the drift contrary. On March 25 we had only reached 85 degrees 19 minutes north and on March 29, 85 degrees 30 minutes.

"We were now evidently drifting fast toward the south. Our progress was very slow. It was fatiguing to work our way and carry our sledges over the high hummocks constantly being built up by floes grinding against each other. The ice was in strong movement and the ice pressure was heard in all directions. On April 3 we were in 85 degrees, 50 minutes north, constantly hoping to meet smoother ice. On April 4 we reached 86 degrees, 3 minutes north, but the ice became rougher until on April 7 it got so bad that I considered it unwise to continue our march in a northerly direction. We were then at 86 degrees 14 minutes minutes north. We then made an excursion on skis further northward in order to examine as to the possibility of a further advance. But we could see nothing but ice of the same description, hummock beyond hummock, to the horizon, looking like a sea of frozen breakers. We had low temperature, and during nearly three weeks it was in the neighborhood of 40 degrees below zero. On April 7 it rose to 8 degrees below zero, but soon sank again to 38. When a wind was blowing in this temperature we did not feel comfortable in our too thin wool clothing. To save weight we had left our fur suits on board ship. The minimum temperature in March was 49 degrees and the maximum was 24.

"We saw no sign of land in any direction. In fact, the floe of ice seemed to move so freely before the wind that there could not have been anything in the way of land to stop it for a long distance off. We were now drifting rapidly northward. On April 8 we began our march toward Franz Josef Land. On April 12 our watches ran down, owing to the unusual length of the day's march. After that date we were uncertain as to our longitude, but hoped that our dead reckoning was fairly correct. As we came south we met many cracks, which greatly retarded our progress. The provisions were rapidly decreasing. The dogs were killed one after the other to feed the rest.

"In June the cracks became very bad and the snow was in exceedingly poor condition for traveling. The dogs and the ski and sledge runners broke through the superficial crust and sank deep in the snow. Only a few dogs were now left and progress was next to impossible. But unfortunately we had no line of retreat. The dogs' rations, as well as our own were reduced to a minimum, and we made the best way we could ahead. We expected daily to find land in sight, but we looked in vain. On May 31 we were in 82 degrees, 21 minutes north, and on June 4 in 82 degrees 18 minutes north, but on June 15 we had been drifted to the northwest to 82 degrees, 26 minutes north. No land was to be seen, although, according to Payer's map, we had expected to meet with Petermann Land at 83 degrees north. These discrepancies became more and more puzzling as time went on.

"On June 22 we had shot a bearded seal, and as the snow became constantly worse I determined to wait. We now had a supply of seal meat until it melted away. We also shot three bears. We had only two dogs left, which were now well fed upon meat.

"On June 22 we continued our journey over tolerably good snow. On July 24, when about 83 degrees north, we sighted unknown land at last, but the ice was everywhere broken into small floes, the water between being filled with crushed ice in which the use of the kayaks was impossible. We, therefore, had to make our way by balancing from one ice piece to another, and we did not reach land until August 6 at 81:38 north and about 63 degrees east longitude. This proved to be entirely ice-capped islands. In kayaks we made our way westward in open water along these islands, and on August 12 we discovered land extending from southeast to northwest. The country became more and more puzzling, and I could find no agreement with Payer's map. I thought we were in longitude east of Austria Sound, but if this was correct, we were now traveling straight across Wilczek land and Dove Glacier without seeing any land near us.

"On August 16 we reached a spot in 81 degrees 31 minutes north, and evidently well suited to wintering and as it was now too late for the voyage to Spitzbergen, I considered it wisest to stop and prepare for winter. We shot bears and walruses and built a hut of stone, earth and moss, making a roof of walrus hide tied down with rope and covered with snow. We used the blubber for cooking, light and heat. The bear meat and blubber were our only food for ten months. The bear skins formed our beds and sleeping bag. The winter, however, passed well, and we were both in perfect health. Spring came with sunshine, and with much open water to the southwest. We hoped to have an easy voyage to Spitzbergen over the floe of ice and open water. We were obliged to manufacture new clothes from blankets and a new sleeping bag of bear skin. Our provisions were raw bear meat and blubber.

"On May 19 we were at last ready to start. We came to open water on May 23, in 81 degrees, 5 minutes north, but were retarded by storms until June 3. A little south of 81 degrees we found land extending westward and open water which reached west northwest along its north coast. But we preferred to travel southward over the ice through a broad sound. We came on June 12 to the south side of the island and found much open water trending westward. We sailed and paddled in this direction in order to proceed across to Spitsbergen from the westward cape, but Payer's map was misleading."

Dr. Nansen's account concludes as follows, after touching upon the details of his meeting with Jackson: "We left Franz Josef Land in the steamer Windward on August 7, and had a short and very pleasant passage, thanks to the masterly way in which Captain Brown brought his ship through the ice, and thence in the open sea to Vardoe."

Jackson, the captain of the British Polar Expedition, in the despatch filed by the captain of the Windward, said: "One June 17 I met Dr. Nansen three miles out on a floe south southeast of Cape Flora, and under the most extraordinary circumstances. He had wintered in a rough hut within a mile or two of our northern limit in 1893, and this spring we unwittingly came within a few miles of his winter quarters.

"Dr. Nansen left the Fram with one companion, Lieut. Sigard Scott Hansen, a lieutenant in the Norwegian navy, and director of the astronomical meteorological and magnetic observations, and reached latitude 86.14, traveling northeast from where he left the Fram, which was in 84 north, 102 east.

"Dr. Nansen expressed the greatest surprise and the liveliest satisfaction at meeting with us. You understand how greatly the meeting affected me and my pleasure at the extraordinary chance which had thrown it in my way to render him service and restore him to his friends."

HOW
THE SUN LIFE
FULFILS ITS PROMISES.
A Matured 10 Year Endowment.
Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.
The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the undersigned this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled
BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1895.
W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—
DEAR SIR.—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,871 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.
I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when as Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the 'SUN.'
I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1905 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain,
Yours Sincerely,
(Signed) F. R. C.
The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

Every ingredient in Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound is a blood maker and health giver. If you are weak or run down, try it.

Dear Sirs: It is with pleasure I can recommend others to take Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound, as I am thoroughly satisfied it is a sterling preparation, and as a tonic I think it has no equal. Other members of my family, besides myself, have used it, and in all cases it gave the most gratifying and pleasing results. Yours truly, Council Meeting.

The Galway council met at Mrs. Hartnett's on the 1st inst. After routine a bylaw was passed to provide for levying the rates and taxes for 1896. For county purposes, $135.32, for township purposes, $297.66, statutory levy for schools, $576.80. Moved by James Allen and George McKee, that the clerk notify the county treasurer that he is to include in the non-resident sale warrant such lots only as are marked "sell" on the margin of the list. Moved by John Gilmour and M. Collins that the reeve and clerk pass an order in favour of Thomas R. White, collector, for $56 50 in full payment for collecting and assessing, and for all claims he may have against this municipality. Moved by George McKee and James Allan, that this council give a rebate of taxes to Mrs. John McMahon, for taxes she owes this municipality. This resolution in no way relieves Albert and Charles McMahon from paying any taxes they agreed to pay on said property, that the reeve and clerk pass an order to the collector for the same so as to balance his book with the treasurer. Moved by Michael Collins and John Gilmour, that this council adjourn to meet on Thursday, the 29th inst. to engage a collector and assessor.

NORTH SMITH.

On Saturday afternoon next the band, 16th line of Smith, held an annual gathering at the hall near Buckhorn. In the afternoon a fine programme of sports will be run off, including a football tournament for a valuable prize. This will be an exciting contest, as a very strong spirit of competition exists between the three football teams in the vicinity. At the conclusion of the sports and games tea will be served.

Nature's Voices.

To the discerning ear, nature has many voices. She has a message in the sweet tones of the brook as it rushes down the hillside in ocean's moody voices, now rippling with gentlest cadence upon the golden sands, anon in deep boisterous voice as she lashes the beach with foam. Then the voice of trees which the laughing winds bear to our ears, of sunshine and shade, of hill and valley, of birds and flowers. But she comes in pain too, the voice of the stinging, aching corn speaks impressively, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the worst corn in twenty-four hours, painlessly and without leaving sore spots.

DR. SPROULE AFTER THE SMOKERS

Lovers of the Weed Will Likely Have to Do Their Puffing More Privately Than at Present—The Interior Portfolio Announcement—Ottawa Notes Generally.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—(Special).—The Canadian Bankers' Association organized in annual convention to-day. There is a fairly representative attendance, but the majority of the delegates will not be present until to-morrow. Mr. George Burn, President of the local committee, made a few remarks welcoming the visiting delegates to the city. Mr. Eyshe, the President of the convention, replied, thanking the local committee for their kind welcome. The Executive Council's report was then read and adopted. The financial statement was read as was also a report on routine matters affecting the welfare of the association. The President's address was read this afternoon. It referred to the silver question and its effect on Canadians. Mr. Lash, Q.C., of Toronto, and A. A. Tallon of Ottawa were among those who read papers on financial questions at this afternoon's session.

To-morrow the Premier will announce the name of the Minister of Interior in the present Government. By almost unanimous consent the only name is now mentioned, namely, that of Clifford Sifton, the present Attorney-General of Manitoba.

In a private session of the House this afternoon Dr. Sproule called attention to the infraction of the rule by members against smoking in the chamber. There was in general agreement that the rule should be carried out. Accordingly Mr. Speaker will see to it that lovers of the fragrant weed will repair to private rooms or the smoking room.

Three of the standing committees of the Commons met for organization this morning and elected chairmen as follows: Railways, Canals and Telegraph Lines, Mr. Sutherland; Banking and Commerce, Mr. Lister; Agriculture and Immigration, Mr. Bain.

Mr. Gamong, M.P., returned from Toronto to-day. Yesterday he attended a meeting of the confectioners of Ontario, who met to talk over the question of putting their business on a better footing. A Confectioners' Association has been in existence for two or three years, and incorporation is now talked of. Concerted action is desired in order to prevent the use of adulteration, and it was with this object in view that the preliminary meeting was held yesterday.

Col. McPherson, Treasurer of the D.R.A., to-day placed the Kolapore Cups, which were won at Bisley this year, in care of Hon. Mr. Edgar, Speaker of the House of Commons, for safe keeping, until such time as they are returned to England next year. Mrs. Edgar was present when the cups were handed over and will keep a watchful eye upon them.

Word has been received at the Marine and Fisheries Department to the effect that the catch of the American fishing craft Frederick Gearing, from Gloucester, Mass., found poaching inside the three-mile limit on the Nova Scotia coast, has been sold.

From what can be learned at the Customs Department, the smuggling operations in the St. Lawrence are pretty well killed through the vigilance of the officers.

The first regular meeting of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council will be held to-morrow.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. O. Box 388, London, Ont.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

MR. FOSTER QUITE OUT OF TEMPER

Sir Charles Tupper Was Also Agitated—Mr Richard Cartwright Counsels Patience—All the Row Was Over the High Commissioner's Salary in the Estimates.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The Premier this afternoon, according to promise, referred to the vacant portfolio of the Interior. He stated that the position would be given to a Northwest gentleman, but just when it would be filled he could not say definitely. There were, he said, good reasons why, in the public interest, further delay was desirable.

Sir Charles Tupper said Mr. Laurier's statement was very meagre, but he supposed the House would have to be thankful for small mercies.

Mr. Davies, replying to Col. Prior, said that the date for the meeting of the commission to assess damages on account of Behring Sea seizures had not yet been fixed. The question of the appointment of counsel to represent Canada was under consideration. Permission has been granted to the sealers to be represented by their own counsel, but on the understanding that the control of the case must be in the hands of the legal representatives of the Government.

Sir Charles Tupper called attention to the recent despatch in The Mail stating that La Patrie had said Mr. Chamberlain was not coming to Canada because Mr. Laurier did not want him. Sir Charles at some length spoke of his relations with Mr. Chamberlain, expressing his regrets that the Colonial Secretary did not purpose coming to Ottawa on the occasion of his present visit to this continent.

Mr. Laurier said La Patrie was not an organ of the Government or the Liberal party, consequently the Government could not be held responsible for anything that paper said.

Mr. McNeill asked if there had been any attempt made to induce Mr. Chamberlain to visit Canada this year.

Mr. Laurier said if Mr. McNeill would call at his office he would inform him what had been done.

Mr. Bergeron said he had received a telegram from Montreal stating that the steamer Moravian of the Brazilian Line was in port and that the agents of the steamship company were endeavoring to induce French-Canadians to go and work on the coffee plantations in Brazil. He wished to know whether the Government had taken any precautions to protect our people and verify the statements made by the company.

Mr. Laurier said the attention of the Government had not previously been called to the matter. What action the Government can take in this connection he could not see plainly. Every Canadian had full liberty to go where he pleased. He would, however, do the duty of the Government to convey to Canadians what risk they would take in going to Brazil. Canada was a far better country for them.

Mr. Wood (Brockville) reminded Mr. Laurier that the British Government had recently issued a warning to intending immigrants to Brazil, and he thought the Canadian Government should act on the same lines.

Mr. Charlton pointed out that an alien Government had taken similar steps. The matter then dropped and the House went into committee of supply and made good progress on the estimates.

On the first item for public works, Mr. Bergeron wanted to know if Mr. Tarte intended taking back the men he had dismissed until such time as work was more plentiful.

Mr. Tarte said he had not dismissed a single permanent official, and only those who had nothing to do or were unfit for their positions.

When the item for the Trade and Commerce Department came up, Mr. Foster asked Sir Richard Cartwright for an explanation. It was only a few months ago that the gallant knight had violently declaimed against the existence of such a department. He had even gone so far as to say that two or three clerks could do all the work of the department. At that time Sir Richard Cartwright had been looking for a portfolio in the incoming Ministry, but not the subordinate one that had been assigned to him.

Sir Richard didn't see what this had to do with the question. Continuing, he felt sure that in a very few months he would be able to find much work for his department with its small staff. He hoped that, under the Liberal Administration something would be done for the commerce of Canada.

Mr. Foster: That's what we would like you to explain.

Sir Richard Cartwright: A few months will show you what we intend doing.

After some further cross-firing the item was allowed to pass.

Mr. Lister of Lambton precipitated the loudest row that the House had witnessed this session. The consideration of an item for the office of High Commissioner was taken up. Everyone was good-natured, Mr. Foster remarking that this was Mr. McMullen's opportunity. Nothing loth the member for North Wellington rose to the occasion and said that it was quite true that the Government had not seen fit to reduce the amount asked for by the late Administration. That was the case with many of the departments, but if the Opposition would only possess its soul in patience it would see what the new Government could do in the way of making reductions. There was plenty of room for it in the High Commissioner's office, as there was in nearly all the other departments of the public service and he knew that the Government would carry out its promised reductions.

Mr. Foster rose, smilingly, to remark that the Opposition had heard much of the doctrine of possessing its soul in patience, but would like to know how long the doctrine was likely to prevail. He hoped not quite as long as the tenure of office of the Government.

Mr. Fraser (Guysboro) was not prepared to say that the expenditure on the High Commissioner's office was too large, but he knew there was a screw loose somewhere. He had been ashamed to hear Englishmen talk about Canada, because of their gross ignorance of the country. It had humiliated him to hear Lord Russell and his distinguished companions confess that the English public was utterly ignorant of everything Canadian. A large amount was being expended, but there were no results.

Mr. Somerville (Brant) thought the position was all right. The trouble was about the occupant. The salary was not too large, but the commissioners were too large. It was no use sending old fogy Tories to England

Mr. Davin thought Mr. Somerville's democratic ideas might be attributed to his estimate of his own fitness for the position.

Sir Adolphe Caron, as a member of the Opposition, was quite prepared to support the increasing of the salary of the High Commissioner by many thousands of dollars a year, if it was proposed to add to his duties the education of the 37,000,000 in Great Britain on the subject of Canada and things Canadian.

Sir Charles Tupper was serious and trusted that no reduction would be made in the amount voted in the past for the office of the High Commissioner. Sir Alexander Galt had resigned the position because he found that the remuneration was altogether inadequate.

Others spoke in the same strain, but the debate was good-natured, even jocular at times.

The trouble started when Mr. Lister began to speak. Sir Charles Tupper, he said, had even charged the country for having the clock in his London residence wound up. Sir Charles corrected him, and he immediately removed the clock to the High Commissioner's office. Parliament, he said, had been told when the salary of the High Commissioner was increased that the country would save money by the change, as the Commissioner would negotiate loans. This had been tried, but he had been informed that Sir Charles Tupper had negotiated one loan upon which he realized a comfortable commission. Of course he did not vouch for the truth of this report, but the report was prevalent nevertheless.

Sir Charles Tupper denounced Mr. Lister for repeating what he knew was a foul lying slander. It was a most unfounded falsehood, which no gentleman would utter. He had promptly taken the most effective steps to punish those who had circulated the lying rumors. The journal which had published the charge now reiterated by Mr. Lister, had apologized and criminal proceedings were now being pushed against the author of the charges. He felt sure that the sense of the committee would resent the repetition of such a slanderous accusation by a member of the House.

Mr. Lister said that he would wait until the issue of the criminal proceedings before admitting that the charge was without foundation. It was well known, he insisted, that there was something suspicious about a certain loan negotiated in London which had never been satisfactorily explained, and he preferred to await the outcome of criminal proceedings before accepting any explanation of the business.

Mr. Foster told Mr. Lister that he had gone either too far or not far enough. He must either retract his statement or specify the loan he referred to and substantiate his charge.

Mr. Lister retorted that he was not going to be dictated to by the Ex-Minister of Finance.

Mr. Foster became visibly riled and said that he had been Minister of Finance since 1878 and the logical conclusion from Mr. Lister's remarks was that he referred to a loan negotiated by his instructions as being of a suspicious nature. He insisted upon Mr. Lister either withdrawing or specifying the loan he referred to.

Mr. Lister started to speak, remarking that Mr. Foster would find out soon enough.

Mr. Foster rose to a point of order and demanded proof or retraction.

A wild scene ensued and Mr. Laurier, who had been outside when the row began, came hurriedly into the House and dropped into the nearest seat to the door.

Finally Mr. Taylor got the floor, and in excited tones told the Government that they would never get the estimates through if they could not control the utterances of their followers.

The Opposition were not going to sit quietly by and hear such charges hurled at the late Ministers. At this point pandemonium reigned.

Mr. Laurier rose to speak, but quickly sat down again. Howls of "Order!" on one side and cries of "Go on!" on the other drowned the voices of the speakers.

Mr. Lister tried to interrupt Mr. Taylor and was howled at. Chairman Brodeur rose in his place and told Mr. Taylor to sit down, which he promptly refused to do. At this juncture Mr. Laurier nodded to the chairman and he quickly rose and left the chair.

Mr. Lister concluded his speech after recess.

HARVEY ARRESTED AGAIN.

The City Treasurer of Guelph Was Placed Under Bonds for Ten Thousand Dollars Yesterday.

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 10.—(Special.)—For some time past the Crown officers and the city solicitors have been preparing new charges against E. Harvey, the defaulting treasurer of the city. On Tuesday noon Harvey was quietly arrested by Chief of Police Randall, who swore out the necessary information before Magistrate Saunders, and a warrant was granted for Harvey's arrest. After his arrest he was taken to the Police Court and, owing to his friends being absent, he was unable to secure bail till late in the evening. His bondsmen are Dr. Reed and C. L. Nelles, who went his bail on the first charge, and they gave recognizances in $1500 each for his appearance this morning.

The new charges are as follows:

The first information charges the accused with embezzlement.

1. In receiving $50 from David Martin on the 17th July 1880.
2. In receiving $450 from Charles Kilner, 20th September, 1890.
3. In receiving $10 from Henry Hall, 15th October, 1890.

The first and third items of this information are payments for water service not accounted for by the ex-Treasurer. The second item is for market fees received when Mr. Kilner was clerk.

The second information charges embezzlement.

1. In receiving $62.80 from William Bell & Co., 15th January, 1889.
2. With receiving $162.50 from the Provincial Treasurer, 15th January, 1889.
3. With receiving $10 from Henry Hall, 15th January, 1889.

All three are payments for water rates.

The third information charges larceny.

1. In stealing $700 received from Henry O'Hara in 1893.
2. In stealing $114.46 received from H. O'Hara, Nov. 7, 1893.

These were in connection with debenture sales, the first being the taking of a marked cheque accompanying a tender.

The fourth information charges larceny of $380.62, 30th June, 1894; $191.34 on 23rd August, 1894, and $154.52 on Nov. 27, 1894.

These were in connection with debenture sale payments.

The fifth information charges the accused with omitting to enter from the city cash book the sum of $500 received from H. O'Hara & Co. in 1893.

The sixth information is for omitting to enter the sum of $380.62 received on 30th June, 1894. These are two of the same items mentioned in information 3 and 4.

The seventh information is for falsely entering in the books of the city $26,230 as having been received from H. O'Hara on 7th November, 1893, whereas the amount received was $26,474.

The eighth is for falsely entering in the city books $191.34 on 23rd August, 1894, as having been paid for discount.

The ninth is for falsely entering in the city books $154.52 on 27th November, 1894, as having been paid for discount.

The solicitors have taken the charges, which will, they think, require the least trouble to prove owing to the accessibility of the witnesses, etc. The Crown expressly reserves the right, however, to lay further charges.

Messrs. Guthrie, Watt & Guthrie have, on behalf of the city, commenced a civil action against Edmund Harvey to recover $20,000 on a personal bond made by the ex-Treasurer and dated June 18, 1884.

This morning the Magistrate showed a disposition to have the new case gone on with in his private office, Day's Block, but County Crown Attorney Peterson asked that the business be transacted in open court, which was done. Mr. A. H. Macdonald, Q.C., appeared for the accused, and Mr. Peterson looked after the interests of the Crown. Mr. Guthrie, Q.C., was present in the city's interests. The court-room was crowded with people, who are now interesting themselves more in the case, and the ratepayers feel indignant over the manner in which all the proceedings in the case have been conducted heretofore. After the bondsmen had signed the bonds the case was adjourned for one week.

The old charges were to have come up to-morrow, but as the new charges are more delayed and cover part of the ground of the two old informations, it is likely they will not be taken up for trial. The old bail, however, of $7000 will still be held to answer for those charges. The total bail is now $10,000, outside of Mr. Harvey's personal bond. This the Crown Attorney has thought necessary, in view of the new charges, and to comply with the Attorney-General's instructions that substantial bail be secured.

Other charges are being investigated, and it is reported that Harvey will be again arrested. Ratepayers see now that there has apparently been a systematic steal ever since he was appointed Treasurer 12 years ago, and no punishment will condone for his defalcations. Harvey, through his solicitors, intends fighting the case to the bitter end.

On Tuesday evening, at a meeting of the City Council, there was considerable discussion over the clause in the Finance Committee's report recommending balloting for a City Treasurer, there being about 20 applicants for the situation. Finally a motion was carried that the office of Clerk and Treasurer be combined at a salary of $1300 per year, and that the clerk advertise for a Clerk and Treasurer.

MR. OSLER'S "INDEPENDENCE."

Yesterday THE EXAMINER unwittingly gave Mr. Osler, M.P., Toronto, credit as a "sturdy, independent Conservative" on account of his vote on Mr. Foster's want of confidence motion. Without having closely scrutinised the division, list the impression was gained from Mr. Osler's speech that he would vote against the motion and independently. Though Mr. Osler disclaims knowledge of the arts of the politician and claims to be a guileless innocent in political matters, yet he shows unusual facility in talking one way in favour of a principle and voting, like the most seasoned party hack, with his political friends. In speaking on the subject of raising money for urgent state needs by warrant, Mr. Osler said (and his was the closing speech of the debate): "I do not hesitate to say that had I been called upon to raise the money, under the circumstances, I should have raised what was absolutely necessary in some way or other and in the best way possible; I dare say that the issuing of the warrant was the best thing to do under the circumstances." (Ministerial applause.) And Mr. Osler closed his speech and the debate with these words: "I say, sir, without hesitation, that if the honourable gentlemen opposite do what is best for the interests of the country, and bring in a policy that is for the advancement of Canada, I will not obstruct or object to them." In view of Mr. Osler's asserted sentiments and his directly contrary vote, we know what reliance to place upon his declarations of independence of the party whip. Mr. Osler is a man of great ability, but he lacks the counterpoise of honest consistency. THE EXAMINER abjectly apologizes for having trusted to Mr. Osler's professions of independence rather than a careful scrutiny of the division list in giving him credit for independence. To borrow Mr. Osler's language, he, as well as the Government, is "worth watching.

THE POSTAL DELIVERY.

In the House of Commons on Wednesday Hon. Mulock, Postmaster General, informed Mr. Henry, the member for South Brant, that the Government had under consideration the advisability of establishing a free postal delivery in Brantford. What is the representative of West Peterborough about that he is not pressing the claims of Peterborough to a like convenience? We are not quite so large as Brantford and haven't as large a debt by several hundreds of thousands, but we could enjoy a free postal delivery as well as Brantford. Besides, Mr. Kendry has better claims than Mr. Henry—he didn't defeat a Cabinet Minister, and, according to Conservative reasoning and practice, should have a better pull with the Government. Mr. Kendry hasn't asked for such a favour as free postal delivery and we naturally look to him to look after our interests. In the House he sits just across an aisle from Mr. Henry, who might give him some pointers as to the best way to proceed.

HON. WM. HARTY'S HEALTH.

The Globe flatly contradicts the sensational reports lately published as to the unimproved condition of Hon. Mr. Harty's health. A letter from Mr. Harty to Premier Hardy last week gives the pleasing information that Mr. Harty is improving rapidly and that his health is better than at any time since his illness. He is out every day and nearly the whole day. He also attend to details of the administration of his department that require his personal attention. His retirement from office has not been hinted or even thought of by any member of the Ontario Cabinet. Hon. Mr. Harty's numerous friends throughout the Province, and especially in Peterborough, will hear of his improved health with much satisfaction.

Women who are weak and nervous, who have no appetite and cannot sleep, find strength and vigor in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

HABERDASHERS are much more unblushing than grocers. If a grocer advertised light weight sugar he would be extinguished by execration, but a haberdasher, who with cheerful cheek, advertises light weight underwear poses as a public benefactor.

A majority of 34 is, the Ottawa Journal Independent Conservative) thinks, a pretty good start for the Laurier ministry on a first vote in the House of Commons, and the probability is that it will rather increase than diminish. An analysis of the vote shows that the majority for the government would be 23 over combined Conservatives and Independents in a full House. This is large enough, for one of the misfortunes of the new ministry would be a large majority. When parties are pretty evenly divided in parliament, the country is better governed than when one side is over strong. The fact that the Independents voted ministerial may be taken as a proof of a desire to give the new men a fair chance to develop their policy.

THE Ottawa Journal, a Independent Conservative organ, brings great fairness and levelness of head to the discussion political questions. Writing of the new parliament it says:—That a great change has taken place in the tone and character, as well as in the personnel, of parliament is admitted by all who have been in the habit of attending the debates. It is not so much in the fact that parties have changed places on the floor of the House of Commons, that the change is to be noted; though that, of course, is the most salient feature. Rather is it to be found in what may be called a change of atmosphere. The silences are more eloquently impressive of the change, than the new voices. It seems as if a ghost had passed through the corridors telling the shadows that had so long filled the corners and haunted the thresholds to depart, for the Old Regime had passed away. It is because the Opposition have not grasped this great fact, running against them and bringing them up at every turn, that they have blundered in making a hasty attack on a victorious army entrenched in positions of power from which the Conservatives were lately driven. Sir John Macdonald built up a splendid fabric of power and bequeathed to his successors an organisation strong at many points, but weak at one. He left no one among them capable of wearing his mantle. That organisation lived out to the utmost limit the existence it was given by his genius. Then it was shattered. In its place we see a younger, but not more powerful organisation, led by men of different character—men whose genius for command has yet to be tested, although some of them come equipped with the education of experience in the smaller field of provincial politics. Behind them are ranged others who will compare favourably with those who sat in the first Parliament of the Dominion, which was undoubtedly the ablest Parliament that ever assembled at Ottawa.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

GRAHAM LOST A LEG.

He Jumped From a Moving Train and Was Forced in Front of Another.

Toronto, Sept. 11.

Addison Graham, aged 22, who works for his father in Tweed, Hastings County, last night at the Union Station, got on the wrong train. When he found out his mistake he alighted. The train was moving fast, and in getting off, the forced speed caused him to run in front of another train. He was thrown down and his leg cut off below the knee. He was taken in the ambulance to the General Hospital. The surgeons think it will be necessary to amputate the leg above the knee.

ENDED AT LAST.

After Two Years of Misery Endured Backache Succumbs to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Madoc, (Special) Aug. 31.—In a place like this, people suffer and sympathise, hope and mourn with each other. But her many friends here, as elsewhere, who have long been aware of the precarious health and long suffering of Mrs. J. Fergusson will be pleased to learn that her painful sufferings have ended at last, and that instead of being unable, as she says, "to turn herself in bed" she is herself once more as the result of using a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She further says that from the third day after commencing to use these pills, she was free from all pain; and, that now she feels as well as ever before in her life.

RAILROADERS' WANTS

As Placed Before the Government Leaders.

MR. MACLEAN'S BILL ENDORSED.

Mr. Casey's Measure of Last Session Also Favorably Regarded—The Premier Expressed Gratitude for the Way in Which the Claims Were Presented.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—An important delegation representing the Dominion Board of Legislation of Railway Employes waited upon Mr. Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Henri Joly to-day. About 30 delegates were present, comprising engineers, conductors, trackmen, firemen and train hands, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Mr. Albert Hudson of Ottawa, Mr. Williams of Hamilton and Mr. Lowe of Ottawa were spokesmen. They produced Mr. W. F. Maclean's bill for the introduction of automatic couplers and brakes and endorsed it in toto. Then they brought up Mr. Casey's bill of last session and approved of the majority of the clauses. They asked for a regulation in the House of railway employes, that all cars shall be of a uniform height as a safeguard against accidents in the winter to brakemen, that suitable ladders should be constructed on the sides of the cars for the safety of those who climb them, that compensation to the amount of $3000 should be paid to every railway employe permanently disabled and several minor details. They also asked that Edward Williams of Hamilton should be appointed to a seat in the Senate as representative of railway men, the idea being that the Government would then have at hand a man capable of offering them advice in all matters connected with railway legislation. They also asked for the exclusion of the Chinese and for the enactment of a retaliatory measure against the United States to keep out American labor as is now practised against Canada.

Mr. Laurier replied briefly to their requests, stating that he had nothing but the amplest gratitude to express for the way in which the claims had been presented. The feeling existing between the employes and the companies seemed to be of a most cordial nature, and in this we have reason to be thankful that the bane and curse of other countries is not found in Canada. In the main, he was most favorably disposed to what had been submitted. Mr. Maclean's and Mr. Casey's bills would be favorably considered. The principle was sound and acceptable, providing for the protection of the labor classes. He considered it a blot upon our institutions that laboring men of any class should be kept out of their just pay for 17 months at a time, and if a company is not able to pay its hands their daily remuneration it will not be tolerated. The remedy will have to be found for the same. Mr. Laurier also spoke of the Chinese immigration question as one for which a solution must be found. As regards the arbitration board, he was pleased to see that they sought nothing more than the Ontario Act, and if the Dominion has the power of legislation on the subject he saw no reason why the law should not be extended to every province. Then as regards the alien labor law he still had hope of being able to induce Americans to extend to Canadians what is their plain birthright, and if this is not obtainable we will give them the same measure of treatment that is accorded to us and the medicine will be exactly what they have themselves prepared. The suggestion about Senate representative would be carefully considered.

There was a hot time in the Debates' Committee this morning, when the French translators' matter was up again. At the conclusion of the proceedings a set-to under Marquis of Queensberry rules was anticipated between George Taylor and Mr. Bruneau, but the scrap did not come off.

Joseph Bouchard, Ottawa, admitted having spoken at public meetings in and around Ottawa, but said that he had only attended these meetings as a spectator. Being well known he was asked to come forward and say a few words. He did not say anything of an exceptionally partisan character. P. McLeod, Three Rivers, admitted having written articles for The Trifluvien while engaged in translating the debates last session. In one article he accused Mr. Laurier of having pocketed his political honor and dignity as a leader. One sentence in Mr. McLeod's sessional correspondence read as follows: "It is a curious thing to see a blockhead like the young member for Richelieu, Mr. Bruneau, annoying the House for five hours without knowing what he was saying." Mr. Taylor, when it was read, said, "Quite right," and Mr. Bruneau, who was sitting behind him, not hearing distinctly, asked, "Did you say quite right, Taylor?" to which Mr. Taylor did not reply, and Mr. Bruneau added hotly, "If you say that, I will see you outside in the corridor," a challenge to which Mr. Taylor replied, turning around and facing Mr. Bruneau: "I want you to understand that I am Irish, and am prepared to meet you in the corridor or anywhere else." The Chairman called order and the incident went no further.

J. B. Vanasse, Sorel, was not present, but wrote further defending his position. The meeting adjourned until Tuesday, without arriving at any decisions.

The bankers had another successful meeting to-day. E. A. Lash, Q. C., read a paper on the relation of banks to debtors. The report of the Editing and Correspondence Committees of The Bankers' Journal was read and adopted, and a vote of thanks was tendered to the committee. There was a further debate on the silver question, the election of officers took place and the following were chosen: Hon. presidents, Sir Donald A. Smith, President Bank of Montreal; Mr. George Hague, General Manager Merchants' Bank of Canada; president, T. Wolfe Tatan Thomas, General Manager Molsons Bank; vice-presidents, Thos. Fyshe, Cashier Bank of Nova Scotia; D. R. Wilkie, Cashier Imperial Bank of Canada; Thomas Macdougall, General Manager Quebec Bank; G. S. A. Schofield, Manager Bank of New Brunswick; executive council, E. S. Clouston, General Manager Bank of Montreal; D. Coulson, General Manager Bank of Toronto; G. Burn, General Manager Bank of Ottawa; M. J. A. Prendergast, General Manager Bank of Hochelaga; H. Stikeman, General Manager Bank of British North America; B. E. Walker, General Manager Bank of Commerce; D. H. Duncan, Cashier Merchants' Bank of Halifax; W Farrell, General Manager Eastern Townships Bank; T. Turnbull, Cashier Bank of Hamilton; auditors, A D. Durnford and E. Stanger, re-elected. The meeting recommended to the incoming executive that Niagara Falls be the next place of meeting. The first week in September was chosen as the date.

Four more committees of the Commons elected chairmen this morning, as follows: Public Accounts, Mr. McMullen; Private Bills, Mr. Scriver; Expiring Laws, Mr. Beausoleil; Privileges and Elections, Mr. Langelier. All chairmanships of the committees have gone to members from Ontario and Quebec.

Hon. John Costigan will sail for Canada to-morrow. He is returning from the Dublin Irish Convention.

MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM CURE.

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to be absolutely harmless and a strong tonic in building up the weak and debilitated. It cures acute or muscular rheumatism in from one to five days. Sharp, shooting pains in any part of the body stopped by a few doses. A prompt, complete and permanent cure for lameness, soreness, stiff back and all pains in hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, or pain in the back are speedily cured. It seldom fails to give relief from one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used. Price, 25c.

Mrs. J. Miller, 120 Bleeker street, Toronto, says: "For a number of years I suffered much from rheumatism. For two months previous to the advent of Prof. Munyon to this city my left knee was terribly swollen and the pain so intense that for nights at a time I was unable to sleep. I had taken numerous preparations, consulted eminent physicians and had spent some time at the mineral baths at Preston, Ont., but it all ended without my receiving any beneficial effects. Two weeks ago I procured a bottle of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure, and for the first time in years I am able to say honestly I am now better. The swelling has disappeared entirely, and the pains have not recurred since I first began taking his treatment."

Munyon's Kidney Cure speedily cures pains in the back, loins and groins and all forms of kidney disease. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Nerve Cure cures all the symptoms of nervous exhaustion, such as depressed spirits, failure of memory, restless and sleepless nights, pains in the head and dizziness. It stimulates and strengthens the nerves and is a wonderful tonic. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Headache Cure stops headache in three minutes. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Pile Ointment positively cures all forms of piles. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Blood Cure eradicates all impurities of the blood. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Liver Cure corrects headache, biliousness, jaundice, constipation and all liver diseases. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Female Remedies are a boon to all women.

Munyon's Asthma Cure and Herbs are guaranteed to relieve asthma in three minutes and cure in five days. Price, 50c each.

Munyon's Catarrh Remedies never fail. The Catarrh Cure—price 25c.—eradicates the disease from the system, and the Catarrh Tablets—price 25c—cleanse and heal the parts.

Munyon's Vitalizer restores lost vigor. Price, $1.

A separate cure for each disease. At all druggists, mostly 25c a vial.

Your druggist will present you free with a copy of the "Guide to Health," a valuable little medical publication that should be in every home.

Personal letters to Prof. Munyon, 11-13 Albert street, Toronto, answered with free medical advice for any disease.

A MONSTER VESSEL.

The Largest Merchant Steamer Afloat Just Launched at Belfast.

Belfast, Sept. 10.—The Hamburg-American Steamship Company's new twin screw steamer Pennsylvania was successfully launched from the Harland & Wolff shipyards this morning. The new vessel is the largest merchant steamer afloat, being of 30,000 tons displacement and 20,000 tons carrying capacity. She is 585 feet long, 62 feet beam, and 42 feet deep. The Pennsylvania is designed to make an average speed of fourteen knots an hour and to have a passenger capacity of 200 first cabin, 150 second cabin and 1000 steerage.

Bicycles for Military Purposes.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 10.—The 25th Infantry Bicycle Corps, commanded by Lieut. Moss, has reached Helena from Fort Yellowstone. The distance between the two posts of 191 miles was covered in 27 hours. Lieut. Moss and his men left Fort Missoula 22 days ago and covered 1100 miles of mountain climbing across the main Rockies and through the National Park. The trip has proved the practicability of the bicycle for military purposes in a mountainous country.

Did Mrs. Nolan Murder?

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 10.—The trial of Mrs. Nolan was opened to-day at Sandwich on the charge of poisoning her husband, George Nolan, in the Township of Colchester North, in January last. The prisoner is a mulatto. Witnesses gave evidence to-day that Mrs. Nolan said to them that her husband would not live long, although at the time he was well.

MADE STRONG AGAIN.

For the Sake of Others a Grateful Woman Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Napanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

Shiloh's Cure, the great Cough and Croup Cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses only 25c. Children love it. Sold by John Nugent, 359 George Street.

THE TERRIBLE TURK.

London, Sept. 10.—A few days ago Mr. Gladstone was requested to address a mass meeting to be held at Liverpool for the purpose of condemning the Sultan of Turkey for permitting the massacres of Armenians. In reply to the request, Mr. Gladstone has written a letter, in which he says "My opinions of the great assassin and of the disgrace the European powers have allowed him to bring upon them are well known to my countrymen, but I do not think that benefit would accrue from my taking part in meetings, however valuable and obligatory such meetings may be for those still engaged in the active duties of public life."

Athens, Sept. 10.—In consequence of the receipt of a peremptory British note, the Sultan of Turkey has issued an irade ordering that the expulsion of Armenians from Constantinople be stopped.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Visitors to the above who are musically inclined should carefully inspect The MASON & RISCH PIANO exhibit. Our stand is the first one on the left as you enter the Musical Pavilion. Our exhibit is not a large one, as we believe that the beautiful tones of instruments can be more fully appreciated in the quiet of our warerooms than amidst the bustle and confusion of an exhibition. We shall therefore make our principal exhibit at our warerooms, 32 King St. W., to which all visitors are cordially invited.

One of the most valuable paintings at the Art Gallery in the exhibition building will be the famous portrait of the Great Pianist Franz Liszt which was painted at his command by Baron Joukovsky, the Great Russian Artist, and presented to Messrs Mason & Risch as a tribute to the wonderful tone qualities of their Pianos. Every lover of Art should make it a point to see this painting. It is valued by experts at $5000.00.

WE HAVE NOT CHANGED OUR DECISION

To retire from business as quickly as circumstances will permit. But, as the Fall trade approaches we find ourselves with a large and varied stock of high-class Staple Dry Goods, which cannot be moved out without being well assorted with New Fall lines of the latest, leading Novelties of 1896.

We shall continue, therefore, during the Fall and early Winter months to keep a regular assortment of the leading Novelties for fashionable

Fall Wear.

The buying has been done with extreme care, but the stocks are comprehensive enough to satisfy every need, ranging from the newest things in SILK AND WOOL DRESS GOODS, for the super-fashionable, to the simplest effects in the quietest materials for people to whom a dollar is a dollar, or sometimes more.

It must not be forgotten, however that our chief object is still to get entirely out of business. This will have its full effect on prices, and the new goods will have to share in the same general reduction necessary to accomplish a prompt clearance of the entire stock.

"Is Marriage a Failure?"

The Wilson Dramatic Company last night presented an entirely new play to the largest audience which has yet been in attendance at the opera house, every seat being occupied. The play was entitled "Is Marriage a Failure," and its success was assured from the rise of the curtain. It abounds with ludicrous situations and irresistibly comical climaxes. The audience was kept on the laugh from start to finish and the demand for its repetition to-night is universal.

Scotch Heather.

The secretary of St. Andrew's Society received yesterday a parcel of Scotch heather, forwarded by parcel post by Mr. W. C. Kirk, formerly of Peterborough, but now of London, Eng. It arrived fresh and in full bloom. The note which accompanied it says:—"Be sure and give ex-President Dr. Carmichael some of this heather as it comes from his own native country, and ex-President Cameron and Mr. Gammell." Evidently Mr. Kirk does not forget Peterborough and his britherin a', and he may feel assured that "the day and a' wha honour it" will not be allowed to pass without sprigs of his heather being worn at its celebration.

DEATH OF JOHN C. WILLIAMSON.

He Passed Away Yesterday After a Long Illness.

The death of Mr. John C. Williamson, aged 77, occurred last night at his residence in North Monaghan, about two miles and a half from town. The deceased has been ailing since last winter and his recovery was not expected.

He was born in Port Hope in 1819 and if he had lived until this morning he would have been 77 years of age. Twenty-five years ago he moved to Ballyduff, in Durham county, where he kept the general store and postoffice for 18 years. For the last seven years he has lived on the farm where he died. For years Mr. Williamson travelled for McDonald's monumental Works, of Cobourg, and afterwards represented Mr. Bounsell, of Bowmanville, who was in the same business. His family conducted the business at Ballyduff in his absence. He leaves a widow and six children, viz:—James, of Ballyduff; R. J., of Port Perry; William, Alfred, Byron and H. D., all of whom reside at the homestead in North Monaghan.

The deceased was a member of St. Paul's church and the funeral service will be held at the house by Rev. Dr. Torrance at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. Interment will take place in Cadmus cemetery, near Ballyduff, where Rev. Mr. Oswald will conduct a service.

GOLD IN MARMORA.

The Old Delora Mine is now Being Worked With English Capital—The Ore Pays Well.

Messrs. Champion and Pierce, two citizens of Marmora, Hastings County, were in Toronto, Wednesday, stated that the Delora gold mine, at that place, which has been shut down for ten or twelve years, is now being worked by 40 or 50 men. It seems that one, Mr. Benfield, of New Jersey, some time ago took over the old mine from Captain Stevens, of Detroit, pumped the water out of the property and got English capitalists to send mining engineers to examine the claim. These experts were favourably impressed with the mine and operations went ahead.

The ore on this property is refractory, and when it was worked before the chlorination process of extracting the gold was used. The new company, however, will employ the new bromocyanogen process. Fifteen tons of ore were recently sent to England for treatment by this method, and good results were obtained.

The company have secured 12,400 acres of land in the neighborhood of Marmora, which they will prospect and work.

CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE CONVENTION.

The Sessions Were Attended Yesterday and To-day.

The first session of the Christian Alliance Convention in the Bethany Mission Hall on the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, opened yesterday afternoon. Another session was held in the evening which was very largely attended. It was conducted by Rev. Mr. Francis, a returned missionary from the Soudan.

Sessions were held this morning and this afternoon being conducted by Rev. Mr. Wilson and Rev. Mr. Lalacheur. The The latter speaker is gifted with more than ordinary eloquence, and at a recent missionary meeting held under the auspices of the Christian Alliance at Old Orchard the audience became so enthused that the contributions exceeded over $100,000. This gentlemen will address the meeting this evening and doubtless a large congregation will assemble to hear him. Other returned missionaries will also speak.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The Court of Revision is in session to-day.

—Building operations are at the lowest ebb in Peterborough this year.

—It is said that the old St. Lawrence hotel of Port Hope, will be refitted and transformed into a commodious summer hotel.

—The entire staff of the public schools contributed towards the beautiful wreath which was sent to the residence of the late Inspector Wherry.

—The old stone tannery building, corner of Brock and Aylmer streets, is being put into thorough repair in readiness for one of two or three prospective tenants.

—Duck hunters are still complaining. Mr. Warren Trickey has just returned from Goose Lake after securing only five. There were hundreds there earlier in the season.

—An Oro township farmer tells how he played a trick on the rats that infested his barn. Fill a barrel, he says, half full of rye or other grain, and give them a treat for a fortnight, placing a board against the barrel for easy access. Some night substitute water for the grain, leaving enough of the latter on top to deceive, and the result may astonish you. Moreover, the remaining rats will leave the barn for months.

A Wages Case.

In the Police Court this morning Mary Gray was given a judgment for 75 cents against Patrick Clunan for wages. The plaintiff sued for $3.20, payment of which was refused, as it was alleged she had left before her month was up.

A Wall Paper Item.

Are you meditating over the subject of papering your house this fall? Are you dreading putting in another winter with the same old designs on the walls? Are you counting the cost and afraid of the bills? We invite you to call at the Peterborough Bookstore and spend 10 minutes with us on the wallpaper subject. If our new designs and our low prices don't decide you nothing else will. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

The Cavanville Factory.

The Millbrook Reporter says.—We had the pleasure of inspecting the new cheese factory at Cavanville on Monday and must congratulate the late cheesemaker, Mr. Wood, and the patrons upon the neat and clean appearance of the premises. They were just placing the day's make up in the presses and it seemed to be of first-class quality. The store-room is well filled with a fine looking lot, it being the last half of August make only. We are glad to hear that although this is the first year for the factory they are receiving the highest prices at the Board.

Lost his Leg.

Addison Graham, the 22-year-old son of Thomas Graham, a blacksmith and undertaker of Tweed, boarded a Grand Trunk train at the Union Station, Toronto, last night to go home, but as it was pulling out of the depot he discovered it was the wrong one, and at once jumped off. Unfortunately jumped right in front of an incoming train, and was knocked down, the cars passing over and completely severing his left leg. The ambulance took him to the hospital, where it is feared the limb will have to be amputated above the knee.

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

A Splendid Programme of Special Attractions.

The full programme of special attractions for the Peterborough Central Exhibition on Sept. 21—23 will appear in the next issue of the Weekly and in an early issue of the Daily EXAMINER—the hour of the arrival of Lord and Lady Aberdeen will be stated and the special attractions dealt with in detail. It may be mentioned that these will include the following:—

The Royal Canadian Dragoons—a troop from the regiment consisting of the most soldierly and most centaur-like riders of the most superb horses that are to be found in any military menage in the world. The horses seem to have almost human intelligence and co-operate with their trained steel-muscled riders in the performance of almost incredible feats of address dexterity and risk, including daring cavalry onsets, realistic cavalry charges, the rescue of fallen comrades from the mimic battlefield, tilting at the rings, fierce hand-to-hand sabre set-tos, tent-pegging, and numerous other forms of equestric exploits. The musical ride of the Dragoons is also a wonder. The band plays strains in different measures of time and rythm and the horses with their almost human intelligence keep exact time and sharp note of the several changes. The Royal Canadian Dragoons furnish an entertainment that is the delight of all who have witnessed the splendid acts of both men and horses. The terpsichorean entertainment of the Misses Tyrens and Evalina, danseuses Italiennes, includes all the varied and beautiful forms that the modern development of dancing specialties has brought out. These expert artists appeared at the Toronto Industrial and literally took the people by storm, and it was they whom Li Hung Chang, the great Chinese potentate, took such an especial and personal interest in. These dancing damsels held the spectators spell-bound by the magic of their "many twinkling feet."

These and various other special performances will take place in front of the grand stand in full view of all and at night the grounds will be brilliantly illuminated by electricity and enlivened by the strains of music from the bands.

Tuesday, the day of the formal opening, will be the school children's and citizens' day. The C. P. R. will run passenger trains both east and west at 10 o'clock p.m. on exhibition nights to enable visitors to return home the same day if they so desire and the Grand Trunk will run specials at the same time to Belleville, Port Hope and Lindsay.

The secretary wishes to call the attention of proposing exhibitors, that their entries must be in not later than Wednesday, Sept. 19th, as he does not propose breaking the Sabbath by recording entries on Sunday. Exhibitors may get their entry tags at the Exhibition office on the grounds on Monday morning.

The large number of entries received to date show that the exhibits, apart from the special attractions, will be far ahead of any previous year.

PERSONAL.

Mr. William Cross was in Lindsay, yesterday.

Mr. J. B. Oke was down in Port Hope yesterday.

Mr. R. C. Matthews was in Belleville yesterday on business.

Mr. Harry Dundas is visiting friends in his old home, Port Hope.

Mrs. Lane has returned from Port Hope after visiting friends there.

Mr. Will Ackerman has entered the Peterborough Business College for a term in the commercial department.

Miss Mabel Post and Miss Ollie McGuire of Rochester, N. Y., are visiting at Capt. Samuel Lambert's, Wescott street.

The Lindsay Post says:—"Miss S. Beer, daughter of the Rev. W. C. Beer, of Peterborough, is visiting at Dr. White's.

Miss Rose Lambert returned home last evening after spending the summer months visiting friends in Rochester, N.Y.

Mrs. John McClelland, of town, and Mr. and Mrs. Alf Thomas, of Cleveland, have returned to town after a couple of weeks at Stony Lake.

Mr. James Bradley, who has been over in the Old Country for the last several months, has returned home after a most pleasant trip.

Mr. Charlie Tucker has accepted a position as traveller for the firm of A. Ramsay & Son, paints and oils. Mr. Tucker will have the district west of Toronto.

Miss Maynard who has been visiting at Commodore Calcutt's for several weeks returned to her home in Woodstock yesterday. Miss Maggie Calcutt accompanied her. Miss Calcutt will spend the balance of the summer months in Woodstock.

Mrs. John Best and Masters Lew and Elmer, Donegal street, have returned home after spending the summer in St. Thomas, North Dakota. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Best's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thexton, who will spend the winter here.

Mr. Ralph Ross' Peterborough friends will be pleased to learn of the success with which he is meeting as head master of the Pembrooke Collegiate Institute. Fifty-eight pupils passed the Departmental examinations there this year as compared with two the year before. Mr. Ross is indeed to be congratulated on the success which is attending his efforts.

Captain Clement Eldridge, mariner and civil engineer, left last evening for Ottawa. While in town this distinguished mathematician, wit, lecturer and linguist was the guest of his old time friends, Mr. and Mrs. D. Farnum, No. 20 College street. All who had the good fortune to meet the Captain were delighted with his instructive discourse and humourous sallies.

Capt. R. A. Smith, St. John Rifles, of St. John, N.B., who has been attending the rifle matches at Ottawa, and the Toronto exposition, has been visiting Mr. P. M. Clark, manager of the Consolidated Milling Co. Capt. Smith represents this enterprising firm for the Province of New Brunswick, and reports a constantly increasing demand for their flour, which is winning a splendid reputation in that territory.

BURLEIGH AND UNITED TOWNSHIPS' EXHIBITION.

The twenty-fourth annual Exhibition of the Burleigh and United Townships' Agricultural Society will be held at the village of Apsley, on Thursday, Sept. 24th. A handsome prise list will be competed for. The Lakefield band will be in attendance during the day. The yearly fair will also take place on the same date and buyers from a distance will be present.

NORWOOD FAIR.

The Directors of the East Peterborough Fall Fair have decided to hold their annual exhibition in Norwood on October 13th and 14th.

GILMOUR STREET WEST.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—At the last meeting of the Council, Mr. Jos. Lundy, who is excavating for a new house at the west end of Gilmour street, offered the town the material from the excavation for use on Gilmour street. Has the town accepted the offer? I hope it will do so as this street is badly in need of some dressing. It was last year graded in first-class shape and laid with metal, but this was imperfectly covered and the street, especially the western end, is in an execrable condition, grooved into ruts and covered with loose, sharp-cornered stones, a terror to wheels, horse hoofs and bicycles. Besides at one point for about 100 feet the trench of the water company's mains was uncovered by the grading and has sunk, making a really dangerous depression. Now the town has a chance to repair the neglect that has been bestowed on this portion of street and with material immediately at hand, for Mr. Lundy's cellar is being dug within a few feet of the street. Let us see whether something will be done.

Yours etc.,
SUFFERER.

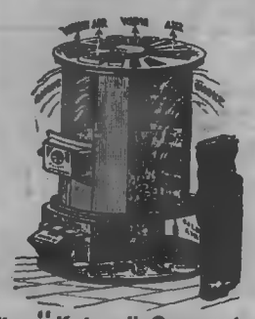
The Most Economical House Warmer



The "Kelsey" Corrugated Warm Air Generator.

Any ordinary Hot Air Furnace will produce heat if you will only supply enough fuel. The "Kelsey" has several special and valuable features but most important is that it will give more heat with less fuel and is the most durable heater made.

The "Kelsey" fire pot being constructed of several upright, tubular, corrugated, cast iron sections (see cut) around which the fire passes and up through which the cold air passes while being heated, and this entire section being wrapped with a heavy steel casing which becomes heated by the fire striking it when passing down outside of upright sections towards smoke pipe, it in turn warms the air that passes up between this steel casing and the galvanized iron casing, this explains why the "Kelsey" has three times more radiating surface and warm air capacity than an ordinary Furnace. The "Kelsey" heats every room evenly, wheresoever located, with a nice, mild, healthful warm air that will not injure your furniture.

The "Kelsey" will heat rooms 60 feet distant.

The "Kelsey" does not heat your cellar.

The "Kelsey" is absolutely gas and dust proof.

LINDSAY CHEESE BOARD.

Higher Prices but not High Enough for the Salesmen—1,048 Boxes Boarded.

Lindsay Post.

The Victoria County Cheese Board met in the Council Chamber this morning after an adjournment for three weeks. The buyers present were Messrs. Whitton, Fitzgerald and Flavelle. Owing to the scarcity of pasture the number of boxes boarded was less than usual, but the salesmen felt jubilant over the reported advance in price, and evidently expected a higher figure than was offered, as many refused to sell and decided to hold till next meeting, two weeks from date. The following factories boarded the number of boxes set opposite:—

Star	78
Lorneville	30
Cameron	60
Dunsford	63
Mariposa	70
Derryville	60
Cambray	44
Janetville	54
Fenelon Falls	50
North Verulam	34
Minden	20
Leaskdale	136
Valentia	47
North Ops
Kinmount	80
Peaboro	65
Bobcaygeon	50
Maple Leaf	19
Ingoldsby
	1,048

Mr. Fitzgerald started the proceedings by offering 9c for selections, and shortly after raised the bid to 9¼c. Mr. Whitton followed with 9 3 16c for selections, and Mr. Fitzgerald jumped to 9 5-16c, naming North Star, North Ops, Reaboro and Bobcaygeon, all accepting, the lot making 298 boxes. Mr. Whitton then offered 9 3 16c for further selections and took Cameron, Derryville, Janetville, Fenelon Falls and North Verulam—258 boxes. He next offered 9¼c for the balance of the board—492 boxes—but the salesmen refused the offer, deciding to hold till next meeting. The board then adjourned.

THE CANADIAN APPLE SHIPMENT.

The Crop Estimated at Upward of 2,000,000 Barrels.

Montreal Daily Star.

Up to yesterday 22,123 barrels of Canadian apples have been shipped from this port to Liverpool and Glasgow. For this season of the year this is well up to the standard, though when it is considered that the figures represent four weeks' work it cannot be considered exceptional. In detail the shipments from this port were as follows: Week ending August 12 to Liverpool 770 bbls., to Glasgow 29 bbls. Week ending August 22, to Liverpool 1643 bbls., and to Glasgow 73 bbls. Week ending August 29, to Liverpool 5381, and 327 to Glasgow. For the past week 8477 bbls. were shipped to Liverpool and 5423 to the Scotch market.

This week the shipments are not likely to be over large, as there are but three vessels from this port in which the fruit is shipped.

The latest Liverpool cables to Mr. Arthur R. Fowler gives the following quotations: No. 1 sound King Pippins, Cabashaws, 20 os., Fillbaskets and Maiden Blush, eleven to thirteen shillings; Colverts, Jennetings, nine to eleven shillings. Quality and conditions are being well paid for, but low grades and conditions are weak.

The latest advices from Liverpool state that unless quality and condition improve, the large arrivals which are expected this and next week will be likely to break the market. The apple shipments, the Liverpool men state, have arrived in poor condition, though the quality has been fair. The shippers in Montreal attribute this to various causes, chief among them being hot weather, soft fruit, and the thirteen or fourteen days' voyage. The shipments from this port have all been Ontario apples, there having been no sales of local fruit.

Reports from Ontario state that any quantity of good fruit of winter varieties can be had at 50 cents per barrel, which means in the neighborhood of $1.50 when laid down in Montreal.

The crop in Canada is variously estimated between 3,000,000 and 3,750,000 barrels. The only outlet for this phenomenal yield is the British markets, which of course the United States shares with Canada. Last week the shipments from New York amounted to 15,331 barrels, and from Boston 10,302 barrels. From this out the shipments will naturally increase and will only be limited to the capacities of the vessels making the port of Montreal.

OUR CREAMERY INTERESTS.

A board meeting of the Ontario Creameries Association was held on Tuesday night at the Rossin House, Toronto, those present being the president, Mr. D. Derbyshire, Brockville, who presided, and Messrs. John S. Pearce, London; John H. Croll, Aultsville; Wm. Halliday, Chesley; L. Wenger, Ayton; John Sprague, Ameliasburg; Jas. Carmichael, Arva; Mark Sprague, Ameliasburg, secretary, and R. J. Graham, Belleville, treasurer. Dairymen in this neighbourhood will be interested in knowing that a suggestion was made that a deputation from the association should meet the Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, and urge upon him the desirability of better refrigerators on the Canadian steamships, so that the butter sent to England might arrive in better condition. The board also discussed the advisability of having some competent person watch the English market to see how the Canadian butter compares with the best Danish butter, and if it is inferior to ascertain the reason for its inferiority. The reports presented were of the most encouraging nature. It was shown that, owing to the great improvement in the quality of Canadian butter, the demand had caused an increase of 100 per cent. in the quantity exported in 1895 over that of the previous year up to the present time. The quantity exported was over 300 per cent. over the corresponding period of last year. It was decided that the next annual convention be held at St. Mary's, on the 13th, 14th and 15th January, 1897, and the speakers were arranged for the occasion.

Y. P. S. C. E.

The Methodist young peoples societies of the Campbellford District will hold their annual convention in the Methodist church, Norwood, on Tuesday next, 15th inst. There will be three sessions, commencing at 10 a.m., 1.30 p.m. and 7 p.m. At the afternoon and evening sessions addresses will be delivered by Rev. T. M. Campbell, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference; Rev. S. T. Bartlett, of Cobourg, and the ministers of the District, and papers on important subjects will be read by members of the various societies. Reports from the several societies will be heard at the morning session. At the evening meeting the addresses will be interspersed with solos by Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison, of Keene; Mrs. (Rev.) Jewell, of Hastings; Miss Mark, of Havelock, and several Norwood vocalists will also contribute. A junior rally will be held at 4 p.m., conducted by Rev. Mr. Bartlett. The public are invited to attend any or all of the sessions.

OBITUARY.

George Paul, who died on Monday, Sept. 7th, was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Paul, of Lakefield. He had a large circle of friends, by whom he was very highly esteemed. His frankness of disposition and his cheerfulness made him a general favourite. Two weeks before his death he was overtaken by typhoid fever, which proved fatal, notwithstanding the utmost that could be done by skilful physicians and loving friends, and he left with his father a message for his young associates, asking them all to "seek the Lord while young and not to put it off." His father and mother and five sisters mourn their irreparable loss, but not as those who have no hope. His mortal remains were interred in the Lakefield cemetery in sure and certain hope of a glorious resurrection.

The Dinner Bell.

The dinner bell has no charms for a dyspeptic or bilious person. To enjoy your food, avoid dyspepsia and have healthy action of the liver, use Laxa-Liver Pills, small, sure, never gripe. One pill after a too-hearty meal removes all ill-effects. They cure indigestion and give good appetite.

THE WHEEL.

W. W. Hamilton, who acted as pacemaker for the professionals at the Buffalo Ramblers' meet on Labour Day, does not think that he is going to have such an easy time in his coming race with the great pacer, Joe Patchen, at Rochester next week, as some of the wheelmen seem to believe.

"I do not think I have a cinch on the race by any means," he said, "though some of the boys seem to think it is all over but the shouting. It is one thing to go out and make a fast mile on such tracks as those at Springfield or Waltham, and altogether another matter to ride over a trotting track, with a horse and sulky flying along beside you, with, perhaps, a cloud of dust blowing in your face and with the dirt and stones whizzing by your ears. I believe that I can beat the horse, but I know that I will have to work hard to do it."

Hamilton has engagements this week at Keene, N. H., and Philadelphia, but will reach Rochester on Sunday and put the finishing touches on his training at the Driving Park track.

Inventors of bicycle appliances never sleep. No sooner has a novel cycling notion entered the head of the experimenter than away goes his application for his patent. Five hundred applications for patents for inventions relative to the bicycle are received at the patent office each month. Up to date over 100 different ideas in toe clips alone have been submitted.

The Chatham Banner, in speaking of the recent race meet held in that city says:—"The greatest interest centered in the 25-mile Dominion championship professional race, which was the last event on the programme. Harley Davidson was entered for every professional race, but he was not seen on the track until this race was called. There were five starters, paced by a tandem. Davidson took the lead, with his front wheel within a foot of the rear wheel of the tandem, and he maintained that position until the tandem dropped out on the last quarter. Alf Young was second for the first four miles, but Greatrix crowded him out and he dropped into third place. At the end of the 23rd mile Wills dropped out altogether. As the race proceeded the time for each mile was announced from a speaking tube. After the fifth mile had been passed every record had been broken, and the average for the full 25 miles was slightly less than 2 30. The finish was the most exciting of the day. A few yards past the quarter, in the last half, Greatrix made a spurt and passed Davidson, who had held first place up to that point. A pretty race then followed, with Greatrix, Davidson and Young almost abreast. Greatrix led to within fifty yards of the tape, when, with a brilliant burst, Davidson pushed ahead and won amid wild excitement, with not more than six inches to spare. Greatrix was second and less than a wheel length behind came Alf. Young, who had ridden in every professional event during the day.

The summary follows:—Twenty-five Dominion championship professional. Entries—Harley Davidson, Alf E. Young, Jno. H. Wills, Chris. Greatrix, J. H. Gratz, all of Toronto. Harley Davidson, 1; Chris. Greatrix, 2; Alf. Young, 3. Time, 1 hr. 1 min., 46 secs. Time by miles:

1st mile—2:21 4 5. 2—5:45. 3—7:41 3 5. 4—9:22 3 5. 5—12:59.
6th mile—14:33. 7—17:05 1 5. 8—20:37. 9—22:09 2 5. 10—25:45.
11th mile—27:10. 12—29:33. 13—31:56 2 5. 14—34:22 2-5. 15—36:51.
16th mile—39:19. 17—41:41 3-5. 18—44:10. 19—46:39. 20—48 07.
21st mile—50.32. 22—54:06. 23—56:56. 24—59:16. 25—1 hr. 01:46.

Angus McLeod won the 25-mile, class B championship last year in 1:05:39.

ANGLING.

To the Editor,—I enclose herewith an extract from the American Angler which was given to me by Mr. Prince. I shall be obliged if you call the attention of the public to this matter as I have had considerable correspondence from gentlemen in my constituency wanting carp put into the lakes, and I think they do this not knowing the evil that they are bringing on themselves.

Hewitt Bostock.

House of Commons,
Ottawa.

VIEWS OF W. C. HARRIS, EDITOR OF THE "AMERICAN ANGLER," NEW YORK, U.S.A.

Under no circumstances place carp in your waters. They are worthless, both as edible and rod fishes. They are also destructive of the spawn of other fishes, and if your streams or ponds are frequented by wild fowl the carp will soon drive them away by eating the sprouts of all vegetable growth upon which wild fowl feed. If you have the carp already with you, seine, catch, kill and poison them out. The United States Government has spent thousands upon thousands of dollars to introduce them, and the sportsmen of the country would be willing to be taxed an equal amount that the carp might be exterminated.

FOUND A JEWEL.

An Important Find by a Brockville Jeweller.

Mr. Joseph Lane, the well-known jeweller of Brockville, says: "For some years I have suffered with severe pains in my back and sides and flashes of heat between my shoulders. I had a tired, wornout feeling.

"The numerous medicines that I took gave me very little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try a box, and got one at Curry's drugstore.

"After the first two or three doses I felt much relieved, and the longer I took them the greater the change for the better in my condition. I am much better in every respect and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from kidney trouble as the best remedy I know of."

Sold by James Lynch, druggist, 168 Hunter street, Peterborough.

Cannot be Beat.

Mr. D. Steinbach, Zurich, writes: "I have used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in my family for a number of years, and I can safely say that it cannot be beat for the cure of croup, fresh cuts, and sprains. My little boy has had attacks of croup several times, and one dose of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was sufficient for a perfect cure"

THE FLOWERS.

All the names I know from nurse:
Gardener's Garters, Shepherd's Purse,
Bachelor's Buttons, Lady's Smock,
And the Lady Hollyhock.

Fairy places, fairy things,
Fairy wings where the wild bee wings,
Tiny trees for tiny dames—
These must all be fairy names!

Tiny woods below whose boughs
Shady fairies weave a house;
Tiny tree-tops, rose or thyme,
Where the braver fairies climb!

Fair are grown-up people's trees,
But the fairest woods are these;
Where, if I were not so tall,
I should live for good and all.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples and blotches. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. The skin is not a thing by itself, and skin diseases are frequently not skin diseases at all. All the lotions and bleaches and creams and powders in the world won't make a good complexion if the digestion is wrong. If the stomach is sour, and the liver torpid, and the bowels constipated, the skin will show it. No use trying to treat the skin for such a condition. The only way to relieve it is to cleanse the system and purify the blood. As long as the heart is pumping impurities to every part of the body, just so long these impurities will show through the skin.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients, it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It fills out the hollows, rubs out wrinkles and substitutes for sallowness a rosy, healthy glow. There is no mystery about it. It isn't a miracle. It is merely the result of a combination of rational, natural common sense with expert medical knowledge. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood. Don't let prejudice and scepticism cheat you out of your health. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will positively cure you, if suffering from diseases named above.

If you want to know hundreds of great medical truths, send 21 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only, and we will send you FREE a copy of Dr. Pierce's 1008 page book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE PRINCE WON AGAIN.

Persimmon Captured the Great St. Leger Stake at Doncaster.

London, Sept. 9.—At Doncaster to-day the St. Leger Stakes of 25 sovs. each, for 3-year-olds, the owner of the second horse to receive 300 sovs., and the third 100 sovs. out of the stakes (238 subscriptions); about 1 mile, 6 furlongs and 132 yards, old St. Leger course, was run, the result being as follows:

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales' br.c. Persimmon, by St. Simon, out of Perdita II. 1
Duke of Westminster's br.c. Labrador, by Sheen, out of Ornament 2
Duke of Westminster's ch.c. Rampion, by Amphion, out of Rydal 3
Mr. E. Courage's ch.c. Funnyboat, Mr. J. Lowther's br.c. Love Lane, Mr. R. H. Combe's b.c. Dynamo and Lord Rednor's ch.c. Cherwer also started. Time 3.20.

The betting: 6 to 1 on Persimmon, 6 to 1 against Labrador, 200 to 1 against Rampion, 60 to 1 against Funnyboat, and 200 to 1 each against Love Lane, Dynamo and Cherwer.

Persimmon won in a canter by a length and a half, and Rampion was a bad third.

The Cleveland Handicap Plate of 500 sovs., for 3-year-olds and upwards, was won by Lord Stanley's br.c. Melange, by Melanion, out of Amalgam, 3; Mr. Leopold de Rothschild's Uttica, 4, second, and Mr. Dobell's Ledamphin, 4, third. Mr. P. Lorillard's Dolabra was one of the starters.

The Milton Stakes, 5 furlongs, was won by Powers Court, Prince of Poets second and Jack the Dandy third. Mr. P. Lorillard's Pigeon Wing was one of the starters.

SANGER DEFEATS BALD.

Watertown, N.Y., Sept. 9.—In the Bicycle races at the Jefferson County Fair here this afternoon W. C. Sanger and E. C. Bald contested for a purse of $1,000. Sanger won easily in two straight heats, his time being 1.59 3-5 and 1.59 4-5. Twelve thousand people witnessed the race. The mile track has a clay surface and is used during the week for horse racing. The time made was exceedingly good under those conditions. There was no wind. The racers were paced by the tandem champions Church and McCurdy of Philadelphia.

Nature's Voices.

To the discerning ear, nature has many voices. She has a message in the sweet tones of the brook as it rushes down the hillside in ocean's moody voices, now rippling with gentlest cadence upon the golden sands, anon in deep boisterous voice as she lashes the beach with foam. Then the voice of trees which the laughing winds bear to our ears, of sunshine and shade, of hill and valley, of birds and flowers. But she comes in pain too, the voice of the stinging, aching corn speaks impressively, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the worst corn in twenty-four hours, painlessly and without leaving sore spots.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

For cholera morbus, cholera infantum, cramps, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, and summer complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for nearly 500 years.

THE SAME OLD CIRCUS

W. D. HOWELLS TELLS OF HIS VISIT TO ITS WILD PLEASURES.

The Anticipation Fed for Weeks Beforehand With Gorgeous Posters, With Impossible Things All Done in Colors Upon Them.

The circus announced itself in the good old way weeks beforehand by the vast posters of former days and by a profusion of small bills which fell upon the village as from the clouds and left it littered everywhere with their festive pink, according to Harper's Weekly. They prophesied it by a name borne by the first circus I ever saw, which was also an animal show, but the animals must all have died during the fifty years past, for there is now no menagerie attached to it. I did not know this when I heard the band braying through the streets of the village on the morning of the performance, and for me the mangy old camels and the pimpled elephants of yore led the procession through accompanying ranks of boys who have mostly been in their graves for half a lifetime, the distracted ostrich thrust an advertising neck through the top of the cage, and the lion roared to himself in the darkness of his moving prison. I felt the old thrill of excitement, the vain hope of something prenatural and impossible, and I do not know what could have kept me from that circus as soon as I had done lunch. My heart rose at sight of the large tent (which was yet so very little in comparison with the tents of the three-ring and two platform circuses); the alluring and illusory side shows of fat women and lean men; the horses, tethered in the background and stamping under the fly bites; the old, weather-beaten grand chariot which looked like the ghost of the grand chariot which used to drag me captive in its triumph; and the canvas shelters where the cooks were already at work over their kettles on the evening meal of the circus folk.

Throughout the performance at this circus I was troubled by a curious question, whether it were really of the same moral and material grandeur as the circuses it brought to memory, or whether these were thin and slight, too. We all know how the places of our childhood, the heights, the distances, shrink and dwindle when we go back to them, and was it possible that I had been deceived in the splendor of my early circuses? The doubt was painful, but I was forced to own that there might be more truth in it than in a blind fealty to their remembered magnificence. Very likely circuses have grown not only in size, but in the richness and variety of their entertainments, and I was spoiled for the simple joys of this. But I could see no reflection of my dissatisfaction on the young faces around me, and I must confess that there was at least so much of the circus that I left when it was half over. I meant to go into the side shows and see the fat woman and the living skeleton and take the giant by the hand and the armless man by his friendly foot, if I might be so honored. But I did none of these things, and I am willing to believe the fault was in me, if I was disappointed in the circus. It was I who had shrunk and dwindled, not it. To real boys it was still the size of the firmament, and was a world of wonders and delights. At least I can recognize this fact now, and can rejoice in the peaceful progress all over the country of the simple circuses which the towns never see, but which help to render the summer fairer and brighter to the unspoiled eyes and hearts they appeal to. I hope it will be long before they cease to find profit in the pleasure they give.

The Power of Sympathy.

He was only an Italian fruit vendor. There was nothing about him at all likely to inspire the beholder with feeling, one way or another. He was not ragged enough to call for especial sympathy, nor unkempt enough to provoke disgust. Yet to the policeman on his beat he was undoubtedly the object of considerable animadversion. This was evidenced by the unrelenting vigor with which he was pursued from corner to corner by the over-zealous guardian of the law.

The other day, in a too hurried response to the everlasting order to "move on," the fruit peddler's cart was upset, and his peaches and pears were scattered over the ground and across the street car tracks. The enraged policeman could hardly restrain the impulse to use his club.

"The dirty loafer!" exclaimed he. "He did it on purpose—just trying to excite sympathy."

"He has succeeded then," said a soft voice at the officer's elbow, and a neat little woman stooped and began to gather up the scattered fruit.

The officer's face reddened. He hesitated a moment, and then he, too, joined in the work of restoration.

To-day the Italian was seen peacefully plying his trade on his accustomed beat, unmolested by his old enemy, the policeman.—New York Mail and Express.

IT IS IN THE AIR.

Tweed People Talk About It.

It is in the air.
Can't stop it spreading.
Can't keep down a good thing.
People who don't know about it want to known.
People who do know, want to tell about it.
It is kidney education."
Tweed people are learning fast.
Here are some facts.

One of the best known residents of Tweed is Mr. W. H. Houston, who relates the following interesting facts: Mr. Houston says, "I have been very bad for several years with pains in my side and back.

"I had to urinate very frequently, in fact my rest was disturbed by frequent rising at night for that purpose. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, at Newton's drugstore, and have experienced great relief from the first.

"I am sure that I have been greatly benefited, and can recommend them highly to anyone troubled as I was."

For sale by James Lynch, druggist, 168 Hunter street, Peterborough.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'Saved my Life.' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels. Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent, 359 George Street.

An Elephant and Sparrow Fight.

A pugnacious sparrow the other day flew into the elephant house in the Central Park menagerie and began picking up the crumbs from the table of the only elephant then inside. The mammoth and midget apparently did not see each other for some time, until the former, in shifting his position, nearly placed his ponderous foot on the latter, says the New York Herald. The fighting little speck of fuss and feathers evidently accepted this thoughtless act as a challenge to battle, and at once flew in the elephant's face. The great beast looked astounded, and, sending a small cyclone through his trunk, raised such a cloud of hay and dust that the bird was lost sight of.

When the air cleared the biped was seen on the quadruped's back. A shake of the elephant's loosely fitting, tough though sensitive hide frightened the little fellow, who hopped to the floor and looked into the face of his antagonist.

Thus they stood, as though trying to recover breath, for a few seconds, when the elephant reached out his trunk toward the sparrow. The bird, with outstretched wings and ruffled feathers, threw himself with full force at the end of the threatening proboscis. Then came a gentle blast of air from the elephant's lungs, and the sparrow was blown against the wall of the house. The little fellow, without even so much as a parting look at his huge antagonist, mounted to the open window and disappeared.

There is nothing to prevent anyone concocting a mixture and calling it "sarsaparilla," and there is nothing to prevent anyone spending good money testing the stuff; but prudent people who wish to be sure of their remedy, take only Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and so get cured.

"Going to Insure."

THE Man who is simply "going to insure" is usually no better than the man who has'nt made the decision. In fact he is usually worse, because he has considered the subject and been convinced of his duty, but has not done it. "Nothing is done so long as anything remains undone." On application to either of the undermentioned gentlemen, full particulars will be furnished in regard to the Unconditional Accumulative Policy issued by the

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

THE KANTANKEROUS KATYDID.

The katydid's discoursing now
  His lyric sharp and shrill and deep;
No poppied crown adorns my brow—
  I lie and toss and cannot sleep,
Because this insect imp unclasps,
  While humid August's taking flight,
The buzz that rips and tears and rasps
  The jewelled ear of night.

I know the frost will soon appear
  And make the maple's leaflets curl,
And dislocate the summer's cheer,
  And cause its peonies to whirl;
But this grim fact it trills at me
  For hours the garden gloom amid—
I wish that I the frost could see
  Upon the katydid.

It makes the buzz saw seem a dove,
  It stills the lone perturbed bow-wow—
Alas! it is the Wagner of
  The jay-hawk haunted linden bough,
The tree toad, brusque and unesteemed,
  Filled with acute artistic pain,
Feels that it's been outscreeched, outscreamed,
  Until it lives in vain.

I wish 'twould stop its awful work,
  Then would I know most rare delight;
I wish 'twould sheath the jagged dirk
  With which it jabs and stabs at night.
I'd dream then 'neath the covers hid,
  And never care a blooming jot
Whether the pesky katy did
  Or whether it did not.

There came near being a row at the memorial services for the late Marquis de Mores in the Madeleine Church in Paris the other day. While the mass was being celebrated several wagonloads of English tourists drove up and tried to enter the church. They were turned back with difficulty, after a long wrangle with the beadles and some of the Marquis' friends, who remembered that he had died in making what he intended to be an attack upon England.

The work of building sky-scrapers, without regard to the cutting off of light and air from other buildings, and the darkening of the streets, proceeds, the Legislature having failed to do its duty in passing a law requiring the height of a structure to bear some reasonable proportion to the width of the street in which it stands. The need of legislation on the subject is apparent and is becomink more so as the number of tall buildings increases. —New York Tribune.

Peter the Great's house at Zaandam, in Holland, has just been inclosed within a protecting building. The opening ceremony was performed in the presence of the Russian Consul-General and other notables. The building bears a commemorative tablet, with the following inscription in Dutch and Russian: "In 1697 the Czar Peter the Great, dwelt in this house on the Krimp from 18th to 25th of August. In May, 1698, he visited it on his way back to Russia. In 1717 the Czar Peter the Great again visited it with the Empress Catherine and their suite. In 1818 King William I. (of the Netherlands) bought it for the purpose of offering it to the Grand Duchess Anna Pavlovna, married in 1816 to the Hereditary Prince, afterward King William II. In 1886 King William III. presented Peter the Great's house as a gift to the Emperor Alexander."

Why is it that one man is old and decrepit at 45 and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his blood impure—he keeps his nerves and his body under a constant nervous strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures many so-called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. O. Box 388, London, Ont.

Try to think less of yourself and more of others. If there is an opportunity of being kind, especially at home, don't let it pass by. Do whatever you are asked cheerfully. Don't frown and pout if some task falls to your share that you don't quite like.

Every time a face is puckered up in discontent and anger it deepens some ugly looking wrinkle. Every time a loving, sweet expression is there it leaves its unfailing impresson on the face.

Every time a face is puckered up in and acquaintances, and if left alone to entertain any one who is perhaps not very amusing try and appear interested, and don't look bored and disagreeable. Always, when conversing, try to concentrate your attention on the person you are talking with, as nothing shows such bad manners as a wandering attention.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon knew whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The irresistible with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. What should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

LEADING HATTERS.

THE TORONTO FAIR.

American Visitors' Day Was Marked by a Large Attendance and the Directors are Happy.

Toronto, Sept. 11.

With a continuance of the beautiful weather which has prevailed since Monday, the crowd which thronged the Exhibition grounds and buildings yesterday was a large one. "Americans' Day" is always a popular one. Owing to the family and other ties which exist between the citizens of the two countries, there is always a large turnout of Canadians on Americans' Day in honor of their American visitors. Yesterday was no exception to the rule, and enquiries from visitors always met with a ready and courteous response, especially when made by the wearers of small buttons or badges, the distinctive feature of which consisted of bars and stars.

One of the distinctive features of the Exhibition this year has been the very large number of visitors from south of the border line. All the railway companies having direct connections with the Canadian roads at Niagara Falls, Windsor and Sarnia have given more liberal rates than ever before and have carried a very large number of passengers in consequence. Some roads have, in addition to reduced rates on ordinary trains, run two and more special excursion trains and the result has been so satisfactory that there is no doubt they will be ready to repeat the experiment on a larger scale next year. The various steamboat lines, especially those operating along the south shore of Lake Erie, have quoted special excursion rates to Toronto and been rewarded with a very heavy traffic in consequence. The railroad and steamboat companies operating in a large section which has hitherto been covered to a very slight extent have apparently awakened to the fact that a new avenue of business has been opened to them and they will be as anxious in future to bring large crowds to Toronto as the citizens are willing to welcome and entertain them hospitably.

The directors all wear smiling faces beneath the shining silk hats with which they dazzle the admiring gaze of the visitors from the rural districts, and they have good cause to do so. The treasurer yesterday intimated that up to the present the receipts have been nearly $10,000 in excess of the amount recorded up to the same period of last year's show. With continued fine weather and the usual crowd to-day they will be relieved from the temporary anxiety which troubled them a few months ago, and be able to start with a clean sheet next year.

DECEMBER 17 IS THE DAY SET.

Chancellor Boyd Passed His First Death Sentence at Cobourg—The Youthful Murderer Took the Sentence Calmly and Said He Had Nothing to Say.

Cobourg, Ont., Sept. 10.—The trial of Arthur Prentiss on the charge of murdering Thomas Lingard was resumed this morning before his Hon. Chancellor Boyd. One more witness was called for the Crown, when the defence was opened by Mr. Osler. Mr. Clute then replied, His Lordship charged the jury, and court adjourned at 1 o'clock. Neither young Rush, the boy who was with the prisoner at the time of the shooting, nor the prisoner was called to give evidence.

After being out three hours the jury brought in a verdict of murder with recommendation for mercy.

When asked by His Lordship Chancellor Boyd the prisoner said he had nothing to say why the sentence of death should not be passed on him. He stood calm and pale while His Lordship pronounced the sentence that he should be hanged on Dec. 17.

During his remarks to the prisoner His Lordship advised him to seek mercy through his eternal Father, and also said this was the first time he had ever passed the death sentence.

The court room was crowded at the time sentence was passed.

STORY OF THE CRIME.

Prentiss, who is 18 years of age, had a quarrel on June 10 with George Lingard, grandson of the dead man, about some rabbits. Prentiss and a friend named Fred Rush were using bad language to Lingard and his wife while all were at work in a field. The grandfather came up and the boys walked off; he followed them, and then Prentiss said he would shoot him if he came further. The old man kept on, when, according to the evidence put in yesterday, Prentiss fired at him. The gun was loaded with shot and tore a terrible gap in Lingard's left side. He died almost instantly.

WELCOME TO THE CHAMPION.

Arrangements Will be Made at the Queen's Hotel To-Night—Trolley Parade.

A representative meeting of rowing and athletic club men is expected at the Queen's to-night, when final arrangements for Jacob G. Gaudaur's grand reception will be made. The style of the welcome will be finally decided upon and all details arranged.

It has already been suggested that the world's champion be taken triumphantly through the chief city streets in one of the street railway's private cars, to be followed by another string of motors and trailers bedecked commensurate with the greatness of the occasion, the parade to wind up at the Horticultural Pavilion, where the orations will be made.

The date of the parade will not be fixed until Mr. Gaudaur lands in New York, but it will most likely be during the week of Sept. 20.

ELECTRIC CARS COLLIDE.

First Mishap on the Hamilton Radial Railway—Passengers Badly Shaken Up—A Few Hurt.

Hamilton, Sept. 10.—(Special.)—About 4.30 this afternoon there was a collision on the Hamilton Radial Electric Railway, and the two carloads of passengers had a narrow escape. All were badly shaken up, but all fortunately escaped from serious injury. Owing to a defect in the switch at the city station, the cars cannot turn around, and the car which left the city at 4 p.m. was running backward. The conductor on the car leaving the powerhouse at the same hour had orders to go right through, and did not stop at the switch. About a mile from the powerhouse the cars collided. The motorman on each car reversed the motors, but the defective brake was responsible for the cars not stopping. A few who saw the cars coming together jumped and shared better than if they had remained, for when the collision occurred everyone was thrown from their seats. Most of the passengers were delegates to the Y.W.C.A. convention, and had Lady Aberdeen arrived in the city a little sooner she would have been on one of the cars. Mr. Pilgrim of Pilgrim Bros., who was thrown from the rear of the west-bound car, was the most seriously hurt, being injured about the knee, and a young nephew of Dr. Vernon was cut about the head by flying glass. Most of the passengers walked to the Jockey Club, where they took the street car home.

A SHOCKING CRIME.

Double Murder and Arson in New Brunswick.

MOTHER AND SON CRUELLY KILLED

Little Daughter Had the Side of Her Head Crushed In, But Was Rescued From the Burning Building Alive—Robbery Evidently the Incentive to the Crime.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 11.—The town of Moncton, N.B., is greatly excited over the finding of two bodies, that of a woman named Dutcher, and her son, found in the ruins of a building destroyed by fire at Meadowbrook, a settlement twelve miles from Moncton. Later the little daughter was found unconscious from injuries received, and it is supposed the first two were murdered.

It was the girl's rescue which revealed the terrible nature of the crime and shows that the fire was not accidental. The poor little girl's left ear was split open, and her left cheek cut and smashed through the bones, presenting a horrible sight. This, of course, proved beyond any doubt the terrible nature of the crime.

The Dutcher homestead had the reputation of being "a road house," where liquor was also sold, contrary to the Scott Act. Mrs. Dutcher has frequently figured in Scott Act violation cases, and on one occasion she served 45 days in jail for such violation. She would not pay the fine imposed for a first offence. Mrs. Dutcher was aged 48 years and her maiden name was Eliza Green, daughter of James Green of the same place. Two of her brothers, Hugh and James Green, now reside in that locality within 25 yards of the Dutcher residence.

John Dutchef, whom Eliza Green married, has been dead for several years, and she has been keeping house ever since. She has three adult sons, Thomas and William, residents in Amherst, and Henry, supposed to be in Albert county. Her three sons, together with a boy aged 11 years, living at home, and a daughter, aged 6, constituted the Dutcher family.

Hugh Green, brother of Mrs. Dutcher, told a reporter the following story: "About midnight or early this morning I was awakened by cries of fire raised by Mrs. Jane Green, who lives but a short distance from here. I immediately jumped up and, dressing, ran across to the Dutcher house, from which the fire was issuing. I tried a side door, but it was locked, so I tried to kick it in. I ran back to my house, got an axe, and, returning to the house, smashed the door in. At the time I entered the house there was no sign of fire in the downstairs rooms nor in the upper part facing the railway track, but the blaze was bursting forth from the bedroom occupied by Mrs. Dutcher and her children in rear of the house. I ran upstairs and entered the bedroom. As I did so I was met by a cloud of smoke. I groped my way to the bed and felt for the children. I lifted one and ran out with it in my arms and carried it to my house. When I took Maggie to the house I discovered that she had a severe cut on the side of the head. There was no probability of this being done after being rescued, either by striking against the door or otherwise. The nature of the wound shows that this could not be the case."

Continuing, he said that the house was dark at 9 o'clock when they went to bed.

A significant part of the interview is as follows: "Mrs. Dutcher kept a dog, but I don't know where it is now. The last time I saw the dog was yesterday afternoon. The dog was rather cross and was in the habit at night of running out at passing teams and barking vigorously and rousing the house. It did not bark last night and has not been seen. It certainly was not downstairs when I broke in, because there was no fire there, and as the doors were all thrown open it could easily have escaped. It also could have escaped had it been in the bedroom."

Mrs. James Green, wife of James Green, brother of Mrs. Dutcher, said to the reporter: "About 12 o'clock last night I happened to look out of my bedroom window and saw what I supposed to be a lamp burning in Mrs. Dutcher's room. I watched it for a few seconds and at last decided it was a fire. I jumped out of bed, put on my clothes and ran down towards the house screaming, 'Fire!' Hugh Green, hearing the alarm, rushed out of his house, which is only 20 yards from the Dutcher House." There is more in the reference to the dog in explaining the mystery than appears on the surface. Mrs. Dutcher had the reputation of keeping considerable money in her house, and this fact may also furnish a clue. The tragedy is being sifted.

A PRIEST BADLY BITTEN.

Rev. Father Spratt of Wolfe Island Attacked by a Vicious Dog.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 11.—W. J. Mallegh of Paris, Ont., has been appointed Y.M.C.A. secretary here and begins his duties on Monday.

Patrick Reilly of Wolfe Island, while quarrying yesterday, was struck by a large piece of rock and had his jawbone shattered.

Yesterday Rev. Father Spratt of Wolfe Island was badly bitten by a Newfoundland dog. The animal caught him by the right wrist, sinking its teeth deeply into the flesh and tearing it badly. The dog attempted to secure a firmer hold and in doing so caught the fingers of Father Spratt's right hand between his teeth, sinking them clear through. The dog's teeth penetrated the nails of two fingers and one nail was so badly torn that it had to be removed.

The temporary repairs on the steamer Monteagle were completed at noon to-day, and the boat left for Cleveland.

FRED HIGGINBOTHAM'S FUNERAL.

The Remains of the Champion Hockeyist Interred at Bowmanville.

Bowmanville, Sept. 11.—The funeral took place here to-day of the late Fred T. Higginbotham, champion hockeyist of the world, who was killed at Winnipeg on Sunday night while playing with two children by being thrown from a pony on which they were riding in their yard. The animal made a sudden turn and ran under a wire clothes line, which caught his head, throwing him heavily to the ground, resulting in a fracture of the spinal cord, causing his death in a few hours. He was identified with the leading sporting clubs in that city, and The Free Press says there was no better known or better liked young man in Winnipeg. He was 28 years old and had been in Winnipeg 12 years, five of which he spent in the Hudson's Bay Company's employ.

Bankers Interview the Finance Minister Regarding the Rate of Interest—Imperial Military Commissions.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—(Special.)—The Council of the Canadian Bankers' Association had an interview with the Minister of Finance to-day with regard to the rate of interest on deposits in Government and postoffice savings banks. It was pointed out that, inasmuch as the Government can obtain all the money it wants in London for less than 3 per cent., the rate now paid to depositors by the Government is too high.

Mr. Fielding said their representations would be carefully considered, but no legislation of any kind would be presented this session.

A notification has been received from the War Office, London, that the appointment of the undermentioned graduates of the Royal Military College of Canada has been approved: Royal Engineers, W. A. S. Evans of Toronto; Royal Artillery, W. H. N. Cantlie, Montreal; Infantry, C. M. Stephen and W. C. C. Wood, Halifax; Indian Staff Corps, G. E. Hardie, Ottawa.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries received a telegram from Victoria to-day announcing that the schooner Aurora, which was seized by the American cruiser Rush, had arrived in port. The Aurora was seized because some sealskins were found on board which had spear holes through them, but which the captain of the cruiser insisted were shot holes, the use of firearms in Behring Sea being prohibited. This is a case precisely similar to the schooner Marvin last year, which the courts adjudged was improperly seized.

The meeting held here to-day to promote a mining bureau in Montreal fizzled out. The attendance of British Columbia and Maritime members was good, but no plan of proceedings had been formulated. Mr. Leofred, the promoter, a well-known Montreal engineer, urged a bureau at Montreal, but did not define what it could do. When the Premier arrived, he speedily announced his feelings that the geological survey could cover the ground and the meeting ended in gloom.

Mr. Oliver, the representative for Alberta, gives notice of a resolution setting forth that the cost of the High Commissioner's office, $30,000, is greater than the benefit received, that during the tenure of office of the late High Commissioner the Canadian cattle trade was injured, immigration decreased, and capital not attracted to the country; the present High Commissioner, Sir Donald Smith, by reason of his business connections is not a suitable person to hold that office, and that if the office is to be continued the duties of the office should be discharged more efficiently and practically than in the past; that the holder of the office should not be entangled in commercial, financial and transportation interests from which he might in his position as High Commissioner secure special advantage to the detriment of like competing interests in the country.

The County Councils of Ontario are petitioning Parliament to amend the Railway Act, making railway companies responsible for damages caused by fires arising from sparks from locomotives.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

Some More Pretty Sharp Firing Across the Floor.

MAJOR BEATTIE PUT HIS FOOT IN IT

And Was Called to Time by the Speaker—The Matter of Awarding Contracts Was Pretty Well Thrashed Out—Passing Items of Supply.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—Major Beattie was called down by Mr. Speaker in the House to-day. The member for London alleged that the contracts for supplies for the military camp in London were given out to Government favorites and not submitted to tender. He said four or five friends of the Government were privately handed papers and asked to send in the supplies.

Later, however, on motion to go into supply, Major Beattie brought up the matter, adding that when a Conservative applied for a paper in order to tender he was told that his "name was not on the list." He put in a tender on ordinary paper, however, and believed his offer was half a cent a pound for beef lower than the price at which the contract was given. This was the rule followed under Conservative regime, when the Liberals also got tenders. He wanted to know if this petty jobbery system was to be continued.

Mr. Gibson referred to the camp at Niagara as having been supplied for years on this principle only Conservatives getting contracts. Besides Mr. McCleary, member for Welland, had in times past got fat contracts without competition for timber for the Welland Canal. He defied Major Beattie to name one Liberal who had a military contract in London.

Mr. Beattie named Johnstone Bros. as the contractors for supplying bread to the permanent corps. The firm, he added, were "bitter Grits." (Cheers and laughter.)

Mr. McCleary thought the accusations against him came with bad grace from a gentleman who had waxed fat and rich on contracts obtained without public tender. He gave an instance of a Liberal in Niagara who, having got a tip as to the figure of a Tory's tender for carpenter work for the camp there, the said tender being the lowest, wrote the department at Ottawa and was told if he took the work as low as the Tory he would get the job, and he did. (Laughter.) For himself the records of the department would show that his firm had never obtained a contract except in public competition.

Mr. Ingram defended the former militia regime from charges of favoritism, as did Sir Adolphe Caron, who declared that in his time all contracts for camp supplies were given, after due publication, to the lowest tender.

Mr. Mulock arose and hotly replied that in the matter of clothing contracts large sums were lost to the country by the work being given to favorites by private offer. "Why," he went on, "what have I had to do every day? Why, my work day by day is cancelling frauds committed by my predecessor in office."

At this Mr. Foster jumped up and called the Postmaster-General to order.

A lively scene ensued. Mr. Mulock exclaimed excitedly, "I do charge fraud."

Sir Adolphe Caron indignantly demanded if the Postmaster-General charged him with fraud.

The Speaker called Mr. Mulock to order by ruling that if he charged fraud he must specify the hon. member against whom to charge the fraud.

Then Mr. Mulock withdrew the word "fraud." He denied that he meant to allege personal corruption against Sir Adolphe or anyone else, and finally narrowed his charge to a complaint of letting and renewing mail contracts without tender, instancing a case in Cape Breton where a contract was continued at $9000 with an offer before the department for $2700.

The Minister of Militia complained that the discussion had been sprung without notice. He declared the contracts had all gone to the lowest tender, "but," he said, "my hon. friends must not be disappointed if under the new regime the Liberals of Canada get a fair show. I'll make it my business to see that they do." (Loud Ministerial cheers.) He added that they would not, however, get any more than fair play.

Sir Charles Tupper reminded the Minister that when the vote was passed for the camps, the supplies would be awarded by tender and contract. But evidently that pledge had been broken.

Col. Domville reminded Mr. Foster that the late Administration had purchased land for a drill hall at Sussex, N.B., without public competition, at a cost of $7000 and then leased it without tender.

After observations from Mr. Gillies and Fraser in reference to mail contracts in Cape Breton the Speaker said it was a good rule to observe that when public documents were quoted in the House and those papers were called for they ought to be produced. (Hear, hear.) He urged, however, that the work of the session would be facilitated if members would give notice to Ministers of any matters they intended to bring up, so that they might be prepared to deal intelligently with them.

Mr. Foster said he was glad to hear the Speaker's ruling. It was his intention to raise this very point. Referring to Col. Domville's observation he invited the Minister of Militia to bring down all the papers.

The matter was further discussed by Messrs. Lister, McNeill and Quinn and then it dropped.

Col. Tisdale said he desired to call attention to a recent statement in The Globe with reference to annulling of contracts for militia clothing. The Globe implied corrupt dealing on the part of the late Government as to the letting of these contracts. He did not propose to discuss the matter now, but would defer any remarks until the papers were brought down. All that he had to say was that the contracts were actually awarded when Mr. Desjardins was Minister, but executed when he (Col Tisdale) was Minister. The contracts were not let irregularly, now at any regular time. Before he signed them he asked the deputy if they were all right and

IMPORTANCE OF LOCAL HISTORY.

Man has a natural desire to inquire into e past, and that desire has existed and been manifest so far as is known from the earliest times, and become stronger as races had advanced in wealth and intelligence. Associated with this desire is that of transmitting to prosterity the deeds and records of the past, and the outcome of these desires is history in its varied forms. It is therefore fairly to be assumed that the dawning of civilization and the beginning of history are co-incident and concurrent. If this be true then the quality of a civilization is indicated by the extent and completeness of its historical records, and the higher the civilization of a people the greater the desire for the collection and preservation of historical records. By this standard the civilization of this province is open to rather serious impeachment. There is abundant material relating to the early history of the province, especially of a local character, that has been, and is being, lost. Many records that should be officially exact are kept so carelessly that they have become lost. When Mr. David Boyle was collecting material for his history of Scarboro Township, he found that even the records of the meetings of school boards had been lost or were of such an imperfect character as to be practically useless for historical purposes. These records had been kept, or rather not kept, on stray bits of paper and, failing to be transcribed into a proper record, disappeared. Thus one of the most important materials of minuter of local history is lost. If this state of affairs obtained in Scarboro, it is likely to have been general throughout the province. This should be remedied and action taken by the authorities, by legislation, if necessary, to secure full, reliable and lasting records of one of the most important elements of local history. Another source of the details of local history is rapidly passing away. We refer to the aged persons who were associated with the early settlement of the province. In every township and neighborhood are many persons of mature age whose personal recollections go back to the beginnings of civilization or settlement in this country, and, as is usual with the aged, their recollections of early events is much more complete and exact than of current events. The EXAMINER last June published a list of eight or nine men in the township of Otonabee, all over 90 years of age, who recorded their votes at the Parliamentary election. Now the personal recollections of those men would be a mine of historical wealth in respect of local events in the early settlement of this township; and some organized and systematic effort should be made to collect and record permanently for the uses of future historians the recollections of these nonogenarians. Doubtless a similar state of things exists all over the province, and there is no computing the amount of local historical material that could be gathered from the sources indicated. Whatever action is taken should be taken promptly. Every day death is thinning the ranks of those veterans and thus every day valuable historical data are passing beyond human ken. The man of public spirit, who will originate a movement for the collection of such material, would receive the reward due a public benefactor.

ENGLAND AND PROTECTION.

Bystander (another way of spelling Mr. Goldwin Smith's name) in the Weekly Sun, thus discourses:—"We are in the full flood tide of Protectionist reaction, and it is a tide which did not begin to flow yesterday and shows no signs of ebbing to-morrow.' So says Mr. Sidney Low, singing his song of triumph over 'The Decline of Cobdenism.' Just as he was writing, Canada, after eighteen years of bitter experience, was declaring against Protection. New South Wales, after a brief relapse into Protectionism, has reverted to Free Trade. The Americans are wedded, if any nation is, to Protectionism, though it has been their economical and social bane, helped to sweep their marine from the seas, and filled their legislature with corruption. But the election of Cleveland was at all events a sign of ebbing; and certain is that the McKinley tariff will never return. Mr. Low asserts that the mind of England is changed. Why, then, has not English legislation been changed? Why has no serious attempt to restore Protection yet been made by the representatives of the mind of England in Parliament? Why is British Protectionism forced to confine itself to furtive operations such as the imposition, on sanitary pretexts, of restrictions on the importation of cattle? The proposal of an Imperial Zolverein with differential duties, which is fundamentally Protectionist, was at once rejected by an Australian colony and has altogether fallen dead. Mr. Low says that the plenty of food in England, which has sustained her wealth producing labour is due not to free trade but to the opening of virgin territory and the lowering of freights. What could the opening of any extent of virgin territory or the greatest reduction of freights have done, if there had still been corn laws to exclude the grain? That England no longer occupies the position which she once occupied as the sole manufacturing country, is due, not as Mr. Low grotesquely supposes, to her adoption of free trade, but to the natural and inevitable revival of manufactures in the other nations where they had been annihilated or retarded for the time by the great Napoleonic wars. What European country is so wealthy as Great Britain or financially in so good a position? In what European country are wages so high as there? Mr. Low is not the first political philosopher who has mistaken the wave for the tide. A wave of Protectionism has been flowing, but the tide is on the ebb."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

An analysis of the House as disclosed by the vote gives the following as the standing of the parties:—Liberals, 117; Conservatives, 89; Patrons, 3; Independents, 2; vacant seats, 2. Total, 213. This counts the Speaker and gives Mr. Robertson, East Toronto, to the Conservatives. As the two vacant seats can safely be counted Liberal it makes the majority of straight Liberals over straight Conservatives 30, and over all 26. If the five alleged Independents had all voted with the Opposition the other night the Government majority over all would have been 22.

THE refusal of the six Conservative aldermen of St. Thomas to present an address to Lord Aberdeen on the occasion of his visit to that city this week is an awful thing. But Lord Aberdeen will possibly manage to survive. He must have a big hay barn full of addresses stowed away already and will not miss the St. Thomas contribution. Seriously this action is a disgrace to the city and should be the death warrant of the six Tory aldermen, whose hide-bound partisanship led them to put an insult upon Her Majesty the Queen in the person of her duly accredited representative. The only reason that those civic boors can have for their caddish conduct is their hostility to Lord Aberdeen, arising out of his having refused to sanction shady appointments of a politically dead premier, which Sir Charles Tupper had no more authority from the people to make than had Li Hung Chang. There is a class of fossil Tories to be found, it is to be hoped only in St. Thomas, whose loyalty thrives only on pap. Withdraw the pap and their lip loyalty—loyalty for revenue—parasite loyalty—leech loyalty—turns to insult. The refining influences of civilization do not sure to have penetrated to certain quarters of St. Thomas yet.

Review Day Drew a Larger Crowd Than Usual and the Directors are Ahead Some $10,000 This Year.

Toronto, Sept. 12.

"Review Day" at the Industrial is always a great atraction to the visitors who are anxious to take a last look and to view the parade of the best specimens of live stock that can be found on the continent. The attendance yesterday was larger than usual, and when the last firework had been set off and the gates were closed upon the last visitor the directors found their receipts some $10,000 ahead of last year.

It has been customary in former years to pay the prize money on Saturday, but the treasurer's staff commenced paying yesterday at noon, and before closing last night about $30,000 had been paid out. To-day is Exhibitors' Day, and the grounds will be given over entirely to the exhibitors and teamsters engaged in removing the exhibits. The fine exhibit of the C.P.R. was packed last night, and will be shipped at once to the Montreal Exhibition.

ANOTHER SUFFERER MADE HAPPY.

A Toronto Lady Says That Paine's Celery Compound Accomplishes All That It Claims to do.

Those who are fortunate enough to use Paine's Celery Compound are always blessed physically and mentally. They receive what they most stand in need of—renewed health, vigorous appetite and healthy digestion.

When these blessings are restored to those who have suffered daily for long months, there is a generous flow of pity and sympathy toward others who are bound by the claims of disease and sickness, and a disposition to tell the good news that Paine's Celery Compound cures.

Mrs. Laura Garland, 675 Crawford street, Toronto, was long a sufferer from impaired digestion, causing continual pain in the head. Her appetite was poor and her general condition of health was of such a nature as to cause alarm to her friends. She wisely made use of Paine's Celery Compound, and was made well and strong, as the following extracts from her letter will show:

"Your Paine's Celery Compound has most wonderfully improved my health. Before using it my appetite was poor—almost gone; I was also weak and debilitated, and suffered severely from pains in the head.

"Paine's Celery Compound certainly does all that is claimed for it. I have recommended it to my friends, and they all speak highly of the results received from it. I wish Paine's Celery Compound the success it so richly deserves."

Why Germans Make Good Bread.

I have kept house for twenty years, and flattered myself that I could make fine, light bread; but within the last year I have discovered that the German women make the best bread that ever was eaten. I have also discovered the reason why. It is because they add sugar and lard to the sponge, before thickening it in the morning. Here is a recipe which has been given me, that may please others as it does me. It is for six loaves of bread. Cook three potatoes until tender in one quart of water. Sift half a pint of flour, mix it with the water in which the potatoes were boiled, then add the potatoes after having mashed them. Let the mixture cool and add half a gallon of warm water. Stir in flour until you have a thin batter, then add half a cake of yeast foam, or one cake of home made yeast, which has been soaked in warm water until soft. In the morning, warm the flour before adding it to the sponge. This should be done both winter and summer. Add three tablespoonfuls of sugar, and equal amount of lard and one tablespoonful of salt. Stir the sponge into the warm flour, knead the dough thoroughly, let it rise work it into loaves, let it rise again, and bake one hour.—Minerva R. Bond, in San Francisco Call.

Extreme Case of Heart Disease Cured by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart.

There is comfort in the thought that Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart is seldom unsuccessful. One of the many illustrations is found in the case of James Allen, of St. Stephen, N.B., who says:—"In 1894 I was troubled very much with severe palpitation of the heart, and with pain in my side. My breath was very short, and with the least extra exertion I became fully prostrated from want of breath. I was attended by a physician for a long time. When in considerable distress I visited the local drug store, and my attention was drawn to Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I obtained a bottle and before I took half of it I felt ever so much better, and to-day I am a sound man, owing to the use only of the remedy." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

was informed by him that it was proper to award them.

Mr. Borden said that on looking into the clothing contracts he found one had been awarded for three years from July 1, 1896, and another commencing July 1, 1897, for two years. These contracts were let without tenders being asked for by public advertisement. He had referred the papers to the Department of Justice and had received a carefully prepared opinion from that department stating that the Militia Department had no authority whatever to make these contracts. He proposed, therefore, to annul the contract commencing July 1, 1897. In regard to the three years' contract he would accept that for one year subject to the will of Parliament.

Col. Tisdale said it was a matter of urgency for the department to award the contract in order to get the cheques back to the tenderers. It should be borne in mind also, and any business man would bear him out, that the Government could get better prices for a three-year contract than for one year. That was the justification for the departmental action. He would, however, defer further discussion in the matter until all the papers were brought down.

After some further discussion, the House at half-past 5 got into Committee of Supply.

On the claim of $2000 for salary of the Deputy Speaker, Mr. Foster asked if the Liberals still held the opinion that this was a useless expenditure and unnecessary burden on taxpayers, or was this an instance of change of heart that came from the change of places in the House?

Mr. Laurier disclaimed ever having opposed the Deputy Speakership personally. He believed in following the British practice in this respect.

The item passed, as did the vote for House of Commons regular permanent staff, Mr. Speaker explaining that there had been no dismissals in this class. In the case of permanent sessional writers, the Speaker gave the names of five who had been dismissed for political activity—Messrs. Chagnon, Desrosier, Aube, Letson and Bechard—all of whom, upon inquiry, admitted political activity. Their places had been filled.

Mr. Foster took the ground that being only engaged for the session the employment of these men during the recess was no concern of the House, provided they did not offend morality or make themselves offensive to any member of the House. Besides, he thought the House was entitled to know of the evidence on which they were dismissed.

The Speaker said that the principle he had gone upon was that, being permanent public officers, these gentlemen had no right to interfere in politics. Having done so they had been dismissed.

Sir Charles Tupper asked Mr. Laurier if he purposed laying on the table of the House the letter from General Gascoigne to General Cameron, asking for the latter's resignation of the post of commandant of the Royal Military College. He intimated that it was of the greatest importance that this letter should be brought down.

Mr. Laurier replied: The Government have no objection to the letter being laid on the table, but they consider it as a matter between two officers, and the moment they agree to have the letter brought down it will be brought down.

The case of Mr. Bechard was taken up by Sir Hibbert Tupper, who requested a more definite explanation, that of the Speaker that he had delivered a political speech not being regarded as sufficiently specific. Sir Charles Hibbert also demurred to the proposition that these men should not be free to do as they pleased in all decency when not in the pay of the House.

The Speaker thought Sir Hibbert Tupper was unduly severe upon him for having honestly endeavored to banish politics from the service of the House. But if it came to that there was nothing in the law to prevent him from dismissing all these sessional clerks, and he would be guided as to this by the instructions of the House. (Cheers of Liberal members, "Turn them out!") Mr. Speaker added warmly that as he had done he proposed to do. He was surprised his action should not have elicited the commendation of the hon. gentlemen opposite.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper regretted that the Speaker should have found it necessary to resort to threats.

Mr. Fielding quoted from a newspaper report of a speech by Sir Charles Tupper in 1887, wherein he gave as the reason of the dismissal of a sessional clerk the taking of an offensive part in an election.

Sir Charles Tupper expressed satisfaction at the apparent nearness of the two parties to an agreement on this question. He stood by every word of that speech. He would not ask the Government to spare a man who had acted as an offensive partisan.

Mr. Somerville contended that the Speaker had not done his duty fully. He should have dismissed all sessional writers. It was time the Liberals got their share. The Tories had enjoyed the sweets of office long enough. It was the Liberals' turn now. It was tough on the Tories, but they must learn to take their medicine like little men (Ministerial applause and Opposition laughter.)

Sir Adolphe Caron was amazed that such a sentiment should be heard in a Canadian Parliament. It might have been looked for in the Congress of the United States, but not here. (Cheers.)

Subsequently Mr Clancy pointed out that three weeks before the election of the Speaker Mr. Bechard had received a letter from a clerk notifying him that he need not return to his sessional duties, having taken part in the election.

The discussion was continued with great vigor and finally the item was disposed of along with three others.

Before the adjournment of the House Sir Charles Tupper said Gen. Cameron was anxious that the letter from Gen. Gascoigne re the former's resignation, should be presented to Parliament, and he urged that the Government should secure the letter for the information of Parliament.

The House adjourned at 12.15 a.m.

MADE STRONG AGAIN.

For the Sake of Others a Grateful Woman Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Napanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

Shiloh's Cure, the great Cough and Croup Cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses only 25c. Children love it. Sold by John Nugent, 289 George Street.

ALMOST SAWN IN TWO.

The Terrible Accident Which Happened to Elijah Wismer at Essex Yesterday.

Essex, Ont., Sept. 11.—An accident, which resulted in the death of Elijah Wismer, happened in the sawmill of Charles E. Naylor here to-day. Wismer's work is to equalize the length of the bolts by running them between two saws, and it is supposed in passing it through he placed his side against the log, and the saw passed through it unnoticed, cutting him terribly from the knee up to the armpit, severing the ribs. Medical aid was summoned, but he died an hour afterwards. He leaves a wife and three small children.

FATAL SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

Robert George Dies at the General Hospital From Gangrene.

Toronto, Sept. 12.

Robert George, a fisherman of Waubaushene, who was brought to the General Hospital last night at 9 o'clock, died at midnight.

Thursday he was out hunting in a boat with a couple of friends, on the Severn River. A gun, which was lying in the boat, was accidentally discharged, the charge landing in George's elbow. When brought to the hospital, it was found necessary, owing to gangrene, to amputate the arm above the elbow. The patient rallied after the operation, but finally succumbed to the shock.

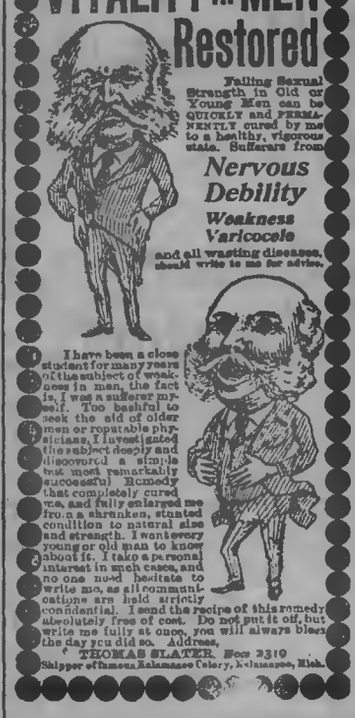
VITALITY in MEN Restored



Failing Sexual Strength in Old or Young Men can be QUICKLY and PERMANENTLY cured by me to a healthy, vigorous state. Sufferers from Nervous Debility, Weakness, Varicocele and all wasting diseases, should write to me for advice.

I have been a close student for many years of the subject of weakness in men, the fact is, I was a sufferer myself. Too bashful to seek the aid of older men or reputable physicians, I investigated the subject deeply and discovered a simple but most remarkably successful Remedy that completely cured me, and fully enlarged me from a shrunken, stunted condition to natural size and strength. I want every young or old man to know about it. I take a personal interest in each case, and no one need hesitate to write me, as all communications are held strictly confidential. I send the recipe of this remedy absolutely free of cost. Do not put it off, but write me fully at once, you will always bless the day you did so. Address,

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Visitors to the above who are musically inclined should carefully inspect The MASON & RISCH PIANO exhibit. Our stand is the first one on the left as you enter the Musical Pavilion. Our exhibit is not a large one, as we believe that the beautiful tones of instruments can be more fully appreciated in the quiet of our warerooms than amidst the bustle and confusion of an exhibition. We shall therefore make our principal exhibit at our warerooms, 32 King St. W., to which all visitors are cordially invited.

One of the most valuable paintings at the Art Gallery in the exhibition building will be the famous portrait of the Great Pianist Franz Liszt which was painted at his command by Baron Joukovsky, the Great Russian Artist, and presented to Messrs Mason & Risch as a tribute to the wonderful tone qualities of their Pianos. Every lover of Art should make it a point to see this painting. It is valued by experts at $5000.00.

WE HAVE NOT CHANGED OUR DECISION

To retire from business as quickly as circumstances will permit. But, as the Fall trade approaches we find ourselves with a large and varied stock of high-class Staple Dry Goods, which cannot be moved out without being well assorted with New Fall lines of the latest, leading Novelties of 1896.

We shall continue, therefore, during the Fall and early Winter months to keep a regular assortment of the leading Novelties for fashionable

Fall Wear.

The buying has been done with extreme care, but the stocks are comprehensive enough to satisfy every need, ranging from the newest things in SILK AND WOOL DRESS GOODS, for the super-fashionable, to the simplest effects in the quietest materials for people to whom a dollar is a dollar, or sometimes more.

It must not be forgotten, however that our chief object is still to get entirely out of business. This will have its full effect on prices, and the new goods will have to share in the same general reduction necessary to accomplish a prompt clearance of the entire stock.

Tuesday Evening, Sept. 29th in St. Paul's Church.

Can Join in the Service.

A telephone has been placed in St. Andrew's church pulpit by Mr. Mallet in order that his sister-in-law, Mrs. Adams, who is an invalid, may hear the discourse and join in the service, although confined to her room in his residence on Rubidge street, near Charlotte.

The Guard of Honour.

At a meeting of the officers of the 57th Battalion last evening it was decided to call out a guard of honour to the number of 100 men for the Governor General on the occasion of his visit to Peterborough on September 22nd. The squad will be in charge of one of the senior officers. The arrangements will be further perfected at a later date.

Leased the Tremont House.

Mr. John Craig, of Peterborough, has leased the Tremont House, Lakefield. The License Commissioners have issued him a license. This fine House is being thoroughly refitted internally—repainted repapered, and being generally placed in firstclass condition. Mr. Craig takes possession immediately and the hotel will be open for the public as soon as the repairs can be completed.

Sixty Cases of New Shoes.

Boxes upon boxes chock full of new Fall Shoes, have been opened out at Gough Bros. during the past few days. Simply a legitimate result of bettering each season's best. The result is we can not and will not be undersold, but we can and will undersell in any and all lines of Fall Shoes. GOUGH BROS.

A Windsor Tribute of Respect.

Dr. Burnham, chairman of the Board of Education, received the following telegram yesterday afternoon:

WINDSOR, Sept. 11.

If Wherry not buried, procure wreath and send account. W. S. CODY, (For Windsor Teachers).

Though this message was received after the late inspector's remains were interred, it shows in what high respect Mr. Wherry was held by the teachers of Windsor, with whom he had been so long and intimately associated. He came from Windsor to Peterborough.

Prof. Dorenwend.

Ladies and gentlemen who require hair goods should not forget that Prof. Dorenwend, the great hair goods artist, will be Peterborough, at Huffman House, on Tuesday, Sept. 22nd, with new samples of the very latest and most becoming styles in Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, wavy and curly Trouts, Switches in every length and shade. His skill is well known as is practically demonstrated by the thousands who wear his goods. As this is to be his last trip this fall, those in need of his art should call on him. This summer he has visited all the large and leading American cities, where he picked up suggestions to assist his ideas of new styles which he shows on this visit. His stay is limited, so be there on time.

OUR DEAF AND DUMB.

The Provincial Institute at Belleville Opens on Wednesday Next.

The Provincial Institute for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb opens on Wednesday next for the reception of pupils after the summer holidays.

Peterborough will contribute her quota to the two hundred odd students who will assemble at the railway stations all over the province on Wednesday next on their way to the institute. The pupils from this section are noted as amongst the very brightest who go to Belleville and their smiling faces are well known to the residents of the town who welcome them home each spring, when the institution closes for three months. A number from town have graduated, but those who are in attendance now are John Mapes, John E. Crough, Ernest A. Lawson, Mary E. Derocher and Gertie Pilling.

REV. MR. SHOREY IN REQUEST.

Invited to Stay in Lindsay for the Fourth Year.

The Lindsay Post says: At a joint meeting of the Quarterly and Trustee Boards of the Cambridge street Methodist church, held last evening, the Rev. S. J. Shorey received an invitation to remain for the fourth year as pastor of that church. Mr. Shorey will take two weeks to give his reply. No minister has given more general satisfaction than has Mr. Shorey during his pastorate in Lindsay, and the members of his congregation, as well as the citizens, will be pleased if he can see his way clear to accept.

—A newspaper man is sometimes called upon to advertise a raffle or to do printing therefor, and does not care to do so, as it is contrary to the law. Down east a journalist, on being requested to announce a raffle for a cow, evaded the law by advertising the affair as a "milk shake."

—The official circular has been issued for the ninth annual convention of the Dominion Women's Christian Temperance Union. It will be held in Toronto from November 6 to 10 next. The greatest question to settle at this convention is whether Toronto or Montreal is to have the honour of the great world's W. C. T. U. convention of 1899.

—A Hamburg young man has just had his sanity proved by the Roentgen rays. He declared ten years ago that he had a bullet in his head which he had fired into it in trying to commit suicide. He complained of the pain and, as he attacked his keepers and the doctors could find no trace of a wound, he was locked up as a dangerous lunatic. The Roentgen rays have now shown the exact place of the bullet.

The Late Octave Tromley.

Yesterday Mr. Octave Tromley, Sherbrooke street, whose serious illness was noted in the EXAMINER a day or two ago, succumbed to his illness and passed away, at the advanced age of eighty-two years, lacking a few days. The deceased was born at Longueil, County Chateauquay, Province of Quebec. He came to reside permanently in Peterborough 22 years ago, but has been an occasional resident for 45 years. He leaves behind to mourn his loss a widow and five children, viz., Napoleon, Simcoe street; John, Charlotte street; Mrs. D. Truscott, Mrs. V. Thearon, and Mrs. T. Dame, Pembina, Dakota. The funeral takes place from the family residence, 388 Sherbrooke street, on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Make the Most of Yourself.

It is the duty of every man to make the most of himself. Whatever his capacities may be, he is sure to find some place where he can be useful to himself and to others. But he cannot reach his highest usefulness without good health and he cannot have good health without pure blood. The blood circulates to every organ and tissue when it is pure, rich and healthy it carries health to the entire system, but if it is impure it scatters disease wherever it flows. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one true blood purifier. It cures salt rheum, scrofula, catarrh, dyspepsia, and rheumatism, because these diseases have their origin in the blood.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRIES RESPECTING PETERBOROUGH.

The Search Light to be Turned on Matters of Local Importance—Mr. Lang's Volley of Questions.

The following is taken from the official report of the votes and proceedings of Parliament for September 9th. It indicates that the representative for East Peterborough does not mean to be remiss in his duty so far as the obtaining of information is concerned. This information sought will doubtless be interesting and valuable to the electors of the county.

STONY LAKE ISLANDS.

Mr. Lang—On Friday next—Inquiry of Ministry—Are the islands in Stony and Clear Lakes, in the County of Peterborough, under the jurisdiction and control of the Dominion Government?

2. Were they ever surveyed, and, if so, what is the number and acreage of each of the several islands in each lake, the cost of survey of each island and the total cost of the survey of the islands in these lakes?

3. Have any of them been disposed of? If so, to whom, at what price, and under what conditions?

4. In whose hands were the sales of these islands, if sold, price, and what was the cost in connection with such sales, if any?

AS TO THE "EMPIRE."

Mr. Lang—On Friday next—Inquiry of Ministry—Is the steamer "Empire," used by the superintending engineer of the Trent Valley waters, the property of the Dominion? If so, when was it acquired and from whom, and what was the cost and what has been the total expense for operating the steamer since its acquirement? What is the size of the steamer, and of what material is it constructed, and what has been the cost for repairs?

LAKEFIELD DAM.

Mr. Lang—On Friday next—Inquiry of Ministry—Has the dam across the river at the village of Lakefield, county of Peterborough, been assumed by the Dominion? If so, from whom was it obtained? What was the amount of compensation, the date of transfer, and the amount of expenditure for the maintenance and repairs since its acquirement by the Government? Is there a caretaker, and, if so, when was he appointed? Who is he, and what is the nature of his duties, and what is his salary?

LANDS FOR CANAL PURPOSES.

Mr. Lang—On Friday next—Inquiry of Ministry—Has any person or persons been appointed to value the lands in the County of Peterborough acquired for the purposes of the Trent Valley Canal? If so, what lands, with number of lot and concession, have been conveyed under such provisions, from whom purchased, and the monetary consideration, and what is the name of the valuator or valuators, and the amount of their remuneration?

ELECTION CANAL EMPLOYEES.

Mr. Lang—On Friday next—Order of the House for a Return showing the names of persons employed by the Government during the month of June, 1896, in the Counties of Peterborough and Victoria in connection with the construction or maintenance of the Trent Valley Canal or on other public works or special work, in what capacity, and the amount paid or the amount due each.

COMPENSATION FOR DAMAGED LANDS.

Mr. Lang—On Friday next—Order of the House for a Return showing the names of persons, if any, who have been compensated by Government in respect of damages to land through the construction of the Trent Valley Canal in the County of Peterborough, giving the names, with lot and concession, of owners of damaged lands, the amount of compensation, the date of payment, the name of the person or persons appraising the damages and the amount of such persons' remuneration therefor.

CUSTOMS IRREGULARITIES.

Mr. Lang—On Friday next—Inquiry of Ministry—Is it the intention of the Government to have a thorough and complete investigation, by an expert officer, of the books, etc., in the office of Her Majesty's Customs at the port of Peterborough, so that, as far as possible, the defalcations of the late Collector, C. H. Clementi, may be ascertained? Did the Government obtain any security from the collector when appointed to the office? If so, what was the nature of the security? Is it good for the amount stated therein? Is it the intention of the Government to institute criminal proceedings against the late collector for his systematic robbery of the moneys of Her Majesty's Customs?

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

A Splendid Programme of Special Attractions.

The full programme of special attractions for the Peterborough Central Exhibition on Sept. 21—23 will appear in the next issue of the Weekly and in an early issue of the Daily EXAMINER—the hour of the arrival of Lord and Lady Aberdeen will be stated and the special attractions dealt with in detail. It may be mentioned that these will include the following:—

The Royal Canadian Dragoons—a troop from the regiment consisting of the most soldierly and most centaur-like riders of the most superb horses that are to be found in any military menage in the world. The horses seem to have almost human intelligence and co-operate with their trained steel-muscled riders in the performance of almost incredible feats of address dexterity and risk, including daring cavalry onsets, realistic cavalry charges, the rescue of fallen comrades from the mimic battlefield, tilting at the rings, fierce hand-to-hand sabre set-tos, tent-pegging, and numerous other forms of equestric exploits. The musical ride of the Dragoons is also a wonder. The band plays strains in different measures of time and rythm and the horses with their almost human intelligence keep exact time and sharp note of the several changes. The Royal Canadian Dragoons furnish an entertainment that is the delight of all who have witnessed the splendid acts of both men and horses. The terpsichorean entertainment of the Misses Tyrens and Evalina, danseuses Italiennes, includes all the varied and beautiful forms that the modern development of dancing specialties has brought out. These expert artists appeared at the Toronto Industrial and literally took the people by storm, and it was they whom Li Hung Chang, the great Chinese potentate, took such an especial and personal interest in. These dancing damsels held the spectators spell-bound by the magic of their "many twinkling feet."

These and various other special performances will take place in front of the grand stand in full view of all and at night the grounds will be brilliantly illuminated by electricity and enlivened by the strains of music from the bands.

Tuesday, the day of the formal opening, will be the school children's and citizens' day. The C. P. R. will run passenger trains both east and west at 10 o'clock p.m. on exhibition nights to enable visitors to return home the same day if they so desire and the Grand Trunk will run specials at the same time to Belleville, Port Hope and Lindsay.

The secretary wishes to call the attention of proposing exhibitors, that their entries must be in not later than Wednesday, Sept. 19th, as he does not propose breaking the Sabbath by recording entries on Sunday. Exhibitors may get their entry tags at the Exhibition office on the grounds on Monday morning.

The large number of entries received to date show that the exhibits, apart from the special attractions, will be far ahead of any previous year.

Every man should read the advertisement of Thos. Slater, on page 3 of this paper.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Charlie Brodigan's condition is much improved to-day.

Miss Rye, of town, is the guest of Mrs. C. F. Thompson, Harwood.

Mr. John A. Fowler was calling on old friends in Port Hope yesterday.

Mr. Bert Armstrong is getting about again after a rather severe, though short, illness.

Mrs. Norah Shelvin, of Chesterville, is in town visiting her son, Mr. J. P. Shelvin, No. 229 King street.

Mrs. Charles B. Robinson is visiting her brother, Mr. W. A. Russell, of Port Hope. She is accompanied by her son Fred.

The Port Hope Guide says,—Mrs. Andrew Olver and children, who for the past three weeks has been visiting friends in Peterborough, returned home to-day.

On Thursday Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., sailed by steamer Labrador from Liverpool for home. His many friends will wish him a pleasant voyage and safe return.

The many friends of Miss Daisy Eyre, Cobourg, are much pleased to know that she is able to be about again after her recent illness. Miss Eyre is frequently a guest of the Misses Calcutt.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun has telegraphed announcing his arrival in Quebec at 10 o'clock this morning. He expects to arrive in Peterborough on Monday, with Mrs. Dennistoun after a favourable passage.

She Might Have, Who Knows?

At a wedding a few days ago in a town not far from this an amusing blunder was made. The groom had arranged that when the bridal party were leaving the house the pianist was to play "Only one girl in the world for me." All went well until the time came for the musician to play this melody, when, by some unaccountable mistake, the young lady at the piano struck up "She may have seen better days." The remarks of the groom are not recorded.

A Vancouver Fruiter.

In British Columbia rheumatism is very prevalent, and very hard to cure owing to dampness of atmosphere. Mr. W. F. Beggs, the well-known fruiter of Vancouver, B.C., says:—"I suffered intense pain for over four years from rheumatism of the ankles and feet. I doctored with everyone, even employing a Toronto specialist to treat me, but could not get cured, and had almost given up in despair. A friend told me how South American Rheumatic Cure had acted in his case and advised me to try it. The very first bottle gave me immediate relief, and I am now on my second bottle and almost entirely cured. I consider it the only cure for rheumatism." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Archie Wasn't in It.

Thursday morning, says the Bobcaygeon Independent, Archie Moore, constable of Peterborough, arrived to serve some summons, and by chance met at the Rockland William Hendren, of Norwood. About a year and a half ago Hendron worked for John Camerun, grocer, of Peterborough, and was charged with taking goods from the store. A warrant was issued but he got away and was supposed to be in Chicago. Wednesday he and a partner turned up here with a phonograph they were exhibiting. As soon as Hendren caught sight of Moore he made a bound out of the door, and across the Swing bridge. He had stated in the morning that he was a professional runner, and when it was seen what sort of a pace he could cut out, it was not doubted in the least. Moore was not in the race at all, and Hendren easily got away into the bush back of Wolfram's.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Another Wabash R. R. official has joined the Grand Trunk staff—Mr. John Irwin, who has been appointed trainmaster of the 6th and 7th districts, with headquarters at Belleville.

The Grand Trunk station at Haliburton is now undergoing extensive repairs. Head Carpenter Cairns and a gang of men are at work, and will be followed by the painters.

On Wednesday evening, while a couple of men were cleaning out a van lying in the Lindsay yard, near the freight shed, an engine backed up against it with considerable force. The men were hurled to the far end of the van, and one of them had his knee injured so seriously that he is now under the care of a physician.

Yesterday morning Mr. Fred Henry, of Lindsay, one of the crew of the yard shunting engine, met with a painful accident. While the shunter was moving cars on Sadler, Dundas & Flavelle Co.'s switch, near the elevator, he got his right hand caught while making a coupling, the result being that the middle finger was nipped off at the second joint.

IN FAVOUR WITH THE DOCTORS.

Dr. Godbout, M. P., Beauce, Que., Speaks in Highest Terms of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

When a member of the medical profession, hedged in as he is by a large measure of conservatism, expresses an opinion of a proprietary medicine it means a good deal. Dr. Godbout the popular member in the House of Commons, of Beauce, Quebec, speaks in highest terms of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, not alone as a professional man, knowing the nature of this remedy, but from personal experience. He has used the medicine for catarrh, and freely lets the public know of the remarkable, speedy, and effective nature of the medicine in all cases of the kind. One puff of the Powder gives relief in 10 minutes. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

ENDED AT LAST.

After Two Years of Misery Endured Backache Succumbs to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Madoc, (Special) Aug. 31.—In a place like this, people suffer and sympathize, hope and mourn with each other. But her many friends here, as elsewhere, who have long been aware of the precarious health and long suffering of Mrs. J. Fergusson will be pleased to learn that her painful sufferings have ended at last, and that instead of being unable, as she says, "to turn herself in bed" she is herself once more as the result of using a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She further says that from the third day after commencing to use these pills, she was free from all pain; and, that now she feels as well as ever before in her life.

CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE MISSIONARY WORK.

HOW IT IS PROGRESSING IN THE CHINESE EMPIRE.

Rev. Mr. Lalacheur's Graphic Account of the Evangelization of the Great Celestial Empire—The Alliance Has 120 Missionaries There.

A very large congregation assembled at the Bethany mission last night to hear Rev. Mr. Lalacheur, the returned missionary from China, the fame of whose power of eloquence preceded him to Peterborough. For two hours the large assemblage sat and listened to him, as with graphic tongue and words of thrilling interest he related the experiences of the missionaries to China. The address was rendered more interesting by means of a map, upon which the speaker indicated the different stations at which missionaries were posted and related in many cases their first experiences after taking possession.

He explained, in starting, that China was the largest, as well as the oldest, nation in the world, a quarter of the earth's population residing within its boundaries.

NOTWITHSTANDING THE DENSITY of its population, it was so destitute of missionary labour that there was only one minister to every 170,000 souls. Of the missionaries already at work in the empire, 120 have been sent out by the Christian Alliance. Forty-two missionary societies are represented in the 2,351 preachers of the gospel who are in this field. The Alliance Missionary Board has only been organized eight years, yet already they have placed 300 missionaries in the different mission fields. It is interdenominational as well as international and represents all the evangelical churches, working in such harmony that the heathen take knowledge of it. The Chinese have gods for everything. The blacksmith has his own particular god, as has the carpenter, and neither will worship the fetish of the other. Thus when the Chinese discover a division in the church on the mission field they are led to believe that the Christians have a Saviour for every denomination, but when all work in harmony then they know that the Christians have but one God and look upon the

as the one salvation. All missionaries work together, therefore, in China. They are one in Him on the mission field.

In order to give an idea of the density of the population of China as compared with Canada, the speaker stated that there was not a province in all the Empire but had more millions in it than in all Canada.

He spoke of Shanghai, the great open port where all foreigners have to land and spoke of its appearance from the sea as being distinctly European on account of the foreigners having erected a great city on the shores. The native city is about half a mile further inland and it is here that Edward Evans, a Canadian, has a grand work in his Home.

The Christian missionary, the speaker stated, could not go directly into the work of evangelization as soon as he landed in China, but had to spend about two years first in a Training Home, where the language was studied. Great care had to be exercised in this particular, as very little misunderstanding frequently created a riot. One native teacher took two missionaries in hand.

NEITHER COULD SPEAK

a word of the language of the other and thus the labour of acquiring the different intonations in the strange tongue was commenced. The Chinese language was essentially one of the tones. There were nine distinct tones and one word might mean as many different things as the tones which applied to it. The missionaries studied only six hours a day, as no risk could be taken of a break down in health, such as so frequently occurred when care was not exercised in this particular.

In answer to the question, "Does it pay?" the speaker stated that the average in conversions was greater than the average in America. In 1853, just forty-three years ago, there were 350 converted Chinese in the empire. To-day there are 70,000 church members, or an average of 1,600 for the 43 years.

Mr. Lalacheur mentioned the faculty of imitation which is so largely developed in the Chinese, and stated that in the beginning they took more knowledge of the life than of the preaching of the missionary.

An interesting anecdote was the speaker's reference to the work as it was begun in Wonsa, a large market town, on the Yang-tse river. After anchoring in the river, off the town, one evening, by his companion to wear native attire, for, as the place had refused to allow missionaries to land before, he feared a riot would ensue. The venerable missionary, however, had no such fear within his soul, and arising first in the morning he made a tour of the city before his companion was awake. The natives evinced no hostility.

HE WAS BESOUGHT

Later on in the morning he asked his friend to go with him but, not knowing that he had already been out, the other missionary refused to stir unless Mr. Lalacheur donned a native costume. Mr. Lalacheur therefore took a number of books to sell and ventured forth alone. He soon had a big crowd around him, all of whom evinced the liveliest curiosity particularly regarding his wearing apparel. One fellow more inquisitive than the rest started to unbutoon the missionaries clothes to see what was beneath them. In this he was assisted by Mr. Lalacheur until his curiosity was satisfied. The missionary then started to treat the native in the same way. The fellow but the crowd, seeing the joke, hemmed him in and as the missionary undressed him a laugh was raised, and a foothold for the missionary was thus established. One of the missionaries put in charge of the new station was Miss Hawkins, of Peterborough, and she still resides there, carrying on a grand work of evangelization and having a large class of women. Another experience, not quite so pleasant, in which the speaker participated, was when a couple of young missionaries from another town on the Yangtse River sent him word that they had received warning to leave. He hurried to their aid and after a night of prayer they decided to remain and fight against the dark cloud, even if their lives were taken as a forfeit for their boldness. For ten days whenever they walked the streets they were followed and stoned, but they never even turned their heads and the Chinese soon tired, saying amongst themselves that the "Christian devils" did not know that stones were being thrown at them.

THIS HAD BEEN DONE

by the Governor's order only a few years ago and now the missionary's wife goes to the Governor's residence three times a week to teach the family English.

Grit and grace you see, continued the speaker, are two of the essentials in a missionary. Once the missionaries had been driven out of this city they could never have obtained a foothold again. He, himself, was naturally a coward but when the power of God puts strength into the soul then gates of hell cannot prevail against the church of God.

Thibet had always been the point where the Alliance had been anxious to obtain a foothold, but missionaries were never allowed to even cross the border. As the treaty between England and Thibet was purely commercial, England would not allow the missionaries to enter the territory. Miss Taylor, however, had crossed the border, as all knew, as a traveller selling books and as her books were Bibles she was accomplishing much good.

Two young missionaries had crossed the entire Empire to get at Thibet from the China side and so wonderfully had they been blessed that Christie coming upon a Thibetan temple soon after crossing the border entered in and accosting the high priests told who he was and asked to be allowed to stay and study with them in order that he might better explain the great truth. Strange to say the high priests at once accepted the proposition and, thank God, concluded the speaker, Thibet is fallen.

Before closing the meeting, Rev. Dr. Wilson explained that the story of the success of the work in China was the story of the success in Africa, India, South America and the other points where the Alliance was forwarding the work of Evangelisation.

C. G. GEMMELL,

The Peterborough Corset Factory, and Ladies' Underwear, Waists, Blouses, Fancy Goods. No. 325 George Street, opposite Market Arcade.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. Worry and work and care and anxiety count for nothing against the smoothly dainty, clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Nothing equals that—nothing compensates for the loss of it. The woman who has not borne a child has never come to the real fullness of womanhood. Over thirty years ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by thirty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It serves but one purpose. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of those children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates. Thousands of homes have been made happy by its use. Thousands of letters like this one from Mrs. W. P. Cain, of Clinton, Allegheny Co., Pa., who writes: "I was affected with all sorts of female trouble. I tried three doctors, and seven kinds of patent medicine, and found no relief. My husband said 'try Dr. Pierce's medicine.' I told him I might as well throw his money in the fire as to try anything more. I had lost all hope. I had not taken more than half a bottle, when I could eat and sleep well. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and several vials of his 'Pellets.' One year after I gave birth to a fine baby girl. I got along so much better than when my other child was born. Three of my friends are taking your medicines, and are improving." Yours truly.

Mrs. W. P. Cain.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1008 page doctor book, profusely illustrated, of which 680,000 have been sold at $1.50 a copy will be sent FREE on receipt of 21 cents to cover customs and mailing only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

TURNING THE TABLES.

She Wanted Her Husband's Opinion About Many Trivial Points in Dress.

A certain uptown Clevelander is the happy possessor of a marital interest in a very pretty and accomplished lady. She is fond of nice clothes and always looks well dressed, and her husband is just as proud of her as he should be, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. But from a technical point of view he knows nothing whatever about her garments, and it bothers him greatly when she assumes that he does. She fires broadsides of questions at him whenever she is dressing to accompany him. "George, how does my skirt hang?" "Is it too long in front?" "Does my belt cover the pins?" "Do you really think this gown is becoming?" "Is my collar down at the back?" "Are there any wrinkles in this waist?" "Is my hat on straight?" These and a hundred other interrogations are fired at him at short intervals. If he doesn't pay close attention she gets cross. So he pretends to listen carefully, and answers glibly, although always at random.

The other day a neat way of getting even dawned upon him. When he was dressing that night for a neighborhood porch party he suddenly called his wife from an adjoining room.

"Alma," he said, "do you think these new trousers hang just as gracefully as they should?"

"Why, George," she said, "I don't know anything about it. Why do you bother me?"

"Hold on," said George, "I was wondering if this shirt bosom sits quite right?"

"Of course it does," snapped Alma.

"And these shoes—do you really think they are becoming to my complexion?"

"What a silly question."

"And—hold on, Alma—isn't the coat a little long in the tails—on one side, I mean—and can't you pin it up?"

"Why, George, I never heard you talk such nonsense. You haven't been drinking, have you?"

"And—just wait a minute, Alma." He quickly raised his silk hat from the dresser and clapped it on the back of his head. "Now, dear, please pay attention. Is my hat on straight?"

Then she understood his wicked little game.

They walked together in silence until they came in sight of the neighbor's porch, and the deeply wounded Alma managed to stammer:

"Well, George, you mean old thing, is my hat really and truly on straight?"

Whereat they both laughed.

Nature's Voices.

To the discerning ear, nature has many voices. She has a message in the sweet tones of the brook as it rushes down the hillside in ocean's moody voices, now rippling with gentlest cadence upon the golden sands, anon in deep boisterous voice as she lashes the beach with foam. Then the voice of trees which the laughing winds bear to our ears, of sunshine and shade, of hill and valley, of birds and flowers. But she comes in pain too, the voice of the stinging, aching corn speaks impressively, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the worst corn in twenty-four hours, painlessly and without leaving sore spots.

Her Cake.

Mrs. Cook (who prides herself upon her rich cake)—Have a piece of this cake, Mrs. Nareve; you needn't be afraid of it; it's not at all rich.

Mrs. Nareve (eating)—There, that's just the kind of cake that suits me. Them that want rich cake can have it. Just give me a piece of common cheap stuff; it's good enough for me! —Boston Transcript.

A Good Thing to Be.

"Wish I was a squash vine," sobbed Wilbur, after he had been punished for trampling down the corn. "Squash vines can run all about the garden, and nobody complains."—Harper's Round Table.

There is nothing to prevent anyone concocting a mixture and calling it "sarsaparilla," and there is nothing to prevent anyone spending good money testing the stuff; but prudent people who wish to be sure of their remedy, take only Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and so get cured.

For cholera morbus, cholera infantum, cramps, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, and summer complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for nearly 500 years.

THE GREAT ASSASSIN

Is What Mr. Gladstone Always Calls the Sultan.

ENGLAND URGED TO TAKE ACTION

To Stop the Massacre of Christians in Turkey—Mr. Asquith, Formerly Home Secretary, Hopes Public Opinion Will be Vigorously Pressed on the Government.

London, Sept. 11.—A petition addressed to the Lord Mayor is being signed, asking him to summon a meeting of citizens to assure the Government, in taking effective measures to stop the reign of terror in Turkey, of the unanimous support of the citizens.

Miss Frances Willard has written a letter to 10,000 local Women's Christian Temperance Unions in the United States and Canada appealing to them to organize meetings to co-operate with England in stopping the massacres of Christians by Turks.

The Executive Committee of the British Arbitration Association lately informed Mr. Gladstone that the association intended to deal with the Armenian question at the coming International Peace Congress, which will be held at Buda Pest.

THE GREAT ASSASSIN.

Mr. Gladstone replied: "Remonstrance with him whom I always wish to call the Great Assassin would not be of the smallest value unless it were known to include a firm intention to resort to measures of coercion in case of need. The remonstrances of the six powers during the last twelve months have not been mere failures or a simple mockery, but a great instrument of mischief, for they all along implied that such a matter can be disposed of by discussion, and thereby supplied wholesale and deliberate murde rwith the only assistance it wanted, namely, assurance of impunity. I, therefore, venture to hope that you do not contemplate recommending a further prolongation of simply verbal discussion. Even silence would be preferable."

BRITAIN URGED TO ACT.

London, Sept. 11.—The Right Hon. Herbert Asquith, formerly Home Secretary, has sent a message to The Chronicle on the Turkish question, saying that Great Britain should have refused to hold further terms with a Government which has become a mere instrument for executing the purposes of a will that is either criminal or insane. The European powers, he adds, cannot condone the past crimes of the Porte or ignore future dangers. Mr. Asquith concludes his message with an expression of the hope that there will be shortly witnessed such a manifestation of public opinion as will give strength and authority to decided action on the part of Great Britain.

The Chronicle to-morrow will publish nine columns of letters against the Sultan and reports of meetings held to express indignation against the massacre of Christians. In a leader the paper censures ex-Prime Minister Rosebery for his silence on the subject of Turkish atrocities.

New Names for Militia Officers.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—(Special.)—The time-honored appellations "deputy adjutant general" and "brigade major" are now things of the past. Hereafter the former office will be known as "district officer commanding" and the latter as "district staff officer."

Field officers and adjutants of garrison artillery, engineers and infantry not in possession of a certificate of equitation are required to qualify for such before June 30, 1898.

FOUND A JEWEL.

An Important Find by a Brockville Jeweller.

Mr. Joseph Lane, the well-known jeweller of Brockville, says: "For some years I have suffered with severe pains in my back and sides and flashes of heat between my shoulders. I had a tired, wornout feeling.

"The numerous medicines that I took gave me very little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try a box, and got one at Curry's drugstore.

"After the first two or three doses I felt much relieved, and the longer I took them the greater the change for the better in my condition. I am much better in every respect and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from kidney trouble as the best remedy I know of."

BLAZE AT HAMILTON.

The Chemical Works of F. F. Dalley & Co. Damaged to the Extent of $3000—Loss Covered by Insurance.

Hamilton, Sept. 11.—(Special.)—About 4.15 this afternoon fire broke out in the top storey of the factory and warehouse of F. F. Dalley & Co., Hughson-street south, and for an hour it blazed away at a lively rate, although it was really under control in a half-hour. The effective work of Chief Atcheson and the fire brigade confined the fire to one wing of the building, which is close to a number of large buildings. The fire originated from a kettle of resin and turpentine boiling over, and being in close proximity to combustibles there was soon a big blaze. W. Whitney, a boy employed in the factory, and working over the kettle, was badly burned about the arms and face. The loss is estimated at $3000, covered by insurance.

British Brig Wrecked.

Nassau, N.P., Sept. 11.—The British brig Varuna, Captain Brown, of Liverpool, N.S., was wrecked on Rum Cay, Bahamas, on Sept. 3, while en route from Aux Cayes, Hayti, for New York. The vessel was lost, but her crew, cargo of logwood and materials were saved.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

WOMEN AS THEY PASS

PORTRAIT OF MISS C. SMITH, WHO SCORES CYCLE WOMEN.

A Stuart Queen Who Is Homely and Disagreeable—Miss Barton Decorated, and Now the Head of the Red Cross Society Is in the Order of the Melusine.

Princess Louis of Bavaria, who is regarded by the English Jacobites as the de jure queen of Great Britain, being the last lineal descendant of the Stuarts, is remarkable for the homliness of her appearance, the size of her family and the disagreeable nature of her character. She has no less than fourteen children, and her three eldest boys have each of them distinguished themselves by running away from home on account of the harshness of parental treatment and the ridiculous smallness of the monetary allowance accorded to them. Thus at the time when Prince Charles, the second son, bolted a couple of years ago to Hamburg with the intention of shipping as a sailor before the mast, the fact was brought to light that, although he was more than 19 years of age and an officer of one of the crack regiments at Muhloh, he was restricted by his father and mother to $2 a week pocket money.

Princess Louis has never yet given any sign of acceptance of the allegiance offered to her by those ultra-Legitimists of Great Britain who style themselves members of the Order of the White Rose, and who use a postage stamp with her portrait on their letters (this stamp, not being recognised by the postal union, had to be supplemented, of course, by an ordinary stam placed alongside). She is probably content with the knowledge that she is destined in course of time to become Queen of Bavaria, a kingdom in which she already occupies the positon of first lady, for the present king is under restraint as an incurable lunatic, and her father-in-law, who rules the country as regent, is an aged man, well on toward the eighties. Her husband, who has recently attracted much public attention by the sensational speech which he delivered at Moscow, declaring that the princes of the confederation known as the German empire were not vassals of the Emperor, but allies of the King of Prussia, and his equal in rank, is a middle-sized, heavy-featured man, with a long black beard and small, stern eyes. He is famous for his knowledge of entomology, and may be described as the leading bug-hunter in Germany. Deeply versed in the habits of ants, beetles, bees, wasps, flies, earwigs and even of that diminutive game which Mark Twain so graphically describes as chamois, no insect that is congenially addicted to flying, crawling or wriggling is unfamiliar to Bavaria's future king.

Big ads. are needed to bad medicines. Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound has merit alone to commend it.

Dear Sirs: I cannot praise Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound too highly, and I think its tonic and restorative qualities cannot be surpassed. I was feeling poorly for some time through overwork and nature I had taken one bottle of your medicine, I felt completely better. Yours truly,

MISS BARTON DECORATED.

Head of the Red Cross Society in the Order of Melusine.

Miss Clara Barton, who has recently been engaged in the work among the Armenians in the interest of the Red Cross Society, has just been decorated with the Order of Melusine. This order of knighthood was conferred upon her by His Royal Highness Guy de Lusignan, Prince of Jerusalem, Cyprus and Armenia.

This is not the first time that Miss Barton has received such a distinction. For her services during the Franco-Prussian war she was decorated by both the Emperor of Germany and the Grand Duke of Baden.

The Order of Melusine was instituted in 1186 by Queen Sibylla, wife of King Guy of Jerusalem. The decoration is given to those who assist in any way the Armenian nation, or to those who have distinguished themselves in science, letters or the arts.

The jewel of the order consists of the Cross of Jerusalem in blue enamel. Between the four points of the cross are four smaller crosses in silver, while in the centre are the arms of the royal house of Lusignan.

The jewel is surmounted by a silver crown, and is worn upon the left breast suspended from a blue ribbon with white borders.

Prince Guy de Lusignan, the giver of this decoration, is also hereditary Prince of Jerusalem, Cyprus and Armenia, being descended from the last kings of those countries. One of his ancestors, also named Guy, became King of Jerusalem and Armenia in 1186 by his marriage with Sibylla, the daughter of the former king.

This Sibylla was the one who founded the Order of Melusine. In 1187 King Guy was defeated in the battle of Tiberias, and several years later retired to the Island of Cyprus, where he reigned for two years. His descendants ruled the island for nearly three hundred years, when it was sold to the Republic of Venice by Catharine Carnaro. From that time on the Lusignans have been scattered in various parts of the east.

Prince Guy, the present head of the royal house of Lusignan, was born in Constantinople in 1834, and received his education in Venice and Paris. The Prince was for some years at the head of the Armenian schools in Paris, but he resigned to devote more of his time to the study of Oriental languages, about which he has given much valuable information to the scientific world.

His wife was the Princess Mariede Goupil, who died five years ago. His brother, the late Prince Khorene, was the head of the Armenian Church, and was one of the representatives to the Berlin conference in 1878.

Why is it that one man is old and decrepit at 45 and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his blood impure—he keeps his nerves and his body under a constant nervous strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures many so-called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

He Didn't Present Arms to the Baby.

A veteran of the Coldstream guards, with war medals of the Soudan and of Afghanistan upon his breast, was sentenced the other day to a week's arrest for having neglected, while on sentinel duty at St. James' palace, to present arms to the 2-year-old son of the Duke of York, who goes in the royal family by the nickname of "King David." The soldier failed to recognize either the nurse or her royal charge. The matter has attracted the attention of the London papers, and were Parliament in session, would doubtless form the subject of a discussion the reverse of pleasant for the royal family.

Hidden Foes.

Among the many foes to human health and happiness dyspepsia and constipation are twin enemies greatly to be feared. With B.B.B. to drive them out of the system, however, no danger need be anticipated, as every dose brings the sufferer a long step further on the road to perfect health and strength, and a permanent cure always results.

A Queer Advertisement.

The reading public was startled the other day, one of the hottest days of the summer, by the appearance of a dry goods advertisement. A quarter of a page had been devoted by the firm to "All-Wool Country Blankets." It started afresh the perspiration on the brow of every person who read it. Several persons wanted to know why in the name of all that's hot did any person want to buy blankets for in such weather? Others were willing to stake a few dollars on it that the advertisement man had gone insane over the weather conditions, and imagined that we were having a chilling blast of winter. A more rational explanation of the ad was given by a lady who is well up on the characteristics of her sex. She said that women read all the advertisements, and frequently buy unseasonable goods. The firm knew this peculiarity of womanhood and took advantake of it by advertising red-hot blankets in torrid weather. Whether that firm sold any blankets or not, it has the satisfaction of knowing that its blanket advertisement was more talked about than any it has published for some time.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

HOW THE SUN LIFE

FULFILS ITS PROMISES.

A Matured 10 Year Endowment.

Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.

The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the undersigned this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled

BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1896.

W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—

DEAR SIR.—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,871 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.

I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when at Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the "SUN."

I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1905 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain,

Yours Sincerely,
(Signed) F. R. C.

The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

LEADING HATTERS.

APPLE SAUCE THAT WILL KEEP.

This is as great a convenience as preserves, the preparation of apples for sauce, not being always convenient for the busy housekeeper. Inferior apples may be used in this way, and the windfalls of early autumn, when one is fortunate enough to own an orchard, will be found quite available. They should be peeled, cored and freed from every blemish, then cut up in quite small pieces. A large earthen jar with a cover should be ready to receive them. Into this put first a liberal sprinkling of sugar, with cinnamon to taste, then a layer of apples, then more sugar and cinnamon and so on until the jar is full. The sugar should be regulated according to the tartness of the apples, from a quarter to a half pound for one pound of apples being the rule. The jar should be placed at the back of the range and the fruit kept covered and gently simmering through the day. It should then be set away to cool, and the apples taken out only as they are needed for sauce or dessert. Having no water mixed with them, apples prepared in this way are very palatable.

Ayer's Hair Vigor tones up the weak hair-roots, stimulates the vessels and tissues which supply the hair with nutrition, strengthens the hair itself and adds the oil which keeps the shafts soft, lustrous and silky. The most popular and valuable toilet preparation in the world.

PATENTS ON HARVESTERS.

The following information is prepared specially for this paper by Messrs. Marion & Laberge, Engineers and Patent Solicitors, Temple Building, Montreal:—

Ten thousand three hundred and thirty three patents have been granted for harvesters. In 1871 some of the essential features of the modern harvester had already been invented and some experimental machines had been tested in the field, but farmers were then using nothing more than the ordinary mowing machines and reapers from which the grain was raked in gavels and bound by men who followed the machine.

Since that time the art of harvesting grain has been revolutionized by the invention and introduction of the automatic self-binding machine. The patents to Locke, No. 149,233, 21st March, 1874, and No. 121,290, Nov. 28th, 1871, show a wire binding attachment for harvesters, under which a great many machines were built, and which continued in use until development of the twine binder.

The patent to M. L. Gorham, No. 158,506, Feb. 9th, 1875, was probably the first twine binder to operate successfully in the field, and was considered a pioneer invention by the court in the recent case of the McCormick Harvesting Machine Co. vs. C. Aultman & Co.

Almost all the twine binders built in the United States have been built under one of two patents—one to H. A. and W. M. Holmes, No. 210,533, December, 1878, and the other to Appleby, No. 212,420, February, 1879.

THE KIDNEYS AND LIVER.

THEIR DERANGEMENT THE SOURCE OF MUCH SUFFERING.

A Great Sufferer For Thirty Years Tells How He Obtained a Cure—His Advice Should be Followed by Others Similarly Afflicted.

From the Caledonia, N. S., Gold Hunter.

Mr. George Uhlman, a well known farmer living near New Elm, is loud in his praise of the benefits he received from the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Recently while visiting his daughter in Hemford, he was interviewed by a reporter and to the scribe's salutation, "Well, Mr. Uhlman, you are looking ten years younger than you did two years ago," he promptly replied, "yes, and I am feeling that many years younger. I am now in my sixty-fourth year and am feeling better than I did when I was thirty-four. It is pretty generally known hereabouts that I suffered intensely for upward of thirty years from kidney and liver trouble, during which time I was treated by different doctors, and I can hardly tell how many different kinds of patent medicines I used, but I can say 'heaps' of it, but I got very little relief from them. Eventually I began to think my case incurable. But I have found a cure and one which I believe is permanent, and if you are interested I am willing to tell what it has done for me. While having a very bad spell and suffering intensely from the effects of liver and kidney troubles, I noticed an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and thought I would try them. After beginning their use I found a gradual improvement, and having suffered as long and as severely as I did, you may be sure that I determined to continue the treatment. Very steadily the improvement went on, and after a few months treatment with the Pink Pills I felt that the last vestage of my trouble had disappeared. New blood seemed to course through my veins, and the organs which for so many years imperfectly performed their functions now work like a charm and give me not the slightest trouble. In addition to this my weight has materially increased, and I can stand a day's work on my farm better than I have been able to do in years before. Of course this may sound enthusiastic, but I know what Pink Pills have done for me and I naturally feel grateful, and I never lose an opportunity to say a good word for this great medicine.

The secret of health, strength and activity is pure blood, and sound nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make pure, rich, red blood and strengthen the nerves, and this is the secret of the marvellous success with which this medicine has met—the reason why it cures when other medicines fail.

The list of diseases having their origin in impure or watery blood, or a shattered condition of the nerves is a long one, but in every case Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will restore health and strength if given a fair trial. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Protect yourself from imposition by refusing any pill that does not bear the registered trade mark around the box.

FILLED CHEESE.

The framers of the filled cheese bill passed by the last Congress at Washington builded better than they knew, for they have not only stamped out the domestic business in filled cheese by the countless restrictions, but they appear to have cut off the manufacture for export purposes. The act went into effect on Friday last. A number of the leading manufacturers about Elgin, Illinois, intended to continue the business for the export trade, which has been growing rapidly. When Collector Mize was approached on the subject for information as to operating for the export trade he was surprised to find that there was no provision in the act for exporting the cheese without the payment of the tax. But the tax could not be imposed because the constitution explicitly prohibits the imposition of export duties. The problem raised is such that the Collector has referred its solution to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, but no answer has been received, and the Elgin factories are anxiously awaiting the answer of the Commissioner.

The filled cheese industry was confined exclusively to Illinois, and the proprietors thereof claim that the act was passed at the instigation of Eastern skim-milk cheese manufacturers, whose product was run out of the market by filled cheese. There were 15,000,000 pounds manufactured last year in the State of Illinois, and 3,000,000 pounds exported. No application for the sale of the filled cheese has been made by local grocers or produce dealers.

If the American export trade in filled cheese is altogether stopped. Canadian dairymen need not shed many tears, as the spurious article hurts the sale of Canadian cheese in England almost as much as it does that of genuine cheese made by honest Americans.

MAKING UNNECESSARY ANY PAINFUL OPERATION.

How South American Kidney Cure Removes Pain and Stems Periods of Distress.

It was chronicled in the local press a few days ago that one of Toronto's best known physicians was leaving for a leading United States Hospital, there to undergo an operation for a hard formation of the kidneys. Everyone will hope that the experiment will be successful. But is not prevention better than cure, and where the first symptoms of kidney disease assert themselves let that wonderful specific, South American Kidney Cure, be taken, and the trouble is speedily banished. What is just as encouraging is that where the disease has taken hold of the system, even in extreme cases, relief and cure is quickly secured by the use of this medicine. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Heart Failure

Of course the heart fails to act when a man dies, but "Heart Failure," so called, nine times out of ten is caused by Uric Acid in the blood which the Kidneys fail to remove, and which corrodes the heart until it becomes unable to perform its functions.

Health Officers in many cities very properly refuse to accept "Heart Failure," as a cause of death. It is frequently a sign of ignorance in the physician, or may be given to cover up the real cause.

MUCH INDIGNATION IN ENGLAND.

The Force of Public Opinion Being Brought to Bear to Induce the Government to Act, Even at the Risk of a European War—Italy's Position.

New York, Sept. 13.—Mr. H. R. Chamberlain cables from London to The Sun: The storm of indignation against the Great Assassin in Constantinople is rising rapidly throughout Europe. It is now evident that in England, at all events, public sentiment has risen above partisan or political control. The leaders of both parties have set themselves the task of restraining rather than encouraging it. It is, I believe, too late for them to succeed in making it less than an imperative demand upon the Government to stop further outrages upon Christianity, humanity and civilization, even at the risk of a European war. Lord Rosebery, as the leader of the Liberal party, has spoken at last, but it is in a tone of restraint. He excuses rather than criticises Lord Salisbury for his impotence up to the present moment, and his cry is: "This is not a party question. It is far above and beyond party." He does not hold out much encouragement, his words being: "As Europe is now situated, I hope for more from the efforts of diplomacy, under this new sting of humiliation, to bring about European action than I do from public feelings. I found hopes, too, on the natural sentiment of the young Emperor soon to be among us, who has such power, such responsibility and such immeasurable possibility of well-doing."

Lamentably weak this, when compared with the clarion battle call from the Grand Old Man printed in the same column of the evening newspapers. The concert of Europe, he declares, has been a miserable and disgraceful mockery. "The method of remonstrance pursued by the powers in the face of overwhelming evidence that nothing but force would avail has been in itself a moral offence as well as a political blunder."

The English people do not fail to note at this moment what a splendid vindication the aged leader is now furnishing against the chief reproach of his political opponents when he was in office. Then the Tories sneered at his alleged weakness and lack of courage in foreign affairs. Now he is the only man of valor and righteousness among the leaders of English public opinion. They will be Gladstone's words, not Rosebery's, which England will listen to. He is still the most potent personality in these islands, and his call will arouse the dormant conscience of the people. It is already aroused. There is abundant sign of its growing anger. The thunder of its voice will soon be heard, and whatever the effect abroad may be Lord Salisbury will not dare to disobey its commands. The belief grows stronger on all sides that a great crisis is at hand, and that England will be compelled to act with or without the co-operation of the Continental powers.

The stock market, which is after all the best political barometer, was almost panicky to-day, heavy declines being general throughout the list. Consols continued their downward movement, and there was a sharp collapse at the close on the false report that a Cabinet Council has been summoned. The concentration of an enormous naval force at the entrance to the Dardanelles continues, and the combined fleet now assembled is stronger than when it expected to force a passage a year ago. There is, of course, no definite information regarding the actual status of the negotiations between the powers. The impression is spreading that England advocates the deposition of the Sultan on the ground of his insanity.

This statement is made in behalf of the Young Turkey party, regarding the Sultan's mental condition: "Abdul Hamid's homicidal mania is considered by the Young Turkish party as the direct consequence of his physical weakness, brought about by a malady which has attacked his spinal marrow. Prof. Heinrich testified to this last year. The Sultan, his physicians say, is undergoing the commencement of paralysis, which renders him incapable of carrying on affairs of State. Dr. Tiemssen, who was summoned from Munich in April last to examine the patient, supported Dr. Heinrich's pessimistic views as to the fatal issue of the malady.

"According to the Moslem law, a physical defect such as the above justifies the Sheik Ul Islam in issuing a decree of dethronement. but the present Sheik is one of Abdul's puppets, and is not likely to make such an important pronouncement without pressure from without. Unless Hamid is dethroned with convenient speed, he is likely to bring about in sheer despair and with a view to give the coup de grace to his pan-Islamic ideas, a general massacre of all his Christian subjects, and thus make of Turkey a true Mohammedan state."

The situation in Constantinople itself is very serious. Nothing received by wire direct from Constantinople can be relied upon, the Turkish censorship being of the strictest description. The following, sent across the border, by a messenger from one of the most reliable English correspondents there, gives a fair idea of the situation: "Foreigners have been made to feel that to employ an Armenian is to endanger their property, if not their own lives. The Armenians themselves are aware of this and are besieging every foreigner with supplications to be sent out of Turkey. They will not return to their native places. By doing this they are playing the game of the Turks."

It may be regarded as certain that England and Italy are agreed on their Turkish policy, and it is equally true that if the Anglo-Italian fleets should be ordered to force the Dardanelles the people of both countries would shout in enthusiastic approval. The popular feeling in Italy is deeply stirred. There is not a town of any importance which has not its committee formed and money collected for the relief of the Cretans, and it required the utmost vigilance of the Government to prevent filibustering expeditions sailing from Italian ports. The Cretans for the moment do not require assistance, having made a pretty good bargain with their oppressors, and therefore it is proposed to direct the committees' energies to succor the wretched Armenians. It only requires a word from the Pope to create a blaze in Italy which would be difficult to extinguish. The Italian Government has been circumspect enough, as becomes a great power. It has ostensibly discountenanced anti-Turkish demonstrations, and went so far as to send the torpedo boat destroyer to Palermo with orders to sink the vessel then fitting out for Crete should it attempt to leave port.

The Italian Government, persuaded of the co-operation of England, is perfectly safe no matter what the other powers may do, and if at length Turkey is to be carved up the Italian portion will be adequate. It is not without interest at this juncture to remember that the Italian Crown Prince is about to wed a Montenegrin Princess, and it is quite certain that the process of carving aforesaid would give a generous slice of Turkish territory to the bride's father.

SOLDIERS AT NIAGARA.

Sunday Desecrated by the Pitching of 300 Tents—General Gascoigne Already on the Ground.

Niagara, Ont., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The militia camp for this military district opens here Tuesday. No. 2 company R. C. R. I., arrived on the scene yesterday and has desecrated the Sabbath to-day by pitching 300 tents for the accommodation of the coming soldiers. Five regiments will be under canvas by Tuesday night, viz.: 12th, 31st, 35th, 37th and 39th. The cavalry and artillery are not out this year. Col. Otter, D. A. G., who will command the camp, arrives to-morrow and the other staff officers already here are: Capt. Wallace, 34th, quartermaster; Lieut.-Col. Buchan, musketry instructor; Major McLaren of Hamilton, supply officer; Major Mutton, brigade major. The minor brigade officers are: Sergt.-Major Cummings, brigade clerk; Sergt.-Major Boland, brigade sergeant-major; Sergt. Galloway, quartermaster-sergeant. Major-General Gascoigne, the new Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Militia, reached here yesterday. He is early on the scene for the purpose of carefully sizing up the troops as they arrive, and will remain until Thursday. His A.-D.-C., Capt. McLean, and Mrs. Gascoigne accompany the General.

SPAIN SHOOTING REBELS.

Leaders of the Philippine Revolt Caught and Executed—51 Cubans Shot.

Madrid, Sept. 13.—An official despatch from Manila states that the chief leaders of the insurrection in Corvita have been captured and shot. Capt.-Gen. Weyler cables from Havana that five insurgents who were confined in the Cabana Fortress and Morro Castle were shot to-day.

Would Not Live to Be Cured.

Hornellsville, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Frank McCann, living at No. 25 North Main-street, committed suicide this morning by taking poison. When her condition was discovered, Dr. Palmer was called, but the woman died soon after his arrival. She left a note, which read as follows: "I have done this myself. I am tired of living and being cursed by Frank." Coroner Wakely was called, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

CAPTURED AT LAST.

The Notorious No. 1 of the Irish Invincibles

IS NOW IN A PRISON IN FRANCE

An English Detective Nabbed Him at Boulogne While He Was Standing as a Bar Expounding Fenian Ideas—He Had Incriminating Papers on Him.

London, Sept. 13.—P. J. Tynan, the notorious "No. 1" of the Irish Invincibles, who was so frequently mentioned during the trial of the persons charged with the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and T. H. Burke, Permanent Under Secretary, in Phoenix Park, Dublin, on May, 6, 1882, was arrested at Boulogne, France, at 4 o'clock this morning on a warrant issued in 1882. Tynan is also charged with being concerned in the manufacture of dynamite bombs for use in England. It has been learned that he arrived in Europe in August, when he debarked at Genoa. He proceeded thence to Paris, where it is alleged he consorted with the Irish dynamite faction.

On Friday he arrived at Boulogne and expounded Fenian views at the hotel bar. He had been watched since he arrived in France by an English detective, who, this morning, placed him under arrest. The officer pointed a revolver at his head and threatened to shoot him if he made the slightest resistance. Tynan was speedily secured. He subsequently admitted his identity. In his possession were found a considerable sum of money and a number of incriminating papers. He will be arraigned before a judge in Boulogne to-morrow with a view to securing his extradition. It is stated that his arrest is connected with the arrests of Bell and Wallace, the former having been captured in Glasgow and the latter in Rotterdam.

The Times will say that Bell and Wallace are charged, with Tynan, in being concerned in a dynamite conspiracy.

SALISBURY'S TURKISH POLICY.

German Papers Don't Regard the Situation in the Ottoman Empire Seriously.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—Lord Salisbury's so-called independent policy in Turkey, which is doubtless seen in the action of Sir Philip Currie, the British Ambassador at Constantinople, in presenting to the Porte a note protesting against the Government's expulsion of Armenians from the Turkish capital without consulting the representatives of the powers, is not taken here so seriously as implying the appearance of a British fleet in the Bosphorus to enforce the special British demands, and the absence of several ambassadors from Constantinople ought to furnish sufficient proof of the suspension of the final Turkish crisis Sir Philip Currie is the first ambassador who has had an audience with the Sultan since the recent riots in Constantinople. Baron Calice, the Austrian Ambassador, and M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador, are away on leaves of absence which will not expire until the end of the month, and Sir Philip Currie in the meantime is in command of the diplomatic deal with whatever kind of isolated policy he has to push forward. No well-informed diplomats here believe that independent action on the part of Great Britain is practicable. Though The North German Gazette, whose articles on the Turkish situation are callous and unsympathetic with the persecuted Armenians, represents the official opinion here, the other influential journals take an entirely different course.

The Cologne Gazette declares that the powers want to deal energetically with the Sultan, but are undecided as to the method of doing so. The Kreuz Zeitung and other papers discuss the measures that must be taken before armed intervention ought to be resorted to, but almost every newspaper comment on the situation reasons upon the readiness of the Turks to try to exterminate the Christians in Turkey if they are provoked.

The Kreuz Zeitung asserts that France and Russia will never assent to the plan of placing the Sultan under tutelage, and will maintain the integrity of the Empire and sovereignty of the Turkish monarch, and declares that these two powers already distrust the concentration of the British fleet at Salonica.

The sum of the situation is that these and other proposals dealing with the Sultan await the issues of the Czar's tour. In the meantime the Czar and the Czarina, with their suites, are at Bernstorff Castle in Denmark, where the King of Denmark's family party are assembled. The family party will break up on Sept. 17, the Czar and Czarina going to Balmoral to visit Queen Victoria, accompanied by the Princess of Wales and her daughter, Princess Victoria.

PREACHERS TAKE IT UP.

London, Sept. 13.—Sermons against the misrule of the Sultan and the massacre of his Christian subjects were preached to-day in London, Liverpool and elsewhere in Great Britain.

MORE SLAUGHTER EXPECTED.

Deported Armenians Shot Through a Chute and Drowned by Wholesale.

London, Sept. 14.—The Plymouth Mercury claims to have reliable information that a massacre of Armenians resembling in Constantinople is fixed to occur in 10 days or two weeks. It says that Armenians already deported have been murdered by wholesale, the ships on which they were sent out of the country having chutes from which the victims were shot into the water and drowned in batches.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE United Women's Association, London, has an appeal in the Times for funds to facilitate the emigration of respectable women to Canada and other colonies. Laundresses, companions, helps, servants, nurses and shop girls will be forwarded to Canada or elsewhere according to the demand. Many sent, it is stated, are prospering and "numerous orphan children have found a happy home in Canada where they were adopted as real members of the family."

THERE is general approval in London, England, in the spirited remarks of the Canadian Premier, Mr. Laurier, on the action of the States enforcing the alien labour law against Canadian workmen. The St. James' Gazette says:—"If the United States Government does not yield Canada is justified in retaliating and is in a good position to do it. Should this happen the matter will not rest there. The principle is bound to extend. Nothing is better calculated to unite and consolidate the British Empire."

CONSERVATIVE journals of a certain order do not stick at any means to gain their ends—stirring up race and religious rancour for the sake of reaping party advantage. The report is being circulated that Hon. Mr. Laurier is sending an envoy to the Pope at Rome in connection with the settlement of the Manitoba school question. Mr. Laurier has positively denied that there is the slightest foundation of truth in the rumour, a denial he would not make in view of the certainty of subsequent disproof if the rumour were correct. Still the organs stick to the story. What can these wretched people expect to gain by such base resorts to bolster up a weak cause?

MUCH of the valuable time of Parliament was wasted on Friday by Sir Charles Tupper in his discourse upon the qualities of those members of the nobility and landed gentry whom he met in England. It is notable, says the Montreal Herald, that he had nothing to say which was at all calculated to inspire the House with confidence as to the value of the services which he, in his capacity as High Commissioner, had rendered the people of Canada. In the course of his remarks upon Mr. Chamberlain, Sir Charles took occasion to deny that Mr. Chamberlain had had any intention of interfering in Canadian politics during the recent campaign. Mr. Laurier was quick to retort that Mr. Chamberlain was a man far too wise to have any such intention. But he reminded the House that Mr. Chamberlain's message congratulating Sir Charles on his accession to the Premiership had been used as a Conservative campaign document. If the letter was a private letter, as Sir Charles had alleged, it should not have been published. This was the Premier's dictum. The popular dictum will be that Sir Charles Tupper's familiarity with the names to be found in Burke and DeBrett has not improved his manners, nor rendered him quite subservient to the laws of good taste.

A CONSTABLE TALKS.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego Cal. says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 289 George Street.

MATABELE WAR OVER.

The Rebels Surrender and There is a Probability of the Complete Restoration of Peace.

London, Sept. 12.—The surrender of the rebels in Matabeleland is confirmed and the following details have come to hand. Mr. Cecil Rhodes, Dr. Sauer, and Mr. Colenbrander proceeded five miles to the Matoppos unarmed. John Grootboom, one of Colenbrander's headmen, went further, and returned subsequently at the head of a great number of people carrying a white flag. They drew up in front of Rhodes and his party. Some came with assegais, but the majority were unarmed. The rebels stated that their chief grievance was the bad treatment they received from the native police. Men were thrashed without cause, and women violated. Secombo named five native commissioners who had been the cause of grave complaints. He went on to say that his people desired peace, and that Rhodes had won their confidence by coming unarmed to the Matoppos and meeting them. Rhodes replied that the native police would be abolished for ever. Secombo then said he required a well-known official to be dismissed, and Rhodes replied that the official was no longer in the employ of the Government. Mr. Rhodes then said: Do you want peace or war?

Secombo answered by taking his rifle and assegais and throwing them down in front of Rhodes, which he said meant the surrender of the whole nation. He added that the Matabele would all come out of hiding with their women and children in the course of a few days. Public opinion is that the rebellion is at an end in Matabeleland. The memorable indaba was held on the site of Kershaw's death. At Fort Inseza, in the Matoppos, on Saturday, fourteen leading chiefs surrendered unconditionally to Colenbrander. An indaba took place at three o'clock at a place three miles from Fort Inseza, and lasted three hours. The following were present: Cecil Rhodes, Colenbrander, Dr. Sauer. A despatch was subsequently taken by Dr. Sauer, accompanied by Captain Cardigan, in which Mr. Rhodes promised their lives to those who surrendered on Sunday, and also concessions on their delivering up their arms. The opinion is that the war is practically at an end.

After the surrender had been agreed on, Secombo addressed Mr. Rhodes as "father and greatest of chieftains." On returning, Mr. Rhodes said: "This is one of the scenes which make life worth living." A short distance from the council place the little party passed a large and fully armed impi, but they were not interfered with in any way.

The following cablegram was received from Earl Grey, the company's administrator: "After several days' negotiations with rebels, Mr. Rhodes, Dr. Sauer, and Mr. J. W. Colenbrander rode unattended, at the risk of their lives, into the heart of the rebels' stronghold, five miles into the Matoppos, and thirty miles east of Buluwayo. Held four hours' indaba with following chiefs: Somabulanka, Mlugulu, Secombo, Gunu, Ohlism, Mayobo, Mahevu, Sighota, Nyanda, Bidi, and thirty-four heads of towns and majacas, all representing districts and military towns. Result—War is over; terms of settlement not yet known, but practically amount to unconditional surrender."

The following telegram from the military authorities in South Africa was on Wednesday night communicated to the press by the Colonial Office: Lieut. St. Aubyn reported last night that he had taken two kraals near the Hunyani Drift after some fighting, in which Corporal Roger Trevor and Trooper J. C. Jacki (sic), both of White Column, were wounded. They are in Salisbury from Hunyani direct to-day. No 3517, Private Rainel, 1st Battalion Irish Rifles, has had his leg amputated below the knee. He was wounded on August 19. Name was in error given as Ramsey in my telegram of August 21.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

THE R.Q.T. ROAD RACE

Over Three Hundred Cyclists Were in at the Start

BUT MANY OF THEM DID NOT FINISH

Record Broken by the Winner of the First Time Prize—An Immense Crowd at the Woodbine and the Kingston Road Was Lined With Spectators.

Number entries 354
Number starters 227
Number did not finish 98

Toronto, Sept. 14.

The biggest road race ever held in Canada was brought to a successful issue Saturday afternoon over the Woodbine Park-Kingston-road course, 20 miles in all. The winner turned up in W. Simpson of the Royal Canadians, a 10½-minute man, with H. J. Wickens of the Ramblers, at 11 minutes, second, and D. Colville, another Rambler, at the limit, third.

H. Cassidy of the West Association B.C. performed the racing feat of the day by capturing the time prize, a racing wheel, and the gold medal given for breaking McCarthy's mark of 59.48, made a year ago. Asked if he thought before the race he could win it,

"No," he said. "I had over 300 men to pass to make first place; but, avoiding accidents, I felt pretty sure of the time prize." He passed 263 men on the journey, 14 of them on the track at the finish. Cassidy did his training at Dufferin Park and the Island. He was twice over the course the week before the race.

The scratch men, with the army ahead of them, hadn't the ghost of a show to win the race, and they pedalled on for a time prize, four of them coming in after Cassidy, who had a 2½-minute start. H. A. McGill, 1 minute, finished ahead of Cassidy, but he took a short cut and was disqualified.

Seven clubs entered teams of five men each for the team race. The Royal Canadians won by 30 points with the Ramblers second. The men scored as they came home, the lowest number of points to count. The teams finished as follows:

					Total.
R. C. B. C....	1	9	14	20	31— 75

The concert in the evening at the Pavilion in aid of the cinder path fund was a great success. The big hall was packed, and it was midnight before 50 of the 71 prizes were given out.

No. 181's name was down as W. A. Sloane, of Smith's Falls. He was done up in a blazing red suit, and in trying to do up the judges was fired. He was detected as being a well-known Eastern professional.

MADE STRONG AGAIN.

For the Sake of Others a Grateful Woman Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Napanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

How to Use Mineral Manures.

There is a wide diversity of opinion among farmers as to the profit in using commercial fertilizers, most of which are mineral.

The difference of opinion as to value being based on experience shows that it is mainly a question of how mineral manures are used. Those who apply mineral manures to grow grain crops, without seeding either to clover or grass, find that while the grain crop may temporarily be profitable, it leads to such deterioration of soil fertility that the land becomes too poor for any profitable use. But when these mineral fertilizers are applied in connection with stable manures, and are made to grow renovating crops, the result is not only an immediate profit in their use, but such increase of fertility that farming becomes more profitable than before.

One advantage of taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify the blood is that you need not infringe upon your hours of labour nor deny yourself any food that agrees with you. In a word, you are not compelled to starve or loaf, while taking it. These are recommendations worth considering.

MUNYON'S

IMPROVED HOMŒOPATHIC

Remedies Cure

Catarrh and All Throat and Lung Diseases.

Catarrh Leads to Indigestion, Insomnia, Nervous Disorders, Consumption and Many Other Diseases—Munyon Positively Cures by His New Method.

Are you a sufferer with catarrh? Have you taken all sorts of drugs and patent nostrums? Are you tired of paying big doctor bills without being cured? Are you willing to spend 50 cents for a cure that permanently cures catarrh by removing the cause of the disease? If so, ask your druggist for a 25-cent bottle of Munyon's Catarrh Cure and a 25-cent bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The Catarrh Cure will eradicate the disease from the system, and the Tablets will cleanse and heal the afflicted parts and restore them to a natural and healthful condition.

Mrs. Oulton, 158 Simcoe street, Toronto, says: "My husband suffered from a dull aching pain and soreness in the chest, which gave him considerable anxiety and trouble for some time. Although the disease had become deeply seated Munyon's Rheumatism Cure gave him immediate relief. I also have used the Catarrh Cure for catarrh in the head, which was very severe. Since starting the medicine the catarrh has rapidly passed away, and I feel ever so much better." 12

Munyon's Headache Cure stops headache in three minutes. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Pile Ointment positively cures all forms of piles. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Blood Cure eradicates all impurities of the blood. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Liver Cure corrects headache, biliousness, jaundice, constipation and all liver diseases. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Female Remedies are a boon to all women.

Munyon's Asthma Cure and Herbs are guaranteed to relieve asthma in three minutes and cure in five days. Price, 50c each.

Munyon's Catarrh Remedies never fail. The Catarrh Cure—price 25c.—eradicates the disease from the system, and the Catarrh Tablets—price 25c—cleanse and heal the parts.

Munyon's Vitalizer restores lost vigor. Price, $1.

A separate cure for each disease. At all druggists, mostly 25c a vial.

Your druggist will present you free with a copy of the "Guide to Health," a valuable little medical publication that should be in every home.

Coal and Wood.

Best Lehigh, Scranton and Plymouth coal, all sizes at $6 per ton till further notice. People's Coal Company's coal $5.50 per ton. Best quality of charcoal now in stock. Brier Hill coal for grates is the best. Also all kinds of hard and soft wood.—T. FITZGERALD.

A Snake in Bed.

On Tuesday last as Mrs. Thos. Hobden, Minden township, was making up her bed she found a grass snake about 18 inches long coiled up between the feather tick and straw mattress. Considering that the bed was upstairs it is surprising how the snake wriggled itself up the stairs and then into bed. Mrs. Hobden was quite shocked at her discovery.

Sixty Cases of New Shoes.

Boxes upon boxes chock full of new Fall Shoes, have been opened out at Gough Bros. during the past few days. Simply a legitimate result of bettering each season's best. Our buyer went direct to the manufacturer and personally sought out and bought out what was in demand in Peterborough. The result is we can not and will not be undersold, but we can and will undersell in any and all lines of Fall Shoes. GOUGH BROS.

Auction Sale of Farm Lands.

Mr. Charles Stapleton, auctioneer, will, on Saturday, September, 19th, at the Morgan House, sell two farms belonging to Mr. Geo. Fowler—one in Emily with 100 acres, with good dwelling and buildings, cleared and fenced, and the other in Emily adjoining the above farm, though situated in Smith. The property is convenient to Best's station, G. T. R., and is five miles from Peterborough. Will be sold in one or two parcels. A splendid chance to purchase excellent farms.

Viavi Talk.

Mrs. M. A. Baughman, lecturer for the Toronto Viavi Company, will address the ladies of Peterborough in the Sons of England hall, on Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Baughman is an attractive talker on the very important subject of health, and presents in an effective manner the necessity of ladies giving the utmost care to the preservation of this most invaluable possession. She will introduce the Viavi treatment and explain the methods. All ladies are invited to attend. No admission fee. 2d Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Monday, Sept. 14.—Owing to severe sickness I have been unable to furnish you anything during the week but being greatly improved I am able to walk about again. However I may tell you since the 15th of August, when the thermometer reached 90 degrees, till Friday the 11th inst. which was the hottest, the mercury going up to 90 degrees, we have had nothing much to complain of. And at this morning's observation the self-registering thermometer indicated 58 degrees above zero.—THOS. TELFORD.

Honesty or Deceit?

The State Line & Sullivan R. R. sold on the 12th March to Mr. T. Fitzgerald, coal dealer, 17 tons and 1,500 lbs No. 4 size coal, and 17 tons and 500 lbs egg size coal. Since the People's Coal Company opened an office in Peterborough he advertises our coal for sale and he in putting in a tender for 40 tons egg coal for the town building put into two tenders, one for Scranton coal and the other for the People's Coal Co'y's coal; the latter, he stated, he could not recommend. Now when a man tenders to furnish what he has not got and cannot get, does he do it with an honest intention or does he do it with the intention of deceiving? Our coal lasts as long as any coal mined and burns to a white ash. Weighed on market scales. People's Coal Company office, 230 Charlotte street. Telephone 266. We can also furnish you with Batt's Canmel or Briar Hill for grates, the latter at $5.75 per ton.

ENTERTAINMENT OF THEIR EXCELLENCIES.

The Arrangements Perfected on Saturday Evening.

A meeting of the committee appointed to make arrangements for the entertainment of the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen was held on Saturday evening.

The form of address was approved and the details completed regarding the banquet, which will be held in the Oriental Hotel.

The entertainment of Lady Aberdeen has been placed in the hands of Mr. Hampden Burnham. It is expected that Lady Aberdeen will address a meeting of ladies.

Mr. Burnham states that he expects to turn the entertainment of Lady Aberdeen over to a committee of ladies to be appointed within the next few days. It is understood that the committee will be composed of the wives of the Directors of the Central Exhibition and of the members of the County Council and the Town Council.

THE BANQUET.

Those invited to the banquet will be the town and county councillors and officials, the Town Trust Commissioners, the directors and honorary directors of the Agricultural Society, and the town clergymen. The toast list will be as follows:

The Queen.
The Governor-General of Canada.
The Parliament of Canada.
The Legislative Assembly of Ontario.
Our Agricultural and Manufacturing Interests.
The Municipal Corporations of Peterborough—Town and County.
Army, Navy and Volunteers.

The responders to the various toasts will be allowed five minutes each, as well as the proposers. The Governor General of course will be subject to no restriction whatever in this regard.

The banquet will begin at 11.30 o'clock in the morning and will conclude at 1.30, when a procession will be formed and march to the grounds.

While the banquet is going on Lady Aberdeen will be dined by the Ladies' Committee in the Oriental Hotel parlours, where she will also address a meeting of ladies.

THE COMING COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Probable Candidates Being Discussed.

Next January the first county council under the new regime will be elected. In this county the problem is to elect ten members to take the place of the 23 that constitute the present council.

On Saturday municipal politicians from several townships might be seen discussing the situation, and the probabilities are that there will be a brisk contest in all of the five divisions. Though it is probable that some of the present members may be content to restrict their energies to the smaller field of the township council, still it is also among the possibilities that all the old reeves and deputies may seek re-election. In such an event there will be a large number of candidates in some of the divisions, for instance, if all the present members in the county council in Otonabee division, No. 1, embracing Ashburnham and Otonabee, enter the field there will be four candidates not counting new aspirants; in No. 2 division—North Monaghan, Smith and Ennismore, four candidates; in No. 3 division—Galway and Cavendish, Harvey, Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos, four candidates; in No. 4 division—Asphodel, Norwood, Belmont, Methuen and Havelock, 6 candidates; in No. 5 division—Lakefield, Douro and Dummer, five candidates. Of course the candidatures are not limited to old reeves and deputies and there may be as many candidates as desire to try their chances. In deed it is to be assumed that each municipality in a division will have a candidate, though in the nature of things, when the representation of a division is reduced from four or five to two, each municipality cannot expect to have a resident representative.

Fruit Jar Famine.

Owing to the large crop of fruit, the stocks of fruit jars have been completely exhausted and prices wholesale have gone up $6.00 per gross. In consequence of the above we are compelled to advance the retail price, and will sell till further notice as follows: Pints, 80c.; quarts, $1; ½ gal., $1.20 per dozen. Buy quickly, as a further advance is certain.—CHINA HALL.

A Foraging Expedition.

We've been on a foraging expedition—took along all the money we wanted and turned it into Shoes. Surprising what ready cash will do when it comes to making a bargain with the manufacturer himself. At the factory we bought special lines for ladies and gentlemen, beginning at the cheapest and ending with the finest anybody can want. 20 per cent. cheaper than we ever bought them. Gents' Laced Boots, pointed toes, handsomely finished, soft and comfortable, for $1.50, well worth $2. There's nothing we like better than saving your money. GOUGH BROS.

Protection to Native Birds.

In the public schools of the United States it is proposed to establish a "bird day," when special instructions will be given on the various native birds and children taught to protect them and their eggs. The great decrease of native birds in the States has led to this step in order to prevent the extinction of many species which are hunted for feathers and as game and their eggs collected wholesale, and a second proposal to combine "bird day" with Arbour Day. The matter has been taken up by the Agricultural Department at Washington. In the Toronto schools steps have already been taken in the line of bird protection. Children are taught to protect them and their eggs, and considerable good literature on Canadian birds is in use in the schools, which will have a good effect in educating the rising generation in kindness and care to the feathered tribe. This is an excellent example for Peterborough to follow.

A PETERBOROUGH BOY IN U.S. POLITICS.

The Candidature of Mr. J. S. Haggart, Formerly of This Town.

A recent issue of the Detroit News presents a portrait of Mr. J. S. Haggart, the gold Democrat nominee for member of the State Board of Education for Michigan.

Of Mr. Haggart's candidature the Owasso Press says:—

"John S. Haggart, the democratic nominee for member of the State Board of Education, is one of our most popular citizens, a thorough business man, and well qualified to discharge the duties of the office for which he has been nominated. Mr. Haggart is not an office seeker; he has repeatedly refused to allow his name to be used in connection with the local offices when his nomination virtually meant an election, and if only his personal wishes had been consulted he would not have been nominated last week. The nomination of Mr. Haggart will add strength to the ticket, and if the ticket is elected, as it certainly should be, Owosso will have a representative citizen on the board."

Mr. Haggart, who conducts a drug store and has charge of the Owossa branch post office, is a nephew of Mr. John Haggart, the popular auctioneer, and a former well known resident of this town. He was formerly in the drugstore of Dr. Kincaid. He is a man of unusual ability and a typical Canadian. As to his present candidature he is likely to "get there" as in the manner of the average Canadian in the United States, when he reaches for anything. Mr. Haggart should take encouragement from the omen implied in the fact that in the field of sports Canada has collared everything she tried for this year. His old friends in Peterborough will watch Mr. Haggart's candidature with interest, and wish him success.

THE RICE HARVEST.

Hiawatha Indians Busy in the Harvest.

The Indians are now busy in their rice harvest or "rice making" as they call it at Rice Lake.

Almost every house in the reserve is nearly deserted, some of them quite so, and the bulk of the population of the reserve is camped on Sugar Island in Rice Lake, not far from Keene—at the mouth of Indian River.

The rich fields are chiefly near the north shore and extend over hundreds of acres. Two persons go in each canoe, one to propel and manage it, while the other adroitly gathers the heads with one short stick and threshes the rice into the canoe with the other. It is dark in colour, but some prefer it to the imported article. It finds ready sale and is quite an item in the Indian's income. If a sample had been sent to Li Hung Chang, and it had suited his august gullet, a new trade might have been opened up wich the Celestial Empire.

57TH BATTALION ORDERS.

HEADQUARTERS,
Peterborough, Sept. 14th, 1896.

Orders by Lt.-Col. R. W. Bell, commanding the 57th Battalion of Infantry, Peterborough Rangers:

The Battalion will parade Tuesday evening Sept. 15th, at 8 o'clock, to make preparations for furnishing guard of honour to the Governor-General.

Every man is expected to be present.

By order,
E. F. MASON, Capt.,
Adjt. 57th Battalion.

PERSONAL.

Mr. F. W. J. McKibbon left last night to resume his studies at McGill University.

Mrs. W. H. Davis, of Buffalo, who has been visiting her son here for the past ten days, returned home to-day.

Mrs. F. J. Taylor, of Deseronto, who has been spending the last few days at Chemong Park, came into town this morning.

Miss Vair gave a most beautiful rendering of Barri's solo, "The Beauteous Song," in St. Paul's church at yesterday morning's service.

Mrs. Geo. Roseborough, of Lakefield, returned home Saturday evening after a pleasant visit with her brother-in-law, Mr. Thos. Horner' of London street.

Messrs. James and M. Hamilton, sons of Mr. Peter Hamilton, left to-day at noon to enter upon a course of study at McGill University, Montreal.

Messrs. Conroy, Will Davidson, Will Connal and Tom Ferguson will all leave this evening for Montreal, where they will resume their studies at the McGill University for the ensuing term.

Messrs. E. Hall, G. Dawson and E. Bamfield, returned to-day from a bicycle tour from Peterborough to Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Buffalo and return. While in Toronto they were the guests of Mrs. W. H. Bamfield, Rose avenue. They were "shown the Buffalo" by Mr. James Kelly, an old Peterborough boy.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Partridge shooting begins to-morrow.

—The Peterborough Central Exhibition opens a week from to-day.

—The People's Coal Company have rented a portion of the coal sheds of the Stevenson Company.

—The Royal Canadian Dragoons will be quartered at the Huffman House during their stay in town, whilst attending the Exhibition.

—Three boys were arraigned before the Mayor this morning, charged with stealing butternuts from a wagon in the Huffman House yard. One entered a plea of "not guilty" and was discharged, whilst the other two were allowed to go with a warning.

—The police should lose no time in getting after the horde of young lads who roam about armed with pea shooters—they are to be found everywhere, an even ladies and children are not free from their attacks. If they are not taught a lesson promptly some one will lose an eye.

THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

Failure of an Attempt to Impose Upon It.

This morning the case of non-support of a child came up for hearing, Mr. R. R. Wood, County Crown Attorney, prosecuting. The man and wife were brought down from the gaol, where they have been since Thursday. In this case an infant two years old, born in wedlock, was not acknowledged by the mother's husband as his child. They had decided not to support it any longer, and to hand it over to the Children's Aid Society. The Society, however, is not to be imposed upon, and replied by instituting a prosecution which resulted in both husband and wife being very glad to give an undertaking to support the child and so escape the statutory penalty of three years in prison.

Mr. Wood said the law was quite clear, an that the husband was responsible for a child of his wife, if born in wedlock. In fact, the head of any house in which the child resides is responsible for the well-being of the child. This case, no doubt, will open the eyes of those who think that if they do not wish to take care of their children they can put them upon the Society. The society exists for the care of orphans and abused and neglected children, but is not to be imposed upon.

SMITH.

Mr. Wm. McIlmoyle, overseer of the joint appropriation, is engaged in cutting down the two different hills in the central part of Smith in the McConkey and McIlmoyle neighbourhood. Before harvest one of these hills was reduced, and the work of lowering the other is progressing rapidly. The result will be a great improvement and will greatly facilitate the reaching of market by farmers, as these hills in their former condition were almost unsurmountable by heavy loads.

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 20th.

Office, School and Desk!

We are inspired with the consciousness of being in touch with the people, and we know with a certainty that the details have been studied to cope with the economic condition of the times. Every nook and corner of the PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE is crammed with cleverly bought goods awaiting an outlet.

The betterment of business generally is largely due to the stocks we carry. School Books and School Supplies are "on the fly." How those Scribblers go, especially the "ATLAS" with the handy maps on the cover. A thousand or more went off in three days. And the "OXFORD" too, with its specially fine paper for advanced scholars—took like hot cakes.

"ALL MEN ARE LIARS" A TEXT OF A SERMON.

REV. MR. SYMONDS SPEAKS ON THESE WORDS.

The Psalmist Recalled the Words, but the Cynic Seeks to Perpetuate Them and Inculcate Them Into the Minds of the Young.

A most interesting sermon was delivered last evening in St. Luke's church, by the rector, Rev. H. Symonds, on the subject of "The Cynic's and the Christian's relation to Human Weakness." He took for his text the words "I said in my haste: all men are liars."—Psalm cxvi,, 2. In speaking of the attitude taken by the cynic, the speaker said:—

The Psalmist, when he wrote these words, had lately passed through a period of deep distress. He says: "The sorrows of death compassed me, and the pains of hell got hold upon me: I found trouble and sorrow." What that trouble and sorrow were we do not know, but it was clear that in the midst of it he had experienced some disappointment from his friends. They had not been as good as their word, or at all events he thought so, and so in his despair he hastily cried "All men are liars." You see that it was not in a serious mood that the words were uttered, when he has recovered and is able to look calmly at things he sees that it was a hasty and ill-judged saying. "I said in my haste all men are liars."

But whilst it was but a hasty sentence and one which he would withdraw in a healthier frame of mind, it was none the less a sentence and opinion which has often since been repeated. There are certain frames of mind in which we are disposed to repeat in all seriousness the Psalmist's hasty judgment. We have been deceived, where we expected to find sincerity we have found hypocrisy, where we have hoped to find truth we have found falsehood, where we were assured of sympathy we have found a hard heart, where we have looked for strength we have found frailty,—and then we have in our haste, only, I hope, cried "All men are liars."

But even though it be only in haste it is ill-advised, because we are in danger of setting up within ourselves a habit, and by and bye we find that what was first of all a hasty condemnation of all because of the fickleness of one or two, becomes a settled judgment. We grow to think hardly of our fellows, and habitually adopt a cynical attitude towards our fellow-men. There can be no doubt that this is a common attitude of mind. I suppose there are few of us who have never yielded to the Psalmist temptation to utter sweeping condemnation upon all men. You catch echoes of it in literature. "Frailty," cries the poet, "thy name is woman." Surely a cynical sentence, just as true, it may be, but no truer, than the retort, "Men were deceivers ever."

It is then this cynical frame of mind represented by the Psalmist's words, "I said in my haste," etc., of which I wish to speak this evening, and our subject will be "The Cynical and Christian Attitude towards Human Weakness."

The word cynical means, literally, dog-like. With us the dog is man's friend. In olden times and in eastern countries it appears not to have been so. Everywhere the dog is spoken of with contempt in the Bible, and to this day travellers in the East speak in similar terms of the dogs of those countries. The term cynical was applied to a school of Greek philosophers, some of whom were very noble minded men. One of them, Diogenes, from his singular habit of living in a tub is known by name to us all. By and by things degenerated and became morose, satirical, censorious. To-day to be cynical means to have a disposition to disbelieve in or doubt the sincerity of personal character, motives or doings, and to express this disbelief or doubt by sarcasm, satire of sneers.

Let us then ask what are the grounds of the cynical view of the world of men and women.

When we were children we were taught that human nature is tainted with what is called original sin. We were frequently punished for wrong-doing and told we were naughty. But we seldom or never heard grown up people found fault with, and I think in the minds of the little children the idea is far commoner than we who have outgrown and forgotten our childish states would imagine, that grown up people never do any wrong. This idea is fostered by the very candour of children, who are often frankly naughty as compared with the secretiveness of men and woman, who by degrees learn to conceal their sins.

Well then as we grow older very slowly but steadily there dawns upon our minds the fact that grown up people are not blameless. We read of murder trials, frauds and robberies in the papers. But still all this is remote from us. It belongs to a sphere of humanity that in some way or another it is quite out of the role of respectable society. We come now to sharply separate the good and the bad. Our friends, our own neighbours are all good. In some mysterious outlying parts, it may be of our town, the wicked are to be found, but we do not know them, nor have we anything whatever to do with them.

But then some day sin like a bombshell bursts into our midst. We are bewildered. Our childish minds are stunned. Probably we are deeply affected, for children ponder these things more than we give them credit for. But still our noted conviction is but slightly disturbed. This sad thing is an exception. But it occurs again and this time we are neither greatly surprised nor so deeply affected. Again now we begin to enquire, and we are told that grown up human nature, as well as children's human nature, is weak. We hear of other cases of frailty and failure. And now as we grow up confidence is sapped. The world takes a different appearance in our eyes. We used to confide freely in everyone; we took their kindness, their goodness, for granted, and now we become less confident, suspicious, and ourselves less frank and open.

My dear friends, and especially you my younger brothers and sisters who may have but recently come to this state of mind, this view of human nature, let me assure you that you have reached a most critical stage in your education for the world of real life. Vast issues upon which depend your own happiness and usefulness in the world, depend upon the decision at which you now arrive. Now that you have eaten of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, now that you know something of the meanness, the weakness, the perversity, the littleness of human nature, with what eyes will you look out upon this world of humanity. You thought it all so fair and clean; you painted it in romantic hues, and you find it all stained with sin. Your romance is turned into the commonest of prose. You no longer divide the world into the good and the bad. You understand that the wheat and the tares in every heart are inextricably mingled. What now will be the attitude of your minds towards the world at large? Will you adopt the cynic or the Christian attitude?

There is of course an element of truth in the cynic's view. It is also too painfully true that no one is perfect. We do not know where others are weak or where they are strong. It is too painfully true that we are continually being surprised at the failure of some just at those points where we had hitherto thought them strong. The man whom we thought to be absolutely honest is convicted of fraud. The woman in whose virtue we implicitly relied, proved weak. The man who seemed to be all love and charity is revealed to us a common schemer. And then in our haste we cry "All men are liars." By and bye the impression of man's weakness becomes ingrained in us. We no longer have, or desire to have, confidence in our fellows. We write all religious people down as frauds. All respectability we despise as a mockery and a sham. A Carlyle writes of his countrymen—"Twenty millions of British, and mostly fools." And the last stage of cynicism is reached when in bitterness we cry: "Vanity of vanities—all is vanity!"

This cynical view sometimes attracts young people by its assumption of superior knowledge and wisdom. We all like to have a reputation for worldly wisdom. We do not like to be thought simpletons—and the cynic will whisper in our ear, "only simpletons believe in goodness." You instance some saintly woman or some devoted man, and he will sniff contemptuously that they only do their good works for other people to talk about—and so insensibly it may be, but surely we adopt this view of men and women. We become more or less confirmed cynics. But, my brethren, you are vastly in error if you think that a man was ever in the true sense of that noble word made wiser, and still more in error if you think that any man was made better, and most of all in error if you think the world was ever improved by the adoption of the cynical attitude towards human weakness. I will ask you this, Can you in simplicity, in sincerity, go down upon your knees and, lifting up your heart to heaven, say, "Our Father which art in heaven. Forgive us our trespasses, etc.," and rise from your knees still a contemptuous cynic.

And there is another error of the cynic's view of human weakness. It inevitably tends to make men worse. Instil into the minds of youth at their most impressionable age that there is no such thing as genuine disinterested virtue, that selfishness lies at the root of all apparent unselfishness, and if, as is likely to be the case, you succeed in convincing your pupil that at least there is much truth in this view of things, wherein have you made him better. Nay, is it not certain that he is made worse. His faith, his confidence in others is rudely shaken, and more, his own self respect is shattered. If others are thus, he reasons, so am I. Having confidence, he looks for no support from others, whilst he is in a frame of mind peculiarly susceptible to the insidious advances of temptation.

The cynic's view of human nature is a grossly exaggerated view. Having some elements of truth it is the more deceptive. In one of the rooms of the Normal School in Toronto there are two large mirrors. Each of them reflects the gazer's face. But one absurdly elongates it. You look at your own face, your own features, but narrowed and lengthened to a ludicrous absurdity. The other as ridiculously broadens it. The cynic sees the world reflected in such a mirror as this. He sees its features, but distorted and exaggerated and so far falsified.

ORDINATION AT ST. MICHAEL'S.

The Rev. Mr. Duffy Elevated to the Holy Order of Priesthood—A Gorgeous Ceremony—His Lordship the Bishop of Peterborough Ordaining Prelate.

(Cobourg World.)

"Tu es sacerdos in eternum, secundum ordinem Melchisedek."

On Sunday last Mgr. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough, officiated at St. Michael's church as the ordaining Prelate of Father Duffy. Numerous priests and ecclesiastics of this diocese and even from the neighbouring States were present at the ceremony of the elevation of their reverend friend and esteemed brother to the holy office of priesthood. This, the first ordination held in the town of Cobourg, will be long remembered by the large number of people present, both because of the beauty of the impressive service and of the warm and loving interest taken in the welfare of Father Duffy, who is well known and much respected, not only in his native town, but in the foreign seminaries, which as a student he has attended. His scholarly attainments will go far in assuring his friends of his success in the new studies which he is about to undertake at the Catholic University, Washington.

The procession to the sanctuary at the beginning of Mass, preceded by the thurifer acolytes and priests, after whom came the officiants and his Lordship the Bishop, quit the vestry and marched down the side aisle and up the main aisle to the altar.

The Mass, during which the Holy Order was conferred, was preceded by several said by the priests who had come in for the occasion, and was rendered even more impressive than usual by the pains which Father Murray had taken in the arrangement of the ceremonies and music.

Father Teefy, S.S.B., Rector of St. Michael's College, Toronto, preached on the duties and work of the priesthood. His Lordship sang the Mass, at which all the priests were present in the sanctuary, among whom were Fathers Larkin of Grafton, Lynch of Port Hope, Kelly of Toronto, Teefy of Toronto, Revs. Harrigan of Oswego, O'Brien of Toronto, and Aveling, and Ven. Archdeacon Casey of Peterborough.

In the evening, the newly ordained priest sang Vespers and gave the benediction, at which service Ven. Archdeacon Casey preached a most eloquent sermon on the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

The musical part of the services was excellent. Professor Dickinson rendered the various parts of the mass, which the choir sang so well. The voluntaries were harmoniously superb and were composed by the clever little Drexel Institute professor himself.

Mr. Bingham's masterly vocal rendition of the "Palms" merited general admiration.

The Rev. Mr. Aveling sang during the Benediction, Gounod's "Adoro Te Devote" in exceptionally fine style.

The church, which was tastefully decorated, was crowded at all the services, indeed many were forced to stand as the aisles were fully occupied with chairs.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES.

The Decoration Chapter of the Guild will meet this afternoon to take steps for the decoration of the church for the Harvest Festival.

The sub-committee on the memorial of the late Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, M. A., to be erected in the church, will meet tomorrow evening at 8 p. m.

The Women's Auxiliary will resume their meetings next Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. A full attendance of the members is requested.

The second address on "The Sacred Institutions of the Old Covenant" will be given in St. Luke's church next Friday evening at 7.30 p. m.

The choir is busily engaged in practising the Harvest Festival music.

The annual harvest festival will be held in St. Luke's church, on Friday, Sept. 25th. The sermon will be preached by the Hon. and Rev. Dr. Pratt, of St. John's church, Detroit. Dr. Pratt is well known in the United States and in Canada as an eloquent and influential preacher. During next week he will be taking part in the Toronto Diocesean Conference. The public is cordially invited to this service.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various forms resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. PANORAMIC.

Written for the Examiner.

DEDICATED TO MRS. MINNIE PAUDASH, WIFE OF THE INDIAN CHIEF, AT HIAWATHA, IN LOVING REMEMBRANCE OF HER DAUGHTER, THE LATE MRS. HARRIETT WHETUNG, WHO PASSED AWAY SEPT. 1st.

At the villa Hiawatha,
"Happy Vale," romantic place,
Simple, peaceful, dwell the remnant
Of a prehistoric race.

Smooth and glassy gleam the waters
On this first September day,
As impatiently the hunters,
With the morning's early gray
Glide away.

Fair the "Lake," the "Rice" is ripen'd;
Fowls aquatic hover round;
Legal day for all to hast'n
To this famous hunting ground.

Blue the canopy is bending
Over water, hill and plain;
Rook and cricket songs are blending
Where but lately wav'd the grain.

Where sweet b'ossoms smil'd and nodded
From the ancient apple bough,
(Fragrance filled the "Happy Valley,")
Perfect fruit is bending now.

Carmine, amber, stir the maples
When sweet summer's prime
Hints of autumn time.

Nature tells the plaintive story
As the years go bye,
And the beauties die;

If with scenic charms beguiling,
On this perfect day,
She should lead astray,

Under yonder pleasant cottage,
See the pain and grief
In the palace of the Chief!

Death is there; but slight the office
Of its cruel (a) hand—
Severing the "Band."

Slightest breeze puts out the taper
When 'tis wasted low—
Harriet perished so.

Perished? never! Staunch the weeping
For the lady fair
With the raven hair!

Christ was hers, and thus eternal
Life and bliss await
At the pearly gate! (b)

Trilby's Foot.

The step 'twixt the sublime and the ridiculous is quickly made. Surely literature presents no more grotesque idealization than Trilby's foot, and the numerous worshippers who have figuratively speaking bent knees and kissed the big toe of the foot, when reason once more comes to their rescue, will feel as if the production of the genuis Ass were perennial. By the way, did you notice when reading Trilby how highly it commended Putnam's Corn Extractor, which renders impossible the discordant excrescence, corns. NOWADAYS, when women are trying to do everything it is not strange that many things are over-done. It is not strange that there are all kinds of physical and mental disturbances. If the woman who is a doctor, or a lawyer, or a journalist, or in business would not try to be a society woman too it might be different; but the woman who knows when she has done a day's work has yet to be born. Usually a woman's way is to keep doing until she drops.

Working in this way has manifold evils. As an old colored Aunty used to say: "There's always somethin' the matter. If it isn't one thing it's two." The most common trouble resulting from over-exertion, either mentally or physically, is constipation of the bowels, with all its attendant horrors.

There is no human ailment that so saps the energies, so deadens the ambitions, as that coming from the bowels forgetting their vocation, or the liver only working about eight hours out of the twenty-four.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most effectual remedy in the market. They work upon the system easily, naturally. There is no unpleasant nausea after taking them. No griping—no pain—no discomfort. They are composed of materials that go through the system gradually, collecting all impurities and like the good little servants that they are, disposing of them effectually.

MRS. ROSANNA M. BLISS, of Colosse, Oswego County, New York, says: "I had suffered much with dizziness, sometimes faintness from too much mental work. Over exertion physically caused constipation of the bowels. I tried liver pills. They gave temporary relief. Two years ago I began using Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I have, at intervals, used three bottles, and I am now enjoying uninterrupted good health."

Yours truly,

Rosanna M. Bliss.

A PURSE FOR GAUDAUR.

Something Tangible Will be Given to the Champion Oarsman When He Arrives.

Toronto, Sept. 12.

The Gaudaur reception meeting last night was an unqualified success, and augurs well for the demonstration that will take place when the world's champion arrives in the city, likely Wednesday, Sept. 23. There were about 100 delegates and friends of the Orillian present, and the general opinion was in favor of a trolley parade, accompanied by the wheelmen, to wind up, not at the Pavilion, but at Queen's Park where extra electric lights will transform the darkness into day, and there the speeches of welcome will be delivered. Fireworks along the route were suggested, but the arrangements were all left to a special committee, that will decide next Monday what the program will be.

It was decided to present Mr. Gaudaur with a purse of not less than $1000, to which the treasurer will be pleased to receive subscriptions from everywhere, the same to be acknowledged through the press.

This committee was selected to wait on the Toronto Railway to see if the cars and line can be secured for the proposed procession: Ald. McMurrich, Harry Piper, R. L. Patterson, G M Higinbotham, C A B Brown, John Laxton and J W Hogg. They will report to the General Committee next Monday at 4.30 p.m. at the Queen's Hotel.

The secretary was instructed to write the Council and ask for a municipal subscription. W. A. Littlejohn was given a vote of thanks for his work in starting the ball rolling.

Harry Piper was chairman of Hanlan's reception just 20 years ago. The ex-champion was present, and in a very sportsmanlike manner proposed that a house and lot be presented the champion. Gaudaur sails to-day from Liverpool, and will likely land in New York next Saturday.

Mayor Jupp and ex-Mayor Thompson of Orillia, with the mayors of all cities and towns, will be specially invited to the celebration.

DUTTON'S GREAT DAY.

The Earl and Countess of Aberdeen Were Present at the Annual Caledonian Games.

Dutton, Ont., Sept. 11.—The seventh annual Caledonian games at Dutton eclipsed all former efforts. Over 6000 people were present. No doubt the large number in attendance was owing to the presence of Lord and Lady Aberdeen. Their Excellencies arrived at Dutton by special train about noon. On arrival at the station a few of the leading men were introduced to Their Excellencies, after which they entered a beautiful carriage, drawn by four very handsome creams, with bright silver manes and tails.

On reaching the ground, the first on the program was the banquet, which was an elegant spread, prepared by Mr. Newport of Hamilton, and was served in a marquee.

After partaking of the good things the chief of the Caledonian Society proposed the toast of "Her Majesty the Queen," which was honored by three cheers and the playing of "God Save the Queen." The next, and only other, toast was "Our Guests, Lord and Lady Aberdeen," to which the Governor-General replied briefly.

ADDRESSES PRESENTED.

The next was the presentation of addresses. The first address was from the Elgin County Council, who appeared in a body. The next address was presented by the Caledonian Society. His Excellency made suitable replies to both addresses.

The distinguished guests witnessed the games, after which Lady Aberdeen left by special train for St. Thomas about 3.30 p.m., to deliver an address to the Women's Art Association. Lord Aberdeen remained and opened the concert in the Opera Hall, at which Harold Jarvis was the principal artist.

FOUND A JEWEL.

An Important Find by a Brockville Jeweller.

Mr. Joseph Lane, the well-known jeweller of Brockville, says: "For some years I have suffered with severe pains in my back and sides and flashes of heat between my shoulders. I had a tired, wornout feeling.

"The numerous medicines that I took gave me very little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try a box, and got one at Curry's drugstore.

"After the first two or three doses I felt much relieved, and the longer I took them the greater the change for the better in my condition. I am much better in every respect and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from kidney trouble as the best remedy I know of."

Brining Butter.

The Royal Agricultural Society of England gives the following rules: To brine butter, make a strong brine, two or three pounds of salt to one gallon of water. Place straining cloth over mouth of churn, turn sharply half a dozen times, and leave from ten to fifteen minutes. Then lift the butter out of churn into sieve, turn butter out on worker, leave it a few minutes to drain and work gently till all superfluous moisture is pressed out. To dry-salt butter, place butter on worker, let it drain ten to fifteen minutes, then work gently till all the butter comes together; place it on the scale and weigh; then weigh salt—for slight salting 1-4 ounce, medium 1-3 ounce, heavy 3-4 ounce to the pound of butter. Roll butter out on worker and carefully sprinkle salt over surface, a little at a time; roll up and repeat till all the salt is used.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $100 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

A statistician has learned that the annual aggregate circulation of the papers of the world is about 12,000,000,000. This increase takes place in from twenty-four to thirty-six hours. FARMING WORLD

HOW TO GROW WHEAT.

A Very Interesting O. A. C. Bulletin on Test Experiments.

Bulletin 103, just issued by the Ontario Agricultural College, give experiments made by C. A. Zavitz, B.S.A., in winter wheat:

One hundred and thirty-three varieties of winter wheat have been tested at the Ontario Agricultural College within the last seven years. Of this number fifty-three varieties have been grown for five years, and the remainder have been tested from one to four years. Besides testing the varieties there have been experiments conducted in different dates of seeding, methods of seeding, selection of grain for seed, quantities of seed per acre, application of fertilizers, sowing of spring grain to act as a mulch for winter wheat ,the yield and quality of wheat cut at different stages of maturity, and the value of seed from wheat cut at different stages of maturity.

The field in which the grain was sown in 1896 is a good average clay loam, quite uniform in character, and has a very gentle slope towards the southwest. No manure nor commercial fertilizers had been applied to the land since the spring of 1893, when twenty tons per acre of farmyard manure was used. The land produced a crop of corn in 1893, a crop of grain in 1894, and a crop for green manuring in 1895, which was plowed under in July of that year. No other plowing was done, but the land was well cultivated up to the first of September. The plots were made of uniform size for the different experiments, each containing one one-hundredth of an acre.

The seeding for all the experiments took place in the month of September. The germination was quite satisfactory throughout, and the growth of the wheats in the autumn was good. On examination of the crop in the following April, it was found that many of the varieties showed but little signs of winter killing, while others had been considerably frozen out, thus affording ample data for a comparison of the different plots in respect to hardiness.

Eighty-one varieties of winter wheat have been under test this season. The plots were situated side by side, the soil being quite uniform throughout. They were separated from each other by paths three feet wide. All the plots were sown by hand, at the rate of two bushels per acre, on September 4, with the exception of eight varieties, which were sown on small-sized plots about ten days later, and which are not included in the tabulated results. The varieties ripened between the 10th and the 18th of July, which was about six days earlier than in 1895. The trouble from smut this season was very slight. The yields per acre have been calculated from the actual yields of the plots.

The following table gives the average yields for seven years past:

Year.	Average weight of grain per measured bushel.	Average yield of Straw per acre.	Average yield of Grain per acre.
	Lbs.	Tons.	Bush.
1890.....	60.0	2.4	30.9
1891.....	63.3	2.0	52.9
1892.....	60.5	3.2	42.6
1893.....	58.4	2.1	29.0
1894.....	60.8	4.0	46.7
1895.....	60.4	1.2	20.1
1896.....	60.3	2.6	42.1

After detailing the various experiments, the bulletin sums up as follows:

1—The average results of winter wheat growing on the experimental plots for seven years in succession are as follows: Weight of grain per measured bushel, 60.5 pounds; yield of straw per acre, 2.5 tons; and yield of grain per acre, 38.7 bushels.

2—Dawson's Golden Chaff has given the largest average yield of grain per acre among fifty-three varieties of winter wheat grown at the Ontario Agricultural College for five years; also among eleven leading varieties tested over Ontario in 1893, nine varieties in 1894 and nine varieties in 1895.

3—The Early Genesee Giant has given the largest average yield of grain per acre among twenty-eight new varieties which were tested for the first time in 1894, and have now been tested for three years in succession. This variety also stood second in average yield per acre among nine leading varieties of winter wheat tested over Ontario in 1894, and nine leading varieties tested over Ontario in 1895.

4—The Early Genesee Giant, Giant Square Head and Queen Meg varieties of winter wheat, which head the lists in average yield per acre among the varieties grown for three years, for two years and for one year, respectively, are very similar in all characteristics.

5—Among eighty-one varieties of winter wheat tested in 1896, the Dawson's Golden Chaff, American Bronze, New Columbia, Early Genesee Giant, Giant Square Head and Queen Meg produced the stiffest straw.

6—In the average of four years' experiments in seeding winter wheat on different dates, it is found that when the wheat was sown later than September 9th, the crop was much poorer than when the seeding took place on or before that date.

7—In the average results from growing winter wheat for seven years in succession, it is observed that the white grained varieties have given the largest yields per acre in those seasons when there was but little rust, and the red grained varieties in those seasons in which the rust was abundant.

8—The varieties which have given the best average results in the experiments at the College are the varieties which have also given the best satisfaction throughout Ontario.

Why is it that one man is old and decrepit at 45 and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his blood impure—he keeps his nerves and his body under a constant nervous strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures many so called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

Rev. John Morton Resigns.

Hamilton, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the members and adherents of the First Congregational Church to-night the resignation of Rev. John Morton, the pastor, was reluctantly accepted. Mr. Morton was obliged to resign owing to long-continued illness in his family, his wife having been dangerously ill for over a year, and his son being also in very ill-health.

Prof. John Wise, the eminent aeronaut, who lost his life in making a balloon ascension on September 28, 1879, once viewed a storm from a balloon, which is described as follows by the Atlanta Constitution:

"The view of a storm cloud from above is one of the most interesting sights ever beheld by mortal man. A storm viewed from above the clouds has the appearance of ebullition. The upper surface of the cloud is bulged upward and outward, and has the resemblance of a vast sea of boiling, upheaving snow. Immediately above the storm cloud the air is not so cold as it is in the clearer atmosphere above or in the cloud itself. The falling of the rain can be distinctly heard, making a noise like a waterfall over a precipice. The thunder heard above a storm cloud is not loud and the flashes of lightning appear like streaks of intensely white light on the surface of the gray colored vapor."

THEY COUNT BY THE SCORE

Yea, By the Hundreds, Those Who Have Been Cured of Dire Disease By South American Nervine.

A Remedy Widespread and Universal in Its Application.

Where Other Medicines Have Failed and Doctors Have Pronounced the Cases Beyond Cure, This Great Discovery Has Proven a Genuine Elixir of Life.

The Same Verdict Comes From Old and Young, Male and Female, Rich and Poor, and From All Corners of the Dominion.

If it is the case that he who makes two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before is a benefactor of the race, what is the position to be accorded that man who by his knowledge of the laws of life and health gives energy and strength where languor, weakness and anticipation of an early death had before prevailed? Is not he also a public benefactor? Let those who have been down and are now up through the use of South American Nervine give their opinions on this subject. John Boyer, banker, of Kincardine, Ont., had made himself a hopeless invalid through years of overwork. At least he felt his case was hopeless, for the best physicians had failed to do him good. He tried Nervine, and these are his words: "I gladly say it: Nervine cured me and I am to-day as strong and well as ever." Samuel Rhya, of Meaford, was cured of neuralgia of the stomach and bowels by three bottles of this medicine. Jas. Sherwood, of Windsor, at 70 years of age, suffered from an attack of paralysis. His life, at that age, was despaired of. But four bottles of Nervine gave him back his natural strength. A victim of indigestion, W. F. Bolger, of Renfrew, says: "Nervine cured me of my suffering, which seemed incurable, and had baffled all former methods and efforts." Peter Esson, of Paisley, lost flesh and rarely had a good night's sleep, because of stomach trouble. He says: "Nervine stopped the agonizing pains in my stomach the first day I used it. I have now taken two bottles and I feel entirely relieved and can sleep like a top." A representative farmer, of Western Ontario, is Mr. C. J. Curtis, residing near Windsor. His health was seemingly completely destroyed through la grippe. No medicine did him any good. "To three bottles of Nervine," he says, "I attribute my restoration to health and strength." Neither man or woman can enjoy life when troubled with liver complaint. This was the sentiment and feeling of W. J. Hill, the well-known bailiff of Bracebridge. "I was so bad," says he, "that one of my medical attendants said that I was dying, but, thank God, I am not dead yet. From the first few doses I took of Nervine I commenced to feel better, and am to-day restored completely to my usual health." A resident of the Maritime Provinces, in the person of S. Jones, of Sussex, N.B., says: "For twelve years I was a martyr to indigestion, constipation and headache. The treatment of several physicians did not help me. I have taken a few bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say that I am a new man."

A shrewd observer of human nature has said: "The hand that rocks the cradle moves the world." How important it is, then, that health and strength should be made the lot of the mothers of this country. The women of Canada are ready by scores to tell of the benefits that have come to them through the use of South American Nervine. Mrs. R. Armstrong, of Orillia, wife of the colporteur, of the Bible Society of that town, suffered for six years from nervous prostration. Medical assistance did not help. "In all," she says, "I have taken six bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say this is the one medicine that has effected a cure in my case." Mrs. John Diawoody has been for 40 years a resident of Flesherton, and has reached the allotted three-score years and ten. Three years ago her system sustained a severe shock through the death of a daughter. Nervine was recommended. She perseveringly took 12 bottles of medicine, with the result that she is to-day again strong and hearty. Hundreds of women suffer from impoverished blood and weakened nerves. "All vitality," says Mrs. J. Fallis, of Brampton, "seemed to have forsaken my system. I was unable to get relief from any source until I commenced taking South American Nervine. The results are most satisfactory—greater far than I could have hoped for." It came within the way of Mrs. H. Stapleton, of Wingham, to treat under the best physicians, both in Canada and England, for heart disease and nervous debility, but she failed to get any relief. "I was advised," she says, "to take South American Nervine, and must say I do believe that if I had not done so I would not be alive to-day."

Newspaper space is too valuable to permit of further additions to these earnest words of testimony from those who know just what they are talking about. In the common language of the day, they have been there, and are speaking from the heart. The dozen or more witnesses that here speak have their counterparts by the hundreds, not only in the province of Ontario, but in every other section of the Dominion. South American Nervine is based on a scientific principle that makes a cure a certainty, no matter how desperate the case may be. It strikes at the nerve centers from which flows the life blood of the whole system. It is not a medicine of patchwork, but is complete and comprehensive in its application.

LACROSSE.

Word has been received by the Peterboroughs from the Executive of the Canadian Lacrosse Association that they are to play off the semi-finals with the Madocs of the Quinte District. This will most assuredly put the boys in the finals against St. Catharines, as they will win from Madoc with comparative ease, if they are in good shape. The Peterboroughs go to Madoc on Friday next and the return match will be played on the P. A. A. A. grounds on Tuesday, Sept. 22nd.

Although Peterborough should win both games from Madoc, yet they will have no "snap," as the Madocs can always scrape together a good team. The Junior Peterboroughs took four seniors and went to Madoc week before last and were beaten by the score of 5—3, so the seniors will have their hands full unless some assiduous practice is put in before Friday. The boys have been called out to practice every afternoon between now and the first game and it is hoped that none will neglect to be present. Fully half the team have dropped practice since the last Port Hope game, and it will take them all their time to get into shape again.

If Peterborough wins from Madoc the citizens will see some grand lacrosse played on the local grounds when the finals are being played off. Although the St. Catharines team have a great name and have actually succeeded in winning from the Shamrocks, of Montreal, yet when they run against the Peterboroughs on the P. A.A.A. grounds they will have a hard nut to crack.

From now until the close of the lacrosse season the watchword of the members of the Peterboroughs must be "Practice and train." Early hours and lots of stick handling are what are needed now and the C. L. A. championship may come to Peterborough, as a result of a team composed of purely local men. Make an effort, boys, and the town will back you up, sure.

THE WHEEL.

Messrs. Little, Walker, Philps, Lytle and Gordon participated in the big R.Q.T. road race in Toronto on Saturday. Phelps finished in 174th place, having a handicap of 5½ minutes, and riding the twenty miles in 1.06.05. A. F. Little came in just behind him, having had a handicap of 1½ minutes, and riding the race in 1.02.07.

Walker came in 225th.

W. Lyttle did exceptionally well. With a six minute handicap he came in No. 98, making the trip in 1.08.37.

THE TURF.

The Cobourg Post says:—"The running mare Nettie Wood, owned by Mr. F. E. Jones, Peterborough, has started nine times this summer so far, and succeeded in landing six firsts, one second and two thirds."

Robert J., 2:01½, the idol of the turf and the only horse of the year who, it is believed, can sweep away the 1½ seconds which stand between the present harness-horse records and the 2 minute horse, has become the property of Lewis J. Tewksbury, a rich New-Yorker, who is already owner of Mascot, 2:04, and other famous harness racers. By the terms of sale, the horse will finish the racing season before he passes out of the Hamlin's hands, and the Lexington (Ky.) meeting will, in all probability, mark the close of Robert J.'s turf career.

The annals of the New York turf are dotted with the names of many harness-racing champions, but none of them, except Maud S., quite fills the niche that Robert J.'s deeds have assured to him in its history. It is fitting that Robert J. should find a home in New York, for it was there that the little gelding first gave promise of the brilliant future which has been his. It was at the spring trotting meeting at Fleetwood Park, in 1892, and Champ Brown, an old-time horseman of Williamsport, Pa., then owned the undiscovered world-beater. Brown was formerly in the employ of Robert J.C. Walker, of Pennsylvania, who bred the horse, and when Mr. Walker held a public sale of trotting stock, in 1890, Brown bid off the Hartford Geraldine colt for a song on his own account. His employer, however, would accept nothing for the then undeveloped youngster, and, to show the appreciation of Mr. Walker's generosity, Brown named the little chap Robert J.

After starting him once as a 3-year old, the Pennsylvania trainer entered Robert through the southeastern spring circuit in 1893. Mr. Hamlin had a pacer called Glendennis in the same class that season, and when Robert made his first start in Philadelphia, the stallion from Village Farm shut him out in the first heat. The horses were due at Fleetwood the next week, and Glendennis was a red hot favourite there, while nobody wanted to back Robert J. Old Champ alone had faith in the gelding, and he bought all the tickets that were sold on the race, getting Robert for $5 in $100. After Glendennis had placed two heats to his credit Brown turned his dark horse loose. A terrific contest ensued, in which the Hamlin stallion was beaten to a standstill and badly used up. C. J. Hamlin knows a good thing when he sees one, and he lost no time in closing a deal with Brown by which he became the owner of the promising 4-year-old that had literally killed his horse.

The subsequent career of Robert J. is as a twice-told tale to racing-men. With Geers in the sulky the little gelding went down the Grand Circuit that year, winning every race in which he started until he he tackled the older and better seasoned horse, Flying Jib, at Buffalo. The Jib won, but it was only after the fastest five-heat race in the history of harness-racing.

As a 5 year-old, in 1893, he was a star of national prestige, defeating his old antagonist, Flying Jib, in such crushing style that it finally came to the pass where the long-bodied Californian would sulk and try to bolt the track the moment he recognized the game little Robert in a race. Robert was the undisputed champion, and although he closed the season with a record of 2.03¾, it was conceded by all the circuit followers that he could wipe out the world's record of 2.04, then held by Mascot, whenever he was given his head for the attempt.

Nearly every association in the country barred the rising pacer from the free-for-all class in the summer of 1894, and his campaign was consequently largely confined to exhibitions against time. In the march down the circuit line he took the measure of the rising star, Joe Patchen, in the fastest race then on record, and at Fort Wayne, Ind., on August 31st, he wrested the record laurels from Mascot by pacing an exhibition mile in 2.03¾. The next week, at Indianapolis, he met Joe Patchen again and defeated him as before in straight heats, cutting the world's record down to 2.02½ in actual contest, which record still remains the best ever made in a race.

Within a week after this phenomenal race Robert J. started to beat his record in an exhibition against time at Terre Haute. Few horsemen expected him to do the trick, for his mark was already nearly two seconds faster than that of any other harness horse in the world. Geers, however, rated the champion to perfection, and Robert J. set the record at 2.01½, convincing the critics that at last the 2.00 horse was in sight. The owner and driver of Robert J. confidently expected to see their horse reach the 2.00 goal in 1895, but they set about it too early in the season, and the mile that Robert J. paced in 2.09 at Detroit, in July, ruined his chances. How this premature effort made him stale after having been kept in training a whole year without a let-up, and how Joe Patchen unexpectedly defeated him at Cleveland and Buffalo, are matters fresh in the recollection of everybody.

In appearance Robert J. is easily the most blood-like harness horse of note now in training, and it is doubtful whether his equal in this respect has ever been seen on the trotting turf. Built on dainty and graceful lines, he has the fine head and neck of a thoroughbred or an Arab, and, with his tail banged, he would pass muster for a galloper. He moves at top speed with the grace of a swallow in full flight, and he flashes down the stretch, hoofbeat following hoofbeat with a rhythm that is music to the horsemen. He is a bright bay in colour, standing apout 15.1 hands high. Geers says that a child can drive him, and there is every reason to believe that the king of the turf will be a king of the road.

The Grasshopper Pest.

This season has been prolific of stories about the army worm, grasshoppers and other pests, but nothing has come from the country around Peterborough which will compare with the following from a United States paper: Early last spring an old woman near Milwaukee dug up a panful of earth in which to plant flower seeds. She put the pan under the stove, not once thinking of grasshopper eggs, and went out to see a neighbour. Upon her return, after an hour's absence, she found millions of grasshoppers generated from the eggs by the heat, literally eating her out of house and home. They first attacked the green shades of the windows, and then a green dustpan. A green Irish servant girl asleep in one of the rooms was the next victim, and not a vestige of her was left. The stove and the stovepipes were next eaten, and then the house was torn down so that they could get at the chimney. Boards, joists, beams, clothing, nails, hinges, door knobs, plates and tinware—everything, in fact, the house contained was eaten up, and the last the good woman saw of the place two of the largest hoppers were sitting up on end playing poker for which should have the cellar.

LEANER PORK.

Carcasses of Clear Lard Not Wanted Now—The Food Decides the Quality of Pork—Pasture and Exercise Needed Where Possible.

The demand for leaner pork, which was referred to in a previous issue, is widespread and the person who is producing pork for the market must prepare to meet it. By leaner pork is not meant the sending to market of the former type of hog in a half fattened condition, but a distinct type bred and fed with the prominent idea of mingling the lean and fat in such a manner as to meet the demand of the market. Formerly the lard was the chief element sought in the market hog, but now the other characteristic has entirely overshadowed that, and the bacon hog is the one in demand. Thomas Shaw, in the Prairie Farmer, advocates crossing the large breeds upon the "common dumpy shaped" sows of the smaller breeds, and the following method of feeding: "But the food exercises a powerful influence on the character of the meat, since it affects the character of the development all along the line. When pigs are fed nitrogenous foods prior to the fattening period they grow muscle; that is to say, they grow lean meat with some fat in it. Then when the fattening period comes the 'streaking' of the meat is perfected through enlarging the size of the seams of fat. Of nitrogenous foods we have many. They include shorts, bran, oats, skim milk, peas, squashes, pumpkins, field roots, clover and a great variety of grasses, which may and ought to be used in pasturing. But bran and oats should not be given to young swine, since they are not suited to their digestion. And the more exercise the pigs get the more perfect will be the blending in the meat. In other words, pigs that pasture during all the season of growth will make a better quality of pork than those not so pastured. For pastures we may use clover in all its varieties, winter rye, barley, peas, sorghum and rape. Where clover will not grow, rape will succeed and it will make an excellent substitute for clover. If pigs are bred as indicated, if they are fed these nitrogenous foods up to the fattening period, if they are given exercise during the pasturage seasons, and if they are then fattened on corn or barley, or both, they will furnish pork of as good a quality as can be found in the world. Of course, some barley, corn or rye may be fed during the growing period and with advantage, but the quantity should not be large. We may lose a little in easy keeping qualities by the modifications recommended, but we will get more than compensation in the vigour, the prolificacy and the general well doing of our pigs."

Suddenly Attacked.

Children are often attacked suddenly by painful and dangerous colic, cramps, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, etc. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt and sure cure which should always be kept in the house.

"Mikado" Still in the Market.

We take pleasure in informing the public that we have completed arrangements by which we can supply our old brands of flour manufactured with every care to suit the requirements of our trade. We can guarantee the same satisfaction that our flours have always given, as we are having them made from our own blends of wheat and under our personal supervision. Orders will be taken as usual at our down town office, corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets. Telephone No. 113. MELDRUM & MCALLISTER Millers.

Mr. Chas. Smith, Dawn Mills, Ont., says: "For several years I was troubled with pains in my limbs, which continued getting worse until I thought I would have to quit work. In fact the pains were so severe that I could not rest nights. I took one box of Miller's Iron Pills and am perfectly cured." Although it is nearly a year since Mr. S. took the pills he has had no return of the pains and feels splendid. Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

THE FENIAN RASCALS

A Complete Network Drawn About the Plotters.

DETECTIVES OF SCOTLAND YARD

Dogged Their Every Move—Tynan Knows He is in a Tight Place—They Lived High in France and Had Plenty of Money—Their Movements.

London, Sept. 14.—A semi-official communication upon the subject of the recent arrests of alleged dynamiter conspirators was issued this afternoon. It says: "There has been, within the full knowledge of the Scotland Yard officials, for some time past a gang of desperadoes busily engaged in America in preparing the ramifications for an extensive and diabolical plot to perpetrate a dynamite outrage in this country and establish a reign of terror. Chief Inspector Melville, who has been so prominent in tracing and arresting Fenians, has been the head of the Scotland Yard arrangements for checkmating the present conspirators.

Gradually and quietly a complete network was drawn round the plotters, and the fact being known that they were in intimate communication with prominent Russian Nihilists in the United States enabled the police to pursue, investigate and discover, on what is believed to be absolute evidence, that one of the most recent developments of the scheme aimed at an outrage on the Czar upon the occasion of his visit to England. The prime movers were Fenians in America, and when the plot had been carried as far as possible there Tynan and the other chief agents were despatched to Europe to consummate the designs adopted. Every precaution was taken in shipping them separately and by different routes. The emissaries of Scotland Yard, however, dogged their every movement."

The semi-official communication then deals with the arrests and the capture of all the appliances, documents, etc., and continues: "It was arranged that Bell should go to Glasgow to superintend a series of outrages in Scotland, the explosives necessary being sent from Belgium as required. Bell had in his pockets between £300 and £400 and American letters of credit."

Tynan, who seems to have had no idea that he was shadowed by English detectives from the moment he landed in Europe, feels his position keenly. He told his captors he knew that capital punishment awaited him if he was handed over to the representatives of the British Government.

The Globe's advices from Boulogne say that his disguise was almost complete. The Globe correspondent adds: "I knew him at Kingstown in 1880, and saw him at New York in 1893. He is now minus his whiskers and mustache is horribly painted black. He is attired in a light tweed suit, distinctly loud, and, like all Irishmen of his kind, it was his tendency to brag and conspire aloud, which led to his arrest. It was at first thought that Tynan was connected with the going to Paris of Anarchists who contemplate an upheaval while the Czar is in Paris."

BELL ARRAIGNED.

Glasgow, Sept. 14.—Bell, the alleged dynamiter, who was arrested in this city, was arraigned in the Police Court this morning, and, after the taking of formal testimony, was remanded until Wednesday. Bell was brought into court handcuffed to two policemen. It was learned in the course of the proceedings of court that Bell was arrested without a warrant.

The police inspectors, with several Irish detectives, watched Bell's hotel, and shadowed him from the time of his arrival in Glasgow, last Wednesday, until they finally took him into custody. When he was arrested Bell protested, declaring he was an American citizen. When he was confronted with incriminating documents which were found in his bag, showing his connection with Tynan, the notorious "No. 1," he said he had found the papers in the lavatory of the hotel. Bell is 28 years of age, is well dressed and has the demeanor of a gentleman. He is plentifully supplied with money. The police adhere to their belief that Bell is a dynamiter.

TWO MORE SUSPECTS ARRESTED

London, Sept. 14.—Despatches received here from Rotterdam say that two more presumed dynamiters have been arrested in that city.

The police of Antwerp, upon advices from London, searched a house at Berchem, a suburb of Antwerp, and found a number of bombs and a quantity of explosives. The tenants of the house are said to have been two Irishmen, who suddenly disappeared a few days ago, and it is supposed they are the two men who were arrested in Rotterdam.

A despatch to The Globe from Rotterdam says that one of the alleged dynamiters arrested there has been identified as J. F. Kearney of New York, who was concerned in the blowing up of the Glasgow gas works. It is learned that during Tynan's tour of the Continent and up to the time of his arrest at Boulogne yesterday morning, he posed as a courier of Queen Victoria, charged with the duty of conveying an autograph letter from the Queen to the Czar at Copenhagen. Bell, the man arrested in Glasgow, was Tynan's secretary.

The Globe asserts that the Clan-na-Gael has been supplying Tynan and the other dynamiters with ample funds. Tynan had a large sum of money about him when he was arrested. His principal drink while in Boulogne was champagne.

It is learned that the name of the second man arrested in Rotterdam to-day is Haines.

The formal charge made against Bell, the alleged dynamiter arrested in Glasgow, is that he contravened section 59 of the Explosive Substances Act of 1883, which declares that any person, while a subject of Her Majesty the Queen, who shall supply material or aid or abet crime under the act is thereby guilty of felony.

The Scotland Yard officers say that the headquarters of the dynamite conspiracy are in London, but that the London police have kept informed of the movements of the conspirators by informers in Chicago and New York.

The question whether Tynan can be extradited is being exhaustively discussed in this afternoon's newspapers. The St. James' Gazette says that in 1883 the Government of France refused to extradite Tynan and Walsh on the ground that their offence was a political one, and consequently not covered by the extradition treaty then in existence between Great Britain and France. The treaty has since been extended to cover such offences, and within the last three years a number of French anarchists have been extradited under the amended treaty. The British authorities, The Gazette says, are therefore confident that they will be able to secure the extradition of Tynan. In legal circles, however, there is considerable doubt about his extradition, as the question must arise whether the treaty is retroactive.

THEY WERE AT ANTWERP.

Antwerp, Sept. 14.—P. J. Tynan, the Irish conspirator who was arrested at Boulogne yesterday morning, was registered at the Hotel Algiais under the name of Garth. Bell, the man who came here with him and was later arrested in Glasgow, was registered at the same hotel under his own name. The men took no meals at the hotel, but they paid for their rooms for the two days they were there. Their bill for champagne and whisky and soda averaged $10 a day.

BEFORE THE BEAK.

Boulogne, Sept. 14.—Tynan, the Irish dynamiter who was arrested here yesterday morning, was arraigned before the Public Prosecutor this morning. He admitted that he was the man described in the warrant of arrest, and was remanded pending the arrival of the papers required to effect his extradition to England.

LYMAN IS ASTOUNDED.

New York, Sept. 14.—William Lyman, the president of the Irish National Alliance, in an interview to-day informed a reporter of the U.A.P. that the news of the arrest of Tynan at Boulogne came to him like a thunderclap out of a clear sky. "It seems not more than two weeks," he added, "since I saw and talked with Tynan in this city, but it may have been longer. I cabled to a friend in Paris to see that Tynan was properly represented, and that his extradition to England was prevented, if possible. I do not believe that Tynan went to Europe on any business connected with the cause. My explanation of his visit to Europe is that he went to Europe on the business of settling up the estate of a brother who died recently in South America, and the large sum of money found on him may have been a portion of his heritage. The man Bell who was arrested in Glasgow I do not know, and the suggestion that he was Tynan's secretary is ridiculous. I know J. F. Kearney of New York well, but I had no idea that he was in Rotterdam, as I talked with him in this city but a few days ago. He may have gone to Europe since, but I do not think he went on business connected with Irish matters. I do not know Haines, arrested with Kearney. If they really have Tynan and Kearney in custody, nothing will be spared to secure their release."

Tynan's arrest, after being at liberty for 14 years, creates surprise here. One of the other men arrested under the name of Patrick Kearney is believed to be John F. Kearney, well known in New York City as a political agitator. The others are unknown here. Tynan is now about 63 years old, and his arrest is liable to bring about many complications. It was charged by the English Government that he was the man who organized the "Invincibles" in Dublin in 1882, whose alleged agents in Phoenix Park, Dublin, on May 6, of that year, stabbed and killed Under Secretary for Ireland Burke and Lord Frederick Cavendish. Tynan himself never denied this, nor that he was the "No. 1" mentioned in the testimony which was given at the trial. Before any arrests were made in connection with the tragedy, however, Tynan fled to France, and finally reached this country. He spent most of his time in this city, and became a naturalized American citizen. He took part in the Blaine-Cleveland campaign of 1884 on the Republican side, and four years later, when Gen. Harrison was elected President, he was rewarded with a position in the custom house. He had been a Republican stump speaker ever since his arrival in this country. His last public appearance here was on July 4 last, when he addressed the encampment of the Irish Military Union at Bridgeport, Conn. Tynan has not been seen in New York for the past seven weeks; neither has Kearney. It was stated in Irish circles that both had gone South and West to stump for McKinley, and the statement was accepted as true. Why Tynan should go to France or to England on any kind of mission that required secrecy none of his friends can imagine. His picture has been published hundreds of times, and he has a countenance that once seen could never be forgotten. Kearney was not known to be connected with any revolutionary movement in this country.

HATCHED IN THE STATES.

London, Sept. 14.—The Central News says that the plot in which it is charged Tynan, Bell, Wallace and Kearney were implicated was hatched in the United States, and that it was widespread in its ramifications, not only in England, but in various continental countries. The conspiracy was started months ago, and, although those connected with it thought they were working with the utmost secrecy, so far as the authorities were concerned, there were among the plotters two or three agents of the British Government, who kept the London police advised of every move that was made or proposed by the conspirators from the very inception of the plot. The police here knew even the names of the men who were selected by the American revolutionary society to cause explosions in England and on the Continent. It was well known that ever since the defeat of the Irish Home Rule Bill the physical force party had been active in the spread of its propaganda, and steps were at once taken to closely but secretly watch those who it was anticipated would be likely to enter into a conspiracy against the Government.

NO BOOZE AFTER THIS

Within the Walls of the House of Commons.

A MOTION PASSED TO THAT EFFECT

The Government Offered No Opposition and Sir Charles Tupper Supported the Resolution, Which Was Carried in a House of Less Than Half the Members.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—No less than 36 queries appeared on the order paper to-day. None of the questions drew out information of particular moment, and several had to stand, owing to the absence of Ministers. The attendance of members was small on both sides, less than one hundred being present when Mr. Speaker took the chair.

The principal feature of the proceedings to-day was a motion by Mr. Craig to prohibit the sale of liquor in the House of Commons, which was carried after discussion, amid smiles all round.

MR. BERGERON'S GOOD WORK.

Mr. Bergeron has rendered good service to his compatriots and to the country generally by calling attention to the attempts being made to induce large numbers of French-Canadians to emigrate to Brazil. To-day he pointed out that Montreal newspapers state one thousand people have been induced by representatives of a Brazilian steamer at present in Montreal to proceed to Brazil to-morrow. He asked if the Government had done anything to prevent these people leaving.

Mr. Laurier's answer evidenced the fact that the Government had acted promptly on Mr. Bergeron's suggestion of the other day. He expressed his gratification that Mr. Bergeron had called attention to this matter. The Government had done everything possible to prevent Canadians leaving for Brazil. Instructions had been given to the emigration agent in Montreal to place himself in communication with intending emigrants and to warn them of the danger they ran in going to Brazil. Moreover, learning that special efforts were being made to induce French-Canadians in the dioceses around Montreal to emigrate, the Government communicated with the episcopal authorities, advising them to request the cures and priests to warn the people of the danger they were likely to incur in going to Brazil.

Mr. Joly told Mr. Charlton that the total amount of excise duties collected upon ales, beer, spirituous liquors and malt for the past fiscal year was $4,799,589.

Mr. Laurier, replying to Sir A. P. Caron, said he knew nothing of the intentions of Mr. Greenway or of his declarations on the school question. The Government had received no intimation of the intention of Mr. Greenway to come down for a further conference on that question.

Mr. Taylor was informed by Mr. Dobell that the Acting Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, having been advised that the Ontario Government had in contemplation the purchase of a number of islands in the St. Lawrence between Kingston and Brockville as a national park, islands still remaining unsold had been withdrawn from the market.

Mr. Kaulbach was informed by Mr. Davies that complaint was made by the owner of the schooner Bessie A. of Lunenburg, N. S., that he had been ordered by the steamer Savoy, belonging to Mr. Menier, outside the three-mile limit around the Island of Anticosti, because Mr. Menier claimed jurisdiction over these waters. Commander Wakeham had investigated the matter and his report shows that the warning to the Bessie A was not done by Mr. Menier's orders, Mr. Menier making no claim to exclusive fishing rights within the three-mile limit.

Mr. Dobell informed Mr. Lang that the islands in Stoney and Clear Lakes Peterboro County, were under the control of the Dominion as trustees for the Indians. The islands have been surveyed. There were 75 in Clear and 94 in Stoney Lake.

Mr. ...son informed Mr. Lang that ...ful investigation had been made by an experienced officer into the defalcation of the late collector of customs at Peterboro, C. H. Clementi. Further investigations will be made if necessary. Clementi was appointed in the summer of 1892, given bonds to the amount of $4000. The Department of Justice had been instructed to take proceedings to recover from the sureties.

Mr. Oliver was informed by Mr. Dobell that 1,395,727 acres of the C.P.R. land grants had been patented to the company.

Sir Charles Tupper was informed by Mr. Fielding that a representative of the Chignecto Ship Railway had had an interview with the Government with a view to the continuance of the subsidy. No decision, however, had as yet been reached by the company.

CANADA-AUSTRALIAN TRADE.

Mr. Paterson informed Mr. Copp that the value of goods imported into and exported from Canada to the Australian colonies for the years mentioned was as follows:

	Imports.	Exports.
1890....	$206,396	$471,022
1891....	169,045	582,377
1892....	264,873	416 153
1893....	217 917	284,926
1894....	142 177	320,352
1895....	113,342	419,924
1896....	157 918	512 875

The subsidy paid by the Dominion towards the steamship lines running between Canada and the Australian colonies was $121,666, in each of the years 1894 and 1895. In 1896 the total was $111,527, but the amount of the annual subsidy would not be earned until July, this accounting for the apparent difference between the years just closed and two previous years. Previous to 1894 no subsidies were granted for steamship services on any of the Australian lines.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper brought up the matter of Mr. Lourie's

WOMEN IN PUBLIC POSITIONS.

LADY ABERDEEN says that the ideal woman is one who makes her home a happy one; then Her Excellency goes on to advocate her election to school boards and other public positions. We are sorry to disagree in any particular with such a charming lady, and one so earnestly devoted to improving the condition of her sex, yet the opinion may be ventured that it is a doubtful gain to spoil a good housekeeper by adding school board and other duties to her household responsibilities, in which event one or the other would stand to be neglected. The woman, in ordinary worldly circumstances, who seriously undertakes the duties of making the home the best that it can be made, has little time for missionary work of any character. If she rears her children in uprightness and virtue, and makes their home the pleasantest memory of their lives, she best fits them, suitable intellectual education being taken for granted, for fulfilling, to the highest degree of usefulness, the duties of citizenship, and fits them for creating homes similar to that she has made for them. Such a home keeper has little time for extraneous work, no matter how useful it may be. But it is easily conceded that a woman who is an indifferent housekeeper and a perfunctory mother, might be of some use in the world if she seriously and successfully applied herself to school board and other work. One feature in favour of employing her thus is that the loss to her home would be of the least, and she might do some good in her new sphere. A woman is not likely, any more than a blacksmith, to cope successfully with too many irons in the fire.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

CHRISTMAS is coming and it looks as if Turkey would be ready for carving for the occasion.

THE much abused bicycle has caused no such falling off in street railway receipts in Ottawa and Montreal, as it is said to have been done in Toronto. Why is this so?

IT is all very well to talk glibly of a settlement of the Manitoba school question that will be satisfactory to everybody. If the angel Gabriel himself undertook such a task he would fail unless he began by reconstructing human nature, with a special view of having everybody pleased.

IF the people, through the plebiscite, declare for prohibition, they will create a condition involving the loss of annual revenue of over seven millions ($7,089,556) now derived from the liquor traffic. In view of this fact the Globe invites suggestions from correspondents as to the way of making up this deficit in revenue.

TALK about impetuosity being the special characteristic of hot-headed youth. The Queen, in her seventy-eighth year, in the matter of the "unspeakable Turk," has shown the headstrong indignation of a school girl, and Gladstone has, in his advanced years, shown himself an octogenarian whirlwind in the interests of the butchered Armenians. The attitude of both is a noble spectacle. We hope both may live to see their great aspirations fulfilled.

LI HUNG CHUNG may be a great potentate, with much money and many wives, but he has during his visit to this continent been put to base uses. He has been used as a sandwich man—an advertising medium by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Toronto Industrial Exhibition. The latter added $8,000 to its receipts "on the head" of his visit, and the railway by special attention to the yellow ambassador has popularized its line with the Celestials. And doubtless Li took it all to himself.

THE Ottawa Journal (Independent) says, —It is impossible to justify the late Government's actions in the way of extensive appointments and contract-giving on the eve of a general election or actually after defeat. There is no use—it would be wrong—mincing opinion about this. The people's affairs should be administered to to the utmost possible degree only by the people's bona fide representatives. There are precedents against this; these precedents should be dishonoured. If the world went by precedent we would still all be wearing fig leaves."

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

TORIES NOT UNITED.

Too Much Bluenose in the Leadership

SAY SOME MEMBERS FROM ONTARIO

A Caucus Made Necessary by the Little Differences in the Feld-Canada Sugar Refining Company Gets a Decision in the Exchequer Court—Ottawa Notes.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—The Opposition are to hold a caucus to-morrow morning. There seems to be considerable trouble in the ranks. Nobody appears to know just what is going to happen, but there are sundry murmurings against the conduct of the session being left in the hands of Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Foster and Sir Hibbert Tupper. These are all Maritime men, and the Ontario members do not relish their running the whole show, which, besides, has too much Tupper in it to suit the most of them. "There is nothing the matter with the Opposition," remarked an Ontario member of the Opposition this morning, "except that we need a leader and a definite line of policy. I cannot see that anything can be done this session, but next session I am going in for both a new leader and a new policy." This will give some idea of the feeling of the rank and file, and Messrs. Tupper and Foster may have found it expedient to consult their followers before going any further with their program. They made a mistake when they undertook to divide the House on the matter of Governor-General's warrants, and many members of the Opposition are said to be of the opinion that such a blunder was enough to discredit any leader, and some doubts are being expressed as to whether it would be wise for the Ontario wing of the party to allow Sir Charles Tupper to vent his vindictiveness against Lord Aberdeen in a formal motion which would commit the entire Opposition. They do not relish the prospect of the Conservative party through its official leaders opening fire on the representative of the Crown in this country, and while they can understand the feeling which Sir Charles Tupper must have in the matter, they do not share it to the extent that would make them cheerfully support such a motion as Sir Charles would introduce if he had his way. Some of the Conservative members are asking what good it would do now that the whole thing is over, and they are very much afraid that it would do a great deal of harm. The proceedings at the caucus to-morrow will probably be very entertaining, and if Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Foster do not receive a few compliments from the sore heads then current report is misleading.

The total amount of freight passed through the Canadian and United States Canals at Sault Ste. Marie in the months of May, June, July and August of the present year was 4,708,190 tons. Of this 3,327,060 tons passed through the Canadian Canal. The new canal thus passed 34 per cent. of the total freight.

The Canada Sugar Refining Company obtained a verdict to-day against the Crown from Mr. Justice Burbidge of the Exchequer Court. The company received a cargo of about 86,000 pounds of raw sugar about the time the new duty of half a cent per lb. by the tariff change of 1895 was imposed. The vessel reported at Sydney, but by the time it reached Montreal the new duty was in force. The judge held to-day that, as raw sugar was free the day she reported at Sydney, no duty could be collected at Montreal. The amount involved is about $43,000. No doubt the Government will take an appeal to the Supreme Court from this decision.

Judge Burbidge also gave judgment to-day in favor of the American Dunlop Tire Company against the Anderson Tire Company, and granted an injunction to the American Company to prevent the latter from infringing upon their patent.

Sir C. H. Tupper will interrogate the Government on the present position of the copyright dispute.

Mr. Fitzpatrick gives notice of a bill to amend the act respecting Judges of Provincial Courts, by giving effect to the Quebec statute appointing a new judge for Sherbrooke district.

Sir C. H. Tupper gives notice of seven motions regarding the services of the late High Commissioner.

For the Sake of Others a Grateful Woman Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Navanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

interview in The Chicago Record, in the course of which he proclaimed his willingness to open the inshore fisheries of Canada in exchange for remission of the United States duties on Canadian fish. Sir Charles characterized the statement as injudicious. He could only account for it on the presumption that Mr. Laurier had spoken without information. Canadian fishermen were now fully alive to the importance of preserving the inshore fisheries from the depredations of the Americans, whose wasteful methods had depleted the New England coast fisheries.

Mr. Laurier admitted that he was not so familiar with the subject as people living on the sea coast, yet he was aware that the reciprocity treaty of 1854 was greatly in favor of the Maritime Provinces, and that in 1891 the Conservatives appealed to the country on the strength of their readiness to get a renewal of that treaty. The principal feature of that convention was the granting to the Americans of free access to Canadian waters, and to Canadians free entry of their fish into American markets, an arrangement which was in favor down to 1888. The chief objection to giving American fishermen the right to the inshore fisheries was their use of the destructive purse seines, but under arrangement that could be prevented. Under the treaty of 1888 American fishermen were to be accorded the use of the territorial waters of Canada as a base of operations for their deep sea fishery. Besides, free access to the Boston market would be a boon to the Canadians. Possibly, he added, his views might have to be modified owing to more recent facts which had arisen, and which had altered the relations existing between the two countries in 1854. But at all events the idea he had in his mind when he gave the interview was that it was most desirable and important to the Canadian people that the Government should have new negotiations with the United States, so as if possible to secure an international arrangement with regard to the use of purse seines and other destructive engines, not only on the high seas but on the waters of the great lakes. As to what form the negotiations should take, and how far they should be modified from the position in which they were in 1854 by recent events, was another matter in which on his part he was open to conviction, but he believed that it was advisable to have American and Canadian authorities reconsider the whole subject of the fisheries.

Sir Charles Tupper said the fishermen of Canada would never consent to the proposal made by the Premier in the unfortunate interview in question, namely free fishing in exchange for free fish. It was satisfactory to hear that Mr. Laurier was open to conviction. No such proposition was ever entertained by any Canadian Government, nor did he believe it would be sanctioned by a Canadian Parliament. He pointed out the change in relative positions since 1854 wrought by Confederation. In the treaty of 1871 there was no such provision as free fishing in exchange for free fish. Indeed, by the Halifax award the Americans paid about half a million dollars a year for the eleven years they enjoyed free fishing.

The subject then dropped.

A long discussion took place on a motion of Mr. Cameron's for papers in connection with the Connolly-McGreevy case.

Mr. Craig then brought up the question of prohibition of the sale of liquor within the Commons building. He said an impression prevailed throughout the country that this was the actual condition of things to-day. He was surprised to read an editorial in The Montreal Witness recently commending the Government and Speaker for abolishing the bar and leading the public to believe that the sale of liquor had been prohibited. All the members knew that such was not the case, that liquor could still be obtained within the precincts of the House. He did not wish to secure any party advantage on this question, but in common fairness to both parties the matter should be set right before the country. He therefore proposed that what was the impression in the country should become a reality.

Mr. Somerville: They will bring flasks then.

Mr. Craig said he could not prevent flasks. He made this motion because he did not believe liquor was needed within the precincts of the House. The men who, after a long sitting, were perhaps the ones who needed refreshment were the ones who usually did not seek for it. He thought under all the circumstances it would be better to totally prohibit the sale of liquor within the Commons Building, and he therefore moved to that effect.

Mr. Laurier did not agree with all Mr. Craig said, but neither did he personally or as a member of the Government object to the passage of his resolution. The order recently issued by Mr. Speaker was designed to meet the different views of members of the House. Many did not believe that temperance consisted in total prohibition. All agreed, however, that the sale of liquor over the counter was quite improper. He was not prepared to say that under the order given by the Speaker the sale of liquor would be absolutely prohibited, but the principle should be enforced that obtains in clubs, namely, that a member should have the privilege of getting what liquors he wanted with his meals. But if the sense of the House was that there should be no liquor sold, either over the counter or in the rooms of the restaurant, there could be no objection on the part of the Government to the motion passing.

Sir Charles Tupper said that there was one thing which called for the passage of such a resolution, and that was that the mere fact that liquor could be had within the precincts of the House had caused the publication of erroneous charges concerning the character of members. (Hear, hear.) The late Speaker had issued and carried out a rule precisely the same as that recently assented to by Mr. Laurier, yet it had not served to protect the House from very severe animadversions in certain of the press, and on many political platforms throughout the country. (Hear, hear.) In his own judgment it was not possible to get together a more temperate body of men or men exercising more exemplary self-control than the gentlemen composing the Canadian House of Commons. Sir Charles added that he had seen a good deal of Parliaments abroad, but he considered that the Canadian Parliament, in respect to its temperance, compared more than favorably with any of them. He believed his hon. friend Mr. Craig was inspired by a desire to protect, by means of this resolution, the House of Commons from the undeserved aspersions cast upon it in the past, and which might be repeated unless some such resolution was passed and put into effect.

Mr. Ellis (St. John) thought it would be non-effective to take such action as would include the Senate. Any resolution passed by the House would only govern the precincts over which the House had control.

There were about 60 members in the House when the Speaker put the question, and about 20 voices cried aye.

"Those who are opposed to the resolution will please say nay." Not a voice replied.

"I think the ayes have it," said Mr. Speaker, and so the resolution carried, amidist smiles all round.

The House adjourned at 10.50 p.m.

CAPT. STAMOUR MISSING.

Went to John His Boat on Aug. 24 and Has Not Been Heard From Since—His Friends Anxious.

Wallaceburg, Ont. Sept. 14.—Captain S. E. Stamour of the steamer City of Mount Clemens left here on Aug. 24 to join his boat at Port Stanley, where it had been for some weeks previous running excursions. He talked with the mate of the boat at Port Stanley from St. Thomas by telephone on Aug. 25, signifying his intention of joining the boat next day. Since that time he has not been heard from and his whereabouts is a mystery. His boat, the Mount Clemens, was brought in here on Saturday last. His friends are naturally very anxious about him, fearing some accident has befallen him. He has always been considered a sober and reliable man.

Mr. George Taylor, well known in Norwood, has this to say about Doan's Kidney Pills:—

"For a great many years I have been a sufferer from kidney disease. Terrible pain in my side and back made my life a burden. The urine was a dark wine colour, and I was greatly troubled with frequent urination. My sleep was destroyed because of this annoying trouble.

"I have taken scores of medicines, but could get no relief, and thought that I would never be cured. Happily I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, and got a box at J. C. Moffatt's drug store, and have continued their use for one month.

"I am thankful to say as a result that they have fixed me up. I feel like another person. I do not now have to get up at night, and in fact am entirely cured.

"I think they are the grandest medicine ever placed before the public, and I heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney disorder of any kind."

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

George Hull Before the County Magistrate Yesterday.

George Hull, of Stony Lake, was before County Police Magistrate Edmison, yesterday afternoon, on the charge of breaking open some trunks belonging to Edward J. Lovelace, on August 15th last. As will be remembered, the trunks were left on the wharf at the landing near the mica mines, with the working of which Mr. Lovelace is connected.

Mr. Lovelace was the first witness called, and he briefly stated how the trunks had been left at the wharf until the cart was sent for them and in his absence they were broken open and rifled, a gold coin and watch chain and several articles of wearing apparel being taken.

Mr. Isaac Jenkinson, jeweller, of Lakefield, then testified to having purchased a gold coin from the prisoner and on County Constable Cochrane producing the coin it was identified by Mr. Lovelace as being the one which he lost and by Mr. Jenkinson as being the one which he purchased from Hull.

Robert Forsyth in his testimony stated that he had seen a fine double gold chain similar to the described by Mr. Lovelace as being stolen, in the possession of Hull, whom he had also seen with the coin.

Mr. Forsyth's evidence was corroborated by his son, who also saw the chain and coin.

James Dwyer saw Hull with the chain and coin, and asked him where he got them. The prisoner, he said, stated that the chain was one which his father had for years, and the coin he had recently purchased from a hotelkeeper. Dwyer also stated in his evidence that he had heard it reported that Hull had bought the coin from him for fifteen cents. He wished to deny this.

At the conclusion of the hearing the magistrate committed the prisoner for trial.

YOUNG'S POINT LOCK.

Improvements to be Made by the Ontario Government.

For some time past persons passing through the locks at Young's Point have noted the bad state of repair in which the locks were—large leakages existing and the locks in general being in need of special care. Owing to the representations made, drawing the attention of the government to the unsatisfactory condition of the locks, action was decided upon, an amount of $6,000 placed in the estimates for the purpose, and operations will begin at once.

Mr. R. McCallum, engineer for the Department of Public Works of Ontario, and Mr. Thomas Walters, Superintendent of Locks, Dams and Bridges, visited Young's Point yesterday in connection with improvements about to be made at this place. The locks are to be cemented with a view to stopping the leakages and some stonework is to be done in connection with the gates.

It is the intention next season to dredge out the river at the foot of the locks and to crib that portion of the bank on the Smith side which is now being washed away. The work will be of great benefit to the canal and locks.

LIGHTING THE STREETS.

The Councillors Again Discussed the Situation Last Night.

At a meeting of a committee of the whole council last evening the subject of street lighting was exhaustively discussed. Representatives of the Peterborough Light and Power Company were present and pointed out certain of the clauses in the contract which, in their opinion, are too stringent.

If it is decided to again ask for tenders the contract will be so amended that the painting of the poles will not be compulsory, the penalty of 75c a night will be remitted if a lamp is not lit and the company will not be required to guarantee each lamp to be 2,000 candlepower.

Before tenders are called for, however, the report of the special committee has to be received concerning the cost to the town of supplying its own light. An effort is being made to get the Water Company to give an estimate of the cost of supplying power for a generator.

Ginseng for Li Hung Chang.

The New York Journal of Commerce says: "Hirsch & Lowenstein, leading ginseng-root dealers, of No. 176 Chambers street, New York City, presented Li Hung Chang last week with an ebony case filled with exceptionally large and fine specimens of ginseng roots. This root is found in many places in the United States and Canada, and is exported to China, where it is used as a drug. Its scarcity makes it very valuable, and it commands exceptionally high prices compared to other crude roots and herbs. Some of the above specimens were the largest ever seen by the oldest dealers. The presentation was made in acknowledgment of the honourable business methods of the Chinese people." Some of the ginseng in question was grown in this section of Canada.

THE CLEMENTI CASE IN THE COMMONS.

The Reply Made to Mr. Lang's Inquiry—An Investigation has been Made—Value of Bonds not Yet Determined—Amount Recoverable to be Collected.

The following is taken from the report of the proceedings in the House of Commons on Monday:

Mr. Lang asked—Is it the intention of the Government to have a thorough and complete investigation, by an expert officer, of the books, etc., in the office of Her Majesty's Customs at the port of Peterborough, so that, as far as possible, the defalcations of the late Collector, C. H. Clementi, may be ascertained? Did the Government obtain any security from the collector when appointed to the office? If so, what was the nature of the security? Is it good for the amount stated therein? Is it the intention of the Government to institute criminal proceedings against the late collector for his systematic robbery of the moneys of Her Majesty's Customs?

Mr. Paterson, in response to Mr. Lang, said that a very careful investigation of the Peterborough Custom House revenue had been made by an experienced officer, and a further investigation by a competent officer would be made if necessary. The collector, Mr. C. H. Clementi, was appointed on Dec. 18, 1890. A bond bearing date January 14, 1891, for $4,000 was executed by the collector. The value of the bond had not been determined. The Department of Justice had been instructed to take proceedings for the collection of the amount recoverable under the bond. The question of instituting criminal proceedings was under consideration.

THE COLLEGIATE INTTITUTE.

Its Excellent Work as Shown by Examination Results.

Considerable boasting of the work of several Collegiate Institutes has been indulged in by the newspapers of the several towns and cities, claiming to have met with exceptional success, judged by the standard of pupils passed. Therefore THE EXAMINER would dislike keeping silent with such an excellent record as our Institute has to show.

The number of pupils of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, who, during the past year, prepared the work prescribed for the several departmental and university examinations was 149.

The number who offered themselves for examination was 144, and

The number who were successful in passing was 122, or 85 per cent.; and the value of this percentage is increased by a recollection of the circumstance that out of the 149 who prepared themselves for the examinations, the very large proportion of 144 presented themselves.

Several of the leading schools of the province have been drawing attention through the Toronto press to their success in the recent examinations. The highest percentage of successful candidates so far thus claimed is 79. Peterborough is six per cent. in advance of this. Until figures are shown to the contrary, it is perhaps fair to claim that the Peterborough Collegiate Institute has, judging by examination results, the best record for the past year of any school in the province. London and Owen Sound papers please copy.

SEWER CONSTRUCTION.

Of course it is to be expected that the acquisition of a public convenience and boon like a sewerage system should be attended with considerable inconvenience and interruption of traffic of all kinds. But it was not expected that the inconvenience would be as great as it has proven to be, especially on George street. For several weeks this street has been impassable and the chances are that for as many weeks more it will remain in practically an impassable condition. And when the sewer work is completed, the street railway track relaid and the street reduced to a half-passable condition, we shall probably have the Board of Health issuing its mandate to have the occupants of property along George street connect their premises with the sewer. Connections have been put in at average distances of 20 feet and these will represent deep excavations like an ordinary well, at close distances, and we shall have another season of almost complete obstruction.

Of course all this is largely unavoidable, but to some extent it can be controlled. It seems that the work of sewerage construction is not being pushed as rapidly as could be done or as should be done, and at times poor judgment is also shown. For instance, the street at a point in front of Meredith's shop was excavated just enough to make it impassable last Monday week, and the work of actual excavation was not begun till nearly a week later.

Why should not a night gang be put on and the work rushed along day and night. The seriousness of the interference to traffic would warrant such a course. Of course night work might add a trifle to the cost of the work, but it must be recollected that the loss to merchants is ten times greater than the extra cost of any night work. The EXAMINER is informed that a sewer was put down on Sparks street, the chief street of Ottawa, and that, too, without much interruption of street railway or ordinary traffic during the day. The work was done at night, and the public were put to the minimum of loss and inconvenience.

Why could not some similar enterprise be shown in Peterborough? Of course we expect the contractor to carry on sewer construction so as to make the largest profit to himself, consistent with keeping to the terms of his contract with the town. But certainly our civic authorities could devise some means of reducing to the smallest possible degree the inconvenience and loss necessarily resulting from the putting in of the sewers.

One important reason, apart from those mentioned, for hastening sewer construction is the necessity of having our streets put into smooth and level shape before the frost comes to fix their roughness for the winter. And, unless the work is pushed more rapidly than at present, we are in danger of having the streets filled with heaps of frozen earth, etc., during a long winter.

THE WHEELMEN AND THE HIGHWAY.

(Montreal Star.)

Everywhere the bicycle is demanding good roads. The horse is not loquacious and he has no vote; and, as a result, his opinion of the wretched roads he has had to traverse has not effected much reform in the past. But the bicycle is different. It reminds its rider at every bump of the roughness of a bad road, and the rider has both a loud voice and a powerful vote. Last year the wheelmen were strong enough to beat the railways in the lobbies of the Albany Legislature, and persuade that august body to declare that "a bicycle is a trunk," as Chauncey Depew put it. A power of that kind will compel good roads one of these days. At present in many parts of the United States it is building "cycle paths" beside the roads; and Mr. Isaac B. Potter, of the L. A. W., declares in the Century that "a cycle path is a protest against bad roads." He tells incidentally how to make a "cycle path"—information that might be worth repeating here. The cost runs from seventy-five to one hundred and fifty dollars per mile. The making of the path is accomplished in this wise:—

The surface width of the path should not be less than four feet, and need not be more than seven feet, except in rare cases. The paths are generally laid out on the grass-grown roadway, parallel with the waggonway. The grass was first cut close to the ground, after which the material (soft coal, cinders or screened gravel) is put on in a thin layer, and so shaped and and then packed as to slope downward from the centre to each side. The grade in most cases follows closely the original surface of the ground. Material may generally be had at lower cost, and hauled at less expense, during the winter months, and this is an important point to bear in mind, since the item of haulage alone is likely to constitute more than half the expense of construction.

It is much more desirable, of course, to spend the money in improving the roads than in building cycle paths. For one thing, a good road is a far more permanent institution than a cycle veneer, especially in this climate. Then for the wheelmen and the farmers to join in making one good and permanent road instead of two bad ones—one being very rough and the other short lived—is plainly an economy of effort. The day will come when this continent will be compelled to have much better roads. At present it is immeasurably behind Europe—a circumstance which must be no small factor in the "cost of production', rivalry between the farmers of the two continents. At certain seasons of the year our roads are simply awful, and their impassability takes good money out of the pockets of the farmer.

The reason why they are not improved would be generally put as a lack of money. What can be more fit then than that the farmers take advantage of the readiness of wheelmen to supply some of the needful money, and, "chipping" in their share, provide the country once for all with really good and permanent roads? One of the things that this new money ought to buy is a scientific control of the high art of road-making. Labour should be definitely applied to the making of a certain kind of road, and a consistent policy pursued towards this end from year to year. Then the road should be made suitable for all vehicles likely to use it. "The undoubted duty of every road officer to keep the public highway in a condition fit for the use of every vehicle having the lawful right to travel is not well understood," says Mr. Potter. "Cycling has come upon us apace, and the country road maker, whose official tenure is often short lived and capricious and whose ambition is likely to be restrained by a short-sighted and parsimonious constituency, may scarcely be condemned if he fails at times to provide for the old conditions or anticipate the new."

It would be, indeed, stupid to put the blame upon the road maker. He often accomplishes wonders when the materials at hand are considered. But the whole community need to be awakened to a realizing sense that the bicycle has arrived; that it has as many rights on the road as anybody else; and that the roads must be constructed to accommodate it as well as any of its sister vehicles. The Ontario Government has taken a step in the right direction in appointing a provincial officer to assist and give council to local road makers, and the success of the experiment will be watched with interest. If the wheel brings the farmer European roads, he will bless the day he first saw its shining spokes flash by.

LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Norwood Model School of '96 Organized.

The Norwood Model School Class of '96 met last Friday afternoon and organized a Literary Society with the following officers:

Hon. Pres.—Mr. F. E. Perney.
Pres.—Mr. P. G. Might.
1st Vice-Pres.—Miss E. Carey.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Miss M. McEwen.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. A. Trickey.
Programme Committee—Miss Bell, Miss Bonnycastle, Mr. W. Patterson, Mr. J. Anderson.
Critics—Miss E. Mathieson, Mr. M. Kennedy, Mr. H. Graham.
Executive Committee—Mr. W. Pickens, Mr. E. McIlmoyle, Mr. H. Stephenson, Miss F. Eaton, Miss Young.
Reporter—Miss H. McLachlan.

MISS RUDKINS MILLINERY.

Ready in Advance for To-morrow's Opening.

The ladies will be interested to know that Miss Rudkins will be prepared to hold her Fall Opening exhibition to-morrow and following days. Realising that the visit of the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen next week will create an early demand for the latest fashionable millinery and that an exceedingly active fall trade will follow, Miss Rudkins has put on an extra large staff in her millinery department to cater to the immediate wants of the ladies. Her show rooms have undergone complete preparations for the opening to-morrow, the decorating and dressing of the rooms having been going on under the care of a number of skillful hands. From end to end the store is bright with every colour, tint and overflowing with the very latest things out. Early though it may be, the pattern hats and bonnets, flowers, feathers, ribbons, and other attractive novelties waken interest at every turn. The display of Ladies' Jackets cannot fail to make selections easy, and the range of heavier Friezes and Chinchilla Cloths will meet with favour. Miss Rudkins is, of course, enthusiastic over her stock, and she wants the ladies to see, if only to see. Buyers are assured of prompt attention to their orders as the staff in the workroom will be sufficient to meet all demands.

BENSFORT.

From our own Correspondent.

Mr. George Nurse has returned from Michigan and intends spending the winter at home.

Mr. Thos. Armstrong has just received a new stock of goods for the fall trade and bargains may be made cheap for cash.

Mr. Amos Wood may be seen scorching his way to school any fine morning.

Our efficient teacher, Miss Yeaman, is again wielding the birch with renewed vigour both of body and mind and bringing up the rising generation of Bensfort in the way they should go.

Mr. Jos. Brown is now in the employ of Mr. Robert Riddell.

Messrs. Stanley Robinson, John Fletcher, jr., and Abbie Pue are now making things lively in the Northwest, but perhaps the warm days and cool nights will have a shrivelling effect on them, but look out for squalls when they again reach old Monaghan.

Mr. John Fletcher is so busy that he had to secure the services of Will Lobister, of Centreville, to help in the work of drawing milk, etc.

The majority of the farmers are busy putting in their fall wheat, and drawing peas to Port Hope. After harvesting good crops and getting a change of government they are a little more jubilant than in past years at this time.

Several of our farmers went to the Toronto exhibition last week, and feel well paid for their trip by the experience gained in the different departments carried on there.

The 31st annual exhibition of the South Monagan Agricultural Society will be held at Centreville on Oct. 8th and 9th. The prizes are many and varied, and no trouble or expense will be spared to make the exhibition and attractions better than any former year.

Mr. George Kerr is suffering from an attack of quinsy, but will soon be around again.

Mr. Isaac Kerr is suffering from a sore hand. We hope he will be able to collect the taxes, as he has been appointed collector for the year 1896.

NOW IS THE TIME TO DO IT.

Here Is The Way To Do It.

At this season of the year house cleaning will be in order and thousands of housewives will decide to recolour parlor, dining room and bedroom walls.

It should be generally known that Kalsomine can be beautifully tinted with the Diamond Dyes at a very trifling cost. One package of Diamond tints from ten to fifteen pounds, and gives handsome shades for walls.

The favourite colours are Yellow, Orange, Cardinal, Slate, Crimson, Violet, Green, Light Blue and Eosine Pink.

To make good Kalsomine, dissolve one-fourth pound of good glue to each ten pounds of whiting; mix with sufficient water to give the right consistency. To tint it, dissolve a package of dye in a quart of water, and add as much as is necessary to give colour desired.

Remember that the common imitation dyes spoil your work of tinting; avoid them if you would have rich shades. Ask for and take only the Diamond Dyes.

The Wabash Railway Trains running every day in the year between Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City are the finest known to the railway service; they are complete and solid vestibuled from end to end, the entire train being a moving palace of connected apartments, all furnished with the most luxurious elegance and perfection of accommodation known to car builder's art. They include free reclining, palace, sleeping, and dining cars of the latest and best patterns. Call on or write any railway agent for tickets and all information or address J. A. LACROSSE.

There was a good turnout of lacrosse players on the P.A.A.A. grounds yesterday afternoon, but not as many of the first team were out as should have been. Every man owes it to the team to do his level best to get into the best possible shape, and this cannot be done unless practice is attended regularly.

It seems that Madoc will not be so easily conquered as anticipated, as it appears that a number of the best men of the Tecumsehs have been signed by them. However, as long as the entire team is not made up of Toronto men it will keep them working to win from the Peterboroughs. When the Juniors went down to play Madoc, they found four Tecumseh men there to play against, but even the Juniors would have beaten Madoc if they had not been running in the hardest of luck. It will need more than four or five Tecumseh men to bolster up the Madoc team to the extent to make them winners of the championship.

The Lornes of Mount Forest have protested the game won by the Grand Valley Club at Grand Valley on Sept. 3rd, and from the declarations made the officers of the C.L.A., have suspended the Grand Valley Club and Adam Clarridge of Orangeville, for playing under the assumed name of Frank McIntyre, and C. B. Hodgson, of Brampton, for using Thos. Ruth's certificate. Both the McIntyre and Ruth certificates have been cancelled.

The Owen Sound club has followed up the declaration made by Crosby by entering a protest against the Garnets of Wiarton.

Peterborough will play Madoc a semi-final game at Madoc on the 18th, and at Peterborough on the 22nd.

Stouffville will play Richmond Hill a semi-final game at Richmond Hill on the 18th and at Stouffville on the 22nd.

The match that was to have been played in Uxbridge yesterday between Markham and Stouffville, did not materialize, as Markham team failed to turn up. The game was therefore awarded to Stouffville by the referee. An exhibition game was then played between Stouffville and Uxbridge, resulting in a score of 5 to 2 in favour of Stouffville.

Madoc won from Tweed on the home grounds yesterday by 7 goals to 0.

THE WHEEL.

A Scotch judge has rendered a decision to the effect that a bicycle is not a vehicle. A cyclist was killed while riding a wheel, and payment of his accident insurance was refused on the ground that bicycles are not vehicles and are not included in the term "passenger train, passenger steamer, omnibus, train, car, dog cart, waggonette, coach, carriage, or other passenger vehicles." The trial judge coincided with this view, and held that a bicycle was no more a vehicle than a pair of skates. This is of interest to cyclists, and if good law, has an important bearing upon accidents occasioned by riding a wheel. Cyclists must take warning, and carry a policy in such a company as make bicycle risks a special feature.

New York people are so anxious to hold Michael to an engagement at Manhattan Beach on Saturday that the race between the little Weshman and Johnny Johnston, which was fixed for that day on the Toronto Island track, must be postponed indefinitely.

THE TURF.

Buy quickly, as a further advance is certain.—CHINA HALL.

THE TORONTO FAIR RECEIPTS.

The following figures of the receipts at the fair speaks for themselves:—

	1895.	1896.
First week.
Tuesday	$ 438 75	$ 515 30
Wednesday	756 65	2,567 50
Thursday	2,423 05	2,186 10
Friday	5,198 30	3,576 50
Saturday	3,401 00	1,813 40
Second week.
Monday	11,612 55	20,060 30
Tesday	10,751 60	10,227 15
Wednesday	16,407 15	15,769 50
Thursday	11,346 25	13,417 90
Friday	5,145 75	4,035 90
	$68,026 05	$75,767 45

The receipts for Monday were the greatest in the history of the fair. The fact that it was a labour day holiday all over the continent contributed undoubtedly to this result. The receipts are about $5,000 in excess of the greatest received in any previous year.

When a man owns a blooded horse he is always careful of its health. He looks after its diet and is particular that the feeding shall be regular and right. While he is doing this it is likely as not that he is himself suffering from some disease or disorder that if left to itself will go on and on till it develops seriously.

When the trouble gets so bad that he cannot work, he will begin to give himself the care he gave the horse at the start. The time to cure a disease is at the beginning and better than all is to so watch your health that disease will never come. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against disease of any kind. Almost all diseases come from impure or impoverished blood. Keep the blood pure and strong and disease can find no foothold.

That is the principle on which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery works. It cleanses, purifies and enriches the blood; it puts and keeps the whole body in perfect order. Makes appetite good, digestion strong, assimilation perfect. It brings ruddy, virile health.

"I got a cancer on my tongue and had it cut out. I consulted fifteen different physicians without deriving any benefit. At last I turned to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I persisted in its use and my health is better than ever before. Formerly every accidental wound I received began to fester, would not heal; now, such lacerations heal themselves."

Respectfully yours,

Peter J. Shocker

THEY AGREE TO FIGHT.

Pompadour Jim and Lanky Bob Met in New York and Settled it.

New York, Sept. 12.—After a long period of talk, Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons, the two great heavyweight fighters, met to-day and agreed to battle to a finish for $10,000 a side and the largest purse offered. It was also decided that the fight must take place before March 1. If Corbett should not fight Sailor Sharkey of San Francisco, whom he is matched to meet before the end of this year, then Pompadour Jim agrees to fight Fitzsimmons anytime before that date. But should he fight Sharkey, Corbett declares that he will not be ready to meet Fitzsimmons in the ring until 60 days after that contest is decided. To this arrangement Lanky Bob gave his assent.

A CONSTABLE TALKS.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

Bismarck's Supernatural Pipe.

One of the two greatest pipe collectors who ever lived was the Marquis de Watreville, whose smoking room in Paris had the walls adorned with costly pipes, some of them worth as much as $2000, and all arranged with great beauty of design. The other was the well-known Captain Bragge, of London, whose collection was valued at £100,000.

Captain Bragge had agents in all parts of the world, and his collection was deemed worthy of a special exhibition at the Crystal Palace, which was held in 1889.

Prince Bismarck is a great pipe collector, and the gem of his collection has a curious history. Many years ago, as Bismarck was strolling in the suburbs of Friedrichsruh with his two hounds, he was accosted by a Bohemian pedlar and asked to buy a plain meerschaum pipe of the type that Bismarck most affected.

At first he declined, but the pedlar claimed for the pipe a power of forecast, and told him he would serve three Emperors as Minister, and that three important changes in life would be foretold by accidents befalling the pipe.

Laughing, Bismarck bought the pipe. He has since served three Emperors. Two days before the historic moment when he was refused an audience, the stem of the pipe separated and fell to pieces. Later he chipped a piece from the side of the bowl accidentally, and within a month his practical dismissal by the Emperor occurred. The third sign is yet to come, and Bismarck believes that when it does it will foretell his death.

Before going on a sea-voyage or into the country, be sure and put a box of Ayer's Pills in your valise. You may have occasion to thank us for this hint. To relieve constipation, biliousness and nausea, Ayer's Pills are the best in the world. They are also easy to take.

ANOTHER "HOLMES VICTIM."

J. C. McCaffrey, Who Tried to Save the Assassin's Life, Dies Suddenly in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—Another prominent character in connection with the trial and last days of H. H. Holmes has gone. Attorney J. Carroll McCaffrey having died suddenly this morning at the home of his father in this city. He was at his office and around town on Wednesday, and was in his usual high spirits.

The death of Mr. McCaffrey recalls the evil fate which has pursued many of the persons who were connected with the Holmes trial. The foreman of the jury met a sudden death by being electrocuted while on the roof of his house. Attorney Shoemaker, leading counsel for the defence, was disgraced and debarred from practising for a year. District Attorney George H. Graham, whose prosecution of the case was so vigorous as to arouse strong feeling, was defeated in his efforts to be made a director of the Union League, as he was in his race for the United States Senate. Judge Michael Arnold, who presided at the trial, has since been sick unto death, and has barely recovered.

Others connected with the trial have also appeared to feel the influence of the "evil eye." Mr. McCaffrey went into the case after Holmes had been sentenced, and made many vigorous efforts to secure a respite from the Governor. He was the only counsel who ever held any lengthy conversation with Holmes.

VANCOUVER GREETS LI.

The Chinese Envoy Welcomed by the Whole People—Special Attention Paid by His Own Countrymen.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 13.—At 11 o'clock this morning Li Hung Chang arrived at Vancouver by special train. Long before the hour set for his arrival crowds lined the approaches to the depot and wharf, and masses of people crowded all the eminences around the harbor. The Chinese residents had erected a very handsome and artistic arch on the bridge leading to the wharf, and a long line of Chinamen in rich robes of blue, green, plum color, olive and orange, stood in line before the arch, waiting to bow to the great Viceroy. The bridge was carpeted for some yards on either side of the arch, and on this carpet stood a carved ebony table on which a censer of sandal wood was kept burning in a richly-carved bronze burner.

The Chinese Band played Chinese music as Earl Li alighted from the train. A carriage drawn by four white horses and draped with Union Jacks waited to convey him the short distance from the train to the steamer.

When the procession started the coach was preceded by Li's scarlet chair, carried by four men. A division of marines from the warship in the harbor fell into line behind the Viceroy, followed by a long deputation of Chinamen in their picturesque robes.

The Viceroy seemed delighted with the demonstration in his honor, and especially with the homage of his countrymen, who fell on one knee and raised clasped hands to him as he passed. The gang plank of the steamer Empress of China was carpeted with scarlet; the ropes were wound with yellow and draped with flags. As he was carried up the plank in his scarlet chair the Chinese dragon flag was run up the mainmast, and a salute of nine guns was fired from H.M.S. Comus. The absence of cheering was noticeable, and gave an Oriental solemnity to the proceedings. All the ships in the harbor were gaily decorated with rainbows of bunting.

Many prominent citizens had cards of admission to the steamer and crowded her decks to catch a glimpse of the Earl as he was carried aboard.

Almost immediately on reaching the steamer Li Hung Chang granted an audience in the saloon to a deputation of Chinamen, from whom he received an address. Li looks in excellent health and spirits. He was delighted with his transcontinental trip.

The Empress of China will sail to-morrow about 2 o'clock, and Li Hung Chang will spend the intervening time aboard. To-morrow morning will be devoted to receiving deputations from the Board of Trade and other civic bodies.

RAINS IN ENGLAND.

The Hop Crop Damaged to a Serious Extent—Deplorable Condition of the Throngs of Pickers.

New York, Sept. 13.—Mr. Harold Frederic cables from London to The Times: "The unprecedented continuance of cold rains, which have now prevailed for nearly six weeks, is likely much to reduce the first estimates of the English hop crop. I have been for two days down in the Kentish wold, where thousands of poor hop-pickers from the London slums are huddled in wet tents, or in vile shanties, far more squalid than the East End ever imposed on them. They are unable to earn enough even for food, owing to the incessant rains, while the country about them is one vast sea of mud. The sickness and deaths among them are becoming a serious matter, quite beyond the powers of the local authorities to deal with. A month ago it was thought that the crop would be only a third less than that of 1895, but now, what with mold and wet rot, it is doubtful if even half a crop will be saved.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

An old pawn ticket, dated 1570, was recently found in a curiosity shop of Florence, Italy. It bears the signature of Torquato Tasso, the great poet, and runs as follows: "I, the undersigned, here acknowledge the receipt of twenty-five lire, from Signor Abraham Levi, for which he holds as security a sword of my father, four sheets and two table covers.—March 2, 1570, Torquato Tasso.

Why is it that one man is old and decrepit at 45 and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his blood impure—he keeps his nerves and his body under a constant nervous strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures many so-called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

In Japan, that land of gentle manners and other queer things, they have invented vegetable meat. The substance is called in the vernacular "torfu." It consists mainly of protein matter of the soya bean, and is claimed to be as easily digested as meat. Torfu is as white as snow, and is sold in tablets; it tastes like fresh malt. What with mineral wool, wood silk and vegetable meat, and other articles of food and wear made by science, nature may as well go out of business at once.—Food

The first of the ambulant churches for the Siberian Railway was consecrated on July 23. The car, the construction and fitting of which cost about $25,000, appears on the outside like an ordinary first-class railroad car, excepting the windows, which are of an oval shape. The interior is nicely decorated with lacquered hard woods, and the altar, which is at one end of the car, is artistically carved of oak and adorned with beautiful oil paintings of saints. In addition to the main room, which will serve as a chapel along the lines of the Siberian Railway, there are two compartments, one at the rear of the altar for the minister, and another at the entrance to the car for the sexton. The ceremony of consecration was performed by the chief metropolite, Palladi, of Moscow, who has appointed a monk from the Convent of Alexander Newski to take charge of the traveling church. The car is now on its way to Siberia, and religious services will be held en route four times a day, as prescribed by the Russian Orthodox Church.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various forms resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c. silver to cover postage and address, Mr. Geo. G. Stroag, North Rockwood, Mich.

Burdock Pills, small, safe and sure, regulate the liver and cure constipation.

Tomato Preserves.

Select yellow tomatoes, firm, but fully ripe, smooth and of medium size. Put them, a dozen at a time, in a wire basket and plunge for ten seconds in boiling water, then at once into cold water. Peel carefully, so as not to break them, take out the green eyes with a small, sharp knife and drop them as peeled into a jar of clear lime water. Let them stand in it for two hours, so as to harden; then drain off the lime water, rinse the fruit twice in cold, clear water, weigh it, and to each four pounds take five pounds of sugar, the strained juice of five lemons and one quart of clear, strong ginger tea. Make a syrup of the sugar, lemon juice and tea, cook it until it ropes a little; then add the tomatoes and cook at a slow boil until the fruit is clear. Skim it out then and cook the syrup a little thicker. Put the tomatoes in glass jars and cover them with the syrup, boiling hot. Lay a brandied paper on top, tie down and set away in a dark closet. The syrup ought to be thick and clear, like honey, and the fruit of a pale, clear golden yellow.

Think it Over.

Have you ever heard of a medicine with such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla? Don't you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla, the One True Blood Purifier, has proved, over and over again, that it has power to cure, even after all other remedies fail. If you have impure blood you may take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the utmost confidence that it will do you good.

Hood's Pills assist digestion. 25c.

Mr. Chas. Smith, Dawn Mills, Ont., says: "For several years I was troubled with pains in my limbs, which continued getting worse until I thought I would have to quit work. In fact the pains were so severe that I could not rest nights. I took one box of Miller's Iron Pills and am perfectly cured." Although it is nearly a year since Mr. S. took the pills he has had no return of the pains and feels splendid. Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

Science

Science is "knowing how." The only secret about Scott's Emulsion is years of science. When made in large quantities and by improving methods, an emulsion must be more perfect than when made in the old-time way with mortar and pestle a few ounces at a time. This is why Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil never separates, keeps sweet for years, and why every spoonful is equal to every other spoonful. An even product throughout.

In other emulsions you are liable to get an uneven benefit—either an over or under dose. Get Scott's. Genuine has a salmon-colored wrapper.

HOW THE SUN LIFE

FULFILS ITS PROMISES.

A Matured 10 Year Endowment.

Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.

The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the under signed this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled

BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1895.

W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—

DEAR SIR,—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,871 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.

I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when at Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the "SUN."

I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1905 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain,

Yours Sincerely,
(Signed) F. R. C.

The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

Wood's Phosphodine.—The Great English Remedy.

Is the result of over 25 years treating thousands of cases with all known drugs, until at last we have discovered the true remedy and treatment—a combination that will effect a prompt and permanent cure in all stages of Sexual Debility, Abuse or Excesses, Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Mental Worry, Excessive Use of Opium, Tobacco, or Alcoholic Stimulants, all of which soon lead to Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Wood's Phosphodine has been used successfully by hundreds of cases that seemed almost hopeless—cases that had been treated by the most talented physicians—cases that were on the verge of despair and insanity—cases that were tottering over the grave—but with the continued and persevering use of Wood's Phosphodine, these cases that had been given up to die, were restored to manly vigor and health—Reader you need not despair—no matter who has given you up as incurable—the remedy is now within your reach, by its use you can be restored to a life of usefulness and happiness.

Price, one package, $1; six packages, $5; by mail free of postage.

One will please, six guaranteed to cure. Pamphlet free to any address.

MATTERS IN TURKEY.

Sir Philip Currie Talked in Plain Terms to the Sultan H.M.S. Dryad Protects Refugees.

Constantinople, Sept. 14.—According to the palace officials, the audience which Sir Philip Currie, the British Ambassador, had with the Sultan on Friday last resulted in convincing the latter that the feeling against him in Great Britain is much more intense than he or his advisers have realized, and it was intimated to him that Great Britain in certain eventualities might be compelled to take action independent of other powers in preventing further disturbances here. In spite of this assurance it is noticeable that there is increased anxiety among the foreign portion of the population, owing to apparently well-grounded fears of another outbreak soon. The British vessels carrying Armenian refugees are guarded by the British warship Dryad while in these waters in order to prevent the arrest of their passengers by the Turkish authorities, it having become known that their arrest has been ordered by the Porte. Any such attempt, however, will be resisted to the utmost by the Dryad, her commander having received implicit instructions on the subject from the British Ambassador. The refusal of the Roumanian authorities to permit Armenian refugees to land in Roumania has created a very bad impression in European circles, and may lead to serious complications later. The joint commission of Europeans and Turks appointed to enquire into the recent massacres and their origin held a preliminary meeting on Saturday, but the commission has been turned into a mere figurehead court of inquiry by the fact that most of the Armenians who could furnished the necessary evidence to place the blame where it properly belongs, have been killed, imprisoned or banished, thus leaving the members of the commission little else to work upon than the Turkish police officials, whose testimony amounts to nothing at all. But the work of the commission has been forestalled by the embassies, where all the evidence necessary to prove conclusively that the massacres were officially planned and authorized from the palace has been collected and submitted to the Governments of the powers. It is stated that the Softas had planned a manifestation in the vicinity of the palace upon the occasion of the Selamlike of last week, and that a number of Mussulmans have been arrested in consequence. The precautions to guard the palace against attack were greatly increased then, but no manifestation occurred.

THE UPPER HOUSE.

Senator Lougheed's Bill for Insurance Payments in Gold Discussed.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—(Special.)—The Senate met to-night, after 10 days' adjournment. There was quite a debate on Senator Lougheed's bill to compel foreign insurance companies to pay claims in Canadian legal tender.

Sir Oliver Mowat acknowledged the serious nature of the question, and approved of the purpose of the bill, but advised careful consideration of the measure. As the bill could not possibly become law this session, he advised laying the matter over to next year.

The bill was read a second time, but that will be the end of it this session.

The Government bill to appoint Judges of the Supreme Court ad hoc stands over till Wednesday.

Trilby's Foot.

The step 'twixt the sublime and the ridiculous is quickly made. Surely literature presents no more grotesque idealization than Trilby's foot, and the numerous worshippers who have figuratively speaking bent knees and kissed the big toe of the foot, when reason once more comes to their rescue, will feel as if the production of the genuis Ass were perennial. By the way, did you notice when reading Trilby how highly it commended Putnam's Corn Extractor, which renders impossible the discordant excrescence, corns. Trilby's foot would not be worthy of homage if marred by corns; neither would yours. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

No Other Remedy.

No other remedy cures summer complaint, diarrhœa, dysentery, etc., so promptly and quiet pain so quickly as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is a pocket doctor for tourists, travellers, etc.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego Cal. says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 339 George Street.

SQUABBLE OVER A CORPSE.

Ottawa Coroners Having a Dispute as to Who Shall Hold an Inquest and Order Interment of a Body.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—(Special.)—A scandalous affair has occurred here over the death of an old man named Villeneuf, who was accidentally killed yesterday by being thrown from a buggy. When the accident occurred Coroner Mark was out of the city, but some person at his house issued a warrant for Mr. Moodie, the undertaker's son, to guard the body until the coroner's return this morning. As soon as the corpse was taken into the morgue, and it was found that Dr. Mark was away, Coroner Freeland was sent for, and when he arrived he took all the necessary particulars and went away. This morning he summoned a jury to appear at the inquest at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Mr. Gauthier's morgue. About 7 o'clock this morning Coroner Mark made his appearance at the morgue, and immediately set to work to form a jury. In the meantime Coroner Freeland was notified of what was going on, and at once started for the scene, and wanted to know from Coroner Mark what he had to do there. Some words were exchanged, each holding to the opinion that he had as good a right to the case as the other, but finally Dr. Mark ordered the burial of the body, and Dr. Freeland objected, stating that the corpse would not leave there until the inquest was held. As the matter now stands, Coroner Freeland's inquest was held this afternoon at Gauthier's morgue, and Coroner Mark has ordered one to be held at his private residence on Slater-street to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock.

D. Freeland is bound to find now whether Dr. Mark can do as he likes about it, and does not appear to be at all alarmed about his case. He will appeal to the provincial authorities.

Kind Words Come From Public Institutions.

As Well as From Private Individuals.

All Classes and Creeds Praise Paine's Celery Compound.

Public institutions throughout Canada are as ready to acknowledge the marvellous virtues of Paine's Celery Compound as are private individuals.

For many years a large number of our public, benevolent and religious corporations have used Paine's Celery Compound for the benefit of old and young, and if it were possible to publish all the statements made by the inmates, scores of the letters would prove interesting and entertaining.

In institutions like those referred to, where hundreds are cared for every year, all the common ills and diseases of every day life are found, and many hundreds have been made well and strong by Paine's Celery Compound that the physicians of these institutions were unable to cure by the ordinary means.

To day, this grand curing work is still going on in many of the largest and most prominent of our public places, and no other medicine will be tolerated but Paine's Celery Compound, which shows the esteem and confidence in which the medicine is held.

One of these noted institutions that has given testimony for Paine's Celery Compound is the immense conventual educational house on the St. Lawrence, near Montreal, and known as the "Convent of the Holy Names." The ladies of this house write as follows:

"We feel it a duty to add our testimony in favour of your 'wonder working' Paine's Celery Compound. Many Sisters, suffering from debility, dyspepsia, sleeplessness and indigestion, have been completely relieved after taking it.

"We shall strongly recommend its use in all our houses as the best medicine to restore health, and give tone and vigour to the nervous system."

Scrofula Cured.

DEAR SIRS—After I had doctored for two years for scrofula all over my body and received no benefit, I tried a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which gave me relief very quickly, and after using six bottles I was completely cured. I can recommend B.B.B. very highly.

MRS. A. FORD, Toronto, Ont.

THE BUTTER TRADE.

Last week the exports of butter from this port were 7,814 packages against 2,083 packages for the corresponding week last year, making a total for the season of 74,608 packages as compared with 22,997 packages for the same period in 1895, showing an increase of 51,611. Although the exports this season show a large increase over those of last year they fall far short of of our shipments some 15 or 20 years ago, when they amounted to between 350,000 and 400,000 packages in a season. Still, it is gratifying to know that they are on the increase, and may in a few years overtake and even surpass the large exports of former times. Regarding the market, there is an easier feeling induced by cable advices of a decline of 5s to 6s per cwt. in England, and shippers have lowered their bids to 17c and 17½c for choice creamery; but holders have not manifested signs of conceding to that extent, 18c being the asking price, which, however, is fully 1c decline from top rates. Stocks held in cold storage in this city are still large, and have a tendency to keep down prices, as it is not known how soon a portion of these goods held on English account may be offered on this market. This is the great check upon local dealers, who otherwise might be induced to rush in and stock up in competition with exporters, and thus advance prices to a purely speculative basis.—Trade Bulletin.

TYNAN AND HIS PALS

A Scotland Yard Officer Gives Details.

THE FENIANS LACKED SHREWDNESS

Tynan Appeals to the United States for Protection—English Feeling Against the Rascals is Strong and Growing Stronger—Newspaper Comments on the Case.

New York, Sept. 15.—Mr. Ballard Smith cables from London that he had an interview last night with a Scotland Yard official intimately connected with the unravelling of the latest dynamite plot, who could not permit the publication of his name. He said: "Tynan and his accomplices were at our mercy from the instant they landed at European ports, as we had full information from New York of their projects before they started. But even had we not been forewarned, Tynan's proceedings on the Continent would have attracted suspicion. He was very flush with money and very fond of champagne, with the result that wherever he met an English-speaking person he indulged in violent abuse of England and dark hints of his deadly mission, together with thinly-veiled allusions to his own identity. He and Bell, who has been arrested at Glasgow, spent a week in Paris, consorting openly with all the known Fenian extremists there, whom they entertained in regal style, never displaying the least suspicion of being watched, so the work of our officers in shadowing them was mere child's play. Bell was more reserved than Tynan, whose swagger he tried to restrain. Bell is a typical fanatic, but Tynan impressed our men as being what they call 'a bounder.' Just fancy, when Bell was in Glasgow he correspinded in the ordinary way through the post with Tynan on the Continent. These letters were of course at the mercy of the British authorities, who thus obtained full information of the progress of the conspiracy.

"Tynan was arrested formally on a warrant issued against him in 1882 for complicity in the Phoenix Park murder conspiracy, but this was a mere temporary expedient, as another warrant now has been issued by the English Government on a charge of conspiring to cause dynamite explosions in this country, and an application for extradition will be made on the latter warrant.

"We anticipate that the extradition proceedings will be prolonged, as the United States Government is certain to intervene, all the men arrested claiming American citizenship. In fact, Tynan has already applied for protection to the American Ambassador in Paris. Our belief is that extradition will be granted and that Tynan will be tried in this country, not for the Phoenix Park crime, but on the specific charge on which extradition is granted. I know there are considerable apparent legal obstacles to securing his extradition, but our Government is confident of overcoming them.

"The disclosure of the arrests made was rather premature, resulting in frustrating our plan of seizing a fifth man, who took charge of an explosive laboratory near Antwerp in the absence of Kearney and Haines at Rotterdam. They went to Rotterdam to meet two more accomplices expected from New York, who will also be secured by us on arrival, if they have any incriminating documents or materials with them.

"We have no evidence whatever supporting the theory started in the press of a plot against the Czar. The object of the conspirators was simply to repeat the explosions of 1882-83 in England, in the hope of causing loss of life and terrorizing the public mind. If Tynan is extradited, I can promise you a most sensational trial, involving revelations concerning supporters of the extreme policy never suspected. Bell will, in any case, be brought to trial, but if the other three men are sent over from the Continent all four will be arraigned at the Old Bailey, London, together.

"The sensation caused in England by these arrests is intense and universal. It has revived much of the former anti-Irish feeling among the masses, which had been slumbering during the last few years. Politically, the development is held to be most awkward for the Redmondites, who have been playing assiduously to the violent section of the Fenians, and must now either denounce them or forfeit the support of the Tory-Unionist party throughout Ireland. The disclosure of a new dynamite plot has occasioned utter amazement, as such methods were believed to be a thing of the past."

Glasgow, Sept. 15.—Edward Bell, the alleged dynamite conspirator, who was arrested here on Saturday, has made a statement through his lawyer, in which he says that he is a native of Harlem, N.Y. He left New York City on Aug. 19 for Antwerp, from which place he went to Berlin, later to London, and finally to Glasgow. It was his intention, he says, to sail from Liverpool for New York to-day. Bell admits that he is a member of an Irish club in New York, but denies that he is associated with any conspiracy. The incriminating documents found in his possession, he says, were not found in the lavatory of the hotel in which he was stopping, as he stated yesterday, but were dropped by somebody in a London music hall, where he picked them up.

HIS NERVE FAILED.

Rotterdam, Sept. 15.—John F. Kearney, alias Wallace, the alleged dynamiter, who is under arrest here, was examined by the police officials this morning, but he declined to answer any questions whatever. A letter dated at Boulogne was found in his pockets, and is presumed to have been written by Tynan. In the letter the writer tells "Wallace" and Haines, the other supposed dynamiter here: "If you dare not go to Scotland now, come to Boulogne. Then we will talk our plans over. Cowardice cannot be tolerated amongst our brotherhood."

A despatch from Brussels to The Pall Mall Gazette says that £2000 sterling in notes was found in the possession of Kearney, the alleged dynamiter, when he was arrested in Rotterdam.

AMERICAN IRISHMEN ASTOUNDED.

San Francisco, Sept. 15.—Many Irishmen in San Francisco were astounded at the news of P. J. Tynan's arrest. The noted prisoner has many friends in this city, who know him intimately, and they are especially astounded at his arrest. His brother, who is an old San Franciscan, is skeptical regarding the identity of the prisoner. He said: "I cannot believe that my brother is in France. There have been so many palpable lies in the despatches about him that I am reasonably led to believe there is some great mistake somewhere. Why, it is only two months now since I got a letter from him. He was in New York then, and had no intention of going to France. On the contrary, he frequently told me it was his intention to live out his days in this country. The English officials have been aching to lay hands on my brother for many years. You may remember that in 1882 they requested his surrender at the hands of the Washington authorities, but, as they had no proof against the subject of their prosecution, the United States very properly declined to give him up. The story of his arrest sounds peculiar to me. My brother is a strictly temperate man, yet the despatches state that he talked too much in a barroom. I'll warrant that is a lie. He never frequented barrooms. In fact, he has not tasted a drop for many years."

APPEALS TO UNCLE SAM.

Paris, Sept. 15.—Tynan, the Irish "Invincible," who was arrested at Boulogne on Sunday, has appealed to United States Ambassador Eustis, and also to President Cleveland, demanding the protection of the United States Government as an American citizen.

PROVIDING FOR DEFENCE.

New York, Sept. 15.—The Irish National Alliance held a secret meeting last night, at which arrangements were made to provide counsel to defend Tynan and Kearney, the dynamite suspects, and prevent them from being taken to England for trial. It is said that $20,000 was subscribed at this meeting and the fund will be increased to $50,000 to-day, when persons friendly to the Irish cause will signify their willingness to aid in obtaining the freedom of Ireland by putting their names on the subscription list. The names of the men will not be made public, because it would mean, it is said, constant annoyance by British agents in this country. None of the friends of Kearney and Tynan here have heard from them directly since their arrest.

THEY HAVE ALL THE LEADERS.

London, Sept. 15.—The Daily News will to-morrow say the police believe that they have all the leaders in the dynamite conspiracy. It is understood that Bell intended to remain in Great Britain after the proposed explosions had taken place, but that the others would return to America via Havre, sailing thence on September 26. Tynan did not intend to come to Great Britain, as by doing so he would run the risk of falling into the hands of the police, who were anxious to capture him for his connection with the Phoenix Park murders, aside from his connection with the dynamite conspiracy, of which he did not know the police had any information. He was to stay in France directing the operations of his fellow conspirators from Boulogne-sur-Mer. The police believe that one of the prisoners will become an informer.

TYNAN QUESTIONED.

Boulogne-sur-Mer, Sept. 15.—The Public Procureur to-day re-examined Tynan and questioned him regarding his complicity in the murders of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke in Phoenix Park, Dublin. Tynan denied that he actually took part in the murders. He was aware that his associates in Glasgow and Rotterdam are under arrest.

MISERY IN NEW YORK.

Woman Found Starving in Riverside Park—Two Men, a Woman and Three Children Nearly Famished—Suicides.

New York, Sept. 15.—The never-ending story of human misery in and about a great city was written for public perusal in many ways yesterday.

It was stamped upon the wan features of Jennie Plovencher, found starving by a policeman in Riverside Park. For five days she had been without food, save a bowl of bread and milk given by a kind-hearted colored woman. Without friends, money or employment she had wandered the streets until she swooned from sheer exhaustion. She is in the Harlem Hospital.

It was repeated with pathetic emphasis in the ravenous manner in which six persons, two men, a woman and three children, ate last night in the East Twenty-second-street station. They were from Pennsylvania, and had been two weeks tramping to New York, and when found had been three days without anything to eat.

The story was written with the revolver which sent a bullet into the wearied brain of Isidor Arguelles, a once wealthy cigar manufacturer, in his Maiden-lane office. His business had been ruined by the Cuban revolution.

Again was the tale stamped with the mark of a suicide's death in the case of Dr. Charles F. Ives, an aged dentist, in West Thirty-fifth-street. Separated for years from his family, suffering from an incurable disease, he sought and found release by chloroform and gas.

It was repeated in the squalid rooms in New Haven, where Charles Tracy, out of work, his wife with a babe at her side, and five small children, were found by charity agents, starving.

THAT TORY CAUCUS.

Sir Charles Tupper Has Not Unanimous Support,

HIS ATTACK ON LORD ABERDEEN

Did Not Meet With the Views of All Hands and Will Not be Pressed Four of the Partisan Translators to Walk the Plank Soon.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—The case against the four translators, Vanasse, Macleod, Bouchard and Lasalle, was to have come up to-day, but as there was a Conservative caucus, the committee adjourned without doing any business. The charges against Vanasse Bouchard and Macleod were proven before the committee, but there was some doubt as to the case of Lasalle. Mr. Monet, who had charge of the case, had charged Lasalle with being secretary of a Conservative Committee for the revision of the voters' list. This was denied by Lasalle. This morning Mr. Monet received a copy of circulars, with Lasalle's name attached and which were sent out at the time. Other evidence of Mr. Lasalle being engaged in this way was obtained, and the committee will now report in favor of dismissing all four for being active politicians.

A TUPPER SET BACK.

Sir Charles Tupper got hardly sat upon at the Conservative caucus to-day. The caucus was called principally for the consideration of the Aberdeen-Tupper correspondence, with a view to seeing what action the party would take on the matter, as the leader of the Opposition was determined to go on with it. To-day this course was opposed by the Ontario Conservatives, and in consequence there will be no motion of censure on the Governor-General from Tupper, but he will bring up the matter on another motion. This means that the debate will be confined to Tupper and Foster on the one side and a reply from Laurier on the Government side. The Tuppers feel sore over the result.

Referring to the probable length of the session, it was decided that as the members could draw full indemnity in a few days there was no use of obstructing the estimates which the Opposition themselves prepared any longer, and in consequence Parliament may be allowed to prorogue about the end of next week. Mr. LaRiviere occupied the chair.

Following out a rule of the House which has been in existence for many years, but which was allowed to fall into desuetude, a number of Parliamentary agents have been appointed by Mr. Speaker. These include the following Ottawa barristers, namely: Gemmill and May, W. L. Scott, F. R. Latchford, ormully and Orde, Henry Aylen and A. Ferguson. These gentlemen are now authorised to practice before the committees of the House, but must, of course, conform to the rules of Parliament. Similar appointments will be made from the legal profession in other cities on application to Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Sam Barnett, restaurateur of the Commons, received official notification from the Sergeant-at-Arms today that hereafter no more intoxicating liquors must be sold within the precincts of the House. Accordingly the refreshment room of the Commons was silent as the grave, but over on the Senate side liquors were being dispensed as usual. The Senators discussed the liquor question this afternoon, and finally referred the matter to a committee, which means no action this session.

Mr. Laurier gives notice of a resolution that for the remainder of the session Government orders have precedence on Mondays after the consideration of private bills and on Wednesdays, with an hour for consideration of private bills in the evening.

IN THE COMMONS.

Opposition Urged Pushing On the Business and the Liberals Were Inclined to be Talkative.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—(Special.)—The whole of to-day's sitting was spent in supply and good progress was made.

After routine, Mr. Fielding gave notice that on Thursday he would ask the House to concur in the resolutions passed in Committee of Supply in order that the urgent necessities of the public service may be met; also that for the same purpose one-tenth be voted of the estimates not yet considered. The necessities for two months had been provided by the Governor-General's warrants, but now a third month has been entered upon.

Mr. Tisdale brought up the matter of cancellation of the order for the purchase of the Oliver equipment. He read from The Toronto World of the 14th the statement that another order in-council of the late Administration had been cancelled, namely, authorizing the purchase for $5000 of this equipment. Col Tisdale hoped this action had not been taken by the Government. The Oliver equipment had been purchased for $5000, although the patentee asked $10,000. Before doing so he had consulted the Major-General commanding, and that officer approved of it. The equipment was considered the best yet devised.

Further consideration of the subject was deferred.

Dr. Sproule, supported by Mr. Casey, urged a larger distribution.

Mr. Foster pointed out that the policy of the late Government had been to reduce the volume of the year book.

On the Experimental Farm vote, Mr. Domville remarked with indignation upon the shock he sustained, as representative of an agricultural constituency, at seeing a mansion at the Experimental Farm. (A voice: Pull it down.) He added that the farm might be leased.

Mr. Foster: I would suggest to the Minister of Agriculture, in view of the advice of the honorable friend beside him, that the vote for this service be reduced. (Laughter.)

The item carried.

Mr. Fisher, replying to Dr. Sproule, said he hoped to be able to furnish a building for the accommodation of excursionists to the farm without increasing the number of buildings.

Mr. Scriver thought the experimen-

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Mail and Empire ought to get its lightning calculator at work on figuring out how its analysis of the popular vote cast at the general elections corresponds with the vote cast in the House on the motion re the Governor-General warrants.

THE House of Commons is to be credited with the courage of its convictions. A motion was passed yesterday forbidding the use of intoxicating liquors in the House, and then the members under this new condition, plunged into the thirsty subject of fisheries.

HER MAJESTY'S loyal Opposition at Ottawa—loyal to all but their leaders—is a paradoxical affair. It does not resemble and it does resemble the bundle of sticks of the fable, inasmuch as it lacks the strength derived from union; and, as far as ability is concerned, its course during the present session has proven it to be merely a veritable bundle of "sticks."

THE St. John, Newfoundland, correspondent of the Halifax Chronicle points out that Minnesota flour controls the market in the "Ancient Colony." There were according to the returns, 97,000 barrels of flour exported from Canada to the island, which consumed 400,000 barrels. The question is very reasonably asked—"What are Canadians doing?" And the question is one that ought to be considered carefully.

IT would appear that the Opposition caucus may decide to obstruct business of parliament for the sake of forcing the government to a definite statement of its intention in respect of tariff reform. This is absurd in view of the fact that Mr. Foster took a year to find out how not to revise the tariff. The present government have been in office a little over a month, and it is not to be expected that in that time, with all the wrongs to be made right, the government should have been able to formulate a scheme on so important a subject, where so many interests have to be considered.

MR. THOMAS FYSHE, Cashier of the Bank of Nova Scotia, in the course of his address to the Canadian Bankers' Association, said, among other things: "With the evidence of the last census before us, it is impossible to believe that we can make the progress we should make, and which our resources would warrant, by obstructing free exchange with other countries and trying to make ourselves self-dependent. To attempt to raise prices by juggling with the currency, or by protective tariffs, or by any possible human device, simply means to set back the hands of progress on the dial of time. The bimetallist, the free silverite and the protectionist all belong to the same class of people who desire to reap where they have not sown, and to rob by the act of legislature."

IT is gathered from the cable reports that British journals express approval of the remarks of Mr. Laurier upon the Alien Labour Bill proposed by Mr. Taylor. Mr. Laurier's words upon the subject were certainly those of a wise statesman. He does not want to "blot" our statute books with such legislation, while acknowledging the power possessed by this country which would enable it to retaliate if extreme measures should be deemed necessary. But in this matter, as in others, Mr. Laurier very wisely thinks, says the Ottawa Free Press, that honey may be more potent than vinegar, and he will not have recourse to extreme measures until appeals have been made to the better nature and common sense of our neighbours. On the eve of an election it may be harder to obtain concessions, but the effort will be an evidence of good intention and good will, and prove to the people of the United States that this country desires to "avoid such unfriendly legislation." At the same time the Premier speaks firmly, and not in the vacillating non-committal manner of his predecessors on the occasions when this same proposition has been before Parliament.

MADE STRONG AGAIN.

For the Sake of Others a Grateful Woman Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Napanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

SELWYN.

A Delightful Social Gathering.

From our own Correspondent.

On Saturday evening last about fifty of the young men of Selwyn assembled in the town hall to bid farewell to Mr. White, who for the past two or three months has been labouring on the Methodist Mission here. Mr. White took a deep interest in the young men, associating with them very much and all learned to esteem him very highly. The gathering was held to show their gratitude towards Mr. White. Mr. Eph. McIlmoyl was appointed chairman and on behalf of the citizens thanked Mr. White for the great interest he had evinced especially in the young men. Mr. White was then called to the platform, where Mr. Bell presented him with a gentleman's travelling case and Bible with name inscribed on each.

Mr. White made a suitable and very touching reply. There is a possibility of Mr. White returning to the field next year, and we can assure him a hearty welcome will await him.

Mr. White, though only a young man, is a very able speaker, fluent, earnest and eloquent.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

THE GIANT DISEASE

Laid Low With Munyon's Wonderful Pellets and All the People are Singing Munyon's Praises.

Mr. W. H. Cottler, merchant tailor, and one of the best known business men of Parkdale, a suburb of Toronto, says: "I have been subject to frequent attacks of rheumatism in my limbs for a long time. The disease had been so bad at times that I could scarcely turn in bed. At times my feet have been so swollen that it was impossible for me to put my shoes and stockings on. The pain was always very severe. One small bottle of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure took away all of the swelling and pain in three days. It is certainly a wonderful cure." 13

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure seldom fails to relieve in one to three hours, and cures in a few days. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure positively cures all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia and breaks up a cold in a few hours. Price, 25c.

GOING TO BRAZIL.

Two Hundred French Canadians Induced to Brave the Perils of the South American Swamps.

Montreal, Sept. 15.—(Special.)—The S.S. Moravia sailed at 12.30 to-day for St. Paolo, Brazil, having on board about 400 Canadian emigrants, comprising about 80 families, who are engaged by the Brazilian League, which recently opened offices in Montreal, to work in the coffee plantations of Sao Paolo. The agitation against this emigration resulted in at least 300 persons withdrawing from their agreement.

Mayor Wilson Smith had, at the request of the Ottawa Government, inquired into the guarantees offered by the League and reported them as unsatisfactory. However, nothing could be done except to dissuade those who had been allured by glittering promises to agree to go to the fever-stricken swamps of Brazil from carrying out their intention, and in this much was done by the Knights of Labor and the Dominion Immigration Agent.

Mr. Magor, the Brazilian Consul, says he has been authorized by wire both by mail by the Governments of St. Paolo and the United States of Brazil to endorse all engagements taken by the Brazilian League of Emigration with Canadian emigrants.

The Mayor said this morning that it was a strange sight to see people leaving for Brazil, when farmers in the Northwest were advertising for help.

What the "La Ligura Brazilian" carried, however, was sturdy and healthy men, and these were to be found in greater numbers in Canada than in the more congested centres of the Old World. This fact accounted for the company's efforts to secure Canadian emigrants for Brazil.

Mr. Marquette, Provincial Emigration Agent, who was on board, pointed out one family containing five children, which for three years had been supported by the Home of Refuge. Many of the men were natives of London and by occupation either dock laborers or mechanics. They had come to Canada, they said, and had been unable to find desirable employment. This was their reason for wishing to try elsewhere. There were also on board three families from the Northwest, who had tried farming in that country and for lack of capital had failed. Cases such as this, however, were few and far between, and probably out of the three or four hundred emigrants on board this would not apply to a dozen families. The scenes on the wharf were pathetic and amusing in turns. A woman who stood nearly six feet high, and broad in proportion, came up the gang plank and said that her husband was on board and meant to desert her. She was assured that she must be mistaken, whereupon she said: "I guess I know my business. He is on board, and I don't intend to leave till he comes ashore." In the position she occupied in the centre of the gang plank, the woman was somewhat of an encumbrance, and was asked to move. This she declined to do, and threatened to thrash anyone who tried to move her. After several minutes she was finally prevailed upon to step on shore once more, and before long the truant husband, looking very sheepfaced and sheepish, made his way out of the ship. Brazil lost a good settler in that woman.

The crowd lustily cheered every departure, and when a man tried to address the crowd from the deck on the desirability of Brazil as a home he was hooted down.

With Invalids.

Yes! with invalids the appetite is capricious and needs coaxing, that is just the reason they improve so rapidly under Scott's Emulsion, which is as palatable as cream.

THAT TORY CAUCUS.

tal farms were costing too much. He urged economy in their administration.

Adverse criticisms of the farm management were offered by Messrs. McMullen, Beausoleil and Casey.

Sir Henri Joly said he must bear his testimony to the excellent work done by the farm staff. Taking a great interest, as he did, in the subject of forestry, he must testify to the excellence of the experiments in this direction. Before making radical changes in the farm a careful inquiry should be made as to whether we were not receiving real value for our expenditure.

Mr. McMillan thought what was wanted at the farm was a practical farmer at the head of it. He proceeded to repeat his annual criticisms of the Experimental Farm management.

Dr. Sproule alluded to the Ontario Government's management of the farm at Guelph, and gave a concise history of the work accomplished by the Dominion Experimental Farms.

Mr. Fisher briefly outlined his policy in connection with the farm, paying a high tribute to the staff, whom he believed rendered good service to the country. He thought, however, a mistake had been made at the outset at Ottawa in purchasing too much land.

Mr. Craig thought money spent on the farms was well spent. He appealed to the Government benches to allow this vote to pass. (Laughter.)

After this appeal the item passed.

On the item for crop bulletins, Mr. Clancy called attention to the evils arising from giving detailed crop reports, which were utilized for the purpose of affecting the price of grain, even in Chicago. Some steps should be taken towards minimising gambling in futures. The item passed.

On the item of $20,000 for cold storage, Ministers explained that the plan for the shipment of Canadian butter in cold storage maintained by mechanical equipments had fallen through. Shipments during the season by insulated cold storage departments on steamers, however, amounted to twice as much as last year, and the prospects were for a still further increase. The vote would also provide assistance towards cold storage cars on the several railroads throughout the country.

Dr. Montague claimed that this increase was due to the policy inaugurated and carried out by the late Administration, often with the opposition of gentlemen who would now, he supposed, be inclined to support the scheme.

Mr. Broder made some practical suggestions to the effect that if the Government desired to secure the British market it should take precautions to insure that only first-class butter be sent. As to Dr. Sproule's suggestion that the butter be consigned to special Canadian agents, he warned the Government that they would have to do business with the firms who controlled the business in England.

Messrs. McNeill and Montague concurred on this point, but the Minister of Agriculture declared that a system of inspection would be impossible to carry out. The object, he thought, could be attained by instructing our people in the best methods of manufacture.

The appointment of veterinary inspectors was the chief item of discussion during the consideration of the remaining items of agriculture.

Dr. Montague inquired about the policy of the Minister in the matter of veterinary inspection.

In the course of his reply, Mr. Fisher intimated that his reason for notifying those appointed by the late Minister that their services were no longer required was that he thought such appointments should have been made by order-in-council. He hinted that the appointments were purely political, which Dr. Montague denied, whereupon he said that when the Doctor left to go west he gave instructions at the department to appoint as inspectors persons recommended by the Conservative candidates.

Dr. Montague retorted that if the Minister had taken the trouble to state the whole truth it would have been better. The fact was that the instructions laid down as a first condition that none but qualified veterinary officers were eligible. Of course appointments upon that basis were made on the recommendation of the members for the county or district. The honorable Minister would do the same thing himself.

To this Mr. Fisher replied that a veterinary certificate was no guarantee of qualification for the work.

"No," said the ex-Minister, "it makes all the difference to the honorable gentleman whether it is a Tory or a Grit veterinary."

"Now, we will take up this item for the Interior," suggested the Finance Minister, after the agriculture items had passed.

"I think we had better let that stand," was Mr. Foster's objection.

Sir Richard Cartwright: "For what purpose?"

Mr. Foster: "Well, we have no Minister. The Premier promised us an announcement some time ago, but it is not forthcoming. Complications have evidently arisen in the meantime."

Accordingly the item stood and the committee proceeded to deal with the public works estimates.

Major McLennan asked for information regarding work on the Dominion Reformatory at Alexandria.

Mr. Tarte said a difficulty had arisen between the Chief Architect of Public Works and Contractor Bourque, and since then the contractor had done little work on the building; indeed only $3000 had been paid to him for what he had done. To complete his contract, as he had suspended operations for the present, the Government was considering whether it was a wise policy to have only one reformatory in the Dominion.

Mr. McLennan said Contractor Bourque had quit work and had removed all his plant. Was it the intention of the Government to re-let the work to some other contractor?

Mr. Tarte said Mr. Bourque had two years in which to complete his contract. Until it was shown that he could not finish the work the Department could not relieve him of the contract.

Dr. Sproule asked what was the estimate of the work.

Mr. Tarte said it was very much higher than the contract price. Mr. Bourque had intimated to him that he was able to finish the contract.

The House adjourned at 12.30 a.m.

PREFERENTIAL TRADE DIDN'T GO.

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Great Britain Discussed It, But There Was Strong Opposition.

Southampton, Eng., Sept. 15.—The meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce here debated a resolution submitted by the South of Scotland Chamber of Commerce, declaring that a commercial union between the colonies and the Mother Country would tend to promote the permanence and prosperity of the British Empire, and that the association would therefore urge Her Majesty's government to take every possible opportunity of furthering this object. The resolution met with considerable opposition and was eventually withdrawn.

LEND YOUR EARS

To Your Back and Listen to its Talk—A Peterborough Man Tries It.

Did you know the back could talk;
Tell you why it aches and pains;
Tell you why it's lame and weak;
Warn you of the kidney's ills;
Tell you of Doan's Kidney Pills?
Listen to them when they speak.
Relieve the kidneys, cure the ache.
Bad back, acute pains and kidney ills,
Are quickly cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is proof of it at home. The testimony of Mr. George N. Graham, the genial host of the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, is as follows:—

He says:—"I have been a great sufferer for some time with pain across the back, extending up between the shoulders, swelling of the limbs, dizziness, loss of appetite, and in fact felt completely broken up.

"I had lost 17 pounds in three months, and thought that I would never get better. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, and have also been treated by medical men, but did not seem to get any better at all, in fact was constantly growing worse.

"I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertisement and got a box of them at Lynch's drugstore, and by the time I had taken one box noticed a marked change for the better.

"I have taken seven boxes altogether, and am now free from pain; the swelling in the limbs has disappeared, and my appetite is good. In fact, I feel that I am completely cured.

"I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from any form of kidney trouble. They are the best kidney medicine I have ever used.

About Wool in Underwear . . .

. . . Two kinds of wool—pure wool and others—a fine good wool and a coarse bad wool. The fine pure wool absorbs and dissipates the body's moisture—keeps pores open—keeps circulation perfect. Wool and cotton won't do that. It won't absorb as much—doesn't give up what it does gather. Becomes felt like—close. Coarse wool may absorb, but it irritates—closes the pores. That retards circulation too.

Health Brand Men's Underwear

. . . Is made of all pure wool of the finest grade produced in the world—we guarantee it. Pure wool stands for "HEALTH BRAND"—Health Brand stands for pure wool. You may return it if it is not right in every detail. What more can you ask?

Cooper.

THE AUBURN BRIDGE.

Work Progressing in a Most Satisfactory Manner on the Sub-Structure.

A visit to the site of the new railway bridge at Auburn is now fraught with much interest. The abutment at the west side is now complete, as is the first pier, whilst the second pier is about half finished.

A small bridge has been constructed across the river on which a car runs to convey the heavy stones out to the piers as they are needed. The large blocks are loaded on the car by means of a crane and are swung off again at the pier by a derrick operated by steam power, the engine being located on one of the piers of the old bridge.

The new piers are constructed on the solid rock in the bottom of the river, coffer dams being first erected and pumped out. The foundations are of concrete and are built up to within about a foot of the present surface level of the water, when the remainder of the pier is built of blocks of Longford quarry stone.

There will be three piers in the river, exclusive of the big abutments at each end, and as the last pier is now under course of construction, the foundation being now laid, it will be seen that no time is being lost in pushing the structure forward to completion.

That there is urgent necessity for the construction of a footbridge, if not a highway bridge, in connection with the structure, is proven by the fact that the present little bridge, which is used to facilitate the carrying of stone to the piers, is made a convenience of by scores of the employees at the Auburn mills, as well as by dozens of children on their way to and from school.

The appearance of the piers which are finished, justifies the remark that the work is being done in a most satisfactory manner.

FURTHER PRECAUTIONS NECESSARY.

The East End of the Locks Bridge Should be Guarded.

Frequent complaint is made concerning the manner in which the eastern approach to the Locks bridge is left entirely unguarded when the swing is opened to allow a steamer to pass through.

In the daytime there is no danger attached to this negligence, as a shout from the bridge tender is a sufficient warning, but after sunset a team coming up to the bridge from the Otonabee side runs a great risk of taking a plunge into the river and taking the driver in with them.

A few weeks ago a gentleman from town was coming hurriedly home and had to pull his horse fairly back on its haunches to avoid being precipitated into the water. Another team was just behind him, and as the driver was a trifle the worse of liquor, apparently, his escape was a close one, as a shout of warning to a man in this condition would be useless even if heard above the noise caused by the clatter of the hoofs on the bridge.

WORK AT THE FAIR GROUNDS.

Mr. T. M. Hunter Superintending This Year.

Mr. T. Hunter, of North Monaghan, is the Superintendent at the Exhibition Grounds this year and states that he will have the track in fine condition for the speeding of the roadsters next week.

The town scraper has been over the course and levelled it in fine shape and the big twelve ton roller is now at work upon it, so that although the track has heretofore been somewhat heavy, there is every reason to believe that it will be in fine shape this year.

The ground inside of the ring is being cleaned up for the feats of skill of the Royal Dragoons and by the end of the week the whole place will bear quite a neat appearance.

A Kingston Opinion.

Rev. S. J. Shorey, of Lindsay, ex-president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, who as a speaker, thinker and Christian worker ranks high amongst his ecclesiastical brethren, has been invited to the pastorate of George street Methodist church, Peterborough. He formerly lived in Napanee and Picton.—Kingston Whig.

A Foraging Expedition.

We've been on a foraging expedition—took along all the money we wanted and turned it into Shoes. Surprising what ready cash will do when it comes to making a bargain with the manufacturer himself. At the factory we bought special lines for ladies and gentlemen, beginning at the cheapest and ending with the finest anybody can want. 20 per cent. cheaper than we ever bought them. Gents' Laced Boots, pointed toes, handsomely finished, soft and comfortable, for $1.50, well worth $2. There's nothing we like better than saving your money. GOUGH BROS.

St. John's Harvest Festival.

St. John's church is to day being decorated with vegetables, grain and flowers, which have been offered by members of the congregation as first fruits of natural products. The Thanksgiving Service will be held to-morrow (Thursday) evening, at 8 o'clock, when a large congregation is expected to participate in the joyful psalms and hymns peculiar to the occasion. Special music is being prepared by the choir under Mr. Stevenson's direction. An appropriate sermon will be preached by Rev. G. H. Webb of Colborne, who has been a welcome visitor to the church on two previous occasions. A hearty welcome is offered to everyone.

He Will be Welcomed Back.

His return will be hailed with pleasure. By request of his many friends and patrons Prof. Signor Emilio, the noted chiropodist, who has practised his profession in Peterborough recently for a fortnight to the entire satisfaction of a large number of the most respected citizens of Peterborough suffering from corns, warts, banions, birthmarks, moles, ingrowing toe nails, etc., will to-morrow, Wednesday, Sept. 16th, return for one week only. The large number who sought this gentleman's services while he was here speaks volumes for his reputation as a celebrated chiropodist, who never uses a knife in his treatment. Those wishing his services should call at once at the Oriental Hotel. No charge until a cure is effected. Consultation free. 2d

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

The First Meeting of the Year Held Last Night.

The members of the Fortnightly Club assembled last night for the purpose of re-organizing and electing officers for the ensuing term. The election of officers resulted as appended:

President—Rev. H. Symonds.
Vice-President—Sheriff Hall.
Sec.-Treas.—R. M. Dennisteun.
Asst. Secretary—E. A. Peck.
Executive Committee—D. W. Dumble, J. A. Fife, J. H. Burnham, Rev. W. R. Young and A. C. McCallum.

Notice of motion was given by Mr. Fessenden to amend the constitution by increasing the membership of the Executive Committee and by Rev. Mr. Symonds to admit ladies as members of the club.

The subscription fee was fixed at 50 cents for this year.

Votes of thanks were passed to the retiring president and secretary for efficient services, to Judge Weller for use of his chambers for private meetings, and to the Peterborough press for their courtesy in announcing and reporting meetings and publishing its weekly letters.

An announcement was made by the editor of the Fortnightly Club Column that the letters would be resumed the first Saturday in October.

The first paper of this year will be given on October 6th by Mr. Rye on the subject of New Zealand.

CANADA'S MINERAL WEALTH.

Just Beginning to Find Out How Rich We Are—The Extent and Richness of Our Mines.

Although the competition of the wheat fields of South America and the east has done much to retard the farming development of the Dominion, the general effect has been lessened by the diversion of labour and capital to the rich mineral deposits so freely distributed from ocean to ocean. There is certainly a prosperous future in store for the wheat-growing areas of the prairie lands when the growth of settlement lessens the waste and makes the net returns more encouraging for the farmer. But the discoveries of the past few years and the reasonable predictions to which they give rise lead to the belief that the future development of the Dominion will depend on mining quite as much or more than on agriculture. We are only awakening to a knowledge of the wealth of our mineral inheritance, and with the experience of less favoured colonies to guide us there should be no check or hindrance to the rapid and continuous development for generations to come. Just now the attention of the Dominion is turned to the gold fields of British Columbia, where the success of existing mines and the abundance of rich indications give proof of an unprecedented era of mining prosperity. The total gold output of the Dominion for 1895 was close to the two million mark, but once the work on the rich ores of southern British Columbia gets fairly under way that amount will be greatly exceeded. British Columbia, Ontario and Nova Scotia are now the chief contributors to the gold output, but Quebec will yet make a good showing in hydraulic work in the beds of her ancient rivers. There are, no doubt, rich deposits awaiting the prospector in the unexplored regions of New Brunswick. Coal is chief among the mineral products, with an output of $7,774,178 for the past year. Not including known deposits undeveloped in the far north, the coal area of the Dominion is estimated at 92,200 square miles. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are the richest Provinces in this important mineral, the former having coal areas covering 635 square miles. Only one of the four coal deposits in Cape Breton is yet being worked, that in the neighbourhood of Sydney, and its output is about 1,000,000 tons yearly. The Pictou and Cumberland fields are also extensive producers. The output for the last fiscal year of the Province was $2,089,245, on which the Local Government received $209,380 in royalties. Manitoba and the Northwest Territory have their coal deposits in the Rockies, and the frequency with which the seams crop out gives proof of rich returns when the growth of the country makes development more profitable. At Nanaimo, on Vancouver Island, coal mining has been carried on since 1852. The product for 1895 was 939,634 tons.

Nickel has a recorded output for 1895 of $1,360,984, Canada being a close second with New Caledonia for the chief nickel-producing country of the world. Silver is also above the million-dollar mark, the output being $1,158,633, chiefly from Ontario and British Columbia. The other minerals, ranged in the order of production are:—Copper, $949,229; lead, $749,966; iron, $238,070; and pyrites, $102,594. Of the non-metallic products, omitting the large output of building materials, petroleum heads the list, with $1,201,184. Southwestern Ontario is yet the only contributor to this important item in mineral production. The recent activity in some of the areas formerly abandoned gives promise of a material increase in the near future.

Natural gas, also confined to Southwestern Ontario, has a recorded yield of $423,033.

Asbestos, that interesting mineral fibre of many uses, is extensively mined in the great belt of serpentine rock in Quebec. Its occasional appearance in the Laurentian range in Ontario gives promise of greater and more extended operations in the future. The product for the past year is valued at $268,175.

Gypsum, the mineral used in making land plaster, and plaster of paris, is plentifully distributed over Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, there being valuable quarries in Ontario also. The output for 1895 was $302,000.

Our salt wells yielded $180,417, and our mica mines $100,000.

Exclusive of building and structural material, which may at any time form an important line of export, the mineral production for 1895 reached $22,500,000, as compared with $20,900,000 during the year previous. This is sufficient to prove the importance of mineral development in the industrial life of the Dominion. But statistics give no indication of the restless eagerness apparent in almost every line at the present time, a condition which promises an era of unprecedented expansion. There are some lines in which other countries have been even more richly endowed than ourselves, and an honest recognition of that fact may save us from a repetition of governmental mistakes. It would be unwise to stimulate the production of minerals which do not exist in "paying quantities," for that would merely burden the profitable operations to prolong the unprofitable. Sound business intelligence and self interest will decide the course of Canada's industrial future.—Globe.

MISS RUDKINS MILLINERY.

Ready in Advance for To-morrow's Opening.

The ladies will be interested to know that Miss Rudkins will be prepared to hold her Fall Opening exhibition to-morrow and following days. Realizing that the visit of the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen next week will create an early demand for the latest fashionable millinery and that an exceedingly active fall trade will follow, Miss Rudkins has put on an extra large staff in her millinery department to cater to the immediate wants of the ladies. Her show rooms have undergone complete preparations for the opening to-morrow, the decorating and dressing of the rooms having been going on under the care of a number of skillful hands. From end to end the store is bright with every colour, tint and overflowing with the very latest things out. Early though it may be, the pattern hats and bonnets, flowers, feathers, ribbons, and other attractive novelties waken interest at every turn. The display of Ladies' Jackets cannot fail to make selections easy, and the range of heavier Friezes and Chinchilla Cloths will meet with favour. Miss Rudkins is, of course, enthusiastic over her stock, and she wants the ladies to see, if only to see. Buyers are assured of prompt attention to their orders as the staff in the workroom will be sufficient to meet all demands.

OBITUARY.

Hastings Star.

CATHARINE MCCARTHY.—The subject of this brief sketch, who departed this life on the 9th inst., at the ripe age of 76 years, was born in Tipperary county, Ireland, in 1820, and with her parents came to Canada in 1832, settling in the township of Douro, county of Peterborough, where she lived up to the marriage with her late husband in 1837. Immediately after they moved to the township of Asphodel, where they resided for fifty years. Some nine years ago with her late husband, Richard Coughlan, they retired from their farm and took up their residence in Hastings. On the 5th of September, five years ago, her husband preceded her to that land from whence no traveller returns. No one anticipated her demise, as but a few days previous she was able to attend church daily.

She was the mother of eleven children, six boys and five girls, who now mourn the loss of a mother, viz., Daniel and Julia, of Hastings; Richard, of Peterborough; Dr. Charles, of Arthur, Ont.; Denis, of Austin, Minn.; Patrick and Margaret, of California; Catharine, wife of Timothy Cleary, Toronto; Bridget, wife of Thos. Bibby, and Sister St. Patricer, Montreal.

The remains on Friday were taken to St. Mary's church, where it received the rites of the church, after which it was followed by a large circle of relatives and friends and deposited alongside her husband, Asphodel R. C. Cemetery, to await the trumpet's call.

Trilby's Foot.

The step 'twixt the sublime and the ridiculous is quickly made. Surely literature presents no more grotesque idealization than Trilby's foot, and the numerous worshippers who have figuratively speaking bent knees and kissed the big toe of the foot, when reason once more comes to their rescue, will feel as if the production of the genuis Ass were perennial. By the way, did you notice when reading Trilby how highly it commended Putnam's Corn Extractor, which renders impossible the discordant excrescence, corns. Trilby's foot would not be worthy of homage if marred by corns; neither would yours. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

STOCKING NORTHERN LAKES WITH FISH.

Another Interesting Letter From Mr. Shewen.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—On the arrival of last week's paper I was much pleased to see that you had taken notice of my letter regarding the stocking of our lakes with fish, and I sincerely hope that this beginning will end in the legitimate success of my scheme for that object.

There is no doubt, and the time is not far distant, when the people who are now flocking up to Stony Lake for their summer vacations, will find that there is not room there for so many to thoroughly enjoy their outing, which, in many cases, is needed as a rest from business cares. What will be the result? They will look for other places where they can get the required quiet. Those places will be, no doubt, here in our northern country, where there are innumerable lakes and streams with scenery of the very prettiest description. But, alas; no means of beguiling the time with rod and line for the lack of fish to bite.

But putting aside the question of outsiders, look at the immense benefit that would be conferred on the settlers themselves if they could replenish a scanty larder from these lakes at their very doors. I consider that any government who would make an outlay for the purpose of stocking these lakes with fish would be upheld by the community at large, irrespective of party ties. The Reform Administration has always been (through our members) willing to make annual grants for colonization roads which have been an untold benefit to this section of the country, and I am sure that the benefit that would accrue from stocking the lakes with fish would be felt, not only in a few years from now, but for all time to come, and the cost of which need not be very great to give the project a fair trial. I feel sure that if Mr. Stratton, Mr. Biezard and Mr. Lang will take the matter up in earnest that the end could be most successfully accomplished. I shall be glad to answer any questions they might wish to put to me as to localities of lakes or their surroundings, water, formation of bottoms, weeds, &c., &c., and the difference (if any) between the lakes which contain fish and those that do not. All these things should be considered before depositing the different kinds of fish, and I have thoroughly studied them before taking the matter up.

There is another important matter which will be shortly agitated here, and that is a railroad. If we had a railroad running through this country untold wealth could be developed from out of these rocky ridges which now hide buried minerals of every description. So with transportation and lakes teeming with fish northern Peterborough county would be a wealthy paradise, known as such to the outside world, and not as we are now, merely a crooked line traced upon the map and marked as the "Burleigh Road." Hoping that the Government will take these things in hand for action, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
PEYTON W. C. SHEWEN.

Apsley, Sept. 14th.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The following story is charged up by the "boys" to the credit of a station agent not one hundred miles from Peterborough. The other day the driver of a train, not shutting off steam soon enough, ran his train some distance past the station. He backed down again, but either through carelessness or defective machinery his engine ran some distance the other way. The station agent, exceedingly wroth at the first mis-calculation, was simply spluttering with wrath at the second, and running down the track he yelled out—"Hold on there! Stop where you are! We'll just shift the station up to you, seeing as you can't get up to it!"

THE TURF.

Preparations are being made to put the race track in first-rate order at the Driving Park and it is proposed to put on a big meeting in the near future when an effort will be made to have all the fast horses in Canada brought together here. The management of the affair has been put into capable hands and visiting horsemen may expect a fair field and no favour. Quite a number of local horses have been training at the track during the summer and an opportunity will now be provided for them to go against some of the fast outsiders. It is hoped that the citizens as a whole will rally to the support of good clean racing and that the meeting will prove in every way a success.

THE doctor may be a good old man, but even so, medical examinations and the "local-application" treatment are abhorrent to every modest woman. They are embarrassing—often useless. They should not be submitted to until everything else has been tried. In nine cases out of ten, there is no reason for them. In nine cases out of ten, the doctor in general practice isn't competent to treat female diseases. They make a branch of medicine by themselves. They are distinct from other ailments. They can be properly understood and treated only by one who has had years of actual practice and experience in this particular line. This is true of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for all derangements of the reproductive organs of women, has been in actual use for more than thirty years. It was originally sold with an absolute guarantee that it would cure every case, or that the money paid for it would be refunded. Its success has been so universal that this guarantee is no longer necessary. The "Favorite Prescription" relies now upon the thousands of testimonials from grateful and happy women, in all parts of the land, whose lives have been made worth living by its use. "Favorite Prescription" is sold by druggists.

Complete information regarding it, and testimonials from hundreds who have used it, are embodied in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a standard medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. This work is a complete family doctor book and should be read by both young and old. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N.Y.

DISH WITHOUT PEER.

SOME ODD SANDWICHES AND HOW TO MAKE THEM.

Of Inestimable Value The Sandwich Assumes Many Forms From Thick Hunks of Bread to Dainty Wafers—A Number of Recipes.

A sandwich is anything from two thick hunks of bread with meat between, to dainty wafer-like bits made to tempt the appetite and rejoice the spirits. Every lunch counter holds the former, not one person in a hundred knows how to present the latter. The well made sandwich is of inestimable value. As an appetizer there is nothing to equal it. No picnic was ever complete without it. It is a garden party dish without peer, and it is the proper accompaniment for any touring trip. The demand for it is endless and its variety infinite.

The use of lettuce as a filling for sandwiches is comparatively new, and has met with unqualified favor. Dressed with mayonnaise and laid with bits of chicken or beef or any other kind of meat between thin slices of toast, it makes claim to the title of club sandwich. Toast is also the groundwork for caviar sandwiches, a la Diable. Spread the toast with fresh butter sprinkled with lemon juice and coralline pepper, then lay on the caviar and squeeze on it as much more lemon juice as your taste suggests.

Of course for long jaunts toast is not so desirable as bread or thin salt crackers. Brown bread spread thickly with fresh butter is a delightful accompaniment for cheese of all kinds. An unusual and delicious filling may be made of finely chopped celery mixed with stiff whipped cream and grated Parmesan cheese. Thinly sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, and in fact, all the salads of the season, may be used temptingly with mayonnaise or French dressing. In the way of canned things there are endless suggestions. Sardines and anchovies and anchovy paste always hold their own, whatever other combinations come and go.

Sweet sandwiches savor somewhat of the nursery, but they are none the less frequently in demand for the salon as well. Made of various kinds of sweet biscuit or of thin slices of plain cake or of fresh home-made bread cut into dainty diamond shapes and robbed of all crust, there are various mixtures for their filling. All sorts of jam, plain or rubbed through a sieve, and then mixed with whipped cream, may be used; nuts pounded and similarly mixed are also excellent, though very rich; grated chocolate is good and fresh fruit rubbed to a paree with sweetened cream is highly recommended for a midsummer sandwich.—New York Journal.

A CONSTABLE TALKS.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

Old Physician—What! You called in Dr. Blank during my absence? Why, he's just out of college.

Patient—Indeed! He certainly is not a young man.

Old Physician—No. he's of middle age: but it's plain to see he's new to this business. Why, I saw him this very morning looking sadly depressed just because he had lost a patient.—New York Weekly.

"Isn't that sort of work very confining?" asked the visitor who had been permitted to go into the room where the bank note engravers were at work.

"Sometimes it is, ma'am," answered the pale-faced artist whom she addressed. "I am personally acquainted with a man who did a job of this kind once without orders, and he was confined seven years for it, ma'am."—Chicago Tribune.

GALOPS CANAL BLOCKADE.

Montreal Corn Exchange Urge the Minister of Railways and Canals to Take Steps for Its Removal.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Corn Exchange to-day the following resolutions were unanimously passed:

"That this association respectfully begs to draw the special attention of the hon. Minister of Railways and Canals to the great detention of grain-laden vessels and barges at the Galops Canal, owing to the low water and an obstruction at the entrance of that canal, and to the delay to ocean ships at this port consequent thereon, and prays the Minister to order that extraordinary efforts be made for the immediate removal by dredging of such obstructions to navigation at this and other points on the St. Lawrence River and canals, whereby at least nine feet of water can forthwith be depended upon at all times.

"That the passage of the Galops Rapids, being rendered unsafe by the low water in the river, this association respectfully requests that instructions be given to the lock master at the lift lock, Cardinal Canal, to pass vessels down and up that lock on Sundays, for the remainder of the season."

On Saturday last a telegram, dated Smith's Falls, Ont., was received at the Canadian Secret Service, asking for the arrest of two theatrical men named Cook. They are charged with conspiracy to defraud, in having left a troupe stranded at Smith's Falls and skipped with the money. After a search, two men answering the description sent were apprehended. They gave their names as Henry E. and Edward E. Cook of Boston. Chief McGowan of Smith's Falls came down and took them back with him to stand trial.

The Montreal Exhibition was formally opened this afternoon by the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec Sir Adolphe Chapleau, who was accompanied by Mr. Flynn, Premier of Quebec. The Lieutenant-Governor was presented with an address, and afterwards inspected the various departments of the exhibition. Amongst the visitors to the fair to-day was Lieutenant-Governor Kirkpatrick of Ontario. There was a large attendance.

MAINE ELECTIONS.

The Republican Majority Will Exceed Fifty Thousand, According to Reports Received Up to a Late Hour.

Augusta, Maine, Sept. 14.—Maine to-day elected a Governor, Congressmen, members of the Legislature and county officers.

At 11 p.m. it seems that the Republican majority will exceed 50,000.

Portland, Sept. 14.—Figures from the First District for Congressman are not yet complete, but so far as received they indicate that Thomas B. Reed has 11,000 plurality or more over Staples (Dem.). This is a gain of over 3000, and probably the gain will grow larger as the figures come in. Two hundred towns, very nearly half the vote of the state, indicate 50,000 plurality for Powers (Rep.) for Governor.

There were five candidates for the office of Governor, who is the only State officer chosen by the people, all others being chosen by the Legislature. The name of one of these—W. H. Clifford, the nominee of the sound money Democrats—was not on the official ballot, and those voting for him were obliged to write his name upon their ballots. The other candidates were L. Powers of Houlton, Republican; Melvin P. Frank of Portland, Democrat; A. S. Ladd of Calais, Prohibitionist, and A. L. Bateman of Auburn, Populist.

MGR LANGEVIN UNCHANGED.

The Archbishop of St. Boniface Maintains His Attitude on the School Question.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—Mgr. Langevin Archbishop of St. Boniface, has returned from Rome. He was accompanied by the Rev. Abbe Therrien, chaplain of Mount St. Louis Academy. This morning the Archbishop officiated in full pontificals in the Church of the Grey Nunnery on the occasion of the feast of the Holy Cross, patron feast of the institution. After the service there Mr. LaRiviere, M. P. for Provencher, Man., had a short interview with Mgr. Langevin. A reporter also sent in his card, but his Grace declined to be interviewed and simply sent back his own card, with the following brief note: "Same attitude as before my departure. Enchanted with my voyage. My best respects. Please excuse me."

Mgr. Langevin will probably go to Ottawa in a day or two, and it is expected that he will leave for Manitoba at the end of the week.

Fruit Salads.

Almost any kind of acid fruit is nice for salad, either alone or in combination with lettuce. Grape fruit in season is especially appetizing; oranges can be made so by the addition of a little lemon juice. Currants and sour apples can be utilized in the same way. The ordinary French salad dressing is the best for such salads, the proportions being six tablespoons of oil, two of vinegar, half a teaspoonful of salt and a saltspoon of pepper. The vinegar should be added last and little at time. Lettuce and Neuchatel cheese with this dressing makes a nice summer breakfast or luncheon dish.—Boston Globe.

As to Mattresses.

To keep the mattress from wearing unevenly turn daily. If the mattress is made in two pieces, turn from side to side. In this way the mattress will retain its shape for a much longer time than if this attention is not given to it.

Before going on a sea-voyage or into the country, be sure and put a box of Ayer's Pills in your valise. You may have occasion to thank us for this hint. To relieve constipation, biliousness and nausea, Ayer's Pills are the best in the world. They are also easy to take.

Mr. Chas. Smith, Dawn Mills, Ont., says: "For several years I was troubled with pains in my limbs, which continued getting worse until I thought I would have to quit work. In fact the pains were so severe that I could not rest nights. I took one box of Miller's Iron Pills and am perfectly cured." Although it is nearly a year since Mr. S. took the pills he has had no return of the pains and feels splendid. Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

SCIENTIFIC WORLD.

RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION OF THE MOST HAZARDOUS EMPLOYMENT.

Sacrificed on the Rail—Handling the Country's Trains the Most Dangerous of All Work—A Comparison With the Risks of Mining.

A general impression prevails that mining is the most hazardous of all occupations, says the Philadelphia Record, but an examination of statistics relating to the matter in the United States shows that railroading is in reality three times as dangerous as coal mining. The number of people employed by railroads in the United States in 1895, according to the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, was 785,034, including officials, clerks, telegraph operators. Of this number 1811 were killed and 25,696 injured during the year. It therefore follows that one employe was killed for each 433 employed and one employe injured for every 31 employed. If only the men actually employed on the trains be considered, known as the train hands, including engineers, conductors, brakemen and others, which are comparable with the actual miner, one employe was killed for each 155 in the service and one injured for each 11 in the service. For purposes of comparison the Pennsylvania anthracite regions may be taken, says the Colliery Engineer, as they are admittedly the most dangerous mining districts in the world. The mine inspectors' statistics of Pennsylvania for 1895 reports 142,610 employes. The fatalities numbered 422 and the number injured was 1120. These figures show that there was one person killed for every 340 employed, and one injured for every 128 employes. In the bituminous fields of this state there were 84,904 persons employed. The fatalities number 155 and the injured 419, or, one person killed for each 548 employes and one injured for each 203 employes. Combining these figures, it will be seen that one miner lost his life for each 410 employed, and one person was injured for each 148. These ratios, as before stated, show that railroading is almost three times as dangerous as coal mining.

May Never Be Scaled.

Professor Ugolino Mosso of Turin, has made some interesting experiments on the effects experienced in ascending to high altitudes. All climbers of lofty mountains are aware that at great heights, such as the summit of Mount Blanc, respiration becomes more or less troublesome, the heart beats rapidly and sometimes irregularly, and a feeling of exhaustion, often accompanied by nausea, is experienced. These effects arise largely from the rarity of the air, and since the atmosphere becomes less dense the higher one goes, it is evident that a limit must soon be reached above which man cannot ascend. Professor Mosso made his first experiments on Mont Rosa, next to Mont Blanc, the highest peak of the Alps, where he ascended to an elevation exceeding 15,000 feet without serious inconvenience. Returning to Turin he made his next ascent—so to speak, without ascending at all. In other words, he produced an imitation of the rare atmosphere of a very lofty mountain top by partially exhausting the air from a large pneumatic chamber in which he had shut himself. When the air in the chamber corresponded in density with that which would be found at a height of 2,273 feet above sea-level he suffered such ill-effects that he could not carry the experiments further. The height to which Professor Mosso thus simulated an ascent is almost a mile less than that of Mount Everest, so that it seems improbable that man will ever be able to set his foot on the loftiest peak of the earth.

Tests of Lights at Sea.

The German Government has for some considerable time past been conducting experiments with the object of ascertaining the visibility of lights at sea. With respect to the white light, experiments have verified the well-known law that its visibility is proportional to the square root of its illuminating power. The mean of a number of observations on this subject shows that the distance at which the white light of a wax candle is visible on a clear night is 2250 metres, or rather more than 1 1-4 nautical miles, and on a wet night 1610 metres, or 1760 yards. For green lights the commission which has had the carrying out of the experiments recommends a clear bluish tint, and for red lights a coppery hue is the best.

Seasoning Billiard Balls.

Billiard balls must be well seasoned before they are used for play. Manufacturers have incubators in which to store them that they may undergo the drying process. Some incubators will hold fully 3000 balls. When they are first made they are "green." Solid ivory is the only satisfactory material of which to make them; "artificial balls" (those made of composition) are much heavier and do not wear well. English makers, to give the red balls a perfect color, steep them in a decoction that is sometimes described as the "guardsman's bath." This is extracted from the old coats of "Tommy Atkins," and for billiard balls it is the finest scarlet dye known.

Nansen's Windmill Electric Plant.

It is said that much of the comparative comfort of the men accompanying Dr. Nansen on his North Pole venture was due to the electric current supplied by a dynamo driven by a windmill. Dr. Nansen's previous experiences in the Arctic regions led him to expect a continuous breeze in the level ice regions, and the compact windmill outfit which he took with him fulfilled all expectations. By means of the electric current thus obtained the ship was lighted by electricity, and it is also stated that the current was employed for the purposes of heating.

Vanadium in South America.

A new source of vanadium compounds has been found on the South American Andes. On one of the high plateaus a mine of anthracite has been located, which when burned leaves an ash containing vanadium and silver. The vanadium is now being extracted for use in making aniline black and coloring porcelain.

Why is it that one man is old and decrepit at 45 and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his blood impure—he keeps his nerves and his body under a constant nervous strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures many so-called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

Women Who Madden Men.

Women may be charming, wholly devoted to their homes and their husbands, and yet be so tactless, thoughtless and aggravating as to drive husbands to the extreme of misery. "Any observant bachelor," says a writer in London Woman, "could recall numbers of instances of women who, from mere want of tact and intelligence, are almost driving their husbands mad by grating on their nerves. They forget that busy men require absolute brain rest, change of scene, change of subject. They forget that, however worrying the little affairs of a household may be, the anxieties of a great business upon which the whole family's present and future depends are far greater. A friend of mine, who is now nearly a millionaire, told me in confidence that while he was sitting one night over his smoking-room fire wondering whether he could next day possibly survive a terrible crisis which was hanging over his head and might lead to a disastrous bankruptcy, with debts to the extent of £200,000 or so, his wife came whining into the room to say the butcher must be paid the next day—and the amount of the butcher's bill was under £50.

"It is on such occasions as this that a man wants a helpful wife—one who will tell him about or read aloud the last good novel, who will say, 'Come, let us go to the theatre to-night; you need change of scene,' and, above all, one who knows just when her husband requires nothing more than to be left alone. It is women who get on their husband's nerves that drive them to take bachelor holiday when they ought to be getting more enjoyment from the wife's companionship.

"Of course, there are men who are always out of sorts, spoilt dyspeptic bears who require strong minds to manage them, but there are very many others who only want judicious, sympathetic treatment to be the best husbands in the world. Avoid being silly, avoid saying silly things or trying to make conversation, or commenting on some remark your husband has made. Read and think in order to cultivate intelligence and resourcefulness, with the object in view of being his counselor and his friend, and above all 'chum'—that word means much."

The Heels Stay; the Toes Go.

In spite of years of decrying for health's sake and for the promotion of grace, the Louis Quinze heel is still much in evidence. It is usually accompanied by the razor toe, but this latter fashion threatens to disappear in favor of the round toe, which keeps its shape longer and is more becoming to many feet, especially slender ones.

Care of Lamps.

If a lamp burner is occasionally boiled in vinegar it will cleanse every part of it, and it is said that if the wicks are soaked in vinegar before they are used at all and then thoroughly dried they will draw well and will not smoke.

Delightful Neckwear.

Fluffy is the word to describe the new neckwear. All the stocks of whatever kind have an extra trimming of lace or chiffon, either to stand up above them or to fall over them.

Feed the Nerves

Upon pure, rich blood and you need not fear nervous prostration. Nerves are weak when they are improperly and insufficiently nourished. Pure blood is their proper food, and pure blood comes by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is thus the greatest and best nerve tonic. It also builds up the whole system.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic, easy to take, easy to operate.

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 29TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

OTTAWA CONVENTION.

Great preparations are being made to make this the first international convenconvention, to be held at Ottawa Oct. 6—9, a great success. The provincial convention gave way this year to allow this convention full sway. We told you before what the different provinces proposed doing. And now we will have to tell you how to get there and what you may expect while there. Delegates must purchase single first-class tickets to Ottawa and from ticket agent. At time of purchase a certificate indicating that they purchased a ticket to Ottawa. Be sure and get this certificate. If you do not you will have to pay full fare back. If 300 delegates attend the convention you will get a return ticket free on presentation of the certificate. There will be no doubt about the attendance coming up to the 300 notch.

Arrangements have been made to billet delegates free during the convention. On their arrival at Ottawa delegates will be met by the reception committee and will be conducted to convention headquarters. After registering they will be conducted to their temporary homes. All societies sending delegates should forward their names to the billeting committee at Ottawa as soon as possible. Address, R. H. Campbell, Convenor Y. P. S. C. E. Billeting Committee, Ottawa, Ont. The members of reception committee will wear white caps and will be easily distinguished. All delegates should register, even though they stop with friends in the city.

It is needless for us to tell you of the many attractions in the city, nor of the side attractions to the Endeavourers. The most interesting will be the birthplace of Dr. Clarke, the founder of the movement. An excursion will be run to this place. Endeavourers should plan to be present, as representatives from all over the Dominion will be there. The programme is full of good things, rousing addresses, committee conferences, denominational rallies, inspiring missionary meetings, and a great junior rally and lots of enthusiasm. One thousand delegates are expected; plan to be one of them.

CANADIANS ESTEEMED.

Secretary Baer of the Internation Union, received a letter from the chairman of the Reception Committee at Washington, who received and tendered such loyal hospitality to the Canadians while in that city. The letter speaks for itself:

Dear Mr. Baer:

On several occasions I have heard you tell how persons who had served on convention committees would be willing to go through all the fatigue and all the trouble again for the sake of the pleasure and blessing they get from the convention. I must confess I did not understand how any one could say such a thing, and I felt very confident I would never make such a remark, dearly as I love C. E work, and looked forward with a little dread to "Washington '96," for as chairman of the Reception Committee of our society I knew it would mean work, and a good deal of it, for me. It is all over, and I am ready to say, with a great emphasis, I'd be willing to go through all the fatigue and worry again if we could have Washington, '97. Every member of my committee express themselves in the same way, and they are sincere. But we would want the same delegation assigned to our church—our Canadian brothers and sisters. God bless them! They brought a blessing with them. What grand, good times we had together. From the first hand shake we were friends, and it was with sad hearts we said good bye. We cannot thank the '96 committee enough for letting us entertain these dear Canadians. Such appreciation for everything we did for their comfort! It was a genuine pleasure to do for them. I could write volumes and not tell all the love there is in our hearts for those "true-hearted, whole-hearted Canadian C. E.'s. "The half can never be told." Of one thing I am sure, we of the Central Presbyterian church are in favour of annexation. Praise God for the convention of '96 and for the blessings we feel have come to us through our intercourse with His dear children from across the border.

Yours sincerely in C. E.,
MOLLIE S. LORD.

SALEM E. L. OF C. E.

Last week we were favoured with the presence of our pastor, Rev. Mr. Beer, who conducted the topic on "The Happiness of Heaven," setting forth fully the great realities of the great beyond.

On last Tuesday evening, the 8th inst., we had a very interesting and profitable service. We had the pleasure of the company of our good friend, Mr. T. H. Martin, county secretary, who gave us a full and very interesting report of the International convention held at Washington. Mr. Martin is always a welcome visitor at Salem, which was fully shown by the very large number of people who turned out to greet him. Our flower committee of little Endeavourers did their part nobly, by gaily decorating the church with very beautiful flowers of all kinds, and deserve great praise and commendation for their efforts along this line of work. We are looking forward patiently to the time when we will have a junior society in connection with our church here. We believe in giving the children their part to do in this noble work of winning souls for Christ. We have often thought that if some of the older members of our societies would manifest the same deep interest in the work that the Juniors do, how much more good would be accomplished in our midst.

THE LOCAL UNION.

The Local Union met last night and discussed many important matters pertaining to the work in this district. A new bylaw was adopted. Heretofore there has been some doubt as to the number which constitutes a quorum on this union. Hereafter, seven members of the Union, or representatives from four Societies, will be considered sufficient in number to carry on the work of the meeting.

Arrangements were made for the public meeting to receive the report of the Washington convention. The meeting will be held in the Baptist church on Monday, the 28th inst. St. Andrew's Society will have charge of the music. Convention hymns will be used. An invitation is extended to every one to attend the meeting.

WASHINGTON ECHO MEETINGS.

The delegate who attended the Washington convention in the interests of the county, reported at Salem on Tuesday, 8th; Lakefield, Friday, 11th; Smith, Sunday, 13th; and will report at Springville on the 18th, Keene on the 21st, in town on the 28th, and at Norwood on the 29th. Altogether seven places will hear the report. This covers the county fairly well, but if in any district the societies feel that the report would prove helpful it could be arranged to give it in that district.

WHITE-WINGED PEACE.

Italy and Abyssinia Said to Have Agreed on Terms Which Will Cause a Cessation of the War.

London, Sept. 15.—The Chronicle will to-morrow print a despatch from Rome stating that a peace has been concluded between Italy and Abyssinia. The Negus Menelek demanded that Italy should pay him 2,000,000 francs as compensation for sustaining the Italians captured during the war, and also that the limits of the Italian colony of Erythrea be definitely defined and that the Italians keep within those limits. Russia, it is said, supported the conditions laid down by Menelek, and they were agreed to by the Italian Government.

The New Law.

A well known Brantford young lady, writing on the new marriage law of Ontario, which makes it necessary for the would-be bride, as well as the would-be benedict, to attend the marriage license issuer and make an affidavit, says:—"I think it is real mean, that is what I think. Goodness knows, eligible men are scarce enough, and any difficulties thrown in the way of matrimony do not improve our chances. Do not put my name in the Expositor, but I think Brantford girls should write a letter to Mr. Hardy and tell him to give us as good a chance as he got himself." Brantford is Mr. Hardy's constituency, hence the Expositor believes that some good might be done by a deputation, a large and representative one, of prospective brides waiting upon Hon. A.S. Hardy, and, only one of them speaking at a time, urge upon him the need of changing the law. He would be glad to see them. Anybody would. The deputation would have the hearty support of young ladies in all parts of the province, who, however, are getting married pretty generally in spite of the terribly opposed law.

WANTS THE PEOPLE PROTECTED

Mr. Casey and the Sergeant-at-Arms Furnished an Incident in the House—Mr. Foster Resurrected a Chestnut and Mr. Cameron and Others Sought Information.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The somewhat unusual spectacle was witnessed in the House of Commons this afternoon of a member formally rising in his place and complaining of the interference in the discharge of his duties by an official of the House. It was Mr. Casey who thus ran up against the sergeant-at-arms in a manner which will be referred to presently.

There were 26 questions on the order paper, and to facilitate the discussing of them Mr. Speaker inaugurated the English practice of causing questions to be numbered, thus avoiding the necessity of their being read.

Mr. Foster had the following question on the order paper:

Did the leader of the Government at Abbotsford, P.Q., on October 8th, 1890, make use of the following words: "When the Liberal party comes into power it will send commissioners to Washington to propose a mutual agreement by which there will be free trade along the whole line, doing away with custom houses that go so far to cause friction between the two countries," or words which would convey that meaning?

Did the leader of the Government in Boston in 1891, as reported in the press of that city, say: "The first article at the present moment in the program of the Liberal party is to establish absolute reciprocal freedom of trade between Canada and the United States, for all products of the two countries, whether natural or manufactured. Their object is, when there is a Liberal Administration at Ottawa, to offer to the United States the free entrance to our territory of all American products, whether natural or manufactured, provided the United States extend the same privileges to the products of Canada," or words which conveyed that meaning? Did the leader of the Government at Brampton in 1894 use, as reported, the following words: "If we come into power, on that day I promise you a commission will go to Washington, and if we can get a treaty in natural products and a list of manufactured articles, that treaty will be made?" Did the leader of the Government use the following words in Boston in 1891, as reported in the press: "The proposition which we make involves the position that we should offer to the American people that which is denied to the rest of the world. In so saying, I do not forget that I am a subject of the British Crown"?

Is the leader of the Government aware that the Minister of Trade and Commerce has declared: "If it (unrestricted reciprocity) does discriminate against Great Britain we have a right to. We owe Great Britain nothing but charity for her atrocious blundering against our interests. There never was a time that Canada could not have bettered her position by joining the United States"?

In view of the foregoing declarations and pledges, 1st. Has the Government sent any commission to Washington for the purpose of negotiating a treaty of reciprocity between the United States and Canada?

2nd. If not, is it the present intention of the Government to do so, and if so, when?

Mr. Laurier said he would endeavor to satisfy the rather fastidious curiosity of his friend. With regard to the first part he would not be bound by the accuracy of the report. He did not use any such words or convey any such language. Regarding the alleged report of his Boston speech, he had again to say that he would not be bound by the accuracy of reports of his speech in the American press. It was well known that the American dailies did not report speeches in full unless the manuscript was handed to them in advance of a speech being delivered. As regards the question of the utterances of the Minister of Trade and Commerce, that Minister was pleased Mr. Foster had taken to studying his speeches, as he believed the perusal of them would greatly benefit the hon. member and might prevent him from repeating many errors into which he had fallen. (Laughter.) The Minister was inclined to believe that several disconnected sentences had been put together from his speeches, and he would be obliged if Mr. Foster would inform him where the said speeches were delivered. The Government had not sent a commission to Washington for the purpose of negotiating a reciprocity treaty with the United States. It was the present intention of the Government to enter into negotiations with the United States, but the Government believed that, pending the Presidential election, the time would not be opportune. The Government would not like the commissioners to come back after an interview with the American authorities of three minutes' duration. (Applause and laughter.)

Mr. Mulock told Mr. Richardson that the Government had not yet been able to do anything with the two-cent letter rate on postage for the Dominion.

Mr. Mulock informed Mr. McMullen that the department was not aware that mail matter was posted at Toronto during the recent election and allowed free transmission through the mails.

Mr. Fitzpatrick told Mr. Rogers that 500 tons of binder twine were manufactured at the Kingston Penitentiary during the season of 1896. Ten tons had been sold. The reason why so much was on hand was because one Patrick Kelly had undertaken to dispose of the entire output, but not having furnished the necessary sureties the warden had withheld the binder twine from him.

Sir C. H. Tupper ascertained from Mr. Fitzpatrick that communications of a confidential nature had passed between the Canadian and Home Government on the subject of copyright. He was not able to make any statement on the subject, inasmuch as the negotiations had not yet been completed.

Sir C. H. Tupper had on the order paper several questions regarding Mr. Davies' views on the Chignecto Ship Railway matter, as well as the Hudson Bay matter.

Mr. Davies said that his views on the Chignecto Marine Railway had not undergone any change. With regard to the Hudson Bay Railway matter he had no doubt that he had denounced that scheme as preposterous.

Mr. Davin: I wish you would make some of those speeches in the House. (Loud laughter.)

Sir Henri Joly informed Mr. Douglas that the question of customs duty on foreign leaf tobacco would be taken up on the revision of the tariff.

Mr. Cameron asked the following question: Is it the intention of the Government to issue a commission such as was issued by the late Sir John A. Macdonald shortly after his accession to power in 1878 to enquire into the acts of his predecessors in office?

Is it the intention of the Government to issue a commission to enquire into the various acts of the departments and the official misconduct, negligence and maladministration charged against the late Government for the last 18 years, and for various sums of money that have been illegally taken from the public treasury during that period?

Mr. Foster objected to the latter portion of the question as containing a statement of fact involving a charge which no member had the right to make in that way.

Mr. Cameron said he stated it was charged that money had been illegally taken.

Mr. Foster pointed out that the direct charge was made that money had been illegally taken from the public treasury.

The Speaker ruled on Mr. Foster's objection that the point was well taken, consequently Mr. Cameron was obliged to strike out that portion of his question.

Mr. Laurier said the Government was considering the matter.

Mr. Cameron had another question on the order paper respecting the claim for damages made on account of the building of the Tay Canal.

Mr. Blair said that many claims have been put in and for a very large amount. The list was so long that he thought the better course would be to move for a return for the information, or he could give it to the hon. member privately.

Mr. Cameron said he did not want the information privately. He wanted it for the public. There would be no time to move for it and it would be therefore well for the Minister to read it.

Mr. Blair seemed to be unwilling to take up the time of the House, but the back bench men on the Liberal side called out, "Read." A period of uncertainty followed, several members offering suggestions. Then Mr. Casey got the floor and was yelled at, "Sit down." Mr. Casey remained on his feet and put his hand to his mouth in order to make himself heard above the din. At this stage the sergeant-at-arms rose from his chair and walked over to Mr. Casey's desk. What ensued there can only be surmised from what followed. Mr. Casey immediately sat down and a moment later rose and walked quickly over to Mr. Speaker, with whom he entered into conversation.

Mr. Blair in the meantime had commenced reading the list of claims along the Tay Canal, which took him nearly ten minutes to dispose of.

Dr. Landerkin remarked: "The claim is longer than the canal." (Loud laughter.)

When Mr. Blair resumed his seat Mr. Casey rose to a question of privilege. He said that on attempting to speak a few minutes before the sergeant-at-arms had gone over to him to inform him that he was out of order and to request him to take his seat. He desired to say publicly that that officer had no right to speak to him in his place and that he had no

TO KILL THE CZAR

And Then Get After the Prince of Wales

WAS THE FENIAN-NIHILIST SCHEME

But Scotland Yard Was Kept Posted All the Time by Secret Agents Who Were in the Confidence of the Plotters—The Latest Developments.

New York, Sept. 16.—Julian Ralph cabled from London to The Journal: The certainty that the famous "No. 1" has been arrested as well as the publication of fuller details of the extent of the dynamiters' "hellish plot" at last horrify all England. Yesterday few heeded the news; to-day the awful shock caused by the murder of Cavendish and Burke has been repeated in the breast of every adult man and woman in the kingdom. That Phoenix Park butchery was a drop of gall on every English palate, and to-day the taste of it comes back with full strength. By to-morrow Armenia will have been forgotten. The Pall Mall Gazette Tuesday placarded the town with the startling news that Tynan intended to hire quarters near Marlborough House and to tunnel underneath and blow up the royal mansion at a time when the Prince of Wales was at home.

All this is set forth in detail, but it is given in the mere gossip of an anonymous scribbler, who pretends to tell what he "knows" of Tynan's doings in New York. The writer discounts his own guesswork at the close by saying: "It is possible that Tynan had this object in view, though it does not seem to me so. Tynan must have been desperate indeed to venture out of the United States, for we always felt that if the English authorities ever caught him they would hang him."

The guesses of all the other papers, and apparently of the detectives also, are threefold: First, they think that the Irishmen plotted with the Nihilists to blow up the Czar when he reached England or the Continent; second, that they contemplated promiscuous explosions in England and on the Continent, and to strike terror in the hearts of all decent people all over the world; and, third, that the Irish scheme was to use dynamite in England to punish the British for the harsh treatment given the dynamiters just released from jail in a crazed condition. The whole truth, without much guessing, seems to be that for the first time the Irish joined hands with the Anarchists to wreak vengeance on the Czar first, and then on England. They were determined not to molest the Czar on British soil, but to assassinate him in France, where the great crowds would offer some hope of escape.

Tynan sent his aides to England and Scotland to secure daring helpers by the offer of a large reward, for they had plenty of money, these rogues. Tynan and his associates were to remain here and blow up royalty after the Czar had been attended to.

The flaw in the scheme was that Scotland Yard has its agents in all Fenian, Anarchist and Nihilist bands in New York, who know all their secrets and keep the Home Office in London well informed. It is thought also that the police have found a "traitor" here who will inform on his comrades in court if the prisoners are brought here for trial.

Two questions now agitate England in this connection. They are as to whether Tynan will be extradited, and as to what has been done with the bombs made in Antwerp. To-night's papers give it as the prevailing belief in Paris that extradition papers will be granted. My own opinion is that much depends on whether the great find of assassins' material now declared to have been sufficient to blow up all Antwerp, was intended for England, or the Czar, England being none too well beloved over there, while the Czar is at present the god of France. Yet, on the other hand, the French, under the new treaty, have already demanded and obtained the extradition of French felons. The Government believe that the French are extremely grateful for the delivery to them of Arton of Panama fame and of Meunier, the Paris dynamiter, both of whom fled to England and were extradited. The French police and the French Home Office are said to be nervously apprehensive of the next outbreak of dynamiters in Paris, and since they know the fiends would flee to England, they are likely to pave the way for their return by giving up Tynan now.

I hear from Brussels to-night that the Fenians were well aware that they were being shadowed when they left America. To hoodwink the police they visited Berlin and "did the Rhine," tourist fashion. All had plenty of money, $10,000 being found in one man's pockets. John F. Kearney and his companion, Haines, first stopped in Antwerp. They returned there three weeks ago and took a small house at Berchem, a suburb, and then continued touring. The police planned the capture last Sunday. They failed to find the men in Antwerp, but by wholesale telegraphing caught them both at Rotterdam. Then they forced an entrance to the house at Berchem, and found in it only three pieces of furniture, but they discovered a carboy of glycerine, a carboy of sulphuric acid and some nitro-glycerine packed in ice in a pail, and on the floor a heap of dry earth used in making dynamite bricks. The English detective, Bryan, removed the lid of the pail, and was almost stifled by the fumes. A number of outfits for the manufacture of bombs and various kinds of explosives were also found in the house. Kearney spent his time in Antwerp with his sister-in-law, who keeps a drinking saloon near the docks. He called himself Wallace, but in his pockets carried cards bearing the name of John F. Kearney.

The police are certain that the bombs already manufactured were in that Berchem house, and the bewildering wonder is, "Where have they been taken?" Paris and St. Petersburg are both enjoying an ecstasy of excitement over the knowledge that the bombs were actually made and carried away. This fact is of less concern to London, which believes that the Czar was aimed at only. The excitement here is over the arrest of Tynan, whose death on the gallows is a foregone conclusion if he ever sets foot on English soil. Tynan is kept in the strictest solitary confinement at Boulogne. He is refused the right to see his lawyer. The police found a quantity of papers on his person said to be very compromising.

One of the London news agencies declares that months ago some of the details of the conspiracy were telegraphed to Scotland Yard from New York, the very names of the miscreants having been cabled before the men sailed.

The plot showed a novel departure from any of its predecessors, because of the fact that the Irish allied themselves with Anarchists and Nihilists to work jointly, in order to cause the greatest amount of destruction in England and on the Continent. Nihilists contributed freely to the dynamite fund, on the express condition that the work be confined to the Continent. On the other hand, the Americans subscribed on condition that effective blows be struck against England. Before leaving the emissaries were drilled in bomb work thoroughly in all its stages, under the direction of a well-known European professor, who maintained a school in New York. The detectives figure that [illegible]

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. A PROPER ACTION.

The action of the present Dominion Government in relation to the islands in the St. Lawrence, known as the Thousand Islands, indicates that they regard themselves as the trustees, not the "bosses," of the people—that they regard public office as a public trust. The Government's action in withdrawing from sale all islands that are still public property is one that will commend itself to the public. The late Government ran counter to public sentiment in offering these islands for sale. They are the possession of the people, and the people should not be restricted in any manner, except for the purposes of preservation, from having access to them. That such beauty spots should be handed over to purse-proud private possessors is in every way wrong. The action of the Ontario Government in creating Niagara Falls park for the benefit of the public represents the true spirit in which governments should treat the people. Vandalism takes its most reprehensible form when it diverts the public property from the enjoyment of the rightful owners and locks it up for the selfish gratification of private individuals. In this, as in other ways the Liberal Government shows that the rights of the people must take precedence of private or personal considerations. Governments should have no favourites; favouritism, whether exercised through the medium of barter and sale or for other considerations, is at all times reprehensible.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Hamilton Herald remarks that the least Li Hung Chang can do when he gets home is to secure the order of the three-eyed peacock's feather for his friend Sir Hong-Ri Jo-Li.

WHEN a minister of the crown succeeds in getting the estimates for his department through the House expeditiously and without trouble, he is credited with some of the necessary qualifications of a first-class administrator. Mr. Fisher, the new Minister of Agriculture, has, says the Witness, won golden opinions for the knowledge of his department and its work, and the tact and ability which enabled him to justify his estimates and persuade Parliament to pass them as they stood, without pruning and without delay. Mr. Fisher is himself a practical and successful farmer, who thoroughly understands the questions he has to deal with, and it was remarked that for once the explanations and information given by a Minister of Agriculture as to the aims, methods and affairs of the department were full, adequate and satisfactory.

THE Northeastern Lumberman says:—"Political economists in Europe claim that growing timber and gold are the only articles which have not declined very greatly in value during the last decade. The yearly value of the timber consumed in Europe is estimated at $951,250,000." Gold can never be destroyed, but unfortunately growing timber is not exempt. Indeed our growing timber is growing far too scarce, and both private individuals and governments should use every exertion to preserve this form of wealth that never decreases in volume, and will be in perpetual demand. Preservation of what we have and increase by planting are very strongly indicated. The man who wantonly destroys a growing tree of any kind, but especially one of commercial value, is doing a public wrong. Of course the cutting of timber is necessary, but it requires very strong reasons to justify its destruction merely for the sake of getting it out of the way. It would not perhaps be a bad plan to devise some means by which a tree could be planted for every one cut. This principle if carried out would tend to preserve our forest wealth forever. It takes a good deal of self-denial to thus consult the benefit of future generations, but if those of the past had not seen a good deal further than their noses, we of the present generation would miss many benefits we now enjoy.

CABLE AND FAST LINE

Complaints in England of the Slow Progress

IN FORWARDING THE SCHEMES.

Prominent Men of Great Britain Think England is Helpless in Regard to the Armenian Question — Sir Charles Dilke Says War Would Involve the Colonies.

Southampton, Sept. 16.—At to-day's session of the convention of the Association of Chambers of Commerce a delegate from Newcastle introduced a resolution that a memorial be presented to the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, calling his attention to the slow progress made in carrying out the request of the Ottawa convention for cable communication between the Mother Country and the colonies, for the subsidising of a line of fast steamers between England and Canada. The introducer pointed out the danger arising from the ownership of the cable lines by foreign nations, instancing the case of a director of one of the cable companies now sojourning in the West Indies, who is said to monopolise the cable for two hours every morning in talking with the New York office, thereby delaying other persons. Among the persons obliged to wait in one instance was the commander of the British fleet, who was endeavoring to communicate with the Home Government. The resolution was adopted.

The following resolution, moved by the Blackburn Chamber, was adopted: "Resolved, that, in consequence of the inconvenience and expense involved in the present regulations, whereby manufacturers are required to attend in person at the United States Consulate, or appoint an agent with power of attorney, to attest and verify invoices, this Association of Chambers of Commerce of the United Kingdom requests Her Majesty's Government to make representations to the United States Government, with the object of obtaining a resumption of the former practice, by which invoices were accepted if declared before a magistrate and transmitted to the Consul of the port."

The Leeds delegate moved, in addition to the foregoing, a resolution calling upon the United States Government to afford Great Britain the same facilities in the matter of the acceptation of invoices that are afforded Germany, and this, too, was adopted.

The business of the session being concluded, the meeting adjourned.

THE ANTI-SULTAN FEELING.

Sir Charles Dilke Says if Britain Goes to War, India, Canada and Australia Will Be Forced Into It.

London, Sept. 16.—Lord Hugh Richard Heathcote Cecil, fifth son of the Marquis of Salisbury, and member of the House of Commons for Greenwich, has written a letter expressing regret at his inability to attend the anti-Sultan meeting in London, adding: "It would be dangerous and misleading to the Armenians if we made them believe that England alone can save them. We cannot hope to save them until the feeling abroad approaches the excitement here."

Sir Charles Dilke has written a long letter, in which he says that if Great Britain shall go to war she will also plunge India, Canada and Australia into war, possibly without their consent. Sir Charles adds: "The forcible passage of the Dardanelles might lead to a general war, for which we are wholly unprepared, and in which our very existence as a power would be at stake."

In conclusion Sir Charles says: "Our virtual protectorate over Egypt has destroyed in the minds of the powers our credit for clean hands in relation to the Ottoman Empire."

THE POWERS AND TURKEY.

St. James' Gazette Proposes an Alliance Between Great Britain and the United States.

London, Sept. 16.—The St. James' Gazette, commenting upon the indifference of the European powers in regard to the Turkish massacres, proposes the formation of an alliance between the United States and Great Britain, in which Italy might possibly join. "Alone among the nations of the earth," The Gazette says, "the Americans can understand the impulse driving a free people into war in order to rescue the oppressed. If the three powers mentioned should present a joint demand to the Government at Constantinople it is improbable that any serious employment of force would be necessary."

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

MINING INTERESTS.

right to offer him his opinion. He wished to ask the opinion of the Speaker on the sergeant's conduct.

Mr. Speaker: The honorable gentleman must be mistaken.

Mr. Casey: I am not mistaken.

Mr. Speaker, continuing, said it would not be proper for the sergeant-at-arms to interfere with any member and he hoped Mr. Casey would feel that he had misunderstood the action of the sergeant, who could not speak for himself.

Mr. Casey said that the sergeant should be given to understand that he could not do such things.

The subject then dropped.

Mr. Laurier informed Mr. Richardson that the Government at an early day would take into consideration the question of sending an expedition to Hudson Bay and Straits to investigate their navigability.

Mr. Cameron moved for papers in connection with the leave of absence granted to John Austin, the mail clerk in the Stratford District. He complained that Austin had gone into his riding during the recent elections and had made himself very obnoxious by distributing abusive literature against him to people at the church doors.

Mr. Lister had a similar complaint to make with regard to a customs official at Sarnia.

Mr. Mulock said the case of Austin would be carefully investigated. He had received many complaints of a similar character, which would be enquired into.

Mr. Choquette asked what about postmasters, who distributed Tory literature, sending dirty sheets all over the country.

Mr. Laurier: I can assure my honorable friends that any officer who distributed "dirty sheets" is an offensive partisan. (Laughter.)

Mr. Bostock moved that, in the opinion of the House, it will be in the interest of immigration and the development of the Dominion that the Government should collect through the Department of Agriculture all the information possible with respect to the mining interests of British Columbia and the other provinces of the Dominion and distribute such information. He stated that there is a large development in British Columbia, and it was of great importance, not only to miners and settlers there, but also to the people of Canada generally, that accurate data should be available. It would serve to call attention to the mining development of British Columbia and especially of the West Kootenay District. So far as he had been able to gather the output from West Kootenay during the year ending June 30, 1896, was as follows, via Nelson: Gold, 30,673 ounces, valued at $552,135; silver, 1,459,629 ounces, valued at $969,215; copper, 11,647 tons, valued at $120,250; lead, 6020 tons, valued at $220,849, a total value of $1,871,449. To this must be added shipments via Revelstoke, valued at $641,000, making a grand total valued at $2,512,449, up to the 30th June, 1896. The total value of the output of all the mines in British Columbia during 1894, as given in the geological survey report, was $456,000 in gold and $470,-219 in silver.

The comparison showed a great increase in the mineral production of British Columbit. Bradstreet's, a reliable source, stated that there was every justification for anticipating a still more marked increase in the mining development, as well as in population, in this district. The gold mines in Rossland, the War Eagle and Le Roi, had paid in dividends up to June last $82.500 and $200,000 respectively, while the Slocan Star silver mine had paid $500,000. Mining companies were being floated for the purpose of interesting investors in the development of mines, but in many cases these ventures were being put on the market in eastern Canada in a very loose and unsatisfactory manner and steps, he thought, should be taken to check it.

Statements were made in the prospectuses that were most misleading. He instanced the case of those setting forth the prospects of the "Palo Alto" and "Nest Egg" mines, in which the names of the Premier of the Province and Lieut.-Governor Dewdney had been used as references, without their authority. This was a sample of the means employed to induce eastern investors to put money in these concerns. He hoped that the Government would take hold of the matter and introduce legislation to prevent a prospectus of this kind being foisted upon the market and hold the promoters of such concerns responsible to the public for the truth of their statements. British Columbia, he added, was anxious to see capital brought into the country, and recognized that if this sort of thing were allowed to continue and investors to lose money, it would be a great setback to mining, and the province would have to suffer the consequences. He hoped all information available to the geological survey statistical branch would be brought up to date and that the statistical staff would be increased, so that fuller and more reliable information could be brought forward and given to the public.

Mr. Laurier had no hesitation in saying that the mining development of British Columbia was the hope of the country. All looked to the province to attract immigration from abroad. He showed what the geological survey was doing in the matter of collecting statistics and said that as to the practice of speculators in placing spurious schemes and bogus concerns on the market, that was an old grievance. He did not know whether the present law was adequate to meet such a case, but the opinion of the Minister of Justice would be obtained as to this, and if at the next session the Minister reported that the present law was not sufficient to cover such cases then the Government would have the criminal law amended in that direction.

Sir. Sproule warmly advocated a measure of some sort.

Col. Tisdale inclined to the opinion that the criminal code at present contained provisions applicable to the cases complained of. The law was very severe against fraud by false representations.

Col. Prior alluded to Mr. Bostock's knowledge of the subject of mining in British Columbia as being equal to that of any other man in the country. Men, he said, were placing schemes on the market which certainly do not give much encouragement to people acquainted with mining matters, but the great majority of the projects on the market were bonafide speculations. All mining was more or less speculative, and nobody has any business to imperil his business by putting into mining stocks money that he could not afford to lose. It was true that no mining country in the world shows such splendid possibilities for profitable investment as British Columbia. But in all cases the would-be investors should exercise care in ascertaining who were at the head of an enterprise before investing in it. If people persisted in placing their money blindly without knowing anything of the promoters or their property, why it served them right if they lost. If they found the men at the head of an enterprise were men experienced in the management of mines, they were safe to invest, for judicious investments stood every chance of earning large returns.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, Solicitor-General, went fully into the question raised by Col. Tisdale. He held that the great trouble was that most of these companies floated purely for speculative purposes were organized in the States, so that our laws could not touch them. In Washington State, for instance, it was legal to organize a joint stock company and sell shares for ten cents each; that could not be done by a company organized in Canada. It was poor consolation for the English investor, for instance, to know that he had recourse to the Canadian criminal code, even if the latter, which he did not believe, was broad enough to reach such cases as false statements and false representations in the prospectus. Three things were to be considered in dealing with this subject: 1. How far the House could go in introducing legislation to cover peculiarities of mining speculation. 2. Was it not after all a question for the province to deal with, and 3, might not the House introduce special legislation to deal with this special case, as in England, they did with Jabez Balfour?

Mr. Dyment put in a word for Algoma, and Mr. Casey followed in advocacy of a mining bureau; then, after remarks by Messrs. Fraser, Fisher and Morrison, the motion was withdrawn by the mover in view of the promise made by the Premier.

Mr. Casgrain called attention to a statement in La Semaine (Conservative), which pretended to define Mr. Dobell's views on the fast Atlantic steamship question. He asked if the statement was correct.

Mr. Dobell said his view was a 20-knot service was more than the country needed. An 18 or 19-knot service would be sufficient. Such a service could be secured for considerably less than a 20-knot service. The head of the Cunard firm had informed him that they would build no more than 20-knot vessels, the cost of running them being too great. Canadians wanted a good service, but not a costly one. They could not afford to pay more than $75 or $100 for passage, whereas on the New York boats as high as £100 was paid for passage.

Sir Henri Joly resumed the debate on Mr. Maxwell's motion for papers in the Chinese immigration question. He said in the views he had to express he was simply speaking his own sentiments, the Government not having considered the matter in any way. He spoke at some length against any increase in the poll tax, and characterized the report of the Chinese commission, of which Mr. Davin was secretary, as the ablest ever presented to Parliament.

Mr. Charlton said he would be sorry to see the Government assume the same position as had Sir Henri Joly. On the Pacific coast, where the residents had knowledge of the Chinese, there was a strong feeling against these people. And in his judgment it would be a mistake to encourage the immigration of Celestials.

Col. Prior pointed out the change in the condition of the labor market as justifying the agitation against Chinese labor. He himself had given no pledge to his constituents. They knew where he stood. The Conservative Government were in sympathy with British Columbians, and only the international aspect of the case deterred them.

Mr. McInnes followed in support of the motion, inveighing exhaustively against "That vile product of congested Asiatic life," as he termed the Chinese.

Mr. Maxwell's motion carried and the House adjourned at 10.30.

HARVEY GOES ON TRIAL.

The Ex-Treasurer of the City of Guelph Must Answer Some Charges To-Day.

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—The preliminary hearing in the Harvey case takes place Thursday morning. The first case will be the charge of stealing $500 received from Henry O'Hara of Toronto in 1893. Other charges will be entered into from the fact that Chief of Police Randall has served summonses on J. M. Duff, manager of the Bank of Commerce; William Bell, David Martin and Charles Kilner. The last three charges are in connection with the waterworks. On Tuesday the Chief Constable served Harvey with notice, in pursuance of the motion passed at the last regular meeting of the council, to hand over to the city all books, papers, etc., belonging to the city in his possession.

Napanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

Health Talk to Ladies.

The health talk to ladies in the S. O. E. Hall yesterday afternoon was attended by a large number of the most prominent ladies in Peterborough. Mrs. Baughman, the manager of the Viavi Company in the city of Toronto, was the speaker. She carried the large audience with her while she explained to them in a very vivid manner the causes of "chronic nerve tire." She will again address the ladies of Peterborough in the same hall, to-morrow, 18th inst., at 3 o'clock. Subject—"The nation rises no higher than its Mothers." In the evening of the same day she will give an ethical talk to young ladies at 8 o'clock, in the same place. Subject—"Arise, Shine." To be appreciated, these talks need but to be heard. Mothers and daughters are cordially invited—no admission charged. COM.

STANDS AT THE TOP.

The Oriental Hotel Improvements Places it at the Head of Provincial Hostelries.

The new wing in connection with the Oriental Hotel, is now entirely completed, and the fourteen additional bed rooms and four extra sample rooms which are thus added to the establishment places it in the front ranks of provincial hotels.

The new rooms are all large and airy and most exquisitely furnished in oak, walnut, birch and quartered oak. It is seldom indeed that a hotel is found to be equipped with furniture of so high a grade. The carpets are all of rich design and a big lounge is also found in each room. All the apartments are lit with incandescent electric lights and are connected with the office by electric bells.

Further improvements are contemplated and the new rooms will at once be put into use, whilst the halls in the main building will be enlarged to correspond with the airy corridors in the wing.

The plumbing in connection with the entire hotel is now the most modern improvement known to sanitary science.

Peterborough has long felt the need of a hotel first-class in every particular and it is now felt that the Oriental fills the bill with the many improvements which have been introduced during the last year. Mr. Geo. Graham, the genial proprietor, is certainly to be congratulated on the manner in which he has raised and maintained so high a standard for the Oriental. His unfailing courtesy and that of the staff has contributed in no small degree to his success.

Mr. Thos. Rutherford had the contract for erecting the new wing, Mr. John Craig furnished it, Mr. E. Rutherford supplied the electric fittings and Mr. Adam Hall looked after the sanitary plumbing. The manner in which each part of the work has been finished is the best kind of an advertisement that the different firms could have.

Albani May Visit Us.

It is probable that Madame Albani, the great Canadian prima donna, will sing in Peterborough on her way through Canada to the Pacific coast next December. Madame Albani has entered into a contract to sing at fifty performances in this country and in Australia, commencing in Halifax, November 16th, and ending in Australia, April 30th, 1897. With her are several renowned operatic vocalists who will accompany her from London specially for this tour, and appear with her in 3rd and 5th acts of Gounod's opera "Faust."

The Feeling at the Falls.

The people at Fenelon Falls feel very blue over the Howry disaster, and many are predicting that good times have vanished forever. While some of the citizens do not take such a gloomy view of affairs, all admit that the destruction of the mills can only be viewed in the light of a serious disaster, 350 men being thrown out of work indefinitely. If the mills are not rebuilt then the blow will indeed be a hard one, as building has been going on briskly of late, and considerable property has changed hands on instalment paying terms, and the men thrown out of employment will be unable to meet their payments.

Reception of Her Excellency.

The committee of ladies having charge of the reception of Her Excellency, the Countess of Aberdeen, have decided to hold a public meeting for women in St. Paul's church at 11.30 on the morning of the 23nd. The meeting will be strictly undenominational. It is found to be very difficult to make suitable arrangements for the meeting unless it was held in one of the churches. Her Excellency will speak on the recent formation of the National Council of Women, and other topics of interest. The names of Mrs. Middleton, Mrs. Geo. Elliott, Mrs. Birdsall and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun should have been printed in the list of members of the committee. Mrs. Kendry is chairman, and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun secretary of the Ladies' Reception Committee. The committee will entertain Her Excellency at private luncheon.

Prof. Dorenwend.

Ladies and gentlemen who require hair goods should not forget that Prof. Dorenwend, the great hair goods artist, will be Peterborough, at Huffman House, on Tuesday, Sept. 22nd, with new samples of the very latest and most becoming styles in Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, wavy and curly Trouts, Switches in every length and shade. His skill is well known as is practically demonstrated by the thousands who wear his goods. As this is to be his last trip this fall, those in need of his art should call on him. This summer he has visited all the large and leading American cities, where he picked up suggestions to assist his ideas of new styles which he shows on this visit. His stay is limited, so be there on time.

IN HOLY WEDLOCK.

Nuptials of Miss Lulu Campney and Mr. F. C. McMaster.

On Wednesday night fully seventy-five invited guests assembled at the residence of Mr. Jesse Campney, at Havelock, to witness the union in matrimony of his only daughter, Lulu, with Mr. F. C. McMaster, hardware merchant, of that village. The young couple were attended by Miss Addie Oliver, of Lindsay, cousin of the bride, and Mr. T. E. Oliver, dentist, of Stirling. The bride was attired in a cream Lansdowne dress trimmed with French duchess lace and satin ribbon, and wore a wreath of natural bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore a cream cashmere and silk, and both carried boquets.

At half past seven o'clock in the parlour of the family residence, the betrothment Mr. McMaster and his cheerful, attractive bride, was happily consumated by the Rev. H. McQuade, Methodist clergyman of Havelock, who in his usual pleasant mood, read the solemn obligation of a life companionship in the presence of the large company of guests. Congratulations followed, and half an hour afterwards the wedding party were entertained to a supper of variety, plenty and charm—a repast standing highly to the credit of Mrs. Campney who prepared it. The wedded couple remained in company with the young people present until 4 o'clock in the morning, when they left by train for Toronto to spend a few days in the city. Many pretty and valuable presents accompanied the event, all of which were useful for household needs and home comfort.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

The Eleventh Annual Brewery Picnic to Jubilee Point.

Fully half a thousand excursionists from all quarters, including Hastings, Keene, Harwood, Gore's Landing, Port Hope, Cobourg and other smaller places attended the great annual Brewery Picnic, yesterday, at Jubilee Point. By the time the sports were run off there were fully one thousand people on the grounds. The weather was delightful, the sail a pleasant one, the music for dancing could not have been excelled, and the dinner provided at the hotel was all that could be desired. President Neil ran off the sports, while Michael Angele Costello was floor manager, and Jimmie Drain supplied candies and peanuts for the little ones.

The following is a list of the winners in the sports:—

Men's 100 yards dash—Riley 1st, McPherson, 2nd.
50 yards race, girls—Florence Scott 1st, Alice Scott 2nd.
50 yards race, boys—Sid Gibbs 1st, J Swanson 2nd.
50 yards race, little girls—Lulu Scott 1st, A Pollick 2nd.
Three-legged race—Gobeen and McPherson 1st.
Ladies race, 25 yards—Mary McMann 1st, E Payne 2nd.
Running jump—Gobeen 1st, R T Hartley 2nd.
Married women's race, 75 yards—Mrs Crane 1st
Single ladies' race—Annie Swanson 1st, Grace Tobin 2nd.
Hotelkeepers' race, 10 yards—Wm Croft 1st, Bob White 2nd, Bid Dineen 3rd.
Consolation race—Sid Philips 1st, Lulu Scott 2nd.
Quoit match—W J Scott and Pat Ryan, 13; Joe Ball and Michael Costello, 22.

The football match between married and single men was of an hour's duration and resulted in a draw—both scoring two goals. Manager Arkels of the hotel with an efficient staff looked after those desirous of satisfying the wants of the inner man, while Archie Fulton supplied those who became thirsty. The day was spent most enjoyably by all, old and young.

If the day is fine to-morrow a big crowd will doubtless take advantage of the cheap dollar excursion to Madoc, in the afternoon, and go down to see the lacrosse game, which promises to be far more exciting than at first surmised as it seems that a number of players from the Tecumseh lacrosse club of Toronto, are with the Madocs. The special train leaves the G. T. R. station at a quarter past twelve and returns early in the evening.

THE WHEEL.

A New Yorker has offered to bet $1,000 that Tom Cooper can beat Johnny Johnson in three out of five races at any distance below two miles. Unless Johnson has improved very much in the last year the Detroiter can show him the way in any event in which endurance is subordinated to speed.

A sanction has been issued to Percy Brown and A. E. Young for a record breaking attempt from Toronto to Kingston. The duo count upon making the 171 miles in 13 hours gross time. They will not start on the trip before next week.

Kingston's Member Returns Greatly Benefited in Health.

Hon. Wm. Harty, M.P.P., Commissioner of Public Works, returned to Kingston on Tuesday from Prince Edward Island, where he was the guest of Lt.-Gov. Howlann for the past six weeks. Mr. Harty is greatly benefited as the result of his outing. He has a better colour in his cheeks, his eyes have regained their old time sparkle, and his conversation bubbles over with wit and vivaciousness as of yore. He is not as stout as previous to his illness, but his muscles are firmer and his nerves are steady. From here Mr. Harty will go to Caledonian Springs for a few days, afterwards paying a visit to Ottawa. About the first of October he will return to his duties at Toronto.

IN THE HOUSE.

A question was asked for Mr. Hughes, which read:—"Is Mr. John A. Barron, Q. C., of Lindsay, in the employ of the Government or of the Liberal party? Has application been made to appoint Mr. Barron to a position?"

Mr. Laurier—Mr. John A. Barron is not in the employ of the Government. Whether he is in the employ of the Liberal party is a question of which the Government has no knowledge and which concerns Mr. Barron himself. Mr. Barron has made no application for an appointment.

NORTH SMITH BAND PICNIC.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The members of the North Smith brass band held their annual picnic Saturday, 12th inst., on the football grounds so kindly granted by Mr. Nicholls for the team's use during the season.

The Young's Point football team failing to be present, a good match was played between the home teams, resulting 3 to 1 in favour of the professionals.

After the usual field sports, all repaired to the Orange Hall to partake of the excellent repast which the ladies of the neighbourhood are so famous for providing. The following are the winners of the prizes so generously donated by their Peterborough friends :

Men's race—C Ritchie, $2 sleeve buttons by W A Sanderson.
Boys' race under 15—J Eastwood, $1 knife by Peterborough Hardware Co.
Boys' race under 13—G Northey, 50c cap by Fairweather & Co.
Girls' race over 15—Florence Blewett, $1 kid gloves by A Dickson.
Girls' race under 15—1 Georgina Nugent, $1 silk handkerchief, Gough Bros.; 2 Rose Blewett, 35c belt by Miss Cahill.

LIMIT OF HUMAN LIFE.

Shall it be put at 100 Years or Twice that Number — Few Reach the Former.

The utmost limit of human life has been placed by different investigators at different ages, Sir Cornwall Lewis maintaining that it is impossible for it to exceed 110 years, while Haller, who seems to have accepted as trustworthy, statements that are now known to have been erroneous, believed the extreme limit, the ne plus ultra, to be 200 years. In a recent article on longevity, Sir Benjamin Richardson, one of the most eminent of British medical men, asserts that seven out of every ten sound and reasonably sound persons ought to live to be 110 years old. He thinks they would if they took care of themselves.

Certainly among all the millions who have lived within a century or two there must have been at least 10 who have taken care of themselves, and not yet one, to say nothing of seven, has ever been known beyond all question, to have lived to that age. Such is the assertion of the New York Commercial Advertiser. It has happened that in every case where a person has been said to be more than 103 or 108, there has been a lack of trustworthy documentary evidence. In most cases, or in more than half of the cases, the persons have been negroes, of whose date of birth it has been impossible to learn with certainty. The number of persons who have lived to be 100 years old is so small as to make Dr. Richardson's statement appear unreasonable. But for such rare instances as those of the chemist Chevreul, who died at the age of 103, and of the philanthropist, Montefiore, it might be doubted whether 100 years is ever exceeded. While there is no doubt that with the exercise of great care the average of human life might be prolonged, since nearly all persons die from some acute and preventible disease and rarely anybody from old age, there is little ground for the opinion that any large proportion could be made to exceed 100 years of life.

THE DAY OF ATONEMENT.

The Feast is now Being Observed by the Israelites.

The Day of Atonement, or "Yom Kippur," the most sacred day in the Jewish calendar, commenced at sunset on Wednesday. Its observance is based upon Leviticus xvi, 29; xxii, 27; and Numbers xxix, 7. According to the Mishna, Yom Kippur cannot procure atonement for a sin which a man commits against his neighbour, until he has appeased that neighbour. Restitution must be made before the divine pardon is granted. A strict fast is observed on the Day of Atonement, and from sundown on Wednesday until dusk on Thursday neither food nor drink will be tasted by adult Israelites. So sacred is the Yom Kippur in the eyes of the Jewish people that the fast is strictly observed by all except those who have practically ceased to be Jews. But the fast is by no means regarded as sufficient to procure forgiveness of sin. There must be confession, sincere prayer and amendment. Without these the mere fast is ineffectual. A very beautiful custom in connection with the Day of Atonement is the reconciling of those who have become estranged during the year. If man does not forgive how can he expect the Almighty to pardon? Before the commencement of Yom Kippur men with tears in their eyes may often be seen to ask the pardon of those with whom they have quarreled.

ABERDEEN!

Will Formally Open Central Exhibition

ON TUESDAY, SEPT. 22nd.

GENERAL PROGRAMME OF ATTRACTIONS AND SPECIALTIES.

The Canadian Dragoons — The Great Speeding and Running Events—The Beautiful Dancers — The Acrobatic, Trapese and High Wire Walking Feats.

Next Tuesday the Twelfth Annual Exhibition of the Peterborough Agricultural Society will be opened by His Excellency Lord Aberdeen, with brilliant and imposing ceremonies. The general features of the exhibition are outlined in the large advertisement on page 4, to which the reader is referred.

The General Programme

may be thus outlined :

FIRST DAY—MONDAY.

Will be par excellence exhibitors' day, and will be devoted to the placing of exhibits. All entries, except the live stock, must be on the ground this day by 1 o'clock p.m. Judging in these departments will take place.

SECOND DAY—TUESDAY,

Will be the formal opening day of the Exhibition. His Excellency Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, accompanied by Lady Aberdeen, will formally open the Exhibition at two o'clock p. m. Their Excellencies will be escorted to the grounds by a military escort and the Fire Brigade Band. He will be presented with an address and in reply thereto will make one of the tactful, instructive addresses which he has became so much noted for.

At 2 o'clock the showing of the horse exhibits in connection with the judging will take place.

At 2 o'clock the great Baby Show for prizes presented by Gough Bros. will take place in the main pavilion.

The Royal Canadian Dragoons in their celebrated musical ride and thrilling feats of horsemanship and swordmanship, and other feats in which the magnificent horses seem to show almost human intelligence.

The graceful Italian dancing girls, Tyrena and Evalina, will give exhibitions of their wonderfully graceful and agile dancing. Besides there will be grand exhibitions of acrobatic and trapese performances. Signor Farina will also perform on the high wire, his thrilling feats. Tuesday afternoon will be school children's day, when the pupils of all schools under 14 years of age will be admitted for 10 cents.

The speeding ring will be enlivened by two fine races :—Running race 2 3 mile, for purse of $50, and 3 year old Colt race pace or trot, for purse of $50, best 3 in 5.

ON TUESDAY EVENING

there will be a repetition of all special attractions of the afternoon, and in addition a grand 100 yards race, best 2 in 3, for the championship of the county and a silver trophy.

During the evening the most attractive feature will be the contribution of splendid songs by Mr. T. Dunn, the most finished baritone vocalist in Canada.

The whole of these events will take place in front of the grand stand. The grounds will be brilliantly illuminated by electricity and the Fire Brigade Band will be present afternoon and evening. The evening programme will conclude with a magnificent display of fireworks.

THIRD DAY—WEDNESDAY.

On this day some of the very best events in the speeding contests will take place.

RUNNING RACE for a purse of $100—handicap mile heats—best 2 in 3. The purse is divided into four prizes, and there is sure to be lively competition.

FREE FOR-ALL TROT, for purse of $100, divided into three prizes. Some of the best horses in the district have been entered, and the events are sure to be exciting and keenly contested.

This afternoon the great drawing contests, which have always excited so much competition and interest, will take place.

The parade of prize animals will take place also, and the special attractions will again be presented in their entirety. The Band will again be in attendance.

IN A WORD,

the Central Exhibition of 1896 will be by all odds the best in exhibits and the most prolific in special attractions that has ever been held under the auspices of this society. Something to suit every taste, and be, in a word, worthy of public patronage from every point of view. Be sure and attend this Great Exhibition on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 21st, 22nd and 23rd.

A man may dress as well as his own good taste, judgment and the assistance of an artistic tailor may elect. He may take his "tubs" as regularly as the most conscientious water-cure doctor may dictate; but if his digestive organs are out of order, he will have an unwholesome appearance. His complexion and the white of his eyes will have a yellowish cast. His tongue will be coated, appetite poor, his teeth rusty, his breath abominable. He is one big, unmistakable sign of constipation.

Worst of all, his temper is as ugly and unwholesome to live with as is his person. A man who has the least appreciation of what he owes his family and friends, to say nothing of himself, will make an effort for health.

LATEST FROM TURKEY.

Young Turks Want the Sultan Dethroned—British Residents Appeal to Lord Salisbury for Protection.

London, Sept. 15.—The Standard will to-morrow publish a despatch from Constantinople saying that the Young Turk party is covering the city with placards, inciting the people to dethrone the Sultan. Serious trouble, it is added, is certain to occur within a week. Old Turkish troopships are nightly deporting Armenians to the Black Sea, where it is believed they are drowned.

The British residents at the instance of the British Embassy, have telegraphed to Lord Salisbury stating that their lives and property are in danger. The French residents have taken similar action. British and French fleets are now near the mouth of the Dardanelles. Fuad Pasha, one of the Sultan's aide-de-camps, was questioned as to how long the forts along the Dardanelles could check the passage of the war ships, and he replied that they could stop them for almost half an hour.

The Chronicle and The Daily News will to-morrow print many columns of despatches, claiming that the European nations are rousing themselves against the Sultan, though the semi-official journals are callous to the sufferings of the Christians in the Turkish dominions.

Gladstone Wants a Meeting.

Liverpool, Sept. 15.—Mr. Gladstone has written a letter to the Liverpool Reform Club urging the organization of a mass meeting in behalf of the Armenians, and stated that, if desired, it might be possible for him to take part in the proceedings.

Trilby's Foot.

The step 'twixt the sublime and the ridiculous is quickly made. Surely literature presents no more grotesque idealization than Trilby's foot, and the numerous worshippers who have figuratively speaking bent knees and kissed the big toe of the foot, when reason once more comes to their rescue, will feel as if the production of the genuis Asa were perennial. By the way, did you notice when reading Trilby how highly it commended Putnam's Corn Extractor, which renders impossible the discordant excrescence, corns. Trilby's foot would not be worthy of homage if marred by corns; neither would yours. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

THE SENATE BAR ALSO

May be Closed by the Restaurant Committee.

POWER WAS GIVEN THEM TO DO IT.

Hon Mr. Vidal Brought Up the Subject and After Considerable Discussion a Motion Placing the Matter in the Hands of the Committee Prevailed.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—(Special.)—The refreshment question on the Senate side proved an interesting discussion. Senator Vidal brought up the question of the abolition of the bar. He disclaimed any intention of insinuating any improper conduct or abuse by members of the Senate. He knew of his own knowledge that much that had been said in the country regarding the bars in both Houses was greatly exaggerated. In addition to his own strong views on the subject of prohibition, he thought that in order to protect the good name of Parliament it was advisable to pass the motion. His action was in consequence of the action of the Lower House in passing a similar resolution. He felt that if the bar in the House of Commons was closed and the one in the Senate kept open, strangers would make it a drinking resort. He withdrew his motion in favor of a stronger one given notice of by Senator Aikins to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors within the precincts of the Senate.

Senator Aikins, speaking to his motion, said that if the use of the restaurant was confined to members of the Senate there would be little fault to find with it. He knew from past experience, however, that such would not be the case if the bar in the Commons side were closed. The action of the lower House in closing its bar was the cause of a healthy sentiment in the country against the sale of liquor within the precincts of Parliament.

Senator Power did not know the views of the Government on this question, but he pointed out that the existence of a contract with the caterer requiring three months' notice to break would leave the Senate liable for breach of contract if the motion was carried. The present session would not last very long, and if it was thought desirable to abolish the bar it should be done next session, without interfering with any contract. He thought that as a matter of courtesy the matter should be left with the Restaurant Committee, which had always dealt with matters relating to the restaurant. He moved in amendment that the question of the sale of intoxicating beverages within the precincts of the Senate be referred to the Restaurant Committee with instructions to report at their earliest convenience.

Senator Almon, who seconded the amendment, regarded the main motion as a slight on the members of the Restaurant Committee and Speaker of the Senate. He thought that the fact that members and their wives were in the habit of dining in the restaurant daily was sufficient evidence of the falsity of the reports that debauchery occurred there. A great deal of what was said outside on this subject was on a par with the utterances of a clergyman, who referred to Lord Aberdeen's ball in the Senate Chamber as a drunken orgie, and said that rooms in the Senate were used for purposes of prostitution. He was 80 years of age, and could say that had the same slanders been repeated sixty years ago the fathers and sons of ladies who attended that ball would have taken the gown from the back of the man who dared to make such statements and lash him until his foul slanders were wiped out in his own blood. (Laughter and applause.)

Senator Aikins disclaimed any desire to even lend countenance to the slanders uttered about members of Parliament. He suggested that, as a contract existed with the caterer which required notice to cancel, his motion be so amended as to take effect at the end of three months.

Senators Allan, Ogilvie, McDonald (British Columbia), McCallum, Gowan and O'Donohue spoke in favor of referring the matter to the Restaurant Committee.

Senator Perley never saw any abuse of the restaurant, but if the House was going in for prohibition he favored effective measures being taken, not only to prevent the sale but also the use of liquors within the precincts of the Senate.

Senator Ferguson thought it was due to the sentiment of the country that the bars in both Houses should be closed. He moved in amendment to the amendment that the Speaker be authorized to notify the caterer that his contract would be cancelled, and that at the end of three months Senator Aikins' motion should go into effect.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, in seconding this amendment, said Senator Power's motion was simply an ingenious method of preventing an honest expression of opinion by the Senate on the question. He called on the leader of the House to express an opinion.

The amendment to the amendment was declared lost. The Speaker called for the yeas and nays on Mr. Power's amendment to refer the matter to the Restaurant Committee. This was carried.

A discussion took place on the question of the representation of British Columbia in the Cabinet, but Sir Oliver Mowat gave assurance that the wishes of the province in this regard would be met.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

Richard Bailey of Bowmanville Was Buried by a Falling Wall and Sustained Painful Injuries.

Bowmanville, Ont., Sept. 15.—What might have proved a fatal accident happened to Richard Bailey at the old Upper Canada Furniture Factory this afternoon. He was taking down a brick wall when it fell on him, burying him beneath the debris. Being alone and no one seeing the accident, he laid in this terrible position till 7 o'clock, when a gentleman passing down the street, hearing groans, discovered him lying unconscious among the bricks. He was rescued and conveyed home. Several ugly cuts and bruises were found on his scalp and face, and his right hip was dislocated. He will probably recover.

TURNING GRAY
AND THREATENED
WITH BALDNESS

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

COMING TO CANADA.

COUNTESS WACHTMEISTER ON HER WAY TO THIS COUNTRY.

An Interesting Personality—One of the Leaders of the Theosophical Cult and Her History—A Friend of the Late Madame Helena Petrovna Blavatsky.

Constance, the Countess Wachtmeister, is the name of the brilliant theosophical leacturer, who has arrived at the Golden Gate from New Zealand and Australia, after the completion of a tour in India. She is to make a tour of Canada as well this fall, and although she is well known and highly esteemed at Vancouver and Victoria, B.C., this will be her first visit to Eastern Canada. The personality of the Countess is very interesting.

Her full name is Constance Georgine Louis de Bourbel do Montjuncon. Her parents were the Marquis de Bourbel, formerly in the French diplomatic service, and Constance Bulkley, to whom she was born on the 28th March, 1838, at Florence, Italy. The de Bourbel family is one of the most ancient in France. Originating from the southeast of France, they settled in Normandy about the year 936, A.D. and have thus a long line of ancestors, among which several were distinguished in French history, especially one Raoul de Bourbel, who lived in the reign of Louis XIV. Having lost her parents at an early age, Constance de Bourbel was sent to England to her aunt, Mrs. Bulkley, of Linden Hill, Berkshire, where she was educated and lived until her marriage in 1863, with er cousin, Count Wachtmeister, then Swedish and Norwegian Minister at the Court of St. James. There she resided for three years, when her husband was called to Copenhagen as Minister of the Danish court, and then after two years, the Count being nominated as Minister of Foreign Affairs, they took up their their abode at the official residence at Stockholm. The Countess was then created "a state lady of the land," by the King, and was the last to receive this distinction, as the title then became extinct.

Count Wachtmeister died in 1871, and she remained in Sweden for several years, spending the winters in warmer climates on account of health. She has one son, the Count Axel Wachtmeister, who was born in 1865. He is also a member of the Theosophical Society, and is already well known to many members of the American section of the society.

In 1879 the Countess began investigations into spiritualism, but after two years of arduous research found it unsatisfactory and gave it up. The membership of the Theosophical Society welcomed her to its ranks in 1881, and since then she has been a worker for it, through good and through evil report. The late Madame Blavatsky gave her the post of corresponding secretary, but that was declared null by the council at Adyar, Madras, India—but yet it was an honor. She was secretary and treasurer of Blavatsky Lodge, London, England, but gave these offices up to others. For a long time personally she carried on the work of the Theosophical Publication Society, and revived it until it became able to run itself financially. She was for years a close friend of Madame H. P. Blavatsky, and at a time of great distress and anxiety in the life of the Russian Countess, she stood by her, and this welded an additional bond of love between herself and the society, which promulgates the doctrine of universal brotherhood. All her work for the Theosophical Society, and it is very large and continuous, is done without having any official position, as she ranks as an individual. She has written much, but the work by which she is best known is the one giving an account of how Madame Blavatsky wrote "The Secret Doctrine."

Countess Wachtmeister is now, and has been a vegetarian for seventeen years. In person she is of about the medium height, with blonde hair and blue eyes, a voice of pleasant sound, and her face has a singularly sweet expression. As a worker for the Theosophical Society she has no equal unless it be Annie Besant, and as a lecturer she stands very high, indeed.

For Women Inebriates.

Lady Henry Somerset is making a new departure in temperance work in the village she is building for women inebriates, says a writer in Harper's Bazar. This is to be near the town of Duxhurst, and here she has laid out a pretty hamlet, with pleasant grounds and cosy cottages, where the inmates can be treated not as criminals, but as patients. In order to restore them to a healthy bodily condition they will have plenty of active employment, such as the raising of vegetables, the care of fowls, bee-keeping, dairy and laundry work. Each woman will be charged $1-25 a week, and this she will work out, while all she earns above that at her regular labors will be given her at her departure. There will be resident physicians, and every effort will be made to keep the minds and bodies of the patients pleasantly occupied and free from temptation.

Why is it that one man is old and decrepit at 45 and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his blood impure—he keeps his nerves and his body under a constant nervous strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures many so called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

To Banish Cold Feet.

Cold feet often banish sleep. The association between cold feet and sleeplessness is much closer than is commonly imagined. Persons with cold feet rarely sleep well, especially women. Yet the number of persons so troubled is very considerable. This is the plan to adopt: The feet should be dipped in cold water for a brief period, and immediately before getting into bed they should be rubbed till they glow with a pair of hair flesh gloves or a rough Turkish towel. After this a hot water bottle will be successful, though without this preliminary it is impotent to do so. Disagreeable as the plan at first may appear, it is efficient, and those who have once fairly tried it continue it, and find that they have put an end to their bad nights and cold feet.

THE WOMEN TOO.

Back Talk Not Man's Monopiy.

Mrs. Jemima Cole, Havelock, told the following wonderful story:—"For a great many years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys. The pains in my back and side were sometimes excruciating.

"My limbs were so swollen that I could scarcely lift my feet from the floor, and I was in great agony nearly all the time. I thought that I would surely die from the pain.

"I have taken dozens of advertised remedies, aut got no better during their use. I was also treated by several doctors, but am sorry to say they did me little or no good. In fact they stated that they could do me no good, which made me despair of ever getting better.

"When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I sent to W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore and got a box thinking I would try them as a last resort.

"The change from the start was very great and now after one month I am free from all pain. The swelling has gone down and I feel quite strong and healthy.

"I was also troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia which have completely disappeared, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In fact I do not think there is a medicine in the world that in such a short time could have taken me from the almost dying condition in which I was to the healthy and vigorous state that I am in now.

"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for their wonderful virtues in curing kidney troubles."

For Dyspepsia and Bad Blood Humors Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound is unexcelled.

Mr. Geo. Reid, G.T.R. Operator, New Hamburg, Ont., under date of March 3rd, 1894, writes as follows: "I was troubled for two years with Boils and Dyspepsia of the worst kind. Tried several medicines, but none gave much relief. Until I tried Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound my blood was in a dreadful state, but I am happy to say your medicine cured me."

The Jersey Lily.

Even as the years go on and roll into the forties, Mrs. Langtry seems to hold her own among England's list of handsome women. At the recent Goodwood races she is described as most charming and attractive in a very beautiful gown of pale blue muslin, with large bands of white embroidery inserted at every possible point.

HOW
THE SUN LIFE
FULFILS ITS PROMISES.

A Matured 10 Year Endowment.

Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.

The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the under signed this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled

BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1895.

W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—

DEAR SIR,—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,871 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.

I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when at Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the "SUN."

I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1905 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain,

Yours Sincerely,
(Signed) F. R. C.

The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

THE WELL DRESSED MAN GETS A

New Style Fall Hat.

The careful man buys his Hats here. The only place to get an up-to-date Hat is in the Hat store, where they sell enough Hats to fill in often with New Styles. Not that others don't sell them—sometimes—but there's no question about what you get here.

The best England and America can produce—Hard or Soft—Coloured or Black.

Unsuitable Hats mean discomfort, and discomfort takes away from the fun of living. We have what will suit you—all sizes.

IT WAS BALD'S DAY.

He Won the Mile Open With Lougheed Second—Zeigler Took the Half.

Wilkes-Barre, Sept. 16.—Eddie Cannon Bald of Buffalo redeemed himself to-day in the eyes of his friends when he took the mile open race of the National Circuit most of the West End Wheelmen of this city against all the best men of the year, with the exception of Sanger. Bald made a great win of the mile, as did Otto Zeigler of the half-mile, and C. W. Krick carried away the honors of the amateur class with ease in a good field of starters.

In the half-mile open, heats, Bald and Butler failed to qualify, the first in the first heat and Butler in the third heat. Behind the pacemaker Zeigler was the fourth in the line and Sanger was near the last. The men rounded into the stretch neck-and-neck, and Zeigler rounded away from them, with Sanger in full cry after him. The demon won handily. Gardiner ran third by inches over Lougheed, who was inches only ahead of Cooper.

In the mile Mertens and Wells paced the men, lining up on the pole in the following order: Butler, Bald, Cooper, Gardiner, Lougheed, Eaton, Louis Callahan and Acker. Butler caught the pacemaker, and Callahan, Cooper, Bald, Zeigler, Lougheed, Gardiner, Acker and Eaton followed in order. At the break for home Lougheed came up the inside of the line on the pole and gained the lead, and Bald went after him with jump after jump. It was a game jump for Bald, and he took the win by a foot, and little Butler gained as close a third. Cooper beat Callahan by a few inches for the fourth place. In the two-mile handicap, professional, Sanger and Gardiner went from scratch, but could do nothing with the field, and Clark, who made the jump, was overhauled by Williamson and Clint Davis of Buffalo, who finished a close first and second, Clark third. Wells was robbed of fourth. Summaries:

Mile, open, professional—Eddie Cannon Bald 1, Fred Lougheed 2, Tom Butler 3. Time 2.07.

Half-mile, open, professional—Otto Zeigler 1, Walter Sanger 2, Arthur Gardiner 3. Time 1.03 1-5.

Two-mile handicap, professional—Williamson, Niagara Falls (125 yards), 1; Clint. W. Davis, Buffalo (123 yards), 2; Harry Clark (100 yards), 3; James Bowler (180 yards), 4. Time 4.36.

Mile, open, amateur—C. W. Krick, Reading, 1; Robert V. White, Scranton, 2; B. F. Keller, Scranton, 3. Time 2.19.

Two-mile lap race, amateur—C. W. Krick 1, W. G. Douglas 2, J. B. Corser (Allentown) and G. W. Thorne (Binghamton), tie. Time 5.11.

Half-mile, state championship—C. W. Krick 1. Time 1.03 2-5.

One mile handicap, amateur—Robert Sturtevant, Wilkes-Barre (110 yards), 1; C. W. Thorne, Binghamton (45 yards), 2; C. W. Krick, Reading (scratch), 3. Time 2.11 3-5.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

TO KILL THE CZAR.

have discovered one of the most terrible plots, if not the most terrible plot, ever hatched. They think it was positively against England, with possibly some contemplated explosions in Ireland.

It was not intended simply to frighten, but to kill. The conspirators had all engaged passage on the Spaarndam, leaving Rotterdam for New York to-morrow. The vessel stops at Boulogne, where they meant to disembark, apparently in readiness for the Czar. It is understood that the extradition proceedings in France will require two weeks' time.

NEWSPAPERS ARE WILD.

New York, Sept. 16.—Mr. H. R. Chamberlain cables from London to The Sun:

The consternation and horror of the English people over the revelation of the dynamite conspiracy are more interesting to-day than the latest disclosures of the plot itself. If printers' ink could produce a panic, London would be on the verge of nervous prostration, after glancing at the columns of the usually solemn and unemotional public journals to-day. The Daily Telegraph, for example, begins an almost panicky leading editorial thus: "England learns to-day how appalling has been the danger from which she has been rescued. That there should have been a great dynamite conspiracy plotted in secret and silence by men who are enemies of the human race; that just at the moment when their plans were ripe the police should have surprised and arrested the ringleaders and that one of the men, the chief of the band, should be a criminal wanted for the last 14 years, all these facts are elements in a story at once vivid, dramatic and terrible."

The same newspaper commences a many-columned account of the conspiracy with a great scare head, beginning in the blackest letters ever used in its columns: "Great dynamite plot against England," All the newspapers in the country treat the matter in the same fashion.

To-day's news develops the conspiracy more clearly, although the police still refuse to make public most of the information in their possession. There is no longer any doubt, apparently, that the conspirators intended to blow up Balmoral Palace when the Queen, Czar and other royal personages were there. The fact that Tynan and one of his accomplices had engaged berths by a French line steamer leaving Havre next week, Saturday, for New York, indicates that they planned the outrage for soon after the Czar's arrival in Scotland on next Tuesday.

Scotland Yard authorities are naturally raticent about the sources of their information regarding the conspiracy. They acknowledge that they received substantial assistance from the New York police and Pinkerton agency. The suggestion that the first hint of the plot came from the New York friends of the dynamite prisoners just released as a voluntary offering in order to induce the British Government to grant them their liberty is a point which the Scotland Yard officials refuse to discuss. No information will ever be given, of course, regarding any assistance that may have been received from the released prisoners.

Mr. Chas. Smith, Dawn Mills, Ont., says: "For several years I was troubled with pains in my limbs, which continued getting worse until I thought I would have to quit work. In fact the pains were so severe that I could not rest nights. I took one box of Miller's Iron Pills and am perfectly cured." Although it is nearly a year since Mr. S. took the pills he has had no return of the pains and feels splendid. Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

THEY MET A HORRIBLE DEATH.

Engineer James Facer and Fireman George Johnson of the T., H. & B. Killed Near Hamilton.

Hamilton, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—Engineer James Facer and Fireman George Johnson, on the T., H. and B. passenger train leaving here at 5 o'clock for Brantford, met a horrible death to-night about a mile from the Hunter-street Station. The train was passing the switch, not far from Ainslie's Park, when some part of the train left the track, throwing the engine on its side. The engineer was thrown about 30 feet and lit on a pile of ties, but the fireman fared worse, for the engine fell on top of him. The injecting pipe struck his stomach and the boiling water went over him. A quantity also went on the engineer. The coaches did not leave the track.

When Facer was picked up he was almost dead, several bad bruises being inflicted, besides being badly scalded. He was taken to the station, but died on the way.

Johnson had to be dug from beneath the engine and was dead when brought out. An inquest will be held to-morrow. Both men were married and resided in Waterford. Facer was about 42 years old and Johnson about 27.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philanthrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various forms resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c. silver to cover postage and address, Mr. Geo. G. Strong, North Rockwood, Mich.

A Common Mistake.

"It is funny," says a woman in the New York Times, "but now that I have learned to ride a wheel, I feel about it as I did in my bridal days about my marriage—as if the experience was one peculiarly and especially my own.

"Although the world was full of women privileged to be addressed by the title of Mrs., I shared the notion of most brides that my acquisition of the right singled me out somehow from the rest of womankind. It was surprising but most fascinating every time I was addressed by my new name. I delighted to refer to 'my husband,' or to quote him as 'Mr. Blank,' with true marital familiarity, and altogether I acted exactly as many brides before and since my time have.

"It is the woman who does not ride a wheel who is uncommon these days, but I foolishly forget or ignore that and look upon myself as a remarkable person. I still feel conspicuous when I am rushing over the road, and I actually have airs in talking wheel talk, in which doubtless I display my real inexperience every moment. It is so true that we are so important to ourselves and so unimportant to everybody else."

WAS TYNAN A SPY?

Suggestion That He Was an Agent of Scotland Yard.

AN ENGLISH NEWSPAPER MAN

Thinks He Was Sent Over From New York by the Physical Force Party to Make a Show of Doing Something With the Funds Collected.

New York, Sept. 17.—Mr. Julian Ralph cables from London to The Journal: I am informed by an intelligent English journalist, who has been studying the news at first hand among the detectives, that Tynan had no plot at all, but that he and his accomplices were sent over by the physical force party in New York to do something in repayment for the money it is collecting. After the men reached Europe, they took a house in the suburbs of Antwerp and manufactured bombs, but without any definite idea what they were to do with them. The plot was to be matured after other men had been employed.

Finding themselves shadowed from the instant they left New York, Tynan became afraid, and exposed the whole business to the English police. After Tynan had decided to poach, he took to drinking heavily, and boasted at various times that he was going to blow up the Czar and Queen, or Marlborough House, just as the humor seized him. I send this, because of the standing of my informant, also because it tallies well with everything that has been made public, and goes a great way towards clearing up the confusion of the telegraphic reports from all over Europe.

News of the Antwerp dynamiters is still reeled off by the yard, but the more one reads the less one knows. All the rest of the news is contradictory, and leaves the reader in the plight of the blind man groping in a labyrinth.

The German press imagines the plot was at least partially against the Czar, and in Belgium leading papers declare that the plot was jointly against the Czar and the Royalty of London, but France scouts the idea, and Paris papers all take the ground that England has caught Fenians, but wishes to drag in the Czar in order to make it appear that she is guardian of the peace and safety of all Europe.

A Nihilist tells The Daily Telegraph that it is wretchedly absurd to imagine that Nihilists are such idiots as to unite with the Irish, who in every case upset their own plans by treachery. He says the Nihilists have but two safe asylums—England and America—and to co-operate with the Irish would close England against them. He adds that the Nihilist branch in America does not possess enough money to "stake" anyone, as these Antwerp wretches were outfitted. To tell the truth, nothing has as yet been disclosed to connect Tynan and his bomb-throwers with a plot against the Czar.

The Westminster Gazette, perceiving the widest latitude for guesswork, announces the theory that Tynan never was the genuine "No. 1," but played at the most a secondary part in the Cavendish-Burke atrocity. The Westminster Gazette suggests that Tynan is more likely to prove a spy in the pay of the English police.

This theory, it says, will account for his immunity from arrest during the last 14 years, and it will account for his having been seen in friendly company with a Scotland Yard man at Boulogne soon after the Dublin horror. It will also account for the present fact that Inspector Walsh visits his prisoner several times daily, and on Monday spent two hours with Tynan over a bottle of wine, and at Tynan's request Walsh had him removed to a more comfortable cell."

Tynan's loud boasting of American citizenship and the telegrams to the White House have already had the desired effect in Paris, where, it is said, the Government was disposed to grant extradition, but must now satisfy itself whether Tynan is a naturalized American, because if he is it would be peculiar to surrender to a second country a citizen of a third.

The Glasgow police hear that Bell came into their city very gingerly, carrying a black leather valise. They are busy hunting bombs that may have come in it. They say he came with letters to a dangerous dynamitard, now dead, and had not the time to arrange new connection with the inner circle of desperate men in the local Fenian organization. The same police say they are able to prove that Bell was in communication with Tynan while in Glasgow.

THINKS HE IS A SPY.

New York, Sept. 17.—Among those who deride the suggestion that P. J. P. Tynan is or has been concerned in a dynamite plot against British officials is Gen. O'Byrne, Commissioner of Charities.

"In my opinion," said Gen. O'Byrne yesterday, "Tynan is nothing more nor less than an agent of the British Government, and in this matter he is acting entirely in concert with the Scotland Yard authorities. I have always believed that he was not at heart a friend of the Irish cause. He has never explained how it was that he managed to keep a handsome cottage at Audubon Park and live for so many years without work. His book proved the character of the man, if nothing else would. And here is another significant circumstance. Why did not the British authorities wait until he landed in Dublin, when they could hold him without the necessity of any extradition proceedings? Besides, for a man who was engaged in a secret desperate enterprise, Tynan was much too talkative."

Chief Detective O'Byrne denied that the New York police had anything to do with the apprehension of Tynan and the other alleged dynamiters, as asserted in a cablegram from London.

DUBLIN AUTHORITIES MOVING.

London, Sept. 17.—The authorities in Dublin are preparing to attempt to secure the extradition of Tynan for trial in that city for the part he is alleged to have taken in the Phoenix Park murders. It is the popular belief in Dublin that Tynan was a police spy, and that he had relations with the Government at the time Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke were assassinated in the park.

A despatch from Boulogne-sur-Mer states that Tynan has refused legal assistance, saying that he relies upon the French Government for his safety.

It has been learned that the vessel on which Tynan sailed from New York was bound for Mediterranean ports. She touched at Gibraltar, where Tynan obtained special leave to visit part of the fortress.

HARVEY GOES TO TRIAL.

The Ex-Treasurer of Guelph Must Appear Before the Court of Assize—Bail Accepted in $10,000.

Guelph, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The much-talked-of Harvey case had its first airing in the Police Court this morning, and the place was filled with ratepayers and prominent citizens to watch the preliminary trial. Besides a large number of bank officials, who were present to give evidence, there were noticed Mayor Lamprey, Ald. Newstead and Kennedy, Mr. H. O'Hara, broker, Toronto; Mr. J. M. Duff of the Bank of Commerce, and Mr. William Bell. The prisoner, his bondsman, Mr. C. L. Nelles; his solicitor, Mr. A. H. Macdonald, Q. C.; Mr. D. Guthrie, Q. C., and Mr. Hugh Guthrie, on behalf of the city; Mr. Wallace Nesbitt and Mr. Peterson, on behalf of the Crown. Special Auditors William Powis and George Edwards and Mr. John Martin, who was assisting Mr. Edwards, were also present.

A big pile of ponderous bank books were in court.

Mr Wallace Nesbitt, Q. C., appeared in the case under direction of the Attorney-General of Ontario.

The witnesses were subpoenaed for 11 o'clock, but a preliminary consultation between the counsel and the magistrate as to the proceedings delayed the formal opening of the case until 11.40 o'clock.

The magistrate read the information of Chief Randall in the charge to be tried.

Mr. Peterson asked whether the prisoner should not elect to plead to the charge. The magistrate considered it not called for at this stage.

Mr. R. Mitchell, City Clerk, was the first witness, and produced the bylaw under which Harvey was appointed some 12 years ago. He identified the bank book and Harvey's signature on the back of a cheque for $500 received from Mr. O'Hara, broker, Toronto.

Mr. O'Hara, in giving evidence, said he tendered for certain debentures of the city of Guelph and made a deposit of $500 by cheque, and identified the cheque. It was signed by his son and paid by his firm. He would not swear to Harvey's endorsation.

George Edwards, chartered accountant, gave evidence as to the auditing of the books, and testified to a shortage of $500 in the debenture transaction.

Mr Duff, manager of the Bank of Commerce; Ernest Campbell, Bank of Hamilton, and Colin J. Noble testified as to the payment of the cheque.

After these witnesses gave evidence Harvey was committed for trial.

Owing to Dr. Reed, one of Harvey's bondsmen, being absent from the city, Harvey was placed in custody, and up to 6 o'clock no other bondsman had been secured.

Mr. Guthrie and Mr. Peterson agreed to accept $10,000 bail and the case will come up at the fall assizes.

Grapes as Cheap as Coal.

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 17.—Grapes in this town are selling at the same price as hard coal, $7 per ton. This price is freely made on grapes in bulk, all the markets being overstocked. The crop is the largest ever known in Western Michigan.

Large Gold Brick From Canada.

New York, Sept. 17.—An uncommonly large mass of solid gold was received at the Assembly Office to-day through the Bank of Montreal, its weight being 4747 ounces. The superintendent of the office said that he had not yet tested its quality, but that it would probably amount to $85,000 in value.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Fast Steamship Service Under Discussion.

MR. LAURIER SUPPORTS THE IDEA

Mr. Dobell, Mr. Charlton and Others Do Not Favor It, However—Some Pretty Sharp Cross-Firing in Committee of Supply—The House Sat Late.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—The subject of debate in the Commons to-day was the fast Atlantic steamship service. Before it was taken up, however, Sir Adolphe Caron asked the Premier whether Abbe Proulx, of St. Lin, had gone to Rome on a mission from the Government regarding the school question, to which Hon. Mr. Laurier replied in the negative, saying he had never spoken to Abbe Proulx on that question.

Mr. Fielding announced that, in view of satisfactory progress on the main estimates, he would not for the present ask the House to vote one-tenth of the amount required for the public service.

Sir Charles Tupper rose to draw attention to what he characterized as a question of supreme importance to Canada. It was with extreme astonishment that he had heard of the attitude assumed by Mr. Dobell of avowed hostility to the proposal for a twenty-knot service. He trusted that the Government, before arriving at any such conclusion as foreshadowed by Mr. Dobell, would carefully look into the matter and arrive at a different conclusion. He detailed the circumstances which led up to the promise of Imperial aid to this service. He referred to the discussion which took place at the first Congress of Chambers of Commerce, when he (Sir Charles) pressed the great importance to Canada of utilizing the advantage of her geographical position by having such a service with the Mother Country. The proposal to increase the subsidy to £150,000 sterling received practically the unanimous assent of Parliament. Then the Imperial Government was approached and the Colonial Minister said the Home Government would be prepared to join with Canada to the extent of one-third the cost. (Applause.) He alluded to the tenders which were called for last spring and said the only informality in relation to the Allan tender was that time be allowed in accepting their tender to enable them to make the necessary arrangements.

Sir Richard Cartwright said it was not merely a question of time. The fact was they reserved the option to go on or not, as they pleased.

Sir Charles Tupper said it was not for the purpose merely of making the necessary financial arrangements they wanted time, because anyone who knew the Allan company must be well aware that they were in a position to command all the financial strength necessary to carry it out. But the object they had in view, so he had been informed by Mr. Dunlop, the head of the firm in Glasgow, was that they might make such arrangements with the great transportation companies, the G. T. R. and C. P. R., as would not leave their enterprise at the mercy of anything that might be done by these companies; but that qualification had been withdrawn. He pointed out that in these vessels it was stipulated that there should be ample cold storage accommodation, thereby making the line a direct advantage to the farming population of the country. (Applause.) He expressed his pleasure at the attitude assumed by Mr. Laurier and the Liberal party in allowing the bill to pass last session authorizing the calling for tenders. He urged that the Government should deal promptly with this matter.

Mr. Laurier expressed his gratitude to Sir Charles for having brought up the question, nor did he quarrel with his statement, except that he had been unfair to Mr. Dobell. The latter never said, never could have said, that an 18-knot freight service was to be substituted for the proposed 20-knot service. The fact was the whole matter of the tenders was still under consideration. (Opposition laughter.) Mr. Laurier affirmed his belief in the service and in Quebec being made the terminus. But when the tenders came to be looked at it was found that the character of the vessels provided for no facilities for freight, not more than 1100 to 1500 tons of freight space being available. Would that satisfy the hon. gentleman? It might be the Government would have to accept that, but first the Government would exhaust every means to try for an improvement in this respect. Now, Sir Charles said that the arrangement contemplated ample cold storage facilities. That was true as to the specifications. They called for ample cold storage accommodation. But there was not a word about it in the tender. (Ministerial cheers.)

Sir Charles interrupted to remind the Government that the draft contract did contain a stipulation for ample cold storage.

Mr. Laurier replied that if the tenders did not contain it the tenderers would not accept the condition. (Laughter.) Well, a better reason for delay was that the tenders of the Messrs. Allan and Mr. Huddart were conditional; in other words, they wanted four months within which to make their acceptance absolute. Moreover, it was necessary to submit the contract to the Colonial Office, as the correspondence will show, the Colonial Office suggesting that it might possibly be necessary to call for new tenders. But the Government, he said in conclusion, has no intention of shirking the duty of providing for Canada the best possible steamship service on the Atlantic. (Opposition cheers.)

Mr. Dobell, in the course of his reply, declared that he had spoken as an independent.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper: What are you now?

Mr. Dobell: A loyal Liberal and very proud of it. (Cheers.) Proceeding he justified the conduct of the Government in delaying. He repeated that he believed a 20-knot service was too expensive, because the people of Canada and the Western States would not pay more than $75 or $80 for a passage.

Mr. Foster twitted the last speaker upon the sharp turn he took in repudiating his independence and joining with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. THE CANAL BRIDGE AT LAKEFIELD.

Yesterday in Ottawa Messrs. John Lang, M.P., East Peterborough, Richard Hall and J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., waited upon Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals in reference to the bridge across the canal at Lakefield on the main street. Mr. Lang laid the matter before the minister and urged upon him the necessity in the public interest of a change of plan so as to avoid the erection of a high level bridge at this point. Mr. Blair attentively heard the representatives of the deputation in regard to the public interests in respect of the bridge to be constructed, and promised to take the matter into careful consideration. Of course we can't have the canal without a bridge at this point, but the interest of the villagers should not be sacrificed the whole year round to those of navigation a few months in the year.

THE FAST ATLANTIC LINE.

Last April Parliament threshed out the fast Atlantic service matter. It might have been thought, pretty thoroughly, but yesday in the House of Commons the matter came up again. The attitude of the Opposition upon the subject is immediate action, involving the acceptance of the tenders, while the Government is disposed to hasten gently, and to revise pretty carefully all the conditions of a contract involving a yearly subsidy of $750,000, the interest on a capitalized sum at 4 per cent. of nearly twenty millions of dollars. There should be time given to ascertain if, in connection with a fast line, there could not be devised some sort of steamer which would answer the conditions of time and at the same time provide ample cold storage. t would seem to be as important for the farmers and dairymen to have rapid cold storage transit as for the merchant or business men to make his voyage rapidly. And when a great sum like three quarters of a million is to be paid annually it is desirable that its benefit should be as widespread among our people as possible. There is every reason for careful deliberation before the country is committed to so great an expenditure. The people would like to know exactly what they are getting for it. In 1888 Mr. Foster, then Minister of Finance, in an address before the Board of Trade, Toronto, promised a fast Atlantic service at once, and in 1889, in London, Sir Charles Tupper made a similarly strong promise, and yet, after the lapse of 7 or 8 years, with all the opportunities, the late Conservative government have had, we have no fast Atlantic service. Now the Conservative Opposition is for driving the Liberal Government into action that will mean doing as much in eight weeks as the late Conservative Government failed to do in eight or ten years. But the country will justify the present government in proceeding cautiously. $750,000 a year is a large sum and before the country binds itself to its payment, the question of somelike an adequate return should be satisfactorily settled.

THE Boston Advertiser says:—"Who cares if Canada beat United States in the cricket match at Philadelphia? The cricket is but a noisy, idle thriftless 'shiftless' insect, anyhow. The true American insect is the ant. If Canadians think they can beat us at an ant match let them try it!" Here is a welcome intimation. The Canadians have beaten their "American" cousins so often and so badly this season that they have been wondering if there is any other game the aforesaid cousins think they can play. Just let the Boston Advertiser name its "ant-e" and the Kenucks will "chip in" and "call" Bro. Jonathan's bluff.

CONCERNING LEAP YEAR.

The Ottawa Journal has hit upon some important information regarding leap year, which ought to be widely disseminated in view of the fact that the present leap year is almost at an end, and we shall not have another for eight years. The Journal is of the opinion that "ladies who would take advantage of the privilege of the remaining months should not lose time in coming to the point." Allusions of this character are generally regarded as being of a somewhat jocular nature, but the Journal quotes from an Act passed by the Parliament of Scotland in 1288, which shows that once upon a time the matter was taken seriously. The excerpt in the Journal reads as follows:—

It is statut and ordaint that during the rein of his maist blisset Megeste, ilk for the years knowne as Lepe Yeare, ilk mayden ladye of baithe highe and lowe estate shall hae liberte to bespeke ye man she likes, albeit gif he refuses to taik hir to be his lawful wyfe, he shall be mulcted in ye sum of anedundis or less, as his estait may be; except and awis gif he can make is appear that he is betrothit ane ither woman, he then shall be free.

French statesmen appear to have appreciated the wisdom of the Scotch for it is recorded that a few years later a similar law was enacted in France. Florence and Genoa also, we are assured, established the same legal right about the close of the fifteenth century. A unique little volume published at London about the seventeenth century, entitled, "Love Courtship and Matrimony," contains an allusion to this subject:—

Albeit it now becomes a part of the common law in regard to social relations of life, that, as often as every leap year doth return, the ladies have the sole privilege during the time it continueth of making love either by words or looks, no man will be entitled to benefit of clergy who doth in any wise treat her proposal with slight or contumely.

This is all highly interesting, and goes to show that in other days the lawmakers kept a sharp eye on the bachelors and were determined to prevent them living alone and lonely if they could. To day the custom is more honoured in the breach than the observance, but Peterborough has a large number of old bachelors who ought to be taken in hand and proposed to on the spot. And if they should be ungallant enough to refuse, the government would be quite justified in seeing that they are compelled to marry whether or no."

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Wm Menzies, of Peterborough, was in the village on Saturday, soliciting subscriptions for the Fall Fair Edition of THE EXAMINER.

Mrs. W. M. Graham and family have returned home from their cottage, "Viamede" at Stony Lake.

The night train will be taken off on Saturday night of this week owing to the lake traffic being about over.

The Golden City and Mary Ellen run on alternate days this week, and will likely stop running regular passenger trips on Saturday.

Messrs. J. C. Grylls and W. White have purchased the steamer Sunbeam, and will give it a complete overhauling, they will take out the present engine and replace it by a propeller instead of a side wheeler.

R. Graham & Sons millinery opening takes place this week on Wednesday, Thursday and the following days. The display will be rich and varied and well worth seeing. Their stock of dress goods is superb, embracing the latest novelties. Jackets and Capes in great variety.

The fall fair is on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, and the entries to date are the largest in the history of the society exceeding in number a thousand. This speaks well for the success of the exhibition. The large exhibits well displayed attract large numbers of people, and it is also expected that the number of visitors will also be greater.

On Thursday evening Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., will hold their regular meeting.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

MUNYON'S
GOOD WORK.

He Changes Suffering and Sorrow to Health and Happiness.

SICK PEOPLE CURED

Munyon's Improved Homeopathic Remedies Place the Means of Self Cure Within the Reach of All.

Rich and Poor Alike Provided With Home Remedies That May be Relied Upon as Sure Specifics for all Diseases—Get Munyon's Guide to Health From Your Nearest Druggist—Buy a 25 Cent Munyon Remedy and Cure Yourself.

With Munyon's Remedies everyone can become his own doctor. No experimenting, no guess-work, no purging, no nauseous doses. The cure is certain, quick and permanent. Munyon's system is to build up, not tear down; to strengthen, not to weaken. If you are sick, cast aside all other medicines, bury prejudice; step into the nearest drug store, and ask for a Munyon "Guide to Health." It will cost you nothing, and will tell you how to cure yourself and save doctor's bills. A twenty-five-cent vial of one of Munyon's Remedies may be all that you need to cure yourself, after everything else has failed. In any event, your cure will cost you but a trifle. Thousands of testimonials from grateful patients in all parts of the country attest the wonderful efficacy of Munyon's Remedies in the cure of every curable disease.

Mrs. Wm. Townsend, whose husband is an upholsterer at 880 Queen street west, Toronto, says: "My husband was troubled with a pain and soreness in the back for some time, frequently it was very severe. He took one dose of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure at night time, and although he has not taken any since the pain has entirely vanished. The result is certainly beyond anything we anticipated." 14

Munyon's Female Remedies are a boon to all women.

Munyon's Asthma Cure and Herbs are guaranteed to relieve asthma in three minutes and cure in five days. Price, 50c each.

Munyon's Catarrh Remedies never fail. The Catarrh Cure—price 25c.—eradicates the disease from the system, and the Catarrh Tablets—price 25c—cleanse and heal the parts.

Munyon's Vitaliser restores lost vigor. Price, $1.

A separate cure for each disease. At all druggists, mostly 25c a vial.

Your druggist will present you free with a copy of the "Guide to Health," a valuable little medical publication that should be in every home.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

—— of the parties within a month of the caucus. But his breach of faith with his electors was of secondary importance to his own difference of opinion with the rest of the Government on the subject of the fast Atlantic service. In conclusion, Mr. Foster invited the Premier to state the policy in the matter of continuing the practice abandoned by the Conservatives of granting subsidies to steamship lines touching at Canadian ports, but really making United States ports their terminal points.

Mr. Laurier made no answer, but Sir Henri Joly retorted that when he found it necessary to differ from his leader he would not betray him.

Mr. Domville spoke till 6 o'clock.

Mr. McNeill expressed his pleasure that Mr. Laurier had not endorsed Mr. Dobell's views, which were not those of a vast majority of the Canadian people.

Mr. Charlton, resuming the debate after recess, claimed that the project should be looked to altogether independent of imperial concerns. We owed nothing to England in that direction. We have done our share, he said. England was very canny in these matters. She was now pushing an expedition up the Nile and was making India pay for it. There was a lesson for Canada. If England wanted a fast Atlantic service or a Pacific cable let her pay for it. For one, he protested against putting Canadian money into enterprises that are merely part of an imperial scheme, and useful mainly for its relation to imperial interests. The Opposition was too anxious for this project. The Government had better leave it alone. That was the popular notion in Ontario.

Mr. Foster: Are you in favor of the 18-knot service?

Mr. Charlton replied that he was in favor of getting along with the present four lines of steamships with such improvement as could be had without cost to the country.

Mr. Davin arose to express his amazement at the peculiar position taken on this question by the hon. member who was chiefly noted for his penal eloquence. It was scarcely less surprising than the hostility of Mr. Dobell. It was a note of discord that boded ill for the Reform party. He alluded to the heartiness with which the imperial utterances of Mr. Laurier were applauded, and he could not but regard Mr. Charlton's remarks as a covert attack on his leader for his speech of the afternoon.

Mr. Ellis, on behalf of St. John, N.B., opposed the scheme.

Mr. Maclean (York) said that as an Ontario member he wanted to repudiate the sentiments of Mr. Charlton. Ontario was in favor of the fast Atlantic service.

Some Liberal members "No! No!"

Mr. Maclean: I say yes. They believe that Britannia rules the sea.

He added that the best service was wanted that could be obtained for a reasonable outlay. Toronto was firmly in favor of an imperial policy, but it was just like Mr. Charlton to put forward the interests of New York as against those of Canadian ports. He would meet the hon. member on any Ontario platform and discuss the question with him. Toronto would give Mr. Laurier a whole-hearted support in his policy of promoting this fast Atlantic service. (Cheers.)

Mr. Langelier declared it was better to pay $750,000 a year and have a first-class mail service. There were no two opinions about it in Quebec, either Anybody who would oppose it there would be hooted off the platform. (Opposition cheers.)

Mr. Rogers (Patron) held that the farmers were all opposed to the scheme. That and the Australian $125,000 a year subsidy had cost the late Government a good many votes.

Messrs. McMullen, McMillan and Macdonald (Huron) opposed the fast service and hoped the Government would have none of it. This ended the discussion.

Dr. Sproule took up the Liberal newspaper L' Electeur of Quebec and read from it what was alleged to be a manifesto issued to Orangemen at the time of the North Grey election by Messrs. Clarke Wallace, Tyrwhitt, Maclean, Hughes, Sprouk and other M. P.'s, secretly calling upon the brethren to support the Conservative candidate. Dr. Sproule utterly and unequivocally repudiated the alleged manifesto.

The House went into Committee of Supply on items for public works. Mr. Tarte having stated that he had cut down the estimate for draftsmen from $54,000 to $46,000.

Then Dr. Sproule wanted to know how many men he had dismissed.

Mr. Tarte gave the names of some 21 persons.

Sir Adolphe Caron thought that unless Mr. Tarte intended to appoint others in their places he ought to reduce the estimate in proportion.

Mr. Tarte: I have saved $78,000 on the whole estimate and $21,000 on the salaries alone.

Mr. Foster replied that the hon. member could not take credit for saving $78,000 when he had not yet brought down his supplementaries.

Mr. Tarte assured the committee that he would spend no more than was necessary.

Mr. Wallace calculated the exact amount of the saving on the basis of the dismissals and claimed Mr. Tarte was asking $13,000 more than sufficient to pay the hands that were left, according to his own statements.

Messrs. Sproule and Quinn criticised on these lines, but Mr. Tarte's reply was that he might be trusted to spend no more than is necessary.

Mr. Ratz called attention to the item of cab hire, which was a large charge under the Conservative rule. In the Auditor-General's report, he found that officers had charged for the hire of overcoats and umbrellas and the cost of baths. One officer had paid $2.55 for the hire of an umbrella. He could have bought two umbrellas for that sum. (Laughter.) Then, under the heading of "Medical comforts," whisky, lime juice, and brandy were charged for. There was an item also of 13 dozen pints of ale.

Dr. Landerkin: That would not last them over the night (Loud laughter.)

Mr. Ratz wanted to know what disease those liquors were actually used for.

Loud cries of, "Now, Landerkin," and much laughter.

Mr. Ratz, continuing, said he hoped expenditures of this kind would not be permitted in future.

Mr. Tarte said the Government had made up their minds to be economical. (Laughter.) If they wanted lime juice or brandy they would pay for it themselves. Under the new Government these things would not occur again.

A lengthy discussion took place regarding the outstanding indebtedness of certain parties for binder twine supplied from Kingston Penitentiary in 1895.

Mr. Maclean's railway bill was made the first order for next Thursday.

Mr. Rogers, the Patron member, gives notice of a bill respecting the Senate and House of Commons, the object of the measure being to make it illegal for members to accept railway passes or reduced rates of passage on any railroad.

Mr. Bergeron asked if it were true, as reported in the papers, that the Prisoner Shortiss was about to be pardoned and allowed to return to Ireland.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said he never heard of the matter before to-night.

All the penitentiary items passed the committee rose, and the House adjourned at 1.20 a.m.

One advantage of taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify the blood is that you need not infringe upon your hours of labour nor deny yourself any food that agrees with you. In a word, you are not compelled to starve or loaf, while taking it. These are recommendations worth considering.

OTTAWA NOTES.

Some of the Appointments Passed by His Excellency—Mr. Barnett Will Make a Claim for Indemnity.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—A return was brought down to-day indicating the orders in council approved by His Excellency before the late Government went out of power. Among them were the following appointments: Dr. Duncan, quarantine officer for British Columbia; F. Vanasse, harbormaster at Montreal; Hugh Murray, promoted to be surveyor of customs at Hamilton, vice Mackenzie, superannuated; W. Millichamp, Toronto, appointed Dominion appraiser, vice Blackwood, deceased.

The Joint Committee on Printing of both Houses had a lengthy sitting this morning. Sir John Carling was elected chairman of the Senate branch, and Mr. Gibson for the Commons.

The Library Committee also held a meeting and unanimously passed a resolution asking that a sum be placed in the estimates for the purpose of encouraging native writers by the purchase of copies of their works.

Mr. Samuel Bennett, caterer to the Senate and House of Commons, will file a bill of indemnity for being reprived of the privilege of selling intoxicating liquors in the Commons restaurant. He says it will be utterly impossible for him to continue to run the restaurant, now that the privilege of selling liquor has been withdrawn from him. The restaurant itself would not pay for the help which he employs. The Senate Committee met this morning and considered the question of stopping the sale of liquor in the east wing, but decided to leave the matter alone. There are a good many visitors to "The Cornerstone," these days.

The House to-day assented to the Government's proposal to take Mondays and Wednesdays for Government business. Mr. Maclean pointed out that in the past, when the Government had sought to encroach upon private members' days, questions were always allowed and he thought this rule should be retained.

Mr. Laurier thought the suggestion was a reasonable one and changed his motion in conformity with it.

MADE STRONG AGAIN.

For the Sake of Others a Grateful Woman Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Napanee, (Special) Sept. 7—The wife of Mr. Wm. Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Post Office, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, despairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered, should know that she experienced relief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her strong and well as ever before in her life.

Mr. Chas. Smith, Dawn Mills, Ont., says: "For several years I was troubled with pains in my limbs, which continued getting worse until I thought I would have to quit work. In fact the pains were so severe that I could not rest nights. I took one box of Miller's Iron Pills and am perfectly cured." Although it is nearly a year since Mr. S. took the pills he has had no return of the pains and feels splendid. Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

DALY WANTS TO RUN.

For That Vacant Seat in Brandon—Don't Want a Change in Grain Standards.

Winnipeg, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Hon. T. M. Daly, interviewed here, said he might consent to become a candidate for the Brandon seat if the Conservatives thought it in the best interests of the party.

At a meeting of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day it was decided to ask the Inland Revenue Department to allow grain standards to remain the same as last year.

The preliminary objections to the Winnipeg election protest were heard to-day, and an adjournment was made till to-morrow.

TOM SCOTT'S SKELETON

Believed to Have Been Unearthed by Telephone Men Working in Winnipeg—The Skull is Missing.

Winnipeg, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—A skeleton, supposed to be the remains of Thos. Scott, who was murdered by Louis Riel in 1870, was unearthed by Telephone Company employes while digging underground conduits this afternoon at the corner of Main-street and Portage-avenue. The skull is missing, but, if found, it will probably establish the identity of the skeleton.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N.Y.

About Wool in Underwear . . .

. . . Two kinds of wool—pure wool and others—a fine good wool and a coarse bad wool. The fine pure wool absorbs and dissipates the body's moisture—keeps pores open—keeps circulation perfect. Wool and cotton won't do that. It won't absorb as much—doesn't give up what it does gather. Becomes felt like—close. Coarse wool may absorb, but it irritates—closes the pores. That retards circulation too.

Health Brand

Suspension of a Conductor.

Some little talk has been caused among the employees of the Grand Trunk over the suspension of Conductor Edward McCarthy for thirty days. Mr. McCarthy was in charge of a west bound freight train about a month ago, and when near Tilsonburg the front journal of the fourth car from the engine burst out and eight cars were thrown into the ditch and badly damaged. McCarthy was held responsible for the accident and suspended, and some of the employees think this was harsh treatment. An official, however, says that the punishment on an American road for allowing a journal to burn out is instant dismissal.

Lady Aberdeen's Visit.

Lady Aberdeen has written to the effect that her address in St. Paul's church on the occasion of her visit to Peterborough on Tuesday afternoon next will be open to the public generally and will not be given exclusively to ladies, as generally understood. In connection with the above a correspondent inquires whether there will be any religious exercises in connection with the occasion of Lady Aberdeen's address. The EXAMINER understands that there will not be any religious exercises. The gathering, though for convenience held in a church, will be strictly undenominational. However, it would be well to have an explicit statement on the subject made public by the secretary, or other authorized member, of the ladies' reception committee.

REV. J. E. TROTTER'S WELCOME.

Greeted by his New Congregation at St. Catharines.

The St. Catharines Star contains the following reference to Rev. J. E. Trotter's assumption of his new pastorate, premising success for him:

Rev. J. E. Trotter began his work here on Sunday last, Sept. 6th, preaching to good congregations both morning and evening. In the morning his subject was "Prayer," in connection with which the church were urged to sustain him by their prayers. In the evening the theme chosen was "Service," and all were shown the necessity and privilege of serving God heartily with the best they have. It was an enjoyable day for both pastor and people.

On Wednesday a social had been happily arranged, which followed the weekly prayer meeting, the purpose of which was to give the church an opportunity to meet and welcome the pastor and his family. There was a large turnout, and the new pastor and his wife were made to realize that they had come among a warm-hearted people, who were ready to be led in Christian work.

On Thursday a public reception was held in the audience room, Deacon McTavish, in the absence of Dr. Caulton, presiding. Addresses of a most fraternal and cordial character were given by Rev. T. Bone on behalf of the church, by Rev. R. Garside on behalf of Lyman street church, and by Rev. Messrs. Ratcliffe, Murray, Geddes, (Presbyterian), Armitage (Episcopal), and Cassidy and Kerby (Methodist). The welcome was most hearty from all sides to Mr. Trotter, who was then called upon by the chairman to respond. He did so by heartily reciprocating the cordial sentiments expressed, defining his conceptions of the work of the Christian minister and promising to try to do his duty.

The singing by the choir and solos by Rev. Mr. Kerby, Miss Wismer and Mr. Suckling, led by the organist, Mr. Legg, were of an inspiring character. The platform was tastefully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, and presented a beautiful appearance. It was a meeting full of hearty fellowship and enjoyed by all and augured well for the future.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

There is Every Reason to Believe we Will Have a Good Team.

The prospects this year are of the the brightest for the formation of a strong rugby football team in Peterborough and if the enthusiasm does not die out amongst the members there is no reason why the intermediate championship should not come this way this year.

Of the old players who will again figure on the field this year are Fred Lefevre, Rev. E. V. Stevenson, Mac Poussette, G. B. Gordon, D. B. Rogers, W. Wilgar, Sam Adams, Howard, MacGachan and Fred Bell. These are all men who have done good service on the field and with constant practice together should be able to push their way to the front.

There are also a number of other good men who will show up well this year. Amongst them are Roger Davidson, B. Belleghem, Hicks, Hudson, Garnett Bell, George Burnham, S. Hall, R. Thorne and Mudge. A great many new men will figure on the field and Barthey Hollingshead, Chris Graham, Galley, and a large number of lacrosse players. It is a good idea for the lacrosse men to go into football, as they are well hardened by their season's play, and being all sturdy fellows, who are not afraid of being roughly handled, they should greatly strengthen the team. The majority of them are very nimble on their feet, and are fast runners, and as these points are important requisites in the make up of a Rugby football man, the acquisition of half a dozen lacrosse men would mean a great deal to the kickers of the pigskin.

It is proposed to place a few electric lights on the P.A.A.A. grounds—four would light it splendidly—and hold the practices at night. This idea would have the charm of novelty and would as well give an opportunity to the men who work during the day time, to put in an hour's good practice after sunset.

A team which can win its fair share of games will be well supported in Peterborough, and with such good material to work upon there is no reason why such a team cannot be placed on the field.

The management are urgent in their request that a full attendance of all those intending to play this year will be present at a practice to be held to-morrow afternoon on the P.A.A.A. grounds. Everyone who can possibly get there should show up in order that the management can have an opportunity of "sizing up" the probable club membership and seeing whether it is worth while making an effort to land the intermediate championship.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Rupert Bradburn left this morning for a couple of days shooting at the back lakes.

The Port Hope Guide says:—Mrs. Pilling and daughter, of Peterborough, are the guests of Mrs. Winters.

THE LATE MICHAEL SANDERSON.

A PROMINENT RESIDENT PASSES AWAY.

Mr. Michael Sanderson, Ex-Warden of the County and Ex-Reeve of Smith, Enters Into Rest—A Brief Sketch of a Life, Closely Intermingled With the History of This County.

This morning at 8 o'clock Mr. Michael Sanderson, ex-reeve of Smith, and ex-warden of the county of Peterborough and one of the most prominent and influential citizens of the county passed away at the age of 81 years—at least he would have been 81 years of age if he had lived till September 26th. Mr. Sanderson's last illness began on March 16th, 1896, when he was prostrated by a paralytic attack from which he never rallied. Since his attack he has been about, but he has not had possession of his naturally vigorous intellect since that time. Last Saturday his symptoms increased in gravity—his circulation almost ceased and he merely existed till eight o'clock this morning when death gave him a happy release. His death took place at the family residence, lot 7, 4th concession of Smith — Communication Road. Mr. Sanderson was united in marriage, in the year 1850, to Miss Margaret Harvey, sister of the late Dr. Harvey, who died some years since, leaving one sister, Mrs. James Hope, 184 London street, Peterborough. Mr. Sanderson leaves behind him one son, Mr. Alex. Sanderson, and two daughters; Elizabeth, who lives at home and who watched over her father with loving solicitude during the weary months of his last illness, and Mrs. Wm. Sackville, of Frio County, Texas, who paid her father a three months visit the past summer.

The funeral takes place from the family residence on Sunday at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Mr. Michael Sanderson was born near Murton Farm, Berwick, Northumberland County, England, in the year 1815, and emigrated to Canada in 1823. He was one of the family of five brothers and two sisters who, with the old couple came out together. They were eight weeks coming across the ocean, and eight weeks coming up the St. Lawrence to Peterborough. They stopped one week at Toronto and remember Bishop Strachan's house. Mr. Sanderson says it was a small white house up from the wharf, and was very neat and tidy. He remembers the first steamboat that came around the north cost of England and plied between Berwick and Newcastle. The family settled in the township of Smith and the descendants are still on the same land which they took up, with the exception of the old homestead, which changed hands about three or four years ago. Mr. Sanderson has been a life-long Reformer. They held the first election under responsible government in 1841, in Peterborough, and many are the stories he could tell about the stirring scenes enacted at election times.

Mr. Sanderson was a farmer and with his natural intelligence and industry made that, as everything he undertook, a success. He was a man of few words, but a deep thinker, and his views of men and things arising from careful consideration were worthy of the highest respect, and it is not to be wondered at, that he enjoyed in the highest degree the esteem of his neighbours and fellow-citizens. That his great ability and sound judgment were held at their proper valuation by the residents of the township of Smith, is shown by his long municipal career, perhaps the longest and most fruitful of good work of any citizen in the Province or Dominion.

Mr. Sanderson was reeve of the municipal council of Smith township for twenty-two years in succession, an honour which in his case was richly deserved. He gave the most conscientious and intelligent attention to his municipal duties and the result was that he was perhaps one of the best-read laymen in municipal matters in the Province. In fact, he was regarded as a walking encyclopædia of municipal law and lore, and his reputation in this regard was more than local. On one of the many occasions on which he was a delegate from the county council to the Legislature, and was being heard before a committee of the House, his exhaustive knowledge of municipal law and practice drew a most flattering remark from Sir Wm. Meredith, then plain Mr. Meredith, leader of the Opposition. He remarked to one of the members that he wished he had on his side of the House (composed largely of lawyers) half a dozen men who understood municipal law as well as Mr. Sanderson; and in the Municipal Act are crystallized many of the practical and valuable amendments which Mr. Sanderson's knowledge and experience were able to suggest.

And his knowledge was diligently and industriously applied to the promotion of the interests of the county. During his term in the County Council of nearly a quarter of a century, for two or three years of which he was Warden, his services and knowledge of affairs, his keen insight into the merits of matters were fruitful in promoting the substantial advantage of the county for which he laboured. In the long-pending litigation of eighteen years over the Grand Junction suit, and in the two great legal fights over the Kinmount bridges and the two similar struggles over the Bobcaygeon bridges, it is no disparagement of the services of others in these matters to say that Mr. Sanderson's advice and services were very largely, if not chiefly, instrumental in securing to the county the substantial advantages that success in these various causes represented. Besides, Mr. Sanderson, during his long term of office, won the love of all his civic associates, by his simple, straightforward kindliness of character and demeanor, as well as by the ripened wisdom he brought to the consideration of every subject of municipal interest. He was universally honoured for his unbinding integrity as well as his earnest devotion to the promotion of the county's interests. In token of these feelings of his fellow councillors, on the occasion of Mr. Sanderson's retirement from municipal life in December, 1892, on the closing day of the inaugural session of 1893, the following address was unanimously adopted and presented to Mr. Sanderson, who attended for the purpose:

To Michael Sanderson, Esq., Reeve of the Township of Smith, and Ex-Warden of the County of Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—The County Council of the County of Peterborough desire to express to you their sincere regret that advancing years have compelled you to retire from municipal life and from this council, of which for 23 years you have been one of the most honoured, useful and prominent members.

During that period many works of great importance have been undertaken by the county, which have been brought to successful completion, mainly owing to your advice and active co-operation and your wide experience in public matters.

To your wise counsel are due many of the amendments and many of the reforms which have been adopted in our municipal system and we feel that you can look back with pride and gratification to your life and labours as a representative of your township and county.

This council trusts that you may long live to enjoy the esteem and confidence of your fellow men and that you will long be able to watch the increasing advancement of this county and Dominion, both in material happiness and prosperity and in municipal and legislative preeminence.

Passed in council the 28th day of January, 1893.

COUNTY COUNCIL CHAMBERS,
Peterborough, January 28th, 1893.

He was called the "Nestor of the county council," and he well deserved the compliment implied in this appellation. Mr. Sanderson enjoyed a similar degree of respect from his fellow members in the council of his township. On the occasion of his retirement from the reeveship he was presented with an address, accompanied by the present of a handsome fur coat and gauntlets, symbolical of the warmth of the feelings of the donors. As mentioned before, Mr. Sanderson was a Liberal in politics, and displayed the same zeal and energy in promoting the triumph of its principles that marked his discharge of his municipal duties. In religion he was a Presbyterian and a member of the congregation of St. Paul's church, Peterborough; in this, as in every other relation of life, his course and actions were conscientious and thorough. In fine, Mr. Sanderson's character, as reflected in his life, public, private and domestic, was such as to deservedly stamp him with the title, "one of Nature's noblemen."

THERE WILL BE NO CHANGE.

In the Course of Study Either of Public or High Schools Required for 1897.

In order that the Public and High Schools may have no misgivings as to the organization of their classes for the year, the statement is made that the regulations of the Education Department which are now under consideration, and which will be issued within a couple of months, will involve no change in the course of study either of Public or High Schools, nor in the subjects for any of the examinations required by the department for 1897. In fact no change has been made that calls for immediate consideration either by trustees, teachers or inspectors. The object of the department has been to consolidate rather than to amend previous legislation.

HARVEST FESTIVAL IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

SERMON BY REV. G. H. WEBB LAST NIGHT.

The Interior of the Church Most Appropriately Decorated for the Occasion With Fruits, Flowers and Vegetables—A Large Congregation in Attendance.

The banner of St. John's church floated in the breeze yesterday throughout the day signifying that a religious observance of more than ordinary importance was in progress. It was the occasion of the celebration of the annual Thanksgiving and the interior of the church was most appropriately decorated with fruit, vegetables and grain in order to make the service even more impressive. The chancel presented a beautiful appearance from the door on entering and a closer view was even more interesting. The busy fingers of the ladies had indeed wrought wonders.

THE CHANCEL RAILS

were hidden by a wattling of straw over which were hung bunches of fruit. The reading desk was covered with gracefully arranged trailing vines and at its foot were piled a profusion of fruit and vegetables. The litany desk was a blaze of crimson nasturtions, and around the pulpit a morning glory vine wound its graceful tendrils, whilst grain and fruit were also abundantly arranged about it. The greatest amount of work was evidently bestowed upon the altar upon which were a number of magnificent floral designs. In each corner of the church monster sheaves of corn reared their lordly heads and the sills of the great windows were burdened with fruits and vegetables of every known kind. The delicate and and artistic decoration of the electric light fixtures also lent an additional charm to the scene so emblematic of the rich and glorious harvest.

The first part of the service was taken by Rev. H. Symonds, after which Rev. E. V. Stevenson read the lesson of the day. The rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, the large congregation to the church and extended an invitation to all who wished to do so to remain and make a close inspection of the beautiful decorations.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. G. H. Webb, of Colborne, who has a warm place in the hearts of the congregation of St. Johns. He took as the text of his sermon the words: "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord."—Psalms xcii shap., 1st verse. Thanking, he stated, was the result of thinking. The derivation of both words was the same. This truth had to be realised before a thanksgiving could be offered. The man who thinks not, never gives thanks. This man receives gifts from God day after day, but so continuously that he never recognises the giver. He never thinks and he never gives thanks. We should think more of thanksgiving and let it enter more into our daily lives. We should realise more than we do that our thanksgivings are exceedingly meagre and poor compared to the blessings we receive.

Attention was drawn by the speaker to the miracle of the healing of the ten lepers and to the inference from the remark of the Saviour to the one who came to return thanks: "Were there not ten healed? Where then are the other nine?" This was no mere query, it was the agonised cry of the Saviour when He realised the ingratitude of man.

WHICH MUST BE DRAWN

Mr. Webb asked his hearers to bring the question home to themselves of how their thanksgivings compared with their petitions to the Almighty. They are few, said he, who can say that self does not predominate in their prayers and whose thanksgivings are in proportion to the blessings received.

"Ten cleansed and one to give thanks" rather said the speaker should it be reversed and in the present generation the cleansing of ten and thankoffering of nine be recorded.

Then followed a strong and eloquent appeal to the congregation to unite in an effort to bring about a realisation of so desirable a state of affairs. Not that, the speaker advocated, as in the Apocalypse, kneeling continually before the throne, but rather of adoration. He urged upon the congregation the wisdom of effecting a change within the hour on the ground that if this was to be our eternal work, surely our lives should be attuned to it in this world.

The speaker then summarized a statement concerning the principal things for which thanks should be returned.

There is that gift, said he, which every one possesses and which enables them to be present to night, yet of which so many never think of thanking God—Life. Not only has He given life but that by which to support it. Food for the body and food for the soul. Food for our lower natures as well as for our higher aspirations.

Thanks should also be returned for the fact that God had offered to do more for us than we are willing to receive. He is willing to bestow but we are not willing to receive. This does not refer to temporal but to spiritual things. God's hand is stretched out in love to us every day of our lives, but we hinder Him from bestowing it, inasmuch as we will not fulfil the conditions necessary to obtain it.

WE SHOULD ALSO THANK HIM

for hindering our works from attaining the results which we would, apparently, wish them to. How often does a man call down the curse of God upon a fellow-creature, and express the wish to see him drop dead, when the realisation of such an occurrence would horrify him.

We should thank God that He has vouchsafed to bring us to a clear knowledge of the truth. If we take the trouble to compare our lot with the lot of those who know not of the light we cannot help but be thankful.

We should give thanks with our lips, concluded Mr. Webb, but we should also see that our thanksgivings are given more in proportion to the blessings which we receive. Let us show our thankfulness in our lives and the more we realise what God has done and is still doing for us the more we will thank Him. We can also thank Him in the faithful use of the gifts which He has bestowed upon us. By the offering of our alms as well as our ovations. If we would only do this we would never find God's church called upon to descend to unworthy means to raise funds necessary to carry on the work, which is in every case to be deplored.

At the conclusion of the service a large number of those present remained to make a closer inspection of the beautiful harvest decorations.

Six lot of those Handsome Pictures to to be given away at Crafton & Co's.

LAND OF LAKES AND STREAMS

A Provincial Official Visits the Celebrated Algonquin Park.

Mr. Thos. Southworth, clerk of forestry, crown lands department, has returned from a visit to Algonquin government park. The only comfortable way of reaching the park is over the Ottawa, Aruprior and Parry Sound Railway, and it was this route that Mr. Southworth took. He states that from a tourist's point of view it was almost unapproachable. The railroad for its greater length ran along the banks of rivers or skirted the shores of lakes. The Madawaska river is spanned no less than eight times. The timber there, of course, engaged the greater part of Mr. Southworth's attention. Although forest fires have occurred this season in close vicinity to the park, the timber limits within the boundaries of the park have escaped almost untouched. Pine of the best quality grows there in great quantities. Nearly all the timber out there is exported in deals to Great Britain. One saw mill is in the course of erection, which will have a daily capacity of 60,000 feet, and he understood that its total output for the season had been contracted for.

"One living in the city," said Mr. Southworth, "has no idea of the magnitude of the park. Down here you naturally associate a park with flower beds, gravel walks and extensive lawns and shade trees, but the Algonquin park is a different thing. Some forty-two miles wide by forty-six miles long, it is one immense tract of forest land, dotted with lakes, which, connected by rivers and streams, provide the only means of travel. It is estimated that 25 per cent. of the whole area is water. To go anywhere in it save by canoe is impossible, for the undergrowth is so luxuriant that even in winter time, when the snow is deep, the axe has to be brought into use before a toboggan can be hauled through."

When asked as to whether the lumbermen were not denuding the land of all its timber he said they were only taking off the pine, and at the rate they were cutting now it would be almost a century before the whole of it was gone over. "Of course the railway will help the lumbermen a great deal," he remarked. "Heretofore they had to drive the logs down the Madawaska river, but it is expected that the road will be prepared to handle lumber in another week. One funny thing I saw," he continued, "was at a point where one of the lumber kings has laid out a town. He has put up a number of houses, costing about $300 or $400 apiece, which he rents to his employees at from $15 to $20 a month. He also runs a store, and until a short time ago derived a big profit from the sale of provisions. A number of pedlars tried to sell goods to the men, but as the magnate controlled all the land they were quickly driven off. One enterprising fellow, however, found out that the government reserved a certain amount of land along the river bank, and on this he 'squatted' within a short distance of the town. He put up a small tent, stocked it to the roof with provisions and groceries, and is doing a brisk business at cut rates."

Mr. Southworth is of the opinion that there is a great future ahead of the park. While there he learned that Paul Smith, the celebrated hotel man of the Adirondack Mountains, has intimated that he will erect a hotel there if circumstances are favourable.

The park abounds with game of all kinds, and the park game wardens have been doing good work in keeping off poachers. "According to the railway men," said Mr. Southworth," "all lumbermen are born trappers and hunt in season and out, but since the park has been set apart the game laws have met with a better observance. Another good thing which the rangers have accomplished," concluded Mr. Southworth, "is the driving away of whiskey pedlars, who used to give a great deal of trouble to the foremen on the road construction."

LAKEFIELD ANNUAL FALL EXHIBITION.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY'S FINE SUCCESS.

Splendid Exhibition of Horses—Fine Weather and Great Attendance—A Good All-Round Exhibition—Notes of Special Exhibits.

The annual exhibition of the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Agricultural Society was held at Lakefield on Wednesday and Thursday, and the result must be very gratifying to the directors, members and all concerned in its success, which was this year almost, if not quite, every way equal to that of any other year.

The number of entries was, perhaps, a little short of last year, which were unusually large, but the attendance was considerably larger. Tickets representing an attendance of some two hundred more than last year were sold.

The first day was of course given over to the placing of exhibits, but in the evening there was a good attendance to admire the fine display of field and garden products and ladies' work in the hall. A special attraction in the evening was "Green, the Wizard."

SECOND DAY—THURSDAY.

The weather was beautiful with a thin veiling of cloud, screening off the too great heat of the sun. The rain that visited Peterborough in the afternoon very considerately avoided the village. The attendance included a large number of Peterborough visitors, embracing the special ambassadors of the great clothing houses, Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men, Grafton & Co., and Oak Hall, of whom a more detailed notice appears elsewhere in this issue.

Inside the hall there was an attractive exhibit. The display of ladies' work was, as usual, very elaborate and of high quality, reflecting great credit upon the patience and skill of the contributors. Domestic manufactures of fabrics was fairly represented, while in the culinary department of household economy there was a fine display of bread, canned fruits, pickles, etc. A good exhibition of flowers was made, the bouquets, in their artistic arrangement and composition being well worthy of special mention.

Fruits, especially apples, made a most worthy exhibition, and the arrangement of the exhibits on the tables was unusually praiseworthy.

Lakefield being the centre of a first-class dairy district, the show of dairy products, butter and cheese, was excellent.

There was a fine show of grain, and the quality was of the best.

In roots the display was hardly up to the mark, the dry season being responsible for this state of affairs.

LIVE STOCK.

In thoroughbred Durhams Mr. G. J. Galvin exhibited the only aged bull, but Mr. J. E. Cullen had on the grounds a fine one year old bull. The other exhibitors in this class with some fine animals were Mr. H. C. Garbutt, Mr. R. C. Strickland, Mr. J. H. Garbutt and J. Fred Davidson.

In Jersey thoroughbreds Mr. Joseph Trennum had the field to himself with a fine herd, including two cows, two two-year-old heifers, two yearling heifers, two heifer calves, and one grade Jersey. Grades were represented by the exhibits of Mr. W. White, J. Fred Davidson, Jas. Campbell, Wm. Doidge, R. C. Strickland, H. C. Garbutt, Jas. Jory and Jos. Trennum.

The exhibit of sheep was hardly up to the standard of former years. The chief exhibitors were Mr. —. Forsythe, Mr. Jas. Brown, Thomas Fitzgerald, Mr. C. Fitzgerald. Leicesters and Shropshires, thoroughbred, were the breeds shown.

The exhibitors of the rather small number of swine—Chesters and Berkshires—were Mr. —. Forsyth, H. C. Garbutt and Wm. White.

Poultry was not very fully represented, the largest exhibitors being Messrs. Charlton and Collins.

HANDSOME HORSES.

But it is in horses and handsome girls and women that the Lakefield exhibition always comes out strongly. The speeding ring is always the centre of attraction, and it always furnishes something well worth seeing in horse flesh, at rest as well as in motion. There was a splendid exhibition of horses of all ages and classes—not only the solid horse for agricultural purposes, but also the graceful drivers and saddle beasts. In the driving class there were shown teams and single turnouts that a millionaire would be proud to draw the reins over. It is seldom at any exhibition of the smaller size that the crowds have as fine a field of horseflesh to admire as at Lakefield.

The speeding events were not numerous, but there was some good sport. Messrs. Shearer, of Keene, Cavanagh, of town, and Baptie, of Springville, were the judges, Mr. R. Q. Dench was clerk of the course, and Mr. Ed. Elliott was director of the races.

The green trot brought out Ed. Elliott's Minnie S., and Frank Jory's Julius C. Both horses showed brisk footing but Minnie S. got to the wire first in both heats.

The open trot introduced a more numerous field. The entries were Fred McKee's "Nellie," Ed. Elliott's "Jimmie," Geo. Fitzgerald's "Skip," and John Coughlin's "Chief."

This event gave good sport, but the heats fell in succession to the same horses in the order indicated in the following summary:

Fred McKee's "Nellie"	1 1 1
Ed Elliott's "Jimmie"	2 2 2
John Coughlin's "Chief"	3 3 3
Geo Fitzgerald's "Skip"	4 4 dr

In the prize for gentlemen riders there were four entries, and a very fair exhibit of horsemanship. The prizes fell to Gerald Hayward and H. Lempriere.

In the contest for lady drivers the competitors were Miss Hendren, of Lakefield, and her sister, Mrs. Jas. Walton, Smith. The judges awarded first prize to Miss Hendren, and second to Mrs. Walton.

The novelty race was indeed a novelty. The five competitors were required to have their horses already harnessed in front of the road cart, hitch and walk twice, trot twice round the ring, and unhitch the first to finish being the winner. Mr. Frank Jory was an easy winner, G. W. Fitzgeral second and J. Henderson third.

The most fun of the afternoon was the exhibition of horses suitable for cavalry purposes to be ridden to four or more leaps over two and a half or three feet hurdles. There were five entries and the ploughiest horses made the leaps clean, but some of the others refused outright and knocked down the hurdles. The successful jumps met with loud applause and failures created the liveliest merriment. The winners in this event were Gordon Galvin first, Gilbert Mann second, and H. Chubb third.

A rather exciting bicycle race brought out five entries and the contest for first place was very keen and exciting, especially at the wind-up, between W. Wilson and Bickle. Wilson first, Bickle a good second and John McDonald third.

Two attempts were made to send up the Grafton & Co's baloon, but the high wind blew the sides against the lamp inside and the baloon went up in flames and made but a brief aerial flight.

The Lakefield Band, though just resuming practice after the summer vacation, was on the grounds during the afternoon and peformed several selections very creditably.

To the President, Mr. R. H. Braden, Secretary Mr. W. Sherin and the directors generally, the press is indebted for many courtesies.

Altogether the Lakefield Exhibition of 1896 was a successful and creditable one and all concerned are to be congratulated on its success.

GOUGH'S PALACE CLOTHING CAR.

It has been said that nobody except the baker has been such a friend to man as the clothier. The discovery for the necessity of clothing dates back to the early history of the world, perhaps a little earlier than the discovery of the necessity of a baker.

This much, however, may be stated with a good deal of certainty, that the discovery that has been made by two-thirds of the male sex that ready made clothing is good enough for them, has come about largely through the persistent aid of advertising.

The old time way of advertising was simple. If a man wanted to advertise clothing he put an armful of coats out on a potato barrel, and stood it on the sidewalk. He put a sign on it and lettered it himself in kerosene oil colours and "lamp" black, and labelled it "CLOTHING FOR SALE." Without that sign people might think that he had pot ' ' for sale. Later on the advertiser used the weekly papers. He put an ad. in the weekly announcing the arrival of linen dusters in the month of October, and he let the same ad. stand until next year. Then came the advertiser who used his brains, and to-day the successful advertiser is synonymous with the successful business man.

Of the unshaken faith in the value of advertising, Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men, of Peterborough, furnish a splendid example. Every man and boy in this part of the land has heard of Gough Bros. and very many of them are walking advertisements for the firm. It has been whispered in town and country by some

The "Kelsey" Corrugated Warm Air Generator.

Any ordinary Hot Air Furnace will produce heat if you will only supply enough fuel. The "Kelsey" has several special and valuable features but most important is that it will give more heat with less fuel and is the most durable heater made.

The "Kelsey" fire pot being constructed of several upright, tubular, corrugated, cast iron sections (see cut) around which the fire passes and up through which the cold air passes while being heated, and this entire section being wrapped with a heavy steel casing which becomes heated by the fire striking it when passing down outside of upright sections towards smoke pipe, it in turn warms the air that passes up between this steel casing and the galvanized iron casing, this explains why the "Kelsey" has three times more radiating surface and warm air capacity than an ordinary Furnace. The "Kelsey" heats every room evenly, wheresoever located, with a nice, mild, healthful warm air that will not injure your furniture.

The "Kelsey" will heat rooms 60 feet distant.

The "Kelsey" does not heat your cellar.

The "Kelsey" is absolutely gas and dust proof.

Prof. Sig. Emilio

The Celebrated Chiropodist. Headquarters:—Office 6½ King Street East, Toronto.

PROF. EMILIO—has been in the profession all his life, and during his long practice he has discovered some of the grandest secrets unknown to the world. By request of his many friends, Prof Emilio of Toronto has decided to visit the City, stopping at the ORIENTAL HOTEL for a week or ten days, where he is prepared to show his skill in the treatment of HARD and SOFT CORNS, BUNIONS, WARTS, MOLES, CHILBLAINS, all Defects of the Hands, Feet and In-growing Toe-Nails.

In all treatment KNIFE CUTTING DISPENSED WITH.

All sufferers please call early, as his time is short.

Ladies Treated at their Residence if Desired.

A business man is not the most patient creature in the world. He cannot stop work every minute to bother with an irritating skin disease, or a hacking cough that insists on breaking into his bargain-making. Neither will he wait to hear any long-drawn-out story of the cause of his ailment. He doesn't care two straws about a fine spun theory of how he should treat himself. He may be predisposed to scrofula, or consumption. "That," he will tell you "has nothing to do with the case." He wants to be well. If he can be cured, write out a prescription and send in your bill. So, here's the first part of the proposition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine that permeates the whole body as water goes through a sponge. It is a microbe hunter and a microbe killer. It is a well-known fact that many persons of scrofulous blood, encourage the breaking out of unsightly sores, to prevent the disease going to the lungs. There is no need of living in this state of dread and discomfort. Purify the blood. It can be done. The "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure 98 per cent. of all consumptive cases, also of all other lingering, bronchial, throat and lung diseases. Don't allow a druggist to persuade you into taking something that he says is "just as good." Maybe it's better for him—better for his profits. Take the "Golden Medical Discovery"—the greatest discovery of the age. In addition, in order to know yourself better, send to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., 31 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only, and get in return, Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is a book of 1008 pages, illustrated, and is full of common sense talk that any one who can read will understand.

And here is the testimony of Mrs. E. E. Enders, of Carey, Ohio, in regard to the "Golden Medical Discovery": "I had a troublesome skin disease. I suffered much from surface sores. Nothing helped me until I tried the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' A year or two later I had lung trouble. Again the 'Discovery' cured me."

(Mrs.) E. E. Enders

THE FEATHER VOGUE.

New Fall Fashions From Paris Require Them for Gowns, Capes and Hats.

To be fashionable this fall a woman must be bedecked with feathers. This is the latest announcement of the Parisian couturieres. But this does not mean that feathers will appear in the old, conventional ways. Not a bit of it. They will be used to adorn the fashionable woman in a manner never dreamed of before.

Not only are they to be all the vogue in millinery, but they are to be a general accessory to dress. And it is in the odd combinatfon of wings, feathers and aigrettes, that the dictators of fashion are revelling.

Ostrich plumes are no longer used singly, but combined with a tuft of cock's feathers or a cluster of wings. Groups of feathers are the fashion, and the day of the stately Prince of Wales plume, used by itself, is over.

It is to be a feather season. Ostrich plumes and tips will be the most in vogue. This is due these beautiful feathers on account of their past reputation and intrinsic value. They will be used not only in plain colors, but in shaded effects.

Impeyan wings and scales will be almost as popular as ostrich feathers. Their exquisite metallic coloring will make them high in favor. The Impeyan scales will be much used to tip ospreys.

Wings of wild and Mandarin ducks will be worn, both in the natural tints and in such color combinations as fawn and green. Swans' feathers will be used, and also cocks' feathers in profusion.

Many of the imported fall hats will be made entirely of feathers. Some of them will be trimmed with ostrich tips and groups of wings, with perhaps an osprey or two, tipped with Impeyan scales.

Another odd millinery combination will be that of feathers, wings and flowers. On the best hats the flowers will be invariably seen beneath the brim and resting upon the hair.

The feather boa will be more in favor this fall than ever before. But it will appear in many novelties. The short boa will be the boa of the season. It will be worn in both plain colors and shaded. Instead of being fastened invisibly, as in other years, much attention will be given to the way it is held together.

FEATHER TRIMMED.

One of the newest ideas is to fasten the boa with an owl's head. It is not necessary that the owl's head should be in the natural color. An odd effect is the only thing to consider.

One of the latest feather boas seen in Paris was made of black ostrich feathers, short and full. It was fastened by a white owl's head, with big, gleaming green eyes

Others of the new boas are held together by groups of small feathers. Many of them will be tied with broad ribbons, the ends reaching far down over the gown, and still others will be fastened with a little fur head. These boas will be made of cocks' feathers as well as ostrich feathers.

The feather cape will be a feature of the fall fashions. The most beautiful, and, incidentally, the most expensive, will be made of long ostrich plumes, so arranged that each plume will stand out by itself, thus avoiding the customary effect of just a fluffy mass of mingled feathers. These capes will have high standing collars of ostrich tips. They will be worn in black with street costumes and in white and delicate colors for evening. As a light theatre wrap they promise to be much the vogue.

The hat and cape shown in the illustration are the latest feather novelties. They are Parisian creations, and are worth much more than their weight in gold.

The cape is made of the best black ostrich feathers, each one so arranged that as it falls over the figure it shows its entire beauty. It is fastened with a jabot of cock's feathers, their exquisite green shading gleaming effectively against the black background. These feathers trim the front of the cape and fasten at the left side of the waist line with a cluster of tiny ostrich tips. Below this they appear again as a tuft. The collar of the cape, which is exceedingly becoming, is a high standing affair of the softest curly black tips, with just a tinge of green in their shading.

The hat, which was made to order to match this cape, is a bewitching mass of feathers. Two long black ostrich plumes start from the front and encircle the brim of the hat. They cover the brim entirely. The crown, which is of green felt, is almost hidden from view by two black ostrich tips, and a third short curly tip in faint green and waving back over the hat is a shaded green bird of Paradise plume. Nothing could be more novel and yet in better taste than this new feather hat and cape.

Feathers as a dress trimming will be used to the best advantage on evening costumes. The feather ruffle is the latest novelty. A white satin dancing gown, trimmed around the bottom with a deep ruffle of white ostrich feathers is simply exquisite.

For street gowns an edge of feathers will be substituted in many cases for a band of fur.

Before going on a sea-voyage or into the country, be sure and put a box of Ayer's Pills in your valise. You may have occasion to thank us for this hint. To relieve constipation, biliousness and nausea, Ayer's Pills are the best in the world. They are also easy to take.

A "Thirteen" Time Clock.

Many hundreds of people stop every day to study the odd clock that stands in the window of a certain LaSalle street insurance office, says the Chicago Record. It is a clock of varied accomplishments. Not contented with one plain face and two hands like an everyday clock, it looks out on the street with thirteen faces, and it has twenty-six hands which tell thirteen kinds of time, all different.

In the center there is a big face which tells the time in Chicago honestly enough. The other twelve clocks are arranged around it, and, although they are wound by the same key, they tell the times in twelve different cities of the world. When the Chicago clock says that it is noon and the Chicago boy is looking wistfully across the table at the big watermelon soon to be served, the London and Liverpool boy, as the clock shows, is just getting ready for supper. For it is ten minutes before 6 o'clock in those cities. That is, the sun crossed over England nearly six hours before it reached the meridian of Chicago. But the sun has not yet reached San Francisco, where it is 9.40 o'clock in the forenoon, and the boy of the Pacific coast probably is busy with his lessons.

When it is noon in Chicago it is 6 o'clock in the evening at Paris, 6.43 in Berlin, 7.46 in Constantinople, 7.51 in St. Petersburg, and 11.45 in Calcutta. Probably the Calcutta and Hong-Kong and Melbourne boys are all fast asleep, for when the sun is high and bright in Chicago, it is dark on the other side of the earth.

So, you see, this clock tells the time in all parts of the world. Frequently foreigners stop to look at it. The German thinks what his friends are doing in Berlin and the Frenchman, who has just come from dinner, realizes that his friends in Paris are just finishing supper.

They Resemble Each Other.

It is claimed that John Morley and Edmund Burke resemble each other more closely than any two statesmen that Great Britain has produced.

A Sensible People.

The Norwegians have recently done away with the study of Greek and Latin in their higher schools.

Another Vice Versa.

The apertures in the Parisian letter-boxes are horizontal, in the London letter-box vertical.

A CONSTABLE TALKS.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

Paper Matches.

A match has just been invented by an English genius which promises to become a formidable rival to the present match in general use. The idea of the invention is based on the old plan of rolling up paper and lighting at a flame already in existence.

The paper is immersed in wax, stearine and similar substances, and burns with a light, smokeless and odorless flame. Cut into match lengths, it is dipped into phosphorous wax, like the common wax match. The invention is regarded as a timely one, as the wood used in the making of matches is constantly growing more scarce and costly.

What you want when you are ailing is a medicine that will cure you. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla and be convinced of its merit.

TURNING GRAY
AND THREATENED
WITH BALDNESS
The Danger is Averted by Using
AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

"Margery! Margery!"—where can she be?
Sweet maid, merry maid, fair for to see,
Comes a call—clear call—as the orchard reaches,
"Here she is! here she is! out a-picking peaches!"

Haste feet! find the sweet! bring me swiftly there!
Gold rays—bold rays—tangled in her hair.
"Faint heart never won"—thus the proverb teaches,
Such a maid as Margery out a-picking peaches.

Bloom on the fruit's cheek—rose and lily wed!
Bloom on the maid's cheek—fairer be it said.
What cries the parson bird? Listen how he preaches!
"Now's your time! now's your time! out a-picking peaches."

CHILIAN WOMEN.

Their Loveliness Said to be Unequaled on the Hemisphere.

The most striking features of the Chilian cities, Valparaiso and Santiago, are those of its women. Certainly nowhere else in South America, if on all the western hemisphere, is there to be found so large a proportion of pretty women in a total population.

The Spaniards say that the very air there conduces to a perfect development of form and feature.

However that may be, it is a fact that the proportion of beautiful women to be seen in the cities mentioned is remarkable. The pure blood of the German, French and English has mingled with the Indo-Spanish and the result is a race with the graces and beauties of each, beside which the far-famed beauty of the Indo-Spanish women seems tame and insipid.

With their beauty they have much ease and grace of movement, and walk with the long, swinging, virile stride of the English girl.

On the promenades or when shopping, riding and attending to ordinary social duties, there are attired quite as fashionably as any of their sisters further north.

While attending church services, however, they invariably dress in black and discard the latest French fashions in millinery for a mantua, which has a bewitching effect when worn by one of these glorious senoritas. The mantua is the common head dress of the poorer classes.

The brunette is the more common type of beauty, though a magnificent type of blonde is not uncommon. The brunettes have clear, olive skins, their eyes, big and black, are lovely beyond description.

Trilby's Foot.

The step 'twixt the sublime and the ridiculous is quickly made. Surely literature presents no more grotesque idealisation than Trilby's foot, and the numerous worshippers who have figuratively speaking bent knee and kissed the big toe of the foot, when reason once more comes to their rescue, will feel as if the production of the genuis Ass were perennial.! By the way, did you notice when reading Trilby how highly it commended Putnam's Corn Extractor, which renders impossible the discordant excrescence, corns. Trilby's foot would not be worthy of homage if marred by corns; neither would yours. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

GOLDEN WAND OF TACT.

Absolutely Essential for the Achievement of Social Success.

"My dear girl," writes Ruth Ashmore in response to a girl inquirer in Ladies' Home Journal, "you fail socially, because you look uninterested, you stand off and have a don't care expression on your face. This drives would-be acquaintances away, and suggests to a hostess that if you do not care, and show it so plainly, she need not care to send you cards another time. Society is really based upon the Golden Rule, and it demands from you not only sympathy, but that outcome of the best of sympathy, tact. To be a social success you must learn to say the right things to the right people. Do not talk about flirting widows to a woman in mourning, nor of the value of beauty to an aged spinster forced to wear blue glasses. The aged spinster may be a perfect well of learning and wit. You will find this out if you touch her with the golden wand of tact. Possibly you are nervous and shy. Try to overcome that. Force yourself to say something. If you are unfortunate enough to be easily embarrassed, at least get used to the sound of your own voice, and then you will not find yourself screaming from sheer nervousness when you wish to speak low, or whispering in a husky manner when your words should be distinct. To be a social success you must govern your voice, and usage is the only thing that will make that possible. Do not be afraid to speak of simple things There is no man too learned not to be interested in that which interests a pretty girl, and no woman too old or too world-worn not to care about ribbons or flowers, sweetmeats or novels.

Bridal and Reception Coiffures.

In the style of hair-dressing shown herewith the front locks are cut and curled in a full soft bang. The side and back hair is drawn back in loose waves, and is coiled in an oblong twist with a small open puff at the top, the ends escaping in ringlets.

The hair is arranged more simply in the bridal coiffure, says Harper's Bazar. It is waved and touped, forming a soft pompadour at the front and a bouffant turned up back, with a round coil on the crown, in the center of which the folds of the veil are pinned

BRIDAL AND RECEPTION COIFFURES

A slender diadem of orange blossoms is back of the pompadour. Allowing enough of the tulle veil to fall down to below the waist in front, and as much of length on the sides, the rest of the width is gathered across and tied in a bunch at the middle; this is pulled into shape and fastened in the hair as illustrated; invisible hair pins are used to keep it from dragging on the diadem and front hair. After the ceremony the veil is thrown off the face and fastened back, as shown in the larger cut on the same page.

FOR THE PUBLIC GOOD.

Mrs. Liscumbe Makes a Statement for the Benefit of Others.

Mrs. Liscumbe is well known in Havelock and this is how she spoke to our representative :—

"I have been troubled for some time with severe pains in the side and back. I took many medicines of various kinds, but got no relief.

"The box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore gave me wonderful relief from the start. The improvement in my general health is not the least of the benefits which I have derived from the use of this remarkable kidney remedy.

"I can recommend them very highly to anyone troubled with any form of kidney disease."

Care in Cultivating Orchards.

The cultivating and manuring of orchards require a good deal of thought and temperance. Too much of either may be bad and too little of either is certainly bad. Too much manure and cultivation may cause such a rapid development of the tree that it will yield more readily to adverse circumstances. Too late cultivation in the fall may start a new growth of wood that will not have time to ripen before growth ceases.—Farmers' Review.

Fashion Is Powerful.

How quick women are to follow anything they think is the fashion! Chatelaine bags are now very much in vogue and would have been a great convenience for women for a long time past, but she has been carrying her pocketbook in her hand and putting her handkerchiefs in all sorts of out of the way places, because no one else wore them; and now that some one has said "they will be worn" presto! almost every woman has one.

LAKEFIELD ANNUAL FALL EXHIBITION.

unsophisticated people that Gough Bros. "must spend an awful lot of money in advertising. They don't see how they can afford it." It's easy enough. Gough Bros. study their business and their field. In times of malarial dullness they don't spare the advertising [quinine in order to get a good crop of business. If they have a little heavier stock than usual at any season of the year, and there's likely to be a drouth in the trade they don't throw up their hands in despair. They know that the load will move if they use a long enough advertising lever and put bargains on the long end of it. When times are flush and farmers are reaping a full harvest, less of this great business fertilizer—printer's ink—is needed.

Gough's palace clothing car was the newest, most striking and novel advertising feature on the fair grounds this year. It was brilliant with colours and stood out so conspicuous that every visitor within half a mile of the grounds must have seen it. In construction it took the form of a car on wheels, with sloping roof, rear end being closed and front end open, with platform for the driver and conductor. An artist's brush had effectively emblasoned the entire structure with attractive lettering in harmoniously blended colours, radiant with well executed shadings and designs. The car, after parading the streets of the village, was drawn up in front of the entrance to the shed, and occupied this conspicuous position during the rest of the day.

Gough Bros. also made an exhibit of their clothing inside the building, having secured the first prominent corner to the right. In every fair, as well as in every township, they believe in showing the farmers what they are doing in forcing down prices. Their display consisted of leading lines of men's overcoats, ticketed with such low prices as $3 90, $4.90, $6 90 and $7.90. Up-to-date suits of the latest fall styles, in tweeds and worsteds, cut to the latest fashions, were also shown in extra values. In boys' clothing they exhibited several styles and sizes of ulsters, peajackets and suits, dressed on figures for the occasion, and so wonderfully cheap that mothers could not resist manifesting surprise. The display was in charge of Mr. Gus Gough, the dressing and arrangement of the exhibit was left to the skilful hands of Mr. James Tully, while Master A. LeMay assisted in giving away souvenir mirrors, &c., and distributing advertising literature to the crowds.

THOS. HENDREN'S DISPLAY.

The enterprise of Mr. Thos. Hendren, of Lakefield, was again shown by a fine exhibition of furniture, which he made in his well known corner of the building. Mr. Hendren's energy and public spirit is recognized by the people of this village and surrounding country, where he has been known for many years. His collection of furniture was a good representation of some of the newest and most fashionable designs which come from the best manufacturers. In this respect he has the courage to introduce handsome goods that might be difficult to dispose of where the demand for such style might be expected to be limited. Mr. Hendren's exhibit was decorated with the first prize red card of the society. He showed on a raised carpeted platform a very handsome parlour set, valued at $70. The six pieces were upholstered in an oriental pattern of Japanese rug, the style of the work being of the newest. He also showed a handsome oak dining room set complete, with sideboard and massive mirror, centre table and chairs. The carving was very rich and the finish good. A very pretty brass-trimmed easel was shown, with pitures and other decorations to set off the display. Mr. Hendren has two warerooms in Lakefield, where he carries a heavy stock of all kinds. In his lower store he makes an outside display of parlour suites, which attracts the attention of the crowds in the village. In addition to his furniture business Mr. Hendren has a well equipped undertaking department, with a branch in Warsaw; besides he finds time for running a tip top livery business.

MESSRS. GRAFTON & CO.

Across on the other side of the building, in one of the best, if not the best, positions inside, was the attractive exhibit of clothing made by Messrs. Grafton & Co., representing their Peterborough branch, No. 367 George street, and under the management of Mr. W. E. Conway. The position secured by Messrs. Grafton & Co. was right at the public exit from the buildings to the horse ring, and was always thronged. Their exhibit was displayed differently this year than formerly, and showed that they never make two exhibits alike—always developing some new taste and skill in the novel arrangement of their clothing. On each side of their corner hung gracefully draped red, blue and yellow bunting, and a number of attractive gilt framed chromos and engravings, ornamental fans, fancy printed show cards, etc., served to decorate the skilfully dressed display. A printed card furnished the information that "With every dollar's worth of goods a ticket was given, twenty of which entitled the holder to one of these large, handsomely framed pictures." In nothing do this firm pride themselves more in the fact that they manufacture their own clothing. By selling direct to the people and selling the middle men's profits, they claim they can offer their clothing 20 per cent. cheaper than other retail dealers. The leading styles for Autumn were displayed in men's, youth's, boy's and children's overcoats, ulsters and suits. Their goods are noted for being extra well finished, and are hand-cut and tailor-made. Another plank in their economical platform is their "one price" system, and cash in advance to everybody. By being firm on this plank enables them to quote lowest possible prices. They have their diploma from the Society to show, and their indefatigable efforts to maintain a leading position as clothiers have been observed by all who attend this exhibition.

The arrangement of the exhibit was skillfully and tastefully executed, and reflected credit on Mr. Conway and his assistants, Messrs. William Armstrong and Herbert Conway, whose work in this respect was complimented. Throughout the show grounds Grafton & Co. had hung out their banners to the breeze, and in the most conspicuous quarters, wherever the eye turned, the name of the firm was reflected in large painted placards, several new and very effectively coloured signs, painted on cotton, being added this year. Grafton & Co's advertising outfit has become so perfected that they can now visit the different fairs in the county with very little trouble. If their other branch stores in London, Dundas, Hamilton, &c., do the same amount of advertising and do it as effectively and with as much dispatch, they have the system down to perfection.

W. McDONALD'S FURNITURE.

Mr. William McDonald, the hustling furniture dealer and undertaker of Lakefield, is to the fore this year with a new collection of furniture which he displayed in the furniture corner. Mr. McDonold is one of the pushing men of the village, having in a very few years came to the front by quiet and persistent methods until now he finds himself with a business that keeps growing every year. Mr. McDonald's display of furniture consists of a polished oak bedroom set in three pieces, which was not specially got up for the occasion, but formed part of his every-day stock. He also showed a comfortable couch, upholstered in tapestry, besides some fancy rocking chairs, and a large student's chair, luxuriously cushioned. The ladies admired the furniture so much that every half hour of the day found them sitting or reclining in the chairs and couch, and enjoying the comfort they so well afforded. Mr. McDonald's store is full of big-hearted bargains, and he has sufficient variety to ensure the easy selection of a full outfit to any young couple thinking about starting housekeeping, as well as to the buyer of any one single article. Undertaking, saw filing and repairing personally attended to.

OAK HALL EXHIBIT.

"There's no room at the top!" said Mr. Wattam, the new manager of the Peterborough branch of the Oak Hall Clothing Syndicate to a jolly farmer on the ground, who was admiring the tent covered exhibit of their Oak Hall's clothing.

"How is that?" said the farmer smiling.

"Because we're there, and we're staying there, giving better value for your money than can be got anywhere else!"

"Ain't you just a little too confident?" replied the farmer with a mischievous grin.

"Can't be!" said Mr. Wattam emphatically. "Don't you know the Senator would never stand playing second fiddle! We must be at the top or nowhere."

That's about the way Oak Hall men feel about their clothing. It was quite evident that the enthusiasm of the clothing man was contagious. Men pointed the finger at Oak Hall's tent display and said:—"There's the store that claims to sell the finest clothing," and Mr. Wattam jumps up and replies:—

"Yes, they've pointed at us as first-class for years, and got us into such a fix we haven't been able for their criticism to sell clothing that others could sell without a grumble. That has gone on so long we've just claim on the better class of trade."

Claim or no claim, Oak Hall was certainly in its prettiest exhibition fettle, and made a display creditable alike to the manufacturers as well as to the manager who engineered the display at this fair. The betterment of their business generally is no doubt due to the impetus they gain and the ideas that grow into prominence from their very large patronage, not only in Peterborough, but all over Canada where their branch stores are planted. For years they have been trying to set the pace in the development of select trade by the employment of designers and cutters of practical skill for the production of high-class ready-to-wear clothing. Amid the numerous claims of boys' clothiers, Oak Hall makes a strong bid. Boys' clothing must be just to catch the mothers' fancy and strongly made to stand much ceaseless wear. A romping boy has no liking for restraint, and yet at the same time there is a growing demand for elegance as well as strength in boys' clothing. Oak Hall accepts the responsibility of combining both. "Equal to custom work and considerably cheaper" is what they are aiming at.

But the general display of clothing was certainly entitled to the praise it received on all hands. The tent in which the exhibit was shown was erected on the grounds just outside the building and adjoining the stock section. It was a well proportioned marquee made by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons of heavy "Eagle" brand duck—a beautiful, clean, white fabric, which shows off clean and clear in the open air. It had 6 ft. 6 in. walls, and was loyally surmounted by the "old flag," one of which waved at each pinnacle. A well-painted canvas sign bearing the name of the Oak Hall exhibit in shaded black and red letters was strung out one corner. The clothing was well arranged in the form of a pyramid and showed off to good advantage. Advertising matter of various kinds was distributed from the tent, and a young pupil of the Oak Hall store, dressed in white, with swallow-tailed coat, pants and cap trimmed with red, and each garment bearing the Oak Hall trade mark, acted the part of a good, live, wide-a-wake mascot.

HOT TIME IN SUPPLY

Mr. Blair Excites the Wrath of Conservatives

BY A PROPOSAL TO DO JUSTICE

Political Partisanism on the Intercolonial Railway Will Receive Its Deserts—General Gascoigne's Letter to General Cameron—Railway and Canal Estimates Passed.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Last night Mr. Richardson, M. P. for Lisgar, read a list of accounts which he alleged were owing to the Government by various gentlemen throughout the Dominion for binder twine from Kingston Penitentiary. Included in the list was the firm of Wood, Vallance & Company of Hamilton for the sum of $1200, the senior member of the firm being one of the representatives of Hamilton in the Commons.

On the orders of the day being called Mr. Wood rose and expressed his regret that he was not present in the House when the binder twine discussion came up. He desired to say that his firm did not owe the Government one cent for binder twine, and he proceeded to show by the correspondence with the department that this was the case. In conclusion, he thanked the gentlemen on the Opposition side of the House for giving such a high character to his firm as they did last night. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Taylor called attention to the dismissal from the Government service of W. Augustus, sailmaker, at Kingston.

Dr. Borden said the dismissal was not for political reasons, but simply that the services of Mr. Augustus were no longer required. Mr. Augustus was employed by the day, and was given notice accordingly.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, and on the militia estimates Dr. Sproule inquired about the truth of newspaper reports that Lieut.-Col. Hamilton was about to be reinstated in command of the Queen's Own.

The Minister of Militia replied that nothing whatever had been done in the matter of the Queen's Own Regiment. He had not had an opportunity since he took charge of the department of taking up the case. He hoped, however, as soon as Parliament closed, to have an opportunity of considering the case and settling it one way or the other.

In reply to further questions, the Minister said that of the 40,000 new rifles ordered 9000 had been distributed.

Col. Tisdale asked as to the truth of the report that the new Government had cancelled the order-in-Council recommending the purchase of the Oliver patent infantry equipment for $5000.

The Minister answered that the order-in-Council had not been revoked.

Continuing, Col. Tisdale expressed the hope that the department would not go back on the equipment, which was very highly recommended by Lord Wolseley and Sir Redvers Buller, and was cheap at $5000.

Sir Adolphe Caron also spoke in favor of the equipment, explaining its good points. It would have been purchased long ago, but that the sum of $15,000 was asked for it.

Dr. Borden thought if the Government waited a little longer it might get it at a still further reduction. Before going out the Government decided to pay Dr. Oliver $5000 for the right to use the equipment. Since then he had been advised by the Major-General commanding to wait until the result was made known of certain trials now being made in England, and which would be concluded in two or three weeks.

Mr. Casey suggested that as there were men in the lumbering business well up in rigging heavy loads for easy carriage over a rough country, a prize ought to be offered for a native system of equipment.

Sir Charles Tupper explained that it was upon recommendation of the Major-General commanding that the order was passed to purchase this equipment, and Surgeon-General Oliver had been notified accordingly. He therefore considered it a little late in the day for General Gascoigne to change his opinion.

The matter then dropped.

The following is a copy of General Gascoigne's letter to Major-General Cameron, asking for his resignation as the commandant of the Royal Military College:

August 14, 1896.

My Dear General,—A painful duty has been laid upon me as President of the Royal Military College. It is to inform you that the Government proposes to make immediate changes in the general administration of the college, and that it is desired to effect a change in the command of the college. It is desired that a vacancy should be created by September 1st, so as to take place before the commencement of the ensuing term. It has been suggested that probably it would be more pleasing to your feelings if the resignation came from myself, and it was also thought that it would be more acceptable to you if the intimation reached you, an Imperial officer, through me; hence the reason of my being chosen to communicate with you. I need not tell you that the duty is not a pleasing one to me, but I feel sure that you will be able to dissociate private friendliness from public duty, which I have been directed to carry out.

I shall be glad to receive a reply from you as soon as it is convenient, and I trust that you will believe that as I write privately (though by order) your resignation, if sent in, will have all the benefit of coming voluntarily from yourself.

Believe me, yours very sincerely,
(Signed) W. J. Gascoigne.

To Major-General Cameron, C.M.G., etc., etc.

On the Intercolonial estimates Mr. Blair explained, in answer to Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, the course he intended to pursue regarding the dismissal of officials. He said he proposed to draw a distinction between permanent officials on the road and those who were employed as laborers. If any responsible gentleman on the Liberal side of the House who had been a candidate in the Liberal interest at the last election, and whose advice the Government would consider it safe to act upon, represented to him that of his own knowledge persons employed by the Government had taken an active part in the last elections, he (Mr. Blair) would accept the statement thus made and permit officials of the road to allow such men to go. It would be impossible, with hundreds of employes on the road, to adopt any regular system of investigation. He would, therefore, accept the assurances of gentlemen supporting the Government who were conversant with the facts.

Sir C. H. Tupper said he had never heard a more monstrous doctrine than that just enumerated by the Minister of Railways. (Loud Opposition cheers.) He protested in the most serious manner against it. The doctrine was most pernicious and wholly indefensible. He called upon Mr. Laurier to promptly repudiate Mr. Blair's statement.

Mr. Quinn said it seemed from the Minister's declaration that we were living in Russia. As the representative of a large working class constituency, he protested against the unfair treatment it was proposed to mete out to the workingmen. (Cheers.)

The debate was continued by Messrs. McMullen and Lister.

Mr. Powell made a strong speech, denunciatory of the Minister's doctrine.

Dr. Montague alluded to the treatment which Tory officials in the Maritime Provinces got by being actually disfranchised.

Mr. Fielding justified the provincial law and said federal officers had often asked him to extend its scope.

Mr. Bell gave a flat denial to Mr. Fielding. If he were privileged he would characterize the statement in a more emphatic manner. A more dastardly and contemptible statement he had never heard.

Mr. J. Ross Robertson said doubtless Liberal members had a right to complain of the activity in the last elections of civil servants. If he were a revengeful man he, too, might complain, because during the last election the Custom House, Inland Revenue Office and Postoffice were all committee rooms for his opponent. Notwithstanding grievances which might exist, he would urge the Government to establish the principle that no civil servant should be an active partisan, and to establish it by not punishing those who had sinned in the past. This reform in the civil service could not be carried out by the dismissal of one set of offensive partisans of one political color and appointing to their places another set of offensive partisans of a different political color. In his 40 years' experience as a close observer of Canadian politics he did not remember ever having heard a more unique, surprising and unprecedented statement that that which fell from Mr. Blair to-day—(Opposition cheers)—and when he looked at his kindly and benevolent face he could hardly credit that his views were those which he had given utterance to. He only hoped when Mr. Blair had slept over the matter he would act as the First Minister did in connection with the Chicago Record interview. (Hear, hear.) He hoped that he would materially modify his views. (Opposition cheers.) The Minister's view would excite great surprise throughout the country.

Mr. Mills said the doctrine laid down by Mr. Blair was the outcome of Mr. Laurier bringing in Provincial Premiers, men who had been wallowing round in their own little mud holes for years, but were not equal to their present positions. (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. Blair said he must have been unfortunate in his expressions, if the strictures which had fallen from the Opposition were warranted by the statement he had made. He denied that he proposed to discriminate against the workingmen, the laborers in the employ of the Government. He was prepared to see that they got the fullest measure of justice. No one could charge him with having acted unfairly towards the laboring classes, but he adhered to the principle he had laid down with regard to those who did not belong to the civil service, that when they had departed from a position of neutrality he would accept the word of the Liberal member or the Liberal candidate and deal with such in a spirit of fair play and justice.

Mr. Foster bitterly arraigned Mr. Blair for his statement. The hon. gentleman had asserted his determination to do justice to every class in the community, but had finally admitted that for workingmen there would be no hearing. The mere ipse dixit of the Liberal member or Liberal candidate would be effectual against them.

Sir Richard Cartwright, who had up to this time taken no part in the discussion, was now heard from. He said that it so happened that he was a member of the Liberal Government which preceded the late Government, and he had a tolerably distinct recollection of what occurred at the time of the Liberals' retirement from office. He thought that upon that occasion every employe on the Prince Edward Island Railway was dismissed. True, a reorganization, as it was called, took place, and a certain number were reinstated but a vast number were dismissed. And unless his memory was wholly at fault the same thing happened in connection with the Intercolonial Railway, under the pretence of economy and reconstruction. The first man to lose his head was Mr. S. J. Brydges, the then manager of the Intercolonial, who had made himself decidedly obnoxious to hon. gentlemen opposite. It was well known to all who had examined the records of the Intercolonial Railway that that railway for a great many years had been from first to last, from top to bottom, from cellar to garret, a political machine of the worst type. Sir Richard took up the report of the civil service commission issued by the late Government in 1892, and quoted the evidence of Mr. Collingwood Schreiber in proof of his statement. Mr. Schreiber, in answer to questions put to him, said the stationmasters, operators, trackmen, conductors and brakemen were appointed upon the nomination of the member representing the district in which they were to be employed. There were, Mr. Schreiber said, a large number of men in the employ of the road whose services could be dispensed with. Sir Richard ventured to say that when Mr. Blair entered office he did not find one of the thousands employed who had not been put there more or less for political motives by the late Government. He declared that when sufficient evidence was laid before him to satisfy him that a particular man had been an active partisan he would dismiss that man, which was entirely in accordance with the declaration made by Mr. Laurier and with the principles which had always been laid down. The Government did not propose to deal with Conservaties as the late Government dealt with Liberals in all respects, but they proposed to see to it that civil servants who had actively interfered in political matters should suffer the fate they deserved, and be dismissed on sufficient evidence of the fact being produced.

Sir Charles Tupper said he could not charge his mind with a single dismissal on the I.C.R. having been made by Conservatives for political reasons. A more oppressive and pernicious doctrine was never promulgated by a public man on the floor of Parliament than that which they had heard to-day, and when the news went throughout the country to-morrow he was satisfied the general feeling would be that this despotic act was entirely contrary to the common principles of justice. (Loud Opposition cheers.)

The discussion was continued by Messrs. McNeill and Craig. The latter's observations led to a further statement from Mr. Blair. The Minister said that if a person was removed from the employment of the I.C.R., on making representations that he was not open to a charge of political partisanship he (Blair) would not hesitate to redress the wrong and restore him.

Dr. Montague: Why not do that before you dismiss him?

Mr. Blair said that was practically impossible with the vast staff employed on the I. C. R.

Messrs. Logan, Taylor, Hall and others spoke, when the matter dropped, and the items for railways and canals passed.

Before the item was passed Mr. Blair gave a statement of the year's earnings and working expenses of the Intercolonial system. There was a net loss on the operation of the system of $113,764.17.

Mr. Laurier, having moved the adjournment of the House, Mr. Taylor called attention to the list of parties who were alleged to owe for binder twine purchased from the Government. He defended the gentlemen from aspersions made on their financial standing and said they were all good men.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said he had never meant to say these gentlemen were not able to pay what they owed. Most of those who owed the Government for binder twine were Conservatives. The information he had given to the House was procured by him from Tory officials of the Department of Justice.

Several members spoke on the question, and at 1 o'clock the motion for adjournment carried.

DID THEY ROB AND MURDER?

Three Indians Arrested in New Brunswick Charged With the Crime.

St. John, N. B., Sept. 18.—Three Indians, who were out in a canoe with Michael McMonagle near St. Andrew's, on Wednesday, returned to that town and reported that he had fallen out of the canoe and been drowned. Two young men from Calais, who were out yachting that day, have since declared they lay becalmed not far from the canoe and saw the Indians beat and rob McMonagle and throw him overboard. The three have been arrested and jailed at St. Andrew's.

"THE PROVINCE."

The province—what province? Why, "The" province, British Columbia, to which the eyes of all the world, glittering with the light kindled by auri sacra fames, are turned in golden expectation. For there is not a province or region more talked of at present—except Turkey—than British Columbia; and "The Province" is the title of one of the brightest little periodicals—half magazine and wholly newspaper—published in Victoria, B. C., and the special impression yclept the "carnival number" is a brisk and capital one, devoted to indicating the resources of British Columbia, this bright (golden) particular bead in the necklace of provinces that rests on the shoulders of the continent from sea to sea. It is an admirably compiled special number and deals with the magnificent resources and possibilities of the Pacific coast province by both text and picture. It deals of course largely with the wonderful, but yet, only dawning mining interest and, with a fine subordination of the natural impulse to boom, it candidly cautions against rash credence of fairy tales of golden treasures, and warns the unwary and the impulsive against the possible, and probable, dangers of implicit belief in all the yarns of the promoters of boom gold-mining companies. Still, enough is told to give an idea that British Columbia is marvellously rich in mineral wealth, and that the reward for legitimate development will be great. The resources of the country in agriculture and stock-raising are so suggested and illustrated as to show that the wonderful wealth of timber, fisheries and mine are not unbalanced largess of Nature's prodigality, but that the possibilities of mixed industries are hopeful. The number before us is admirably illustrated. We have pictures in elegant half-tone of Upper Granville street, Victoria, of the Banks of British Columbia, British North America and Montreal, the Provincial Buildings, a view of Stanley Park, showing the semi-tropical luxuriance of the tree growth and hinting at climatic mildness, a general view of the city, views of Fraser River salmon fisheries, views of bathing beaches, and last, but by no means least, a fine coloured picture of the building in which "The Province" is manufactured. The up-to-dateness of our alert western confrere is evidenced by the publication of a folding map of the lower Mainland district, showing the bicycle routes—and they must be delightful ones—of the delta-gashed peninsula. The carnival number of "The Province" is a most creditable one and is marked by enterprise, honesty, literary and pictorial merit and gives one a highly favourable impression of the constituency which sends so breezy and welcome visitor weekly to THE EXAMINER sanctum. The influence of "The Province" in moulding the undoubtedly great future of British Columbia will be clean, healthy and high-toned, in the best sense of that much-abused term.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

MANITOBA, by a recent census, has a population of 193,345, an increase since 1886 of 84,785.

LAST year the revenue of the British post office was fifty-eight millions and the expenses fifty-five millions, a surplus of three millions.

PYNY-PECTORAL

Positively Cures COUGHS and COLDS

in a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects.

W. C. McCOMBER & Son, Bouchette, Que., report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. C. Chevrem of chronic cold in chest and bronchial tubes, and also cured W. C. McComber of a long-standing cold.

MR. J. H. HUTTY, Chemist, 328 Yonge St., Toronto, writes: "As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefits derived from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. The one with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

THE last report of the British postmaster-general shows that during the year 1895-6 the inconceivably large number of three thousand and thirty millions of letters, post cards, newspapers and parcels was sent through the post offices, showing that 101 must have been posted every second of the year, day and night.

IRELAND'S financial condition, judging by a recent official statement, is in a better state than for some years. The deposits in the banks on 30th June were $193,790,000, a higher figure than previously reached in that month, and nearly one-third more than in 1886. The Post Office Savings Bank deposits were $29,595,000. The Savings Bank held $40,235,000. Both these amounts are exceptionally high. Railway traffic returns for last half year also exceeded any recorded, and shipping interests were prosperous.

AN ENLIGHTENED POLICY.

If the province of Ontario should add the Thousand Islands or what is left of them (and a lot are left in public ownership) to its provincial parks, it will possess three of the finest natural parks in the world, namely the Algonquin or Nipissing Park, the Niagara Falls Park and the Thousand Island. We submit that the fact of Ontario possessing three such parks will be a fit subject for great legitimate pride by Canadians, an evidence of exceptional public spirit and broad-mindedness in our people. Quebec has followed Ontario's lead with regard to one fine stretch of lake, river and forest in the lower Laurentian, and it is to be hoped she will 'are long establish another in the neighbourhood of the head waters of the Ottawa and Gatineau rivers. More than that, it is to be hoped that all the other provinces of the Dominion will soon exhibit a similarly enlightened and desirable policy with regard to specially favoured territories in their unsettled domain, so that all over Canada there will be preserved to all time reservoirs of natural beauty and of the life of the native denizens of our mountains, forests, streams and lakes.—Ottawa Journal.

FASHION JOURNALS CALL ATTENTION TO BROWN SHADES.

You Get the Best Colours From Diamond Dyes.

The fashion journals are agreed that the best shades of Browns will be in favour as Fall colours this year.

Thousands of women are not in a position financially to purchase new dresses from season to season, and so have to content themselves with very cheap materials that rarely come in the new shades, or wear their old costumes.

For the benefit of women generally, it may be stated that last season's dresses can, with little work or trouble, be transformed into stylish costumes for Autumn wear.

The first great essential is to get the right colour. This part of the work can be done with the never-failing and reliable Diamond Dyes, which produce the richest and newest Browns, such as Seal Brown, Milan Brown, Red Brown, Olive Brown and Amber Brown.

No trouble to have a dress equal to new, if you use the Diamond Dyes. Do not experiment with the common imitation dyes that some dealers sell. The Diamond Dyes give the best colours, and they cost no more than the poor and deceptive dyes sold for the sake of large profits. Ask for the "Diamond;" refuse all others.

IN A LION'S GRIP.

The Beast Was Surly and the Keeper Was Badly Torn and Bitten—This Was at the Montreal Exhibition.

Montreal, Sept. 18.—During the performance of Hagenbach's trained wild animals at the Montreal Exposition this afternoon there was a very exciting scene, which was not on the regular program. One of the most interesting feats is when one of the trainers, Alexis CANOX, enters the lion's den and has a wrestling match with the lion. So far the feat has been performed successfully, but this afternoon the lion was in an ugly mood and no sooner had it put its paws over CANOX'S neck than it sunk its claws into the back of the man's neck and gave him a hug that made him black and blue in the face. The lion then sunk his teeth into CANOX'S neck. By this time the other attendants were aroused and they belabored the lion with an iron bar until he let go his hold. CANOX, who was almost fainting, made his escape from the cage. He was removed to the general hospital, where his wound was cauterized and dressed. No serious consequences are expected unless blood poisoning sets in. This is the second incident of a similar nature that has happened during the Exposition, Miss Pauline De Vere, a woman trainer, having been severely bitten in the arm by a young lion.

THE NILE EXPEDITION.

British Forces Have Passed the Third Cataract—Troops in Good Shape and Anxious to Fight.

Cairo, Sept. 18.—The Anglo-Egyptian expedition to the Soudan passed the Hannek, or third cataract of the Nile, to-day. The men all are eager for an encounter with the Dervishes. The expedition bivouacked at Abu Fatmeh, from which place Dervishes were visible on both sides of the river. It is expected that a battle will be fought to-morrow at Ferman, where the Dervishes are gathered in force. Abu Fatmeh, where the troops now are, is about forty miles north of Dongola.

A CLERGYMAN'S PRAISE

Of Ryckman's Kootenay Cure.

Mr. S. S. Ryckman, Hamilton, Ont.

Dear Sir.—I take great pleasure in giving you a statement regarding my case of rheumatism, with which I was afflicted for over thirty years. For the past five or six years the pain had gradually approached my breast and affected me so that I could not sleep on my left side. Another trouble I had was a kind of dyspepsia, known as gastric indigestion, from which I suffered considerably. I had to be very guarded as to what I ate, otherwise I paid the penalty. At present, since taking your valuable remedy known as Ryckman's Kootenay Cure, I am able to eat my meals without any bad effects and sleep all night without any pain or bad felling.

In addition, let me add that my rheumatism was so bad at times that I could not move myself. I am now like a different man and conscientiously recommend your medicine, Kootenay Cure, to anyone suffering from rheumatism or stomach trouble. I am glad to have found the remedy and willingly furnish you with this information that it may help others who are similarly afflicted. Wishing you success, I remain, yours truly, George Braun,

Pastor of the Evangelical Association. Hamilton, Aug. 10th, 1896.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

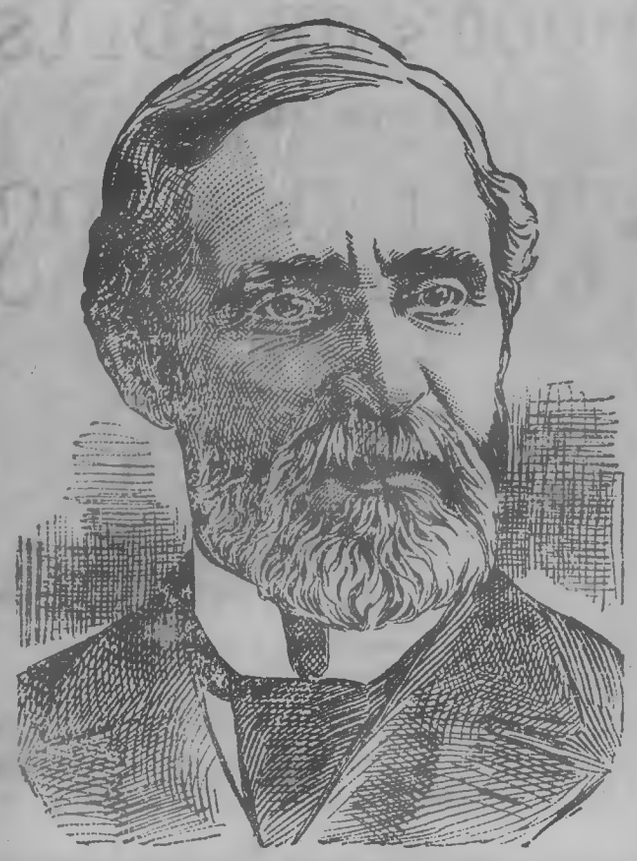
Troubles of a Clergyman.

He and His Family Are Wonderfully Blessed by Using Paine's Celery Compound.



Clergymen of all the various Christian denominations have from time to time given the strongest of testimony in favour of Paine's Celery Compound. No other medicine of the present day has ever been so highly spoken of and so generally recommended by the clergymen of Canada, as Paine's Celery Compound.

The honest, prompt and effective results that are always obtained by the users of Paine's Celery Compound, call forth unstinted praise after health, vigor and happiness take the place of sickness, weakness and disease. In all the church parishes of our country clergymen are quietly spreading the joyful news that Paine's Celery Compound banishes ill health and makes people well.

Just here it is imperative that we sound a note of warning for the benefit of all who determine to use Paine's Celery Compound, as there are miserable and deceptive celery preparations sold in some places. Be sure you ask for "Paine's," the kind that cures; see that the name is on each bottle that you buy.

The Rev. C. A. Schlipf, of Killaloe, Renfrew county, Ont., writes af follows:

"I have much pleasure in stating that I have used Paine's Celery Compound with grand results. Some time ago, loss of appetite and symptoms of kidney trouble and urinal disturbance made life miserable. Having heard much about the virtues of Paine's Celery Compound, I procured a supply and used it with wonderful benefit.

"I am pleased to say that the Compound was productive of great results in my family as a home medicine; all are much pleased with it."

MYSTERIOUS TYNAN.

He is Hobnobbing With English Detectives.

GIVEN A MORE COMFORTABLE CELL

Says His Own Food, Wine and Cigars—Again Asserted That He is a Government Agent — Correspondence Written for U.S. Readers and Politically Tinged.

New York, Sept. 18.—Julian Ralph cables from London to The Journal: The latest news I hear concerning the Fenian dynamite plot is that Scotland Yard is giving out the impression that Tynan will not be extradited from France. The attempt to magnify the apparently aimless plot into an attempt on the Czar's life seems to have about played out. Tynan is now in a larger and more comfortable cell. He spends his own money on food, wine and cigars, and hobnobs with the English detectives. He suffers only the loss of his liberty and his clothes at night, so that until Scotland Yard graciously vouchsafes graver details than we know to-day the case will continue to bear much of an opera bouffe aspect.

The scare came most opportunely for the Government, which was at its wits' ends to repress the more serious likelihood of explosions by the Gladstonians against the blood-soaked wretch who disgraces even the throne of Turkey. Tynan has helped Salisbury considerably.

The Conservative papers make "dynamite" sound deafeningly loud in order to drown the cries of outraged Christianity. The Liberal papers repeat the interesting theory cabled last night that Tynan had no plot at all except to satisfy the subscribers to the physical force fund with a pretence of activity. It is not published in any quarter that, frightened by the close-dogging detectives, Tynan turned informer, but history and gossip together are making it appear that he has been singularly fortunate in "slipping from under" every time the hand of the law has fallen on men with whom rumor has connected him in former Fenian fiascoes and offences. A former detective apprises me that in 1883 he was concerned in the seizure of a large quantity of rifles and revolvers in Hoxton, where they had been stored ready for use by Irish patriots. Walsh "went up" for seven years for his share in storing them. It was then said that the warehouse had been leased by Tynan, who was always spoken of as "the man in spectacles." Next came the Phoenix Park murders, and the subsequent hangings and imprisonments, but Tynan escaped and remained at large, with the whole world in the secret of his whereabouts. These are mere coincidences, of course, and point conclusively to nothing more than Tynan's good fortune.

My detective informant has a belief of his own that a relative of one of the recently released dynamiters exposed the most recent plot to the Government. The English Liberals have been hinting that the liberation of four prisoners was due to a "deal" between the Tories and the Irishmen in Parliament, by which the Tories got Irish votes for one of the Government bills. My informant says that late in the last session the Home Secretary announced emphatically that he saw no grounds for releasing any of the so-called political prisoners, yet a few weeks later they were released. What happened in the meantime my informant believes, was the betrayal of the present plot by a relative, seeking to gain the freedom of one of the dynamiters since released.

I sent a reporter to see Bell's arrival from Glasgow. When the train rolled into King's Cross Bell was seen walking—not handcuffed—between sleuths. He looked as if he had spent a hard night. He was haggard, unshaven and unwashed. He is a short, sturdily-built man, with an abnormally haggard face and jaundiced skin. The detectives hurried him into a "growler," or old-fashioned four-wheeled cab, whose horse proved the vehicle to have been specially provided, for he shot the cab out into the streets as never went a cab in London before. At Bow-street Bell tripped up the station house steps as if he were accustomed to call there every day. He gave the name of Edward J. Ivery of No. 211 Lexington-avenue, New York, and said he was an hotelkeeper. When taken before Magistrate Vaughan and put in the sheep pen called a "dock" the prisoner exhibited tidy linen at his neck and wrists. By that time, too, he had been shaved and made clean. He was charged with "unlawfully and maliciously conspiring with others to cause an explosion within the United Kingdom to endanger and injure property, also with counselling and abetting the commission of crime." He was remanded for a week.

New York, Sept. 18.—Detective Charles Heidelburg, when interviewed at quarantine this evening on his arrival on the steamer St. Louis from Southampton, denied absolutely that he had in any way been concerned in the arrest of the alleged dynamiters abroad.

IT WOULD MEAN WAR.

If Britain Undertook to Settle the Turkish Question Alone Russia Would at Once Move Against Her.

London, Sept. 18.—A few days ago Mr. Gladstone wrote a letter to the organizers of the Liverpool anti-Sultan demonstration, declaring that he would not attend if the resolutions to be submitted should include a summons to the Government to declare war against Turkey. In reply the organizers said they would be satisfied if Mr. Gladstone would attend the meeting.

Ex-Prime Minister Rosebery, writing to one of his supporters in Yorkshire, says: "We are face to face with Russia's declaration of August, 1895, that she would oppose separate action on the Turkish question by any power. Russia's attitude has not been modified. Going forward alone would therefore, involve a European war."

The Russian Ambassador paid a long visit to the Foreign Office this evening.

Athens, Sept. 18.—A despatch from Constantinople states that a number of Softas (theological students) and members of the Young Turkey party had a desperate fight in Galata on Wednesday. Fifteen of the combatants were killed. The despatch adds that many of the archives of the British Embassy have been placed for safety on the British guardship in the Bosphorus.

A New Woman at Work.

Miss Beatrix Jones of New York has taken up the art of landscape gardening, and one can often find her arranging earth and giving directions to her two crews of men, who are at work under her direction at Reef Point, her Bar Harbor home. Miss Jones is a young and attractive woman and is full of ambition. She has taken the contract to put the rough grounds of Messrs. W. H. Bliss of New York and Edgar Scott, the young Philadelphia millionaire, in trim for building. The Scott grounds cost $60,000 in their primeval state, and had Miss Jones not shown her cleverness in the new labor for women she would not, of course, have been intrusted with the task.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various forms resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble, Absolute secrecy assured. September Raspberries.

Mr. Fred. G. Lund left with THE EXAMINER a gill of perfectly ripened raspberries, plucked by him on Mr. A. P. Morgan's park lot in the south part of the town, on September 18th. These berries were good to the taste and did not possess the usually insipid, watery taste of raspberries ripened out of season. Is this phenomenal growth due to the new Government or to the new roof on the Morgan House block?

To Beautify Chatham.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son have received an order to decorate the town of Chatham for the Governor General's visit. Under the circumstances the town wants the best and it is a great compliment to this enterprising and resourceful firm that their services are demanded at so great a distance with scores of other decorators closer at hand. On Tuesday morning Mr. Reginald Turner and men leave to fulfill the order. Turner & Sons' decoration work is appreciated everywhere.

Pete Simons' Fall Preparations.

This enterprising tailoring establishment has received and opened out a magnificent stock for the fall trade. It consists of a grand and varied stock. Scotch, Irish and English Tweeds, Broadcloths, French Worsteds, Gentlemen's Furnishings, etc. All these goods are of the very best quality and are the very latest styles in materials and patterns. No such stock in town. Everybody come and see them. No trouble to show goods and no trouble to sell them once they are shown. No dull days with Pete Simons—first-class goods and the best workmanship keep him busy.

THE LATE THOMAS W. MILBURN.

Another Old Resident Passes Away.

This morning Mr. Thomas W. Milburn, of the township of Smith, Communication road, passed away, at the advanced age of 87 years. He was a life long neighbour and friend of the late Michael Sanderson, who preceeded him by one day only to the other world. Mr. Milburn was a native of Cumberland county, England, and came to Canada at the age of 9 years with his father and mother, the late John Milburn. When the family arrived in Peterborough they camped for some time near Spaulding's Bay. They then took up land in Smith on the Communication road. The deceased gentleman married Miss Edger, of Smith, and went to reside on the Communication Road near Milburn's school house. Mr. Millburn was in religion an Anglican, and in politics a Conservative, but he never took an active part in political matters, though for some terms a member of the township council. The surviving children are Mrs. W. Snowden, town, Mrs. M. S. Dean, of Bridgenorth, and Mr. W. Milburn, of Smith, lot 3, Communication road, at whose residence he died, and from which the funeral takes place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

WEDDED IN TORONTO.

Nuptials of Mr. W. Logan Craig and Miss Jennie Rea.

The Fergus Record contains the following reference to the marriage of Mr. W. Logan Craig, son of Mr. J. Craig, M.P.P., of Fergus, but formerly of Peterborough:

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Tuesday, the 8th inst., at the residence of Mr. Chas. Hynds, of Morris street, Toronto, where Miss Jennie Rea was married to Mr. W. Logan Craig, both popular young people of Fergus. At the appointed hour the wedding party entered the drawing room, which was beautifully decorated with flowers. The bride's gown was of heavy cream satin, trimmed with chiffon and pearls. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and maiden-hair fern. The bridesmaid, Miss Edith Craig, sister of the groom, wore a dainty nile green silk with roses. Mr. J. Hackney, of Guelph, cousin of the bride, assisted the groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Barker, formerly of Fergus. After the wedding breakfast was partaken of and the usual good wishes expressed, the newly wedded couple left on a trip to Montreal and Quebec before returning to their home in Fergus.

THE EXAMINER desires to extend hearty congratulations.

A COUPLE OF ACCIDENTS.

Mr. Joe Lannon Breaks his Leg—Wm. Brown's Foot Injured.

This morning as Mr. Joseph Lannon was passing through the alley leading from Simcoe street to the C. P. R. Hotel yards he slipped on a wet plank, and falling had the misfortune to break his thigh bone. The fracture is considered a serious one by Dr. King, but the patient is stated to be progressing favourably. Mr. Lannon is connected with the C. P. R. Hotel barber-shop.

Yesterday morning Mr. W. Brown of No. 336 Reid street, was seriously injured while at work at the Central Bridge Works. A huge 800-pound weight fell on his foot in such a manner as to crush it badly. At the time the weight fell Mr. Brown's foot was projecting over the edge of a raised plank, and the sudden force of the blow was so great as to break in two the sole of his heavy boot.

NON-SUPPORT OF HIS FAMILY.

A Family Man Brought to Time at the Police Court.

There was another case of non-support and ingratitude before the Police Court this morning. The Children's Aid Society have got tired of helping a man who, when he got work at $2 a day made no effort to take care of his children. He promptly paid ten dollars on account, however, when Mr. Wood explained the severe penalty he was liable to, and promised to go into proper quarters at once.

Prof. Dorenwend.

Ladies and gentlemen who require hair goods should not forget that Prof. Dorenwend, the great hair goods artist, will be Peterborough, at Huffman House, on Tuesday, Sept. 22nd, with new samples of the very latest and most becoming styles in Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, wavy and curly Trouts, Switches in every length and shade. His skill is well known as is practically demonstrated by the thousands who wear his goods. As this is to be his last trip this fall, those in need of his art should call on him. This summer he has visited all the large and leading American cities, where he picked up suggestions to assist his ideas of new styles which he shows on this visit. His stay is limited, so be there on time.

MADOC WINS FROM THE PETERBOROUGHS.

LOCAL MEN DOWNED ON THE LACROSSE FIELD.

Peterborough Sustains a Defeat from a Team which they had no Occasion to Fear—Madoc Agrees not to Claim the Game as an Outsider was Played—Peterborough is Thus in the Finals For the O.L.A. Championship.

The Peterboroughs have often boasted that it takes a good team to beat them on their own grounds, and Madoc can justly say the same. It would take a better team than the Peterboroughs to do the trick, and although the boys made a great effort yesterday they were defeated by the score of 5 goals to 2.

Madoc had only one outside man on, and it was agreed before the game was called that it would be simply an exhibition match, and would not count in the championship series, Madoc agreeing to sign a document to Peterborough, providing the exhibition match could be played, and no mention made of the fast outsider.

Madoc is anxious to build up lacrosse in the town, and as this can only be done by putting a fast team upon the field and winning games, it was thought advisable to import a few good men for the matches until the younger local men have a chance to develop. From the game which the Madocs played yesterday, however, it is evident that they are quite able to hold their own amongst any of the C. L. A. clubs without having to work in even one ringer. The team has come forward very rapidly since they won from the juniors a couple of weeks ago. It will be remembered that the Madocs played four Tecumseh men against the juniors and won from them by the score of five to three. Yesterday they had on and yet defeated the seniors by five to two.

The field is one which it is indeed difficult for a visiting team to win upon, as it lies in a little valley about fifty yards wide and the Madoc's do great work on the sides of the hills, being perfectly at home, where a visiting team flounders hopelessly around after the ball. The ground is very rough also and there are but few of the Peterboroughs who did not bark their shins on the big boulders which were scattered around so plentifully. The Madoc's would have given the Peterborough's a tough argument on any field so it can readily be imagined how easily they worsted them when playing on a ground of this description.

Quite a number from town accompanied the boys to Madoc and as the train was a special one very

QUICK TIME WAS MADE.

A score or more lacrosse enthusiasts were picked up along the line and the excursion train was well filled by the time Madoc was reached. The band was at the station and the village was gay with floating banners.

The boys got on the field as quickly as possible and the game was called at 3.28 o'clock, the teams lining up as follows:

Peterborough.		Madoc.
Dobbin	goal	A Collinge
Brown	point	R Collinge
Mein	cover point	T Seymour
Lynch	1 def	J Kirk
Glover	2nd def	C Kirk
Borland	3rd def	T Kirk
Begley	centre	G Ray
King	3rd home	F Sutton
Rubidge	2nd home	C Collinge
Lipsett	1st home	W Sinclair
Phelan	outside home	J Stoneburg
McCabe	inside home	Geo Burns
Geo Hopkins	field captain	C McDonald
C LeBrun	umpire	E Seymour

H Leale, Tweed, referee.

The first game occupied fourteen minutes and was a hard fought one, both goalkeepers having to time and again, but the greater amount of the play took place at the Madoc end of the field. Dick Collinge put up a superb game at point for the Madocs and stopped many a shot. Finally the scene of operation was transferred to the Peterborough goal and Collinge scored the first game for the Madocs.

In the second game the Madocs didn't see much of the ball, but it was impossible for the Peterboroughs to score a goal as there were always from three to five Madoc stalwarts in front of the flags, and though the shots rained in thick and heavy everything was stopped. After some pretty combination work in front of the goals to draw out the Madoc defence, Rubidge passed to King, who tipped it over to Lipsett, and then ran in and receiving it from Lipsett again, scored for Peterborough. Time 5 minutes.

PETERBOROUGH ALSO TOOK

the next game, King scoring in about half a minute. The crowd now thought that the famous Peterborough had opened up and would score the next half dozen goals in short order, but such was not the case, as the Madoc home seemed to waken up and their dashing style of play over the boulders and around the hill tops appeared to completely puzzle the Peterboroughs. Glover and Lynch worked liked Trojans on the defence, but it was no use, and Madoc scored the next four goals. Two of the goals were scored by Brown of the Peterboroughs as the ball glanced in between the flags off his stick.

NOTES.

The small amount of practice which the Peterboroughs have had told woefully against them, and it is to be hoped that if they are to play off against Georgetown in the finals that every available moment will be put in on the field.

The field didn't seem much bigger than a hockey rink, and as all of the players wore red suits it was difficult to make head or tail out of the play. The players were greatly puzzled to tell just who was who, and frequently the ball was passed to an opponent.

It was amusing to notice how the Madoc men played around the hills, being completely out of sight sometimes.

If yesterday's game was claimed by the Madoc's it would have been protested, so Madoc has agreed to let it go to Peterborough by default. A letter to this effect has been received by the secretary of the Peterboroughs.

Madoc will not come up on Tuesday to play the return match in the championship series, agreeing to also default this game to Peterborough. An effort will be made to arrange an exhibition match, however, later on in the week.

DID NOT HEED THE WARNING.

The Plain Reason Why Heart Disease Claims Many Victims.

If the many who, in some degree, are troubled with affection of the heart would but keep near them a remedy which would ease trouble before it assumes more serious conditions, life would many a time be saved. This is one of the most striking elements of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. When palpitation, dizziness, that terrible smothering feeling, shows itself, a single dose of this medicine taken promptly will remove the immediate trouble, and a little preservation in the continuation of the medicine will banish the disease. EXHIBITION POINTERS.

Special Attractions Recalled.

It would be an excellent idea for the management of the Central Exhibition to provide accomodation in the grounds for those who use bicycles to visit the grounds. The bicycle has come to stay and if it comes in strong enough force to the exhibition, though it may not stay long, a little attention to the safe-keeping of wheels—a tent, a trusty boy and a simple system of cheques—would be an accommodation that would be greatly appreciated.

Signorini Evalina and Tyrena, the terpsechorean artists, who appear at the Central Exhibition in their gracefully unique dances, are the same demoiselles dansantes who so captured Li Hung Chung at the Toronto Industrial and whose neatly hosed lines of beauty and airy economy of attire challenged His Celestiality's ardent and inquisitive admiration. Li's experience in the critical exercise of his talents for the appraisement of beauty involved in his selecting his two thousand wives should make him a good judge, and that Evalina and Tyrena should have caught his fancy is a tribute to their attractive appearance, which is only equalled by the excellent dancing, which will be seen at the Exhibition grounds Tuesday afternoon and evening and Wednesday afternoon.

SHOW ROOM OPENING.

The formal opening of Messrs. R. H. Kells & Co's Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms will take place on TUESDAY, SEPT. the 22nd, and continue during the remainder of the week. We will be pleased to welcome the Ladies and show them through our various departments. R. H. KELLS & CO.

The Cat out of the Bag.

A minister in the south of Scotland had a good old lady parishioner who, to show her affection for her shepherd, sent him every morning, by the hands of her daughter, a couple of what she wished him to understand were new laid eggs for breakfast. The eggs on being delivered were usually warm, as if just taken from the hen's nest, but one morning the minister's maid on taking the eggs from the girl observed: "The eggs are no warm the day, Jeanie; are they fresh?" "Oo, ay," said the girl, "they're quite fresh, but mother couldna get the cat to sit on them this morning."

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

THE STORY OF A STORE.

GENEALOGY OF THE GOLDEN LION.

A Leading Dry Goods Store and Carpet House of the Midland District—Fair Made It—That is Fair the Proprietor, Fair Dealing and Fair Profits.

The Golden Lion, Robert Fair's palatial Dry Goods Store and Carpet House is a decided fact in the commercial enterprise of the town and district, and a short sketch of the origin, development and extent of a business that fills so large a space in our mercantile life will be of general interest.

To begin at the beginning, Robert Fair, of the Golden Lion, the enterprising proprietor—who, by the way, is about celebrating his commercial majority—the completion of his 21st year in business—began as mere lad in a modest way—in January, 1876, in the village of Centreville, South Monaghan, succeeding Mr. Hugh Waddell, now of town. Though this might seem an unpromising centre for business, yet with the rich country around it, the thrift of the prosperous farmers in the vicinity, and aided by the prestige derived from succession to the oldest and best established business in that vicinity, Mr. Fair, conducting his business on the motto that he has ever since followed—always furnishing reliable goods at fair prices, met with steady and sure success. During this time he also performed the duties of postmaster and township clerk.

Here a misfortune that might have daunted a less resolute and enterprising young man befall Mr. Fair, in the wiping out of his business by fire. With the small amount realized from his insurance, Mr. Fair to a partnership in a dry goods firm in Port Hope, where business for a time was conducted with fair success. But the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway through Peterborough, and the better business prospects this town presented, turned Mr. Fair's affections hitherward, and made this place his mercantile Mecca. In the fall of 1883 Mr. Fair succeded to the thriving and well-established business of Mr. T. Bradburn, a step which has been amply justified by the leaps and bounds in the way of progress that have followed it, aided by a constant trust in the watchwords of Mr. Fair's mercantile creed—keeping undoubtedly reliable goods, and selling at fair profits, and thus sustaining the reputation which the Golden Lion had already gained and still holds. Under the stimulus of new blood and by the help of the old motto and methods, the business throve apace, customers increased, confidence strengthened, and it was soon found necessary to enlarge the already commodious premises and facilities, which was done by the addition of a large annex to the rear, introducing better lighting, adding new floors and giving access to them by means of a Swift passenger hydraulic elevator, which gives the customers speedy access to the four floors and basement now devoted to the demands of the immense business of the Golden Lion.

The Golden Lion is one of the most centrally and conveniently located business sites in Peterborough, about midway between Simcoe and Hunter streets on the west side of George, easy of access to the trains of both railways, to the boats and to the main thoroughfares leading to town from every direction—in fact to vary the old saying, "all roads lead to Fair's," whose establishment is easily

DISTINGUISHED FROM ALL OTHERS

by the conspicuous symbol of the majestic Golden Lion, conchant, against the front of the building, and the significant numbering and lettering of the handsome sign:—

383—ROBERT FAIR—383.

But attractive as is the exterior with the above significant adornments and its large and commodious plate glass display windows, replete with artistically disposed hints of the contents of the interior, and they are indeed only hints of what is behind and within, the interior is surpassingly attractive.

The four spacious floors and basement of the Golden Lion are each devoted to separate and distinct lines, in some cases subdivided into several departments.

The first floor is devoted to dress goods, dress costumes and silks, prints, cretonne and drapings, hosiery, gloves, corsets, laces, ribbons, veilings, imported and domestic cotton staples.

The second floor contains the millinery show rooms, the ready-made cloak department, and the dress and mantle order department.

The third floor is given over exclusively to an unlimited and beautiful stock of carpets rugs, and housefurnishings.

On the fourth floor is found the great stock of English floor oil cloths, linoleums and mattings. Here also is stored a large reserve stock, for Mr. Fair being a direct importer it is necessary to order enough of staple and fancy goods to last the season.

In this space it is impossible to go the smallest way into details of the individual contents of the numerous departments on the several floors. The public know that they are crowded with goods purchased from the best markets of the world and without one profit between the manufacturer and the customer. In the purchase of all goods high quality and reliability is the first condition to be met and a reasonable price the next. "Honest goods" at "fair prices" are the password and countersign of the Golden Lion.

The several departments are presided over by experts in their several lines, nearly all of whom have had their business training in the Golden Lion and have long been identified with its prosperity and their advice and counsel are always available for the assistance of the proprietor.

Mr. Harry Adams assists in the general management of the establishment and has a general supervision over all the departments.

Miss Bella Thompson has charge of the counting house department, Miss Annie Armstrong is identified with the millinery department and Miss Neild shapes the destinies of the dress and mantle order department. The cloak department is presided over by Miss Raine Mr. Harry Adams pays special attention and takes especial pride in the Carpet Department, Miss Gillespie has the oversight of the department of Hosiery, Gloves, Ribbons and Corsets, and Mr. W. A. Beaton has charge of the Dress Goods, Dress Linings and Silks. Altogether the Golden Lion requires for the administration of the several departments the services of forty employees.

The management of this great dry goods house—the buying, etc., are done with a view of Peterborough becoming a large city and the proprietor, Mr. R. Fair, has an interest in its becoming such and this explains his active association with all that concerns its advancement as shown by his having been President of the Board of Trade and being now a member of the Board of Education.

Reliability in its goods has always been the motto of the Golden Lion and this explains the fact—once a customer always a customer. Many who have been patrons of this store since its establishment are customers still and those of these who have left town still remember the motto of reliablity which won their good will and send back their orders from the Northwest and even from far-distant British Columbia, thus maintaining a tie between the Golden Lion and the Golden Land.

The secret of the high grade character and exclusive excellence of the goods of the Golden Lion, connected with moderate price, is from the great producing establishments and centres of the old land as well as the new, thus dropping out intermediate profits and admitting of selling to the customer at the closest possible approach to first cost.

The stock of the Golden Lion is purchased direct in the following markets:—In Great Britain—Manchester, London, Lancaster, Nottingham, Kidderminster, Halifax, Glasgow and Belfast; on the continent—Berlin, Chemnitz, St. Gall and Paris; in the United States—Philadelphia, Buffalo, Boston. Besides purchases are made in Canada direct from the leading manufacturers. Never before has the Golden Lion made such advantageous purchases as this year and never before has Mr. Fair been able to offer so sterling and reliable a line of reliable goods in every one of the numerous departments of his great establishment.

Such is, in brief, a history of the rise and progress of an establishment that has reached a foremost and unique place among our great commercial houses, and the corner stones upon which its solid reputation has been built up—reliable goods, fair values—still underlie all its operations. On no other foundation can a solid and enduring commercial business be built up—win the confidence of the public by merit, and one has only to retain that merit to win the success which THE EXAMINER wishes may continue to be the reward of the Golden Lion, through whose numerous departments ever runs the golden thread of reliable goods at fair values—and this is inevitable, for Exhibition Engagement.

The Harry Lindley Dramatic Company have been secured for a three nights' engagement commencing Monday, Sept. 21st. Everything new and up-to-date. Read what the Belleville Sun says: "The Lindley Company presented the romantic western melodrama, 'The Golden Cliff,' to a good audience last night at the Carman opera house. Mr. Lindley as Barney McGuire kept the audience in a constant state of good humor by his many witticisms. The support was good, the acting of Miss. Secord as Nance belug a well interpreted piece of character acting." Price reduced to 10, 20 and 30c. Seats now on sale at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

BICYCLE PENALTIES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—This morning in the police Court four fines imposed on four reputable citizens for riding on the sidewalks testified to the rather unseasonable zeal of the police force. These gentlemen all admitted the charge. But in the interests of cycling the circumstances should be stated. Not one of these gentlemen are law-breakers in spirit. Their offence consisted not in defiance of the bylaw, but in using the walks for a short distance where the streets were impassable, and their offence, if offence it can be called, was trifling and it is to my mind a peddling and petty act of officiousness for public servants to annoy the public under such circumstances. If the police were always so zealous it would not be so remarkable to pounce upon these gentlemen who did not enjoy the friendship of the police, as some persons do who have been known to wheel past an officer on his beat and salute him and receive a friendly salute in return, without being molested. Every winter we see things ten times as dangerous—driving without bells—and my memory cannot recall an instance in which complaints were laid by the police. If we were compelled to live up to the letter of all our laws and bylaws the most of us would be in jail, and it seems to me that the police should use a little discretion and common sense in dealing with infractions of the bicycle bylaw, especially at a time when sewer operations make the streets utterly impassable. If the town in its wisdom wishes to show its animosity towards the popular pastime of wheeling by passing a stringent bylaw forbidding the use of the walks, it becomes the town to keep our streets in a condition that makes their use possible for a wheel. They are not in that condition now, neither in the vicinity of the sewer works nor in many of the streets of the town, which are in the most disreputable state of disrepair known to the history of the town and would be a disgrace to the most backwoods country village. Let the authorities give us good streets and then they can fine offenders of the bylaw with a good grace, but so long as the streets are kept unfit for use by wheels the latter have a moral, if not a legal, right to take to the walks in self defence. If the matter were tested I have no doubt the legal right could be established. It should be borne in mind that the police and the councillors are the servants of the people, not the masters.

Yours etc.,
SPROCKET.

grand concert and exhibit at the fair grounds during the Peterborough Exhibition. Concert will take place at 4 o'clock on Tuesday, Sept. 22nd, and Mr. Geo. E. Dies, the genial manager of the Peterborough Branch, has spared no pains to secure the best musical talent obtainable for the occasion. An interesting programme of high class instrumental and vocal music will be rendered. Free to all. The pianos exhibited on this occasion are those made expressly for this exhibition and are some of the finest that have ever been shown in Ontario. The R.S. Williams & Sons Co. are so highly pleased with the patronage they have received from the people of Peterborough and surrounding country since the opening of this branch that they feel it a duty and a pleasure to put a class of instruments on the market worthy of the patronage they have and expect to receive—one which in quality of tone, design and workmanship is unequalled.—GEO. A Narrow Escape.

During a recent thunderstorm, while Mr. Thomas Cox was camped at his cottage on Jubilee Point he had a narrow escape from being seriously injured or worse. It seems that it was raining very hard that night and Mr. Cox was making preparation to retire for the night, when all at once the room was filled with a bright red light and immediately after there was a tremendous crash. Mr. Cox was stunned for some time but managed to get back to bed, and in the morning it was discovered that lightning had struck a large tree which stood beside the cottage window, smashing it into kindling wood. Mr. Cox will not forget his experience for some time to come.

CINNAMON COATED

Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are coated like a Cinnamon drop, very small and delightful to take.

One pill a dose, 40 in a vial for 10 cents.

Their popularity is a mighty whirlwind sweeping competitors before it like chaff.

No pain, no griping, no inconvenience. Small in size and pleasant to the taste. Most pleasant after effects. 40 in a vial, 10 cents, at all druggists.

Beware of These Bills.

There are a lot of $1 bills made similar to the old Jacques Cartier $2 bills being circulated in town at present. These bills are a little smaller than the ordinary Dominion of Canada notes, and are counterfeits. In the left hand corner is the head of the famous Frenchman. They are of the denomination of one dollar and are rather yellower than the bills now in use. They are dated 1870, and the left hand signature can easily be distinguished as counterfeit.

Large Bargains.

China Hall has filled one of its large windows with a very pretty line of Hall lamps, bought at a bargain and will clear them out at $1.50 each, worth $2.50. Only 100 to be sold. Sale begins on Saturday. Also see the line of Banquet Lamps with large shades for $2. Another bargain.

A business man is not the most patient creature in the world. He cannot stop work every minute to bother with an irritating skin disease, or a hacking cough that insists on breaking into his bargain-making. Neither will he wait to hear any long-drawn-out story of the cause of his ailment. He doesn't care two straws about a fine spun theory of how he should treat himself. He may be predisposed to scrofula, or consumption. "That," he will tell you "has nothing to do with the case." He wants to be well. If he can be cured, write out a prescription and send in your bill. So, here's the first part of the proposition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine that permeates the whole body as water goes through a sponge. It is a microbe hunter and a microbe killer. It is a well-known fact that many persons of scrofulous blood, encourage the breaking out of unsightly sores, to prevent the disease going to the lungs. There is no need of living in this state of dread and discomfort. Purify the blood. It can be done. The "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure 98 per cent. of all consumptive cases, also of all other lingering, bronchial, throat and lung diseases. Don't allow a druggist to persuade you into taking something that he says is "just as good." Maybe it's better for him—better for his profits. Take the "Golden Medical Discovery"—the greatest discovery of the age. In addition, in order to know yourself better, send to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., 31 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only, and get in return, Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is a book of 1008 pages, illustrated, and is full of common sense talk that any one who can read will understand.

And here is the testimony of Mrs. E. E. Enpaw, of Carey, Ohio, in regard to the "Golden Medical Discovery": "I had a troublesome skin disease. I suffered much from surface sores. Nothing helped me until I tried the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' A year or two later I had lung trouble. Again the 'Discovery' cured me."

HOW GAUDAUR DID IT.

Stanbury Never Had the Ghost of a Show—There Was Scarcely Any Speculation Prior to the Contest.

Toronto, Sept. 18.

The English mail arrived yesterday containing particulars of the big boat race for the championship of the world. The London papers and all the correspondents agree with the cabled reports that the Canadian had the easiest sort of victory. One of the Canadians who saw the contest was Dr. John C. Warbrick, who was well known here a few years ago as a member of the Toronto Lacrosse and Toronto Rugby Clubs. In a letter to the Sporting Editor of The World he writes:

The race proved to be an easy thing for Gaudaur. I saw it for almost half a mile, having followed them along the bank of the river. Gaudaur rowed in splendid style and pulled a fine, easy stroke, while he had everything his own way during the whole course.

Stanbury appeared to be completely used up and laboured greatly in his shell, while he was never in the race after Hammersmith Bridge was passed. A great many people were disappointed because it was such an easy race. Still, Gaudaur rowed like a champion and waved his cap from time to time at the people, who cheered him from the banks of the river. He was given a great reception at Putney upon his return, while it took a great many policemen to keep the crowds back who were anxious to see the winner. It could not have been a finer day for a race, while the water was very smooth.

Gaudaur certainly struck the water first, and though he only put in 18 strokes in the first half and 35 in the full minute, to 50 and 37 by the Australian, he went quickly to the front, and opposite the Putney Steamboat Pier led by about a quarter of a length, but at Alexander's the oars were even level. Then Stanbury began to slowly draw away, and at the end of the Fulham Embankment he was a good half length to the good. The station now favored the Canadian, and amidst intense excitement he slowly went up. So well within him was the going that offers of "Gaudaur for a tenner" were heard on all sides. He had drawn level as they rowed past the mouth of the Beverley Brook—half a mile from the start—and off Craven Steps (time 3 min. 2 sec.) he had gained a lead of fully half a length, and though both men were striking 31, was going decidedly the better. At the end of Craven Grounds he was clear, and there was about a foot of daylight between the boats as they passed the mile mark, in 4 min. 32 sec. The station now began to tell in favor of Stanbury, and the Canadian could get no further away, though he did not slacken in the least. As they went past the Crab Tree the boats were just overlapping. Making the Soapworks bend Stanbury put on a spurt, and, gaining half a length in a few strokes, once more raised the hopes of his friends, and odds of 15 to 10 were in several places snapped up about Him.

As they neared Hammersmith Bridge Gaudaur was out of his water. In seeing this Stanbury made a desperate effort to foul him, and repeated it under the bridge (time 8 min. 52 sec.). Stanbury then followed Gaudaur into mid-stream, and off his quarters, the Rutland Hotel, Hammersmith, just succeeded in touching the stern of his rival's boat. He stopped and claimed the foul, and from this moment it may be said that he virtually retired, as, seeing that Gaudaur had got away with a lead of half a dozen lengths he never made another effort. Gaudaur, however, continued to row hard, and at Chiswick was 27 lengths in front, a distance which he had increased to 30 lengths as he rowed past the post in 23 min. 1sec., Stanbury following him 42 sec. later. The Australian rowed up to the umpire, Mr. W. J. Imes, and claimed the race on the foul, but that gentleman promptly gave his decision in favor of Gaudaur, who was undoubtedly on the day, at any rate, much the better man.

It is almost needless to say the result was a great surprise, and the eagerness with which the Canadian closed with Stanbury's challenge is now easily accounted for. At the same time it was obvious that Stanbury was a different man to when he rowed Harding. Even when he was leading his action was heavy and laboured, and once fairly collared he seemed to lose all heart. When he first attempted to foul Gaudaur, in all probability, had he succeeded, he would have won the race, but afterwards he went out of his way to follow his opponent, and his last attempt was evidently his dying effort. After going about a mile, however, something appeared to be the matter with his right shoulder, but it would seem that this is only his ungainly style of rowing. Too much praise cannot be accorded to Gaudaur for the style in which he rowed throughout, and it would seem as if, after having tested Stanbury's speed, he allowed him to take the slight lead he gained on sufferance. He really appeared able to have left his man any time he liked had he so wished it.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS HEALTHY.

The Avenue Through Which Much of the Disease of the Day Travels.

When the sanitary conditions of a town are in first-class working order there is little doubt but that such a community will be a healthy one in which to live. The kidneys constitute the sanitary machinery of the system. Keep these clean, pure, and in healthful working condition, and 90 per cent. of the serious diseases of the day would be banished. In South American Kidney Cure is found a remedy that removes quickly and effectively the obstructions that constantly arise in the kidneys, and that puts them in proper working shape immediately. It relieves in six hours. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

THUGS IN TORONTO.

Mr. Cashman of The Globe Knocked Senseless

AND ROBBED BY TWO FOOTPADS.

The Affair Took Place on Queen-Street—A Policeman Saw the Attack and Gave Chase, Firing at the Scoundrels Two Men Locked Up.

Toronto, Sept. 18.

A most daring assault and highway robbery occurred at midnight on Queen-street west near Bay-street, the victim being Mr. Michael G. Cashman, who lives at 18 Gerrard-street west, and is foreman of the mailing department of The Globe newspaper. Mr. Cashman was going east on the south side of Queen-street, when two men rushed up behind him. One grasped him around the shoulders and said, "Now give it to him." The other man immediately struck Mr. Cashman a murderous blow in the right ear, rendering him unconscious.

Policeman Townsend (176) was only a block away on the other side of the street. He had noticed two suspicious characters around, and was watching them. He saw Mr. Cashman struck down, and rushed to the scene. The robbers had left their victim's senseless form lying on the sidewalk and dashed along Queen and down Bay. Townsend fired his revolver at them, and blew his whistle furiously. The fugitives turned west on Richmond-street, and went to Sheppard-street, where, seeing other officers approaching, they went into hiding.

Patrol Sergeant Martin was "visiting" Constable Redford at Bay and Adelaide-streets, when Townsend's shot rang out. The two officers ran along to Sheppard-street, and with Townsend instituted a quick search for the men.

One of the fugitives ran out from a shaded place, but to get away had to pass Policeman Redford, who tripped him up and caught him. The other was found by the policemen lying curled up on the grating outside of the Young Women's Christian Guild premises. He was apparently asleep, but the officers soon persuaded him that he wasn't, and fished him out of his corner. He yawningly whined that a lady had told him he could sleep in the place, but the story didn't go, and he was arrested.

In the meantime other officers had gone to look after Mr. Cashman. When they reached him Mrs. Jemima Mann, who lives close by, was leaning over him, trying to bring him to. His broken watch chain was found beside him. After about 15 minutes he recovered consciousness, and was able to go to the station to lay an information.

The blow he received caused his ear to bleed profusely, but, accompanied by officers, he was well enough to go to his home on Gerrard-street.

With their prisoners the officers went to Agnes-street Police Station. There the two thugs registered as Edward McPherson, London, aged 30, and Thomas McDonald, Kingston, aged 22. Neither of them had Mr. Cashman's watch when searched, and the police think they threw it away when Townsend so quickly got after them.

Before going on a sea-voyage or into the country, be sure and put a box of Ayer's Pills in your valise. You may have occasion to thank us for this hint. To relieve constipation, biliousness and nausea, Ayer's Pills are the best in the world. They are also easy to take.

Feline Women.

Why is it that "felinity"—for want of a better word—seems to be an almost wholly feminine attribute? Rarely, if ever, do you come across a man with that small, sly, stealthy streak in his nature that we recognize as "catty." It isn't innate to man, and he hasn't time to cultivate it. Yet among women it is unusual not to find some traces of it, even in the largest, kindliest natures. It is chiefly engendered by sewing societies and the like; in other words, narrow lives. Although "small" in one sense, and although, of course, by no means ranking with the seven deadly sins, this feline quality manages to play some pretty desperate havoc in the world. It makes mischief wherever it goes. Gossip, busybodyishness, malice, uncharitableness, slander and many other peace-destroying things must follow directly in its wake. Indirectly it induces all sorts of evils. Everyone who has taken the trouble to reflect upon the "sisters three and such branches of learning" must acknowledge that it is the little things of life that really count for the most; it is they that have a way of turning the tide of events, the most insignificant word or act sometimes shaping destiny itself. But there is no small thing responsible for larger, more impressive results than this same feline quality. And as an altogether feminine prerogative it is one that women need not be proud of.

As Old as Noah.

Mr. Reynolds is a bright and well-preserved old gentleman, but to his granddaughter Mabel he seems very old, indeed. She had been sitting on his knee and looking at him seriously for a long time one day, when she asked, suddenly:

"Grandpa, were you in the ark?"

"Why, no, my dear?" gasped her astonished grandparent.

Mabel's eyes grew large and round with astonishment.

"Then, grandpa," she asked, "why weren't you drowned?"

Bewilderment of grandparent.—London Answers.

Trilby's Foot.

The step 'twixt the sublime and the ridiculous is quickly made. Surely literature presents no more grotesque idealization than Trilby's foot, and the numerous worshippers who have figuratively speaking bent knees and kissed the big toe of the foot, when reason once more comes to their rescue, will feel as if the production of the genus Ass were perennial. By the way, did you notice when reading Trilby how highly it commended Putnam's Corn Extractor, which renders impossible the discordant excrescence, corns. Trilby's foot would not be worthy of homage if marred by corns; neither would yours. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

PONG WAH'S TRIBULATIONS.

A Former Lady Love Pounced Upon Him and Was About to Take Summary Vengeance.

Hamilton, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Pong Wah Lee was in more trouble to-night. Mrs. Mary Beah, to whom he used to pay his respects before he was married, and gave costly dresses and jewelry to, went on a tear, and gaining entrance to Pong's home via the back door, pounced upon him, threatening to shoot him and was about to carry out her threat when one of the Chinamen grabbed the revolver, which was ready for business.

It was a 22-calibre. The woman claimed the millionaire Chinaman had been the cause of the ruin of her home and wanted revenge at any cost. She was arrested and will be tried to-morrow. This will be refreshing news to Pong's real Mellcan wife, who is at present residing in Toronto, having left her husband last week as the result of a row, in which the pig-tailed washee-washee man tore into ribbons and burnt a number of her silk dresses.

DILKE'S PESSIMISM.

He Warns the Country of the Dangers of Isolated Action Against Turkey and Talks of the Weakness of the Fleet.

London, Sept. 17.—Sir Charles Dilke, who is considered by many an authority on European politics and on British Imperial defence, has written a letter on the Armenian agitation, in which he refers to the proved fickleness of English public opinion on the varying phases of the eastern question and warns the country, looking to the weakness of the fleet and the unpopularity of England, against isolated action against Turkey. He continues by saying: "The fleet could force the Dardanelles, but only with heavy loss and at the risk of entailing a general war, on which our national existence would be staked. Forcible action elsewhere than at Constantinople, by the seizure of material guarantees, instead of preventing, might aggravate the chances of a massacre at Constantinople and entail the partition of the Ottoman Empire between the powers, by which we would have much to lose and nothing to gain, except a most dangerous inheritance impossible to defend."

Zola Will Die Poor.

Zola is not a rich man. In spite of the enormous success of his books and the large annual income he has received from their sale, like many other authors, he has not possessed that business capacity which would enable him to take care of or accumulate a fortune. Those who know him best predict that he will die a poor man.

A CONSTABLE TALKS.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

Unlocks all the clogged avenues of the Bowels, Kidneys and Liver, carrying off gradually, without weakening the system, all the impurities and foul humors of the secretions; at the same time Correcting Acidity of the Stomach, curing Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Headaches, Dizziness, Heartburn, Constipation, Dryness of the Skin, Dropsy, Dimness of Vision, Jaundice, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Fluttering of the Heart, Nervousness and General Debility; all these and many other similar complaints yield to the happy influence of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ALWAYS CURE

AFTER TEN YEARS SUFFERING

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 29TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

WITH BALDNESS

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

M'GIVERIN'S TERRIBLE BLOWS.

Wanderers of Chicago Away Behind the Canadians, But Still a Draw.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—The Canadians gained a big lead in the match at 39th-street against the Wanderers yesterday, putting on a score of 169 runs, while the Wanderers only reached 68 for the loss of eight wickets. Play was commenced at 12 o'clock. Fraser won the toss and sent the foreigners to bat on a soft wicket. Cooper and Walker out on 20 runs before the latter was bowled by Williams, who took Cooper's wicket. Laing was in rare batting form, putting together 50 runs before he was dismissed by a brilliant bit of fielding by Moon. McGiverin, Dean and Collins contributed 22, 21 and 19 respectively in pretty style. The innings closed for 169.

The Wanderers failed before the bowling of McGiverin, who was in great form on a wicket which suited him. He took seven wickets for 25 runs. Davis, Bradley, Williamson and Williams batted steadily, but the other members of the team made a poor showing. When time was called eighth wickets had fallen for 68 runs.

To-day the match was ended in a draw, because the visitors were unable to get out all of the Wanderers in their second innings before the call of time, one player remaining who did not bat. The score for the two days' play, however, made the contest really a victory for the Canadians, they having made 168 runs to the Wanderers 170, and sending only seven men to bat in their second innings for the purpose of reaching the home team within the limited time. H. B. McGiverin, the great slow bowler from Hamilton, again made a fine display of his skill, getting eight wickets for 78 runs in the second innings and helping to put out seven men in the Wanderers' first innings. In the two days the score was: Wanderers, first innings 70, second innings 100 for nine wickets; Canadians, first innings 169, second innings 97 for six wickets. The Canadians play a picked team to-morrow.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N.Y.

The Latest Fashions

Dresden balls on the handles of umbellas are already passe. The proper thing to have is a natural wood stick, with a very knobby end.

White lawn ties, after the manner of men's evening dress ties, are gaining in favor. Until this season they were not considered the thing at all, but more and more of them are noticed on the shirt waist brigade every day. By the way, never be guilty of the solecism of wearing a necktie bought already tied, always tie your own, and have the loops and ends straight across, as a man ties his, do not allow the ends to hang below the loops.

No woman's wardrobe will be complete this winter without a velvet gown, or at least a velvet Louis XVI. jacket. Those women who cannot afford the real thing will find most excellent imitations in the velveteens and velvutinas sold in the shops.

The smaller sheathlike sleeve is not nearly so becoming or so comfortable as the ones now worn and women on all sides are openly expressing their dissatisfaction at the change. They are adopting the new fashion very slowly, and modifying the new style by bow-knots, collars that extend over the sleeves and different sorts of trimming.

Alpaca and mohair are favorite materials for skirts to be worn with shirtwaists, on account of their light weight and dust-shedding qualities. And now Dame Fashion has said a white alpaca skirt for a white or light-colored shirtwaist is very swell.

Crepe has been revived; there is much more black worn to trim mourning gowns, and some of the handsomest evening gowns this winter will be of China crepe. Its cost will prevent it becoming common. Small hand-embroidered shawls of this material have been much used for evening wear for several seasons.

Modistes, following in the footsteps of some of their sisters in Paris, are trying to introduce black velvet as a material for mourning.

A new cloth, resembling clay diagonal, is shown for bicycling costumes. It has a slight mixture that is very attractive and it is a very pleasing change from the covert cloths so run into the ground.

Buttons of all sizes and shapes will be worn more than every this winter. Bone and ivory ones for ordinary wear, jet and all sorts of costly ones for handsomer gowns.

The time is approaching when each bicycle girl will need a sweater. Buy a plain one, solid color, such as the men wear. It is better for utility, comfort and wear, and besides the more striking, fancy ones are not worn by the more refined, conservative set.

Capes are wider and flare more than ever, as will be shown by some of the names, for instance—the nine-gored cape—one having a point back and front is one of this winter's novelties.

Box plaits are no longer used for the fullness of the back of skirts, they are all gathered no matter what the material.

There is really no difference in the styles for ladies and the styles for misses, for after a girl reaches 12 years of age she wears gored skirts and trimmed waist just exactly like her elders.

In renovating gowns to give them the required fall-like touch, remember to match nature and you will be correct. Scarlet, brown or mixed goods combining these two shades, or brown and yellow.

The crowns of the winter hats are almost covered with the trimming, and long drooping plumes so much worn a number of years ago are seen again in the picturesque "Lamballe" hats.

As long as jackets and peplums are worn, belts will be their accompaniment, and they are shown from the plain ones of leather to the bewilderingly beautiful jeweled and enameled ones that are only within the reach of women with long purses and her poorer sister has to be content with the imitation.

Stitched hats of cloth or soft felt ones in Alpine shape will be the correct bicycle hat for fall. Belts for fair cyclers are now worn with pendant watch, encased in leather, small leather pocket for coin and a bag for the handkerchief.

Women having become so well assured of the comfort of a plain gored skirt all the attempts of the fashion dictators fail to introduce drapery or over skirts, and while skirts will be more or less trimmed this winter, the plain one will hold its own against the other kinds.

Collect all your odd old coins if you are slender-waisted and fond of belts. Pierced at the ends and sewed to a bit of ribbon they are the novelty of the hour, perhaps more odd than beautiful, but still fashionable.

Smooth-faced cloths are conspicuous among the autumn novelties, and brown, green and navy blue seem to be equally fashionable colors.

No panels have appeared as yet, but some of the sash arrangements give a panel effect and the dressmakers hint that there may be velvet panels on winter gowns.

Skirts are made so long now that they must be well held up, and the dust ruffle adds much to the effectiveness of a street costume. When it is soiled it may easily be exchanged for a fresh one.

Most startling combinations of color are seen everywhere, prompted by individual taste and imagination. Light blue and dark blue, pink with a touch of white, green with a modest bunch of violets are put to shame by bright red ribbons on the most delicate huel fabrics and in contrasting shades of blue and green.

Women who are weak and nervous, who have no appetite and cannot sleep, find strength and vigor in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

SEPTEMBER.

We are drinking the wine of the ages,
From cups that are brimming over
With the sweet of a honey unbought with money,
Distilled from the heart of the clover.

The flowers afringe on the way-side
Are in raiment of purple and gold;
To the rough-hewn edge of the old stone ledge
The clinging brier-vines hold.

We are breaking life's fine elixir
In the vault of the perfumed breeze.
The sudden showers, the sunlit hours,
The rustle of leaves on the trees.

The fathomless blue of the heaven,
The beauty and bloom of the day,
Are making us young—they are waking the tongue
Of the years that have passed away.

'Tis the radiant, rare September,
With the clusters ripe on the vine,
With scents that mingle in spicy tingle
On the hill slope's glimmering line.

And summer's a step behind us,
And autumn's a thought before,
And each sweet sweet day that we meet on the way
Is an angel at the door.
—Harper's Bazar.

Marine City, Mich., Sept. 8.—While drilling for gas at the residence of G. W. The drill was removed and a lead line dropped in the well, which came to the surface covered with a fine grade of copper ore.

"Within 12 Hours After First Dose the Pain Left Me"—Rheumatism of Seven Years' Standing.

I have been a victim of rheumatism for seven years, being confined to bed for months at a time, unable to turn myself. I have been treated by many physicians in this part of the country, none of whom benefitted me. I had no faith in rheumatism cures advertised, but my wife induced me to get a bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure from Mr. Taylor, druggist, of Owen Sound. At the time I was suffering agonising pain, but inside of 12 hours after I took the first dose the pain left me. I continued until I took three bottles, and I considered I am completely cured. STRANGER THAN FICTION

IS THE TRUTH CONCERNING JOHN GIBBONS, OF EAST LONDON.

He Was Tortured With the Pains of Sciatic Rheumatism—Tried Doctors, All Sorts of Medicine and Went to the Hospital in Vain—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Him When All Else Failed.

From the London Advertiser.

There are two things in this world which Mr. John Gibbons, a resident of Queen's Avenue East, will henceforth place implicit confidence in. One is the judgment of his wife and the other the curative qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In this case the two went hand in hand, Mrs. Gibbons thought of the remedy, the pills did the rest, and to-day Mr. Gibbons is a well man where last fall he was virtually a cripple. An Advertiser reporter called at the house the other evening and was met at the door by Mr. Gibbons, to whom he told the object of his visit, and was cordially invited in. The reporter had no sooner got comfortably seated when Mr. Gibbons went into an adjoining room. The sound of clinking bottles floated through the half open door and when Mr. Gibbons reappeared he had in his arms a whole basket of bottles—all he has to show for many and many a hard-earned dollar spent in useless drugs. As Mr. Gibbons was busy showing the bottles and descanting upon the impotency of the medicines they had contained, the reporter had abundant opportunity of marking the personal appearance of the man. His speech betrays his English birth, and his face still bears the marks of suffering, but his frame is erect, his step light and elastic, and when he tells you that he can work, run or jump with any man, you cannot help but believe it. He is 29 years of age and was born in Bow Road, Stratford, England. He came to Canada in 1882 and located at Galt, where he is well and favourably known. He worked for the Hon. Mr. Young, Member of Parliament, for a long time, and seven years ago he married Miss Alice Mann, also of Galt. After Mr. Gibbons removed to London he settled down near the car shops and did very well, always having plenty of work, and always having the strength to do it. He cared nothing about a wetting until one day a year ago he took an acute attack of sciatic rheumatism following wet feet. "I lay down on this floor," said Mr. Gibbons in telling his story, "night and day suffering terrible agony. I could not get up a step and my wife had to help me up from the floor. I felt the pain in my back first. It then apparently left my back and got into my hips. Doctors came here to see me. They gave me prescriptions but none of them seemed to do me any good. The neighbours could hear me all over Queen's Avenue when I would get an attack of the pains. Last fall I was taken out of this place in a hack and taken to the hospital. I remained there about three weeks and the doctors did what they could for me but could not give me any relief. At the end of three weeks I came home again suffering as much as ever. My wife got hold of a pamphlet which told of of a number of remarkable cures by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and we determined to try them. I took about three boxes and felt myself getting a little easier. I took thirteen boxes altogether, and it is over two months since I felt the least suggestion of pain." "Do you feel that you are entirely cured?" asked the reporter. "Yes, sir, I can go out and do a day's work just as well as ever I could. I feel perfectly strong and have a good appetite." "No, I don't want another attack of sickness like that," said Mr. Gibbons, as he lighted the reporter to the door.

Mrs. Gibbons was not at home on the occasion of the reporter's first visit. Subsequently he called on her and received an entire confirmation of Mr. Gibbons' story. "He was home all last summer," said Mrs. Gibbons, "and last August the pains were so severe as to bring him down on his knees, and to save himself he could not get up. I had to lift him off the floor many a time. He seemed powerless. The bottles he showed you had almost all of them been repeatedly filled so that the number of bottles is no criterion of the amount of medicine taken. Before he took the pills," concluded Mrs. Gibbons, "I thought my husband would never be able to stand upright again. But now," she added in parting, "he is as well as ever he was."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills create new blood, build up the nerves, and thus drive disease from the system. In hundreds of cases they have cured after all other medicines had failed, thus establishing the claim that they are a marvel among the triumphs of modern medical science. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Protect yourselves from imposition by refusing a pill that does not bear the registered trade mark around the box.

LAXITY IN TRAINING.

At a meeting held in the Sons of England hall, last evening, Mrs. Baughman, of Toronto, enlisted the individual attention of a large audience of ladies as she brought before them the fact that many of the defects, mental, moral and physical, peculiar to our generation, are largely owing to laxity in the training of our youth.

Her remarks were based upon the words of Marion Harland, "I saw a mighty host of human beings ignorant of the things pertaining to their peace, holding carelessly the sublimest possibilities of their kind, never giving a thought to the awful truth that they control the fate of the coming race."

Even a careless observer could not but fail to admit that the speaker had the full mastery of her subject and that one of the proper studies of woman is woman, urging the claims of this self knowledge also in the youth, thus making themselves conversant with lines of conduct that can be pursued with safety to one's mental, moral and physical nature.

Should Mrs. Baughman visit us again she will no doubt receive a hearty welcome.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The new railway through Marmora to the Belmont mines is completed.

—The contractors for the local section of the canal have now a gang of men working near Nassau.

—The residents of Antrim street east of George are being treated to a new sidewalk. It was needed.

—The potato crop in this locality will fall very much below what it was last year. It may be safe to predict that the prices will not fall below 40 cents per bag, as it did through the abundance of last year's great yield.

—Scores of apple trees have lost their limbs through breakage from the weight of fruit they are bearing. A larger crop cannot be recalled in a dozen years, and as to quality, apple dealers are agreed that it will readily meet the requirements of foreign markets.

MINISTER FOSTER'S SECRETARY

Has Successfully Used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Personally and in His Family.

Mr. J. J. Jenkins, private secretary to Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Minister of Finance, has found in Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder a successful remedy for the removal of catarrhal troubles. He has not confined its use to himself, but states that it has been used with the most pleasing and successful results by other members of his family.

One short puff of the breath through the Blower, supplied with each bottle of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, diffuses this Powder over the surface of the nasal passages. Painless and delightful to use, it relieves in 10 minutes, and permanently cures Catarrh, Hay Fever, Colds, Headache, Sore Throat, Tonsilitis and Deafness. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

BOTH RIDE A RED BIRD

and both have defeated every Canadian rider of note in their respective classes. You may have possibly noticed that when any event of any particular importance is won the trick is generally

Accomplished on a RED BIRD

Both the twenty-five mile amateur championship and the twenty-five mile professional championship have been recently won by Red Bird riders, R. E. Axton winning the former while Harley Davidson captured the latter, at the same time smashing all the Canadian competition records from five miles up. There's a a reason for all this thusness and it is found in the fact that the Red Bird possesses such superior running qualities that it is head, neck and shoulders ahead of all rivals. Then again it is purely Canadian.

Millinery & Mantles

For 1896, at the GOLDEN LION, which will take place on TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY,

SEPTEMBER 22nd and 23rd, with Unusual Eclat.

In view of the first official visit of the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen to Peterborough, occuring on our Opening Day, unusual preparations are afoot to make the exhibition in our Show Rooms excel any former reception at the Golden Lion.

Pattern Millinery

Will embrace importations from the leading Millinery Artistes of Paris, London and New York, and many modified copies in Hats and Bonnets from our own workrooms.

Pattern Mantles

From leading designers of fashion in Berlin and London, pronounced the latest styles by Europe's best tailors, will contribute to make our opening a regal occasion, and affording the first real glimpse of styles to be seen nowhere else.

Dress Patterns

Beyond adequate description, will also be displayed together with a wealth of Elegant CARPET Stock and Furnishings, which will crown this auspicious event with larger interest than any other since we have been in business.

We cordially invite the Ladies, Citizens and Visitors to favour us with an early inspection. The reception is for all.

GHASTLY BUTCHERY.

Terrible Doings of an Insane Man in England.

HE CUT HIS VICTIM'S HEAD OFF

And Carried the Gory Object Around in a Bowl—Killed Dogs and Chickens and Tried to Kill His Sister—An Insatiable Lust for Blood.

London, Sept. 19.—One of the most revolting murders recorded in criminal annals was perpetrated early on Wednesday morning at Pebmarsh, a village near Halstead, Essex. The victim was a farm steward named Cockerill, and the murderer was his employer, Samuel Collis, a well-known farmer; and the determined ferocity with which the crime was carried out may be estimated from the fact that the victim was decapitated, and the gory head carried about the farm in a bowl by the maniac murderer. Collis is a middle-aged man, and lived in a farm adjoining that occupied by his mother. He had lately been concerned in bankruptcy proceedings, and there can be no doubt that worry had affected his reason. Early on Wednesday shots were heard in the vicinity of the Hill Farm, where his mother resides. The man was apparently bent upon bloodshed, for a couple of dogs have since been found shot dead on the farm, together with a number of fowls, and when arrested Collis had quite an armoury of weapons upon his person. About 6 o'clock on Wednesday morning Collis encountered his married sister, Mrs. Turpin, of whom he was known to be jealous. The two met at the back of the farmhouse, and Collis immediately seized his sister, uttering furious cries. He certainly would have killed the woman but for the fortunate arrival of one of the farm hands, who pulled the maniac away from her. Thus providentially released, Mrs. Turpin fled into the house as affording the safest asylum and locked the door. Seeing himself baulked of his prey, Collis began to batter in the windows with his gun, the stock of which was broken in the effort. Observing his sister at one of the windows, he aimed at her an iron bar, which crashed through the glass, but missed its intended billet and struck a piece of furniture on the opposite side of the room. Though a big, powerful man, weighing 224 pounds, Collis failed to force an entrance to the farmhouse, and thereby two lives were saved. At this critical juncture, when Collis was positively consumed with a lust of blood, the unhappy man Cockerill appeared upon the scene, having arrived thus early, as was his custom, to start the farm servants on the work of the day. Collis had conceived a great hatred of the steward, believing that he had supplanted him in the management of his mother's farm. What actually transpired between the two men, will never be known, as the man who came to Mrs. Turpin's assistance, and might have been an eye-witness of the tragedy which was destined to follow, had left the farm precincts to fetch the police. There is no doubt, however, that Collis first shot Cockerill and then beat him with the butt end of his rifle. Having thus rendered his victim powerless and probably insensible, Collis ruthlessly and deliberately, with a large knife with which he had provided himself, severed Cockerill's head from his body and placed the gory trophy of his crime in a bowl. Dr. Pallett of Earls Colne, who afterwards saw the body, informed a reporter that tremendous force must have been used, as the head was clean severed from the trunk and part of the victim's beard or whiskers was cut off as though by a keen-edged razor. Meanwhile a farm hand had conveyed news of what was going on at the farm to the police at Halstead. When a policeman reached the spot Collis, his hands and clothes stained with blood, was in the act of walking calmly out through the farm gateway, carrying in one hand a bowl containing the human head and in the other a double-barrelled gun and some dead chickens. The policeman asked him what he had been doing, to which Collis replied that he had been killing a sheep, but in the next breath declared that he had shot a cock pheasant. On perceiving the head in the bowl, the officer cried out, "Why, you have committed murder." Collis, in a dazed sort of tone replied, "Have I? I am sorry. Let me kiss you." And suiting the action to the word, the murderer stooped down to embrace the constable, who at the same time noticed, sticking out of the maniac's pocket, a long-bladed knife, stained with blood. With remarkable nerve, the policeman snatched the formidable weapon away, and after a struggle also secured the gun. The constable then took the head, and was able by marks only too clear upon the ground to trace the route by which the murderer had come from his victim's body. He found Cockerill's mutilated corpse lying in the yard among the horses and pigs. Assistance coming up, the murderer was overpowered, securely bound with plow ropes, and conveyed to Halstead in a cart. When searched, Collis, in addition to other weapons, was found to be in possession of a razor.

O'BRIEN SHOT DEAD.

A New York Policeman's Bullet Caught Him on the Fly—One Pal Was Captured and Another Got Away.

New York, Sept. 20.—Early this morning Officers Becker and Carry saw three men, John O'Brien, William Walsh and a third, whose name is unknown, leave the cigar store of Alfred Katz at No. 1335 Broadway. Supposing that a burglary had been committed, the officers called to the men to halt, but instead of stopping they broke into a run through West 35th-street. The policemen gave chase and finally captured Walsh. O'Brien at this time was a considerable distance ahead of the officers and one of them, Carry, drew his revolver and fired twice. The first shot missed O'Brien, but the second hit him in the back and passed through his heart, killing him instantly. The third burglar escaped. A bundle that O'Brien had thrown away in his flight was found to contain six boxes of cigars, valued at $25, and when Walsh was searched at the police station a number of packages of cigarettes and several packs of cards were found hidden inside of his underclothing. The body of O'Brien was taken to the morgue this afternoon to await a claimant.

SATURDAY'S GREAT BLOW.

The Chicora of Toronto Had a Lively Battle With the Waves, But Got Through Safe and Sound.

Niagara, Ont., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—The Buffalo Sunday News says: "The steamer Chicora on her voyage from Toronto to Lewiston yesterday afternoon experienced, according to old sailors on board, the roughest weather ever encountered on Lake Ontario," said Mr. Samuel Mayer of New York at the Iroquois last evening. Mr. Mayer was one of the passengers. 'It was an experience which I would not go through again for all the wealth in the city of Buffalo." He continued, "The sky was clear and the sun was shining when we left Toronto, but before we were out a half hour the breeze stiffened rapidly and soon a hurricane was blowing.

"The lake was a mass of white-capped tumbling waves. So tempestuous did the sea become that the majority of the passengers sought refuge on the lower deck. There were a number of women on board, and when the big boat began to roll and toss an epidemic of sea-sickness spread from bow to stern. The situation soon became alarming. Mountainous waves rose as high as the upper decks and swept everything before them. The weight of water crashing down the stairways smashed several doors to kindling wood and carried the trunks and valises and heavy boxes from one end of the boat to the other. Some fool yelled that the boat was sinking and for a half hour a scene of wildest panic prevailed. Women ran hither and thither, tearing their hair and crying piteously for help. Others dropped on their knees and wildly cried to Heaven for aid. One woman, crazed with fright, ran about offering her money and jewels to anyone who would save herself and children from the awful death which she believed was imminent.

"One woman threw her arms around my neck in a paroxysm of fear and begged me in the name of Heaven to save her. While I was trying to assure her that there was no reason to fear immediate danger, another grabbed me from behind and added her supplications to those of the one I was trying to quiet. Another grasped me tightly around the legs and for a few minutes I was in an interesting fix. I thought they would strangle me.

"The fear was not confined to the women. Of all the men on board only half a dozen kept their heads.
